HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday-workers, young people in the service of our country and others.)

Opening Prayer:

O God of hope, fill us, we beseech Thee with all joy and peace in believing that we may ever abound in hope by the power of Thy Holy Spirit and show forth our thankfulness to Thee in trustful and courageous lives; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Bible Reading: Matthew 18:1-6

The Sermon:

In all deeply and thoroughly Christian lives, there is a child-likeness which reminds one of the teaching of Jesus. It is the wisdom of childhood to trust some "big person" completely, with all their heart. And childlike followers of Jesus trust God like that, and teach others that same quiet, utter faith in the Everlasting Father.

There is a story of the great doctor, Sir William Osler, and a little girl named Janet, which bears witness of the contagious power of such childlike faith. Janet was dying, and the great doctor wanted her to come to death quiet and unafraid. He used to come to see her twice a day during the last month of her life. When he came, he played the part of a friendly hobgoblin, and Janet was the fairy godmother.

"One cold November day" the story runs, "when the end was near, he mysteriously brought out from his inside pocket a beautiful red rose, carefully wrapped in paper, and told her how he had watched this last rose of summer growing in his garden, and how the rose had called out to him that she wanted to go along to see his fairy godmother. That evening there was a fairy tea-party at the table by the bed—Sir William talking to the rose, to his little lassie and to her mother; and the little girl came to understand that neither fairies nor people could always have the color of a red rose in their cheeks, or stay as long as they wanted in one place, but that they would be very happy in another home, and must not let the people they left behind them feel unhappy about it, nor be unhappy themselves." So, through such a simple story as Jesus used to tell, the great doctor let God guide him to take away from a little girl's heart all fear of death. So, in like manner, that childlike spirit in us can face the fog of death with quiet confidence; and that faith in us can bring peace and steadiness into the lives of those about us.

Closing Prayer:

O God, who alone canst uphold the minds of men, without whose beauty and goodness our souls are unfed, without whose truthfulness our reasons wither; consecrate our lives to Thy will, giving us such purity of heart, such depth of faith, such steadfastness of purpose, that, in Thy good time, we may come to think Thine own thoughts after Thee; through Jesus Christ our Saviour. Amen.—(Henry S. Nash)

CHRISTIAN SPAIN?

Several weeks ago a strange statement appeared in the New York Times. Paid for as an advertisement by the Missouri Knights of Columbus, it bore the bold heading "SHALL WE HELP THE COMMUNISTS TO CRUCIFY CHRISTIAN SPAIN?"

The gist of the article was an attack on our State Department as a tool of Russia, as over against Spain, which was built up to be "the last outpost of Christian civilization in Europe".

It ended with a tear-off to be posted on a postcard and sent to President Truman, calling upon him to "make it clear" that we do not intend to help any other powers in their attempt to subjugate Christian Spain.

Christian Spain! What are our Roman Catholic brothers thinking of in defiling the name Christian by attaching it to the bloody tryanny that is Franco Spain?

In the same week in which the above mentioned article appeared, I read in a book called "Wind in the Olive Trees", and written by a former chief of Propaganda Analysis of the American Embassy in Spain: "It was the custom established in 1937 . . . to shoot a certain number of 'Reds' (Nearly all political prisoners were 'Reds') on every anniversary of the uprising. This particular custom . . . had been extended in every city and town throughout Spain where political prisoners were being held, to include . . . the many official religious holidays, of which Christmas, Corpus Christi and Easter were only a few."

And again I read: "Under Paco (Franco), Spain, had again become Catholic Spain; and Protestants . . . were persecuted relentlessly. I heard of numerous instances of brutal intolerance and persecution practices against Protestant ministers and congregations by the police at the behest of Catholic authorities."

Christian Spain? As Christian as the Inquisition, this ally of Hitler and Mussolini.

Perhaps Christians will want to write Mr. Truman that they disagree with the Missouri K. of C.

ANNUAL MEETING

The rector is anxious to make a gala occasion of the Annual Parish Meeting this year. This should be one of the outstanding events of the year. Eighty-five of our service men and women have returned to civilian life. Sixteen still remain in service. On Tuesday, May 14 we plan to have a Parish Dinner when we shall invite these young men and women to be our guests. Following the Dinner we shall have the election to the Vestry followed by the Parish Meeting. We hope to make this an occasion both light and serious, instructive and gay. We look for a wide representation of the newcomers to our Parish; a greater proportion of men, and of course, representatives of every organization in the Parish. Tickets must be secured in advance. A home cooked dinner is yours for one dollar! Plan to join us.

UNITED THANK OFFERING

The Spring presentation of the United Thank Offering for our Church will take place at the service on Sunday, April 28th at 11:00 A. M. At that time we will place our blue envelopes on the offering plate.

This will be the final offering before the Triennium at the time of the General Convention, and we would like to have the offering from St. Stephen's as large or larger than ever before. The goal for the Diocese of Pennsylvania for the Triennium is $100,000. We have $71,000 toward this goal. Our own Church offering is $896.55 so far.

The Diocesan Spring Presentation Service will be held in St. Stephen's Church at 10:30 A. M. on Thursday, May 2nd. Bishop Hart will be the celebrant, and Chaplain George Wickersham, U. S. M. C., recently returned from Japan, will be the speaker.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday-workers, young people in the service of our country and others.)

Opening Prayer:

Lord and Master, who didst so perfectly fulfill the will of the Father: I yield my will to Thee, that it may be united with Thy most holy Will, and I surrender myself and all that I have to Thee, praying that Thy perfect plan may be worked out in every detail of my life. Amen.

Bible Reading: Numbers 16:36—end; Hebrews VII.

The Sermon:

"And he stood between the dead and the living and the plague was stayed."

The people had murmured against Moses and Aaron, and thousands of them were slain; and Aaron became intercessor. He "put on incense, and made atonement for the people" and the destruction ceased. What a position of power Aaron had—to stand between the dead and the living, and to stop the awful plague!

We are still within the Octave of Easter, with our thoughts fixed upon the Risen Lord, who ever liveth to make intercession, Who by His death hath destroyed death, and opened to all the gate of everlasting life. Truly, then, the Son of Man may be said "stand between the dead and the living." By His resurrection power He has stayed the hand of death, so that death is no longer destruction; and there are now no "dead" for those who "live and believe in Him shall never die."

Let us, then, regard death in its true aspect, for we can measure and limit its power. It cannot destroy, though for a time it can take away. It can separate us from those we love; but it cannot "stand between" us and them, so as to separate us eternally. The Risen Lord Himself stands between, and He has the keys of death and of Hades; and none can perish everlastingly.

Think also, how often He has stood between us and disaster, failure and sickness! How much indeed do we owe to the fact that He Who loves us gives proof of His love by ever living to make intercession—to plead before the Father for our happiness and peace, for our preservation of soul and body.

Closing Prayer:

We thank Thee, Lord Jesus, that by Thy death Thou hast destroyed death; that osoever believeth on Thee shall never die. We thank Thee, that by the power of iy Resurrection, we shall one day be united with our dear ones in the Heavenly Home. Into Thy Hands, most loving Saviour, we commend the spirits of all whom we love who are now with Thee in Paradise, beseeching Thee to grant them everlasting light and peace. Amen.

THE BATTLE OF THE BULGE

A little over a year ago all of America and most of the world was concentrating its attention on the Battle of the Bulge where the Germans seemed to have seriously bent back the American lines. What might have been a military disaster was by American courage and resource turned into victory.

All of America today ought to have its eyes on the battle of the bulge in our American economy—the world has a vast concern in this struggle, too.

During the war, thanks to price-and-wage control, inflation was held within limits; but with the coming of peace the thrust against the lines of protection became menacing. They were driven back here and there. The end is not yet—as those who know Washington constantly testify. It is predicted that John L. Lewis is about to make a heavy assault on one section of the line, while the National Association of Manufacturers and other groups that want price control abolished are storming another section.

The latter group, in making the plea that competition is the best regulator, forgets the law of supply and demand and seems to take the threat of inflation lightly. Certainly, luxury items might well be left to competitive price establishment, but when it comes to necessities it seems obvious that ceilings must be held until supply begins to approximate demand.

It is agreed that conditions exist which would produce a disastrous inflation if the lines of protection should be collapsed.

Should a widespread inflation arise, the financial foundation would be swept out from under all charities and churches. The great campaign for relief and reconstruction would be frustrated—and more serious still would be the effect upon the homes, the families and the individual man and woman of America.

The Church has a stake in the fight that Chester Bowles is making. He may be wrong as to details here and there, but certainly is deserving of the gratitude and the support of every man of goodwill.

Bible Reading: Matthew 16: 21-25

The Sermon:

There came a day when Jesus began to startle and grieve His disciples. He began to say, "The Son of Man must suffer." He told them that He had turned His face toward Jerusalem, that Jerusalem for Him meant suffering and a shameful death; and then victory afterwards. The disciples were shocked and could not grasp why He must go to Jerusalem; why it was necessary for Him to suffer.

Even today men do not understand this clearly but we have learned one great fact—that God has so ordered this world that the road to victory lies through suffering. He who would win a victory must be willing to suffer for it, just as she who would be a mother must be willing to endure the travail pains. Willingness to endure pain and sacrifice is the price of victorious living. We must be willing to suffer for others if we want to help them. That is the way God has ordered life.

A woman wrote to a friend shortly after the death of her husband: "A few years ago I thought seriously of suing for a divorce. George was frittering his life and mine away. My family and friends all told me that I had stood all and more than any woman could be expected to stand; and that I should leave him while I was still young and could make a life for myself. But, thank God, I decided to wait. I kept on repeating to myself my marriage vows. ' . . . in joy or sorrow, in sickness and in health, for better or for worse.' A year later he fell sick. It was a long, long siege. I began to realize that many things I had thought were carelessness and shortcomings had been due to his physical condition; and we were brought closer together than ever before even in our early married life."

Because that wife was willing to endure suffering for her husband's sake, she was able to let God into the ruined marriage, and to bring it to its close with honor and victory.

There comes a day in the life of every sincere Christian when he must turn his face towards his Jerusalem; when he must be willing to suffer deeply if he is to be a true father, a faithful friend, a life-saver among men. When that day comes to you, remember the resurrection-power of the Christian faith. Remember that, if you let God into your willingness to suffer, beyond the pain lies victory, beyond every Calvary, the glory of Easter.

Closing Prayer:

Open, O Christ, the eyes of our faith, that, reaching forth into those things that are before we may follow the high calling of God, as seeing Him who is invisible; through the power of the Holy Ghost. Amen.—(John W. Suter)

The Mothers' Meeting is holding its Annual Supper in the Community House on Thursday, April 11 from five to seven o'clock. Reservations may be made by telephoning Walnut 3807. Supper is seventy-five cents.

We gratefully acknowledge the bulletin subscriptions of Mr. and Mrs. Adams, Mr. Rembert E. Edsall, Mrs. Robert L. Edsall, Miss Elizabeth Patchell, Miss Marie Reed.

We are grateful for the generous contributions of Miss Mae Snedden and Miss Florence L. Davies to the Reconstruction and Advance Fund.

THE GIFT OF LIGHT

The gift of light promised to those who sit in darkness needs to be carried to the blind in Philadelphia. In this city there are over four thousand blind persons, many of whom are Protestants. To help them, the rector suggests:

1. A visit to the "Light House" at 1132 W. Lehigh Avenue. A very comprehensive program is there in operation.
2. A program of social contacts among the blind with our parish organizations ready to welcome and befriend those who cannot see.
3. Become a Guide to some blind person. Volunteer your services to guide a blind person to and from the Light House, and shopping trips or just window shopping.

O brother man! fold to thy heart thy brother;
Where pity dwells, the peace of God is there;
To worship rightly is to love each other
Each smile a hymn, each kindly deed a prayer.

Follow with reverent steps the great example
Of Him whose holy work was "doing good";
So shall the wide earth seem our Father's temple,
Each loving life a psalm of gratitude.

Then shall all shackles fall; the stormy clangour
Of wild war's music o'er the earth shall cease;
Love shall tread out the baleful fire of anger,
And in its ashes plant the tree of peace!

CONSTRUCTIVE UNDERSTANDING

The other day I read a letter from a G. I. who is waiting, as he says, "for the end of his sentence". Inasmuch as he has nothing to do but watch the days go by, he has plenty of time to think and his thoughts are not pleasant ones. The Government, he feels, is engaged in taking time from both ends of his life; from this end, by keeping him in idleness in the army when he is eager to be on with a long course of education; from the other end by its inept bungling of our whole relationship with Russia and the consequent threat of atomic war.

After that bungling, Mr. Vandenberg's suggestion and Mr. Byrnes' "tough" speech, which, incidentally, must have been written in a great hurry, seem to bring us to a point of decision.

Granted that Russia is not acting like a dove of peace, what about ourselves? Consider these facts: The Government is pressing for peacetime military conscription, a repudiation of one of America's historic convictions.

We are continuing to manufacture atomic bombs. Who knows in what quantity and quality?

We are about to conduct a spectacular demonstration of those bombs near enough to the Asiatic side of the Pacific for the Eastern world to see.

The Army and Navy are fighting against the McMahon Committee's recommendations, and in the interest of military control of atomic energy; and Congress can't make up its mind in spite of the practically unanimous testimony of the scientists.

We are talking about annexing the islands of the Pacific right up to the Asiatic continent as a security measure, The Atlantic Charter to the contrary notwithstanding.

We seem to be engaged with Britain in trying to prevent Russia's access to the Mediterranean.

We mislaid, for six months, Russia's request for a loan.

And meantime, we are back at the old game of using Communism as a bogie to advance any selfish interest that comes along.

How must all this look from the Rssian viewpoint?

Does not the time demand much more than a tough speech? Surely a direct attempt to develop positive and constructive understanding with Russia is most urgently needed.

All this has been done in Ruth's off duty hours, some of which time is spent as organist at the base where she is at work in the office of public relations. More power to Corporal Ruth Anne White, to whom we extend our congratulations and the hopes for continued success.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church service; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday-workers, young people in the service of our country and others.)

Opening Prayer:

O God, giver of all spiritual grace and author of eternal life, Grant that the people of this household may reverently hear and receive Thy Holy Word, and reverently praise Thee not only with their lips but in their lives; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.—(John W. Suter)

Bible Reading: Matthew 5: 13-16.

The Sermon:

John Kenyon Mackenzie, who for ten years was a talented missionary among the Bulu people of Africa once wrote: "Minla is the little black boy who carries my lantern on my journey through the forest of our neighborhood. He is too small to carry more of my outfit, but he has begged to go with me. 'Even if I cannot carry a real load', he tells me, 'I can carry a lantern, and surely you will be needing one.'

"Sometimes, on the highway the sound has been the sound of so many feet that I have said to Minla, 'Cover the lantern'. And this he does with the skirt of the little cloth he wears about his middle. Then I am able to see the many people who have been following our light; sometimes as many as fifty carriers crowding up behind us, leaning forward under the weight of the loads they are carrying, looking at the white woman and at the black boy who carries the lantern. You will always be followed in the night of the forest if you carry a lantern; the people who walk in that great darkness are glad to follow that light."

And you will always be followed if you carry the Light through the darkness of our life on earth. There is so much of darkness and of mystery in this life; so much that we cannot understand. There are so many difficulties and obstacles hidden in the darkness, over which men stumble when there is no light on the path.

I like to think of many of you, walking humbly and surely along the trail of life, with the Light of the World in your heart. In the searching honesty of Lent you know that your life would be cold and dark without Him, so you depend on Him to kindle you into faithful loving kindness. Perhaps you had not known it—but stop a moment, and be quiet—there are people following you along the trail of life, because of that Light in your heart. "You will always be followed in the night of the forest if you carry a lantern."

Closing Prayers: "Our Father" and the following prayer.

O God, Thou art the help and the refuge of all Thy children. From everlasting to everlasting Thou art God. To our weakness Thou art strength. In our darkness Thou art light. To our sorrow Thou art comfort and peace. We cannot declare Thy love. For all Thy goodness we bless and praise Thee. May we ever feel Thy presence, and may we love the things Thou lovest, and serve Thee with the service of our daily lives. Amen.

A great many people are often discouraged with themselves thinking they are "no good". Perhaps they think correctly. But many, many times physical depression—fatigue, ill health and the like—warps good judgment. Here is a good rule to be remembered—never trust your judgment of self, or others, or of things in general when you are "down" physically. Put your judgment aside—wait until you have a sense of physical well-being, of "plus health"—then take it out and see how wrong it was. Dare to count your highest moments, your truest moments.

THE REVISED STANDARD VERSION OF THE NEW TESTAMENT

After years of work by a group of eminent American Protestant scholars, the Revised Standard Version of the New Testament has just been published. The official versions of the Bible which may be read in services of the Episcopal Church are either the well-known King James version which most people own, or the Revised Version, in either its English or American form. This new revision of the New Testament is therefore authorized.

I strongly recommend its purchase by all readers of our bulletin. You will find it easy to read and easy to understand. Passages which were formerly obscure will become clear in many instances. The modern style is beautiful. The text is put together like that of an ordinary book, the passages of poetry are printed as such.

This is a good book for Lenten reading. Other highly recommended books are "The Anatomy of Peace" by Emery Reves and "Christ the Lord" by John Knox. All of these books may be procured at Jacobs' Book Store, 1907 Walnut Street.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church service; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday-workers, young people in the service of our country and others.)

Opening Prayer:

O Almighty God, whose glory fills Thy temple; Let the whole earth keep silence before Thy tranquil majesty, that we may venture reverently to worship the beauty of Thy holiness; through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen. (John W. Suter)

Bible Reading: John 8: 1-11

The Sermon:

In Africa the old men of the Balu tribe keep track of the seasons by watching for Tolo, the constellation of the Hare. When Tolo rises in the eastern sky, the old men know that it is time to make clearings in the forest, that the woman may plant for harvest before the season of the rain. When the old men tried to pass on to the boys this valuable bit of tribal knowledge, the boys found it very hard to pick out the five stars of Tolo among the countless host of the stars of heaven. So, when dusk falls, a boy's father takes five rose-red coals from the palaver-house fire, and, on the village street, spreads them out in just the design of Tolo in the sky. Then, through the five glowing coals he draws in the dust the picture of Tolo, until the boy sees the Hare right before his eyes. He sees him now because he has been drawn for him right in the dust of the village street.

It is recorded only once that Jesus drew in the dust of a village street—in the incident you have just read from the Bible. But all through His short life among men, Jesus was drawing the picture of God in the streets and market-places of His homeland. By His courtesy to the woman who had fallen victim to cruel hypocrites, Jesus pictured the compassion of God towards honest, penitent sinners: and, at the same moment, He pictured the impatience of God toward smug pretenders of religion. Day by day, in His deeds, He drew out before men's eyes, the picture of the Almighty, as He devoted Himself to the needs of all sorts and conditions of men. Men watched Him, and began to see the Face of God. Men joined His company, and began to recognize the Likeness of the Eternal. In that last scene before Pilate, in the Master's majestic silence in the face of the accusations of His enemies, men see the majesty of God. On the Cross, in His last out-reach of love to the Penitent Thief and to His enemies, they see the undying love of God for men.

Do not mistake the meaning of Lent—with all the necessity for disciplining your life, never think that Lent should be spent gazing at your own faults and shortcomings. There is a great purpose for these weeks of renewal—to scan the pages of the New Testament with such care that our eyes will be fixed on Him who clothed God in human flesh. This is the Good News, that in Jesus we can see God, God among men, God in human life as we know it. We need not lose the way, because God has lived among us, because in the life of Jesus Christ, the picture of God has been drawn out for us, "in the dust of the village street."

Closing Prayer:

Almighty God, pour out Thy Holy Spirit upon all who are trying to live for Thee. Take our minds and think through them; take our lips and speak through them; take our hearts and set them on fire with love for Thee; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

NOTES

We warmly welcome Dean N. R. High Moor of Trinity Cathedral, Pittsburgh, who has become beloved of all who have heard him the past two Lenten seasons. Whoever has not availed himself of the chance to hear this deeply spiritual and vitally human Churchman will certainly want to make every effort to do so this week.

On Saturday it will be our privilege to welcome the Rev. Thomas S. Logan, Rector of Calvary Church, Northern Liberties.

On April first, Mr. Carrigan begins his fortieth year as Verger of St. Stephen's Church. Our heartiest congratulations to our good friend!

We have been pleased to see so many old friends among those eighty or so people who come each week to hear Dr. Lamsa's lecture on the Bible. And we take great pleasure in greeting the many new friends whose enthusiasm equals our own. If you have not yet dropped in for the six o'clock supper or for the seven-thirty discussion entitled "Highlights on the Bible", you are very welcome. Dr. Lamsa is untiringly generous with his time, and welcomes your questions after the lecture.

If you like to sing, there is a need for you in the volunteer choir for Evensong on Sundays. You need not be a "solo" singer by any means. Rehearsals are held before the evening service. Please give your name to Mr. Meckling, who will give you a hearty welcome!

By the waters of Babylon we sat down and wept, when we remembered thee, O Sion. As for our harps, we hanged them up upon the trees that are therein, for they that led us away captive required of us a song. "Sing us one of the songs of Sion."

How shall we sing the Lord's song in a strange land? If I forget Thee, O Jerusalem, let my right hand forget her cunning. If I remember thee not, let my tongue cleave to the roof of my mouth, yea, if I prefer not Jerusalem above my chief joy.

Remember the children of Edom, O Lord, in the day of Jerusalem, how they said, Down with it, down with it, even to the ground. O daughter of Babylon, wasted with misery, yea, happy shall he be that rewardeth thee as thou hast served us.

Last June 24th we heard our choir sing Dr. Matthews' new motet "By the Waters of Babylon" for the first time. Since then Dr. Matthews has orchestrated the music which was recently performed by full orchestra and is presently to be sung by the chorus of the Philadelphia Music Club at the Pennsylvania Federation of Music Club's twenty-eighth annual convention to be held here in May.

With the world in its state of unrest and Displaced Persons in Europe still a weighty problem yet to be solved, and the situation in Palestine becoming daily more hazardous for the Jews, this anthem, the words of which are taken from Psalm 137, is a beautiful and pertinent reminder that our prayers are needed for the Children of Israel throughout the world.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church service; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday-workers, young people in the service of our country and others.)

Opening Prayer:

Be Thou Thyself, O Lord, the Sanctifier and the Shepherd of Thy people, that we, who are strengthened by Thy help, may in our daily life walk with Thee, and in all quietness of spirit serve Thee; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen. (Roman Breviary 1099 A. D.)

Bible Reading: Matthew 16:21-28

The Sermon:

We are beginning to look ahead to a dark hill called Calvary. It is well that we remember that there were three crosses on that hill. There were three men that suffered and died. To each there came this same pain, the same lonely and torturous dying—but they met their lonely hour in their own way. And their ways were very different.

The first thief had let himself be hardened and embittered by his terrible experience. According to the stern Roman justice, he was receiving "only the due rewards of his deeds" but he never thought of that, and struck out against it with flaming words of cursing and rebellion. To the innocent Master, dying beside him, he shouted, "If you are the Messiah, save yourself and us!" He was just thinking of his own skin. Where men think thusly, suffering hardens them.

The second thief took his fate quite differently. He admitted the justice of his own punishment; but he had the grace to look with seeing eyes at the Man dying beside him, Who was innocent. His heart and mind had room to think of another's pain, the injustice to another, even in his own last hour. He rebuked his fellow-thief: "This man hath done nothing amiss" and to Jesus he said, "Lord, remember me when Thou comest into Thy kingdom." Even as you and I, the Penitent Thief was still thinking of himself; yet, in his agony, he gave thought to Him Who hung beside him, and caught a glimpse of His kingly love and majesty. When men suffer thus, their suffering softens and refines them.

There is also suffering that redeems—and on the central Cross one sees that mighty suffering, Jesus was not bemoaning His fate; not denouncing His enemies; not hurling words of hot anger. He accepted His Cross, and from it, prayed for His enemies, reached out a saving hand to the Penitent Thief, reached out a son's hands to His Father. He was there to show the love of God to men, and He used His Cross for that great purpose.

Most of us have some sort of cross, some kind of deep and inward suffering. And we are free, not to escape that cross, but to make it into one kind or another. Will yours, through self-pity, become the cross that hardens; or will it be the cross that softens and refines, or even, through the grace of God, be the cross that redeems? God leaves you free to make that choice.

Closing Prayers: "Our Father" and the following prayer:

Lord, we pray Thee not for tranquillity, nor that our tribulations may cease. We pray for Thy Spirit and Thy love, that Thou grant us strength and grace to overcome adversity; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

THAT MEN MAY LIVE

An issue involving tremendous moral testing confronts us in the days immediately ahead. One wishes that every pulpit in the land would sound the challenge and would rally the moral strength of America to articulate action.

President Truman has voiced the best that is America in his promise of meat rationing if it is necessary in order to prevent the starvation of millions of people among the allied and liberated nations. No sooner had he spoken, however, than the angry voices of selfishness rose to challenge and to disagree—pleading in justification that "this is so sudden."

It is not "sudden" to anyone who has had enough human concern to observe continuously the reports on human conditions around the world. We have had our interval of plenty while men and women and children starved. Which of us cannot deprive ourselves of much that we eat—yes, and without any real sacrifice?

The opportunity for us to come to humanity's rescue should be reason enough for us gladly to accept rationing; but if we must have reasons that drive down to selfish motivation, they exist.

It must be obvious that if we continue to indulge in our unprecedented plenty and let the nations starve, we will gain and will merit the hatred and disdain of the rest of the world. America is not big enough or strong enough to be able to live in a friendless world.

If America is to measure up to the moral testing, it will be because the voices of unselfishness speak in greater volume than do the snarls of selfishness. That speaking must be done to our elected representatives in Washington—to the members of Congress who will register our decision in terms of action. We may be sure they will be subjected to tremendous pressure by those who love themselves. Let those who love God and man ask Congress to ration us—to organize our national sacrifice—that men may live.

NOTES

We extend a warm welcome to the Rt. Rev. J. Thomas Heistand, D.D. Bishop of Harrisburg who will be our guest speaker for the Lenten Noon-day services this coming week. Those of you who have never had the opportunity of hearing Bishop Heistand will rejoice in this opportunity.

Our Saturday speaker is the Rev. William H. Aulenbach, whom likewise you will find it a privilege to hear.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church service; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday-workers, young people in the service of our country and others.)

Opening Prayer:

Pour upon us, O Lord, the spirit of brotherly kindness and peace; so that, sprinkled with the dew of Thy benediction, we may be made glad by Thy grace and glory; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen. (Sarum Breviary—1085 A. D.)

Bible Reading: St. Luke 12: 41-48

The Sermon:

There was once an idea that Lent should be a season of punishing oneself in the sight of others. But the "sacrifices" were largely petty ones, like giving up candy or smoking. Many years ago Robert Herrick protested against this false and superficial idea of Lent:

Is this a Fast to keep the Larder lean and clean
From fat of veals and sheep?
Is it to quit the dish of flesh and still to fill
The platter high with fish?
Is it to fast an hour, or ragged go, or show
A downcast look, and a sour?
No: 'tis a Fast to dole thy sheaf of wheat and meat
Unto the hungry soul.
It is to fast from strife, from old debate and hate,
To purify thy life.
To show a heart grief-rent; to starve thy sin not bin,
And that's to keep thy Lent.

In other words, Lent is a season for a change in us, especially in the use of our possessions and powers. Our "fasting" is to "swear off" from quarrelsome ways, sharp thoughts, judging others, and to throw our strength into kindness, into healing and encouragement.

Lent for us in America could well be devoted to training ourselves to a new sense of stewardship. We rich Americans use most of our possessions for our own comfort, which is quite proper for pagans, but not for Christians. Christ taught us that all we have came from the hand of the good God, and is intrusted to us to use for Him. We are stewards, trustees, agents of God Almighty, and we must answer to Him for all we have. With most of us, six weeks of sincere self-training in true stewardship would make a noticeable and shining change.

Fritz Kreisler, the great violinist, has this Christian sense of stewardship. He says, "I was born with music in my system. It was a gift of God. I never look upon money I earn as my own. It is public money. It is only a fund intrusted to me for proper disbursement. I am constantly endeavoring to reduce my needs to the minimum. I feel morally guilty in ordering a costly meal, for it deprives some one else of a slice of bread; some child, perhaps of a bottle of milk. In all these years of my so-called success in music my wife and I have not built a house for ourselves. Between it and us stand all the homeless of the world."

O Americans, stewards of the vastest wealth the world has ever seen, look to the keeping of Lent; "for unto whomsoever much is given, of him much shall be required."

Closing Prayers: "Our Father" and the following:

Into Thy hands, O Lord, we commit ourselves this day. Give unto each one of us a watchful, a humble and a loving spirit, that we may seek in all things to do Thy will, to the honor and glory of Thy Name. Through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

(Galasian Sacramentary, 494 A. D. adapted)

NOTES

Dr. Lama's Friday evening Bible Class is well attended. However there is still room for those of you who cannot afford to miss the interesting experience of hearing the Lord's Prayer in the language our Lord used when He walked among men.

Make a reservation for supper at six, and be in ample time to secure a seat near the front of the auditorium of the Community House.

We gratefully acknowledge the bulletin subscriptions of M. G. Wilson, Mrs. Mary McEwen, and Miss Dorothy Morrison.

NOTES

We gratefully acknowledge the bulletin subscription of Mrs. May W. Conger and Miss Elsa J. Durholz.

The Rector will preach at the Holy Communion Memorial Chapel on Sunday evening.

We are privileged to have the Rev. Dr. Michael Coleman to conduct and preach at our noon-day services from Monday through Friday, March 11-15. During the Blitz of London he and his staff of All Hallow's, near the Tower of London, went from shelter to shelter ministering to men and women and children huddled together through the nights of horror. He was at the dockside of the Thames serving with the defense workers as the bombs came down.

Dr. Coleman is now serving the Church in Canada as preacher and missioner, making as many trips as he can into the United States to answer the many calls extended to him to conduct teaching missions.

Not since the days of G. A. Studdert-Kennedy, following the first Great War has the Church had so eloquent a preacher and prophet.

We extend a hearty welcome to the Rev. Leonard Rasmusson, rector of the Church of the Atonement who will preach at the noonday service on Saturday, March 16th. Mr. Rasmusson was a classmate of your Rector at the Cambridge Theological School.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church service; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday-workers, young people in the service of our country and others.)

Opening Prayer:

The eternal God is our dwelling place and underneath are the everlasting arms. Amen.

Bible Reading: Psalm 91

The Sermon:

There appeared in a recent "Congressional Record" a story which suggests that "whoso dwelleth under the defense of the Most High shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty." A nineteen-year-old G. I. who had been awarded a medal for bringing in a large group of Japanese prisoners, singlehanded, tells his own story: "I want someone to know that I don't deserve that medal. It happened this way: I was captured by the Japanese, with five of my pals; we were marched along through the jungle with bayonets in our backs. I had to see my comrades one by one killed and mutilated. I said the Twenty-Third Psalm. I said the Lord's Prayer. Die I must, but I determined not to let my captors see my fear. Trembling from head to foot, marching in mud up to my ankles, with a bayonet sticking in my back, I began to whistle the way I used to when I was a small boy and had to go through a dark street. So I whistled, 'We gather together to ask the Lord's blessing; He chastens and hastens His Will to make known; The wicked oppressing cease then from distressing, Sing praises to His name, He forgets not His own.'

"Suddenly I became aware that someone had joined me in my whistling—it was my Japanese captor! He too, was whistling the hymn. Soon I felt his gun fall back into place. He walked beside me then and suddenly I jumped when, in perfect English, he said to me, 'I never cease to wonder at the magnificence of Christian hymns' and a few minutes talk revealed that the Japanese soldier had learned English in a mission school kindergarten to which I had contributed my pennies in my Sunday School days. The Japanese boy spoke of war and how the Japanese Christians hated it; we both agreed on the power of Christianity and what could happen if people really dared to live it; and then we began to talk of our families and our homes. Finally, at the suggestion of the Japanese, we knelt in the mud and prayed for suffering humanity around the world, and for 'His peace that passeth understanding' among all men on earth.

"When we arose, he asked if I would take him back as a prisoner to the American headquarters. He said that it was the only way that he could live up to his Christianity, and thus help Japan to become a Christian nation; and on the way he found in various fox-holes other Japanese Christians and they too joined me. I shall never forget the hope and joy that came into their eyes as my Japanese friend unfolded to them, one by one, how we found each other, and why and where they were being taken. All the way back we talked of the Christian religion. When we neared camp, by mutual agreement they put on poker faces and somber looks, and I, gun in hand, marched them into camp. After the war is over, they will spend their lives keeping alive and spreading an ever-growing Christian community in Japan. So you see I don't deserve a medal for the most wonderful experience of my life."

It would seem that the "defense of the Most High" might well be the strongest national defense of all. It sounds as if it might be worth while for the people of the earth to try that defense at last!

Closing Prayer:

O God, the Might of those that put their trust in Thee, grant that we may be more than conquerors over all things that make war upon our souls, that at the last we may enter into the perfect peace of Thy Presence, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen. (Roman Breviary)

LENT NOW CALLS US

Ash Wednesday is at hand. Another Lenten Season is about to begin. The Road to Easter lies before us again. How shall we order our going these days?

With the laying aside of many of our social activities for a while, we have more time to give to the real things of life. There will be more hours for meditation and prayer. There will better opportunity for self-examination. There will be greater tendency both to count our blessings and to recognize our failures in disciplineship to Jesus Christ.

Lent has in it untold possibilities for spiritual enrichment. The fact that it leads up to Easter constantly reminds us of the great hope that illumines our hearts on that glorious day. It also challenges us to better preparation for the day itself.

Our churches ought to be full on Easter Day. But they also ought to be full on every other Lord's Day. If we do not worship every Sunday, will we be able to receive the blessing which Jesus Christ holds before us on the anniversary of His victory over the grave?

No one can solve our Lenten problem but ourself. And it is a most serious problem. Shall we not seek guidance in God's House? Were the tears we shed when loved ones went home to God only of passing significance? Do we really intend to try to meet them in our Father's House not built with hands?

What a glorious day Easter will be for us if we approach it with spiritual treasures gathered through the days now before us!

HOME PRAYERS

Opening Prayer:

O Lord, Thou knowest that without thee we can do nothing. Behold, we seek Thee, but of ourselves we cannot find Thee; we long for the light of Thy presence, but we cannot bring it into our own souls. Send down Thy Spirit into our hearts, we beseech Thee, that He may strengthen and enlighten us, and teach us how to pray. Through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Bible Reading: Psalm 116.

The Sermon: "I Will offer to Thee the sacrifice of thanksgiving."

Lent always brings to us the suggestion of sacrifice; and for too many it is a suggestion and nothing more. Those of us who give it serious consideration are likely to conceive of sacrifice as some kind of deprivation. It is true that sacrifice means an offering, and an offering is worth nothing to God if it is something without value to him who presents it. Relinquishing what we love and desire for ourselves is the measure of any worthwhile sacrifice.

Behind the primary conception of sacrifice there was always the thought of propitiating an angry God. You will find that idea in the Old Testament. It would be strange indeed if this rude people had not brought with them out of their heathen beginnings some such notions as this; but you will note with interest and profit that as they come into a fuller appreciation of the great gift which was theirs, they came to deem sacrifice as something vastly more than propitiation; it indicated love and devotion and the changed heart. So sacrifice to be spiritually profitable must always be productive of some kind of joy. I do not think it too much to say that sacrifice in its finest manifestation must always be not so much giving as the return of a gift; consequently separated from any feeling of deprivation or loss. When you have come to think of sacrifice in this light, you will not need that I should long dwell on the beautiful significance of our text.

My brother, our rarest offering to God is the sacrifice of the thankful heart. We will give our money to the poor or to the Church without making much fuss about it. There are many people who give abundantly of their time to all sorts of religious and philanthropic ends and do it willingly enough who have never thought of the sacrifice of the thankful heart as being the most precious thing they could offer in the sight of God. The most of us are willing enough to present the complaining and ungrateful heart. What I am suggesting is that we make an effort this Lent to "come into His presence with a song." The offering of a thankful heart will not be a cheap gift; for some of us it will cost much. It will mean the confession of our sins; the acknowledgment of our weaknesses; the realization of our unworthiness—for the thankful heart will be a cleansed heart,—the symbol of a life set right with God.

Closing Prayer:

O God our Father, we offer Thee this day the thankful heart. Deliver us from indolence and weakness; teach us to look away from ourselves to the hopes and needs of others; and grant us power so to use the gifts Thou hast bestowed on us as to brighten and ennoble the life of the world. Through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Supper will be served at a moderate price at 6: 00 P. M. for the convenience of those in town.

Dr. Lamsa is no stranger to many of our people who listened with great profit to a series of lectures which he gave in the Church three years ago. Here, again, is a unique opportunity to hear from one who speaks the language of Jesus and the Apostles and who has helped many thousands to a better understanding of the greatest of all books.

HOME PRAYERS

Opening Prayer:

Blessed Lord, who hast caused all holy Scriptures to be written for our learning; Grant that we may in such wise hear them, read, mark, learn, and inwardly digest them, that by patience and comfort of Thy holy Word, we may embrace and ever hold fast the blessed hope of everlasting life, which Thou hast given us in our Saviour Jesus Christ. Amen. (Book of Common Prayer)

Bible Reading: St. Luke 15: 11-32

The Sermon:

One of the reasons that the Bible reaches us where we live is that, in its pages, we find living pictures of ourselves and of God.

We find ourselves in the Bible; and God speaks to us. When God says to Adam, "Where art thou?" we recognize ourselves in Adam, ourselves who have done wrong and want to hide from God. When God asks Elijah, "What doest thou here?" we see ourselves in Elijah, ourselves trying to run away from our responsibilities. When Jesus on the Cross says to the penitent thief, "Today shalt thou be with me in paradise", we are the penitent thief, facing our sins honestly, and finding God forgiving us and welcoming us into that new peace of heart which is paradise indeed! When Jesus lifts the lame man to his feet, we see Him lifting our lame spirits into new vigor and new usefulness. For the Bible is filled with people like us; and we learn, in reading its pages, to see that as God speaks to them, He is speaking directly to our own hearts.

We find living pictures of God in the Bible. We need pictures of God, for we are like children, learning best through a picture-book. In God giving the Ten Commandments to Moses in Sinai, we see the God who is righteous. In God pictured by the prophet Amos, we see the God Who is just and fair, condemning the rich who grow fat while poor men starve to death. In Hosea's story, we see the God of infinite compassion, opening the door for the return of the unfaithful spouse, just as He opens the door for us unfaithful ones. And in the parable you have just read, which is best called "The Parable of the Loving Father" you see, underlined, that same God of compassion, who waits and waits, until we come home to Him. Most clearly of all, we see God pictured in Jesus Christ, Who lived the life of God on earth, Who showed us what God is like; Who died on the Cross that men might never forget the unconquerable love of God.

Yes, the Bible is God's picture-book for His children of earth, where great truths are clothed in simple stories that any human child can understand. Through the eager reading of the Bible, cover the walls of your mind and heart with those pictures. Stand before them each day. Then you will live indeed!

Closing Prayers: "Our Father" and the following prayer:

Incline, O Lord, Thy merciful ears, and illuminate the darkness of our hearts by the light of Thy visitations; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

The Confirmation Candidates who will make their first Communion at the nine o'clock service this morning are: Catherine Charlotte and John Joseph Sader, George H. Waitt, Jr., Barbara Elaine Marsh, Gladys Erma Farmer, Miss Gertrude Genevieve McClellan, George Hepner MacGoldrick, Thomas Ent Keller, Mrs. Jean Smith Slatcher, Mr. Charles Gregory Slatcher, Miss Marion Slatcher.

"Ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Spirit is come upon you."

Material Aid to Europe. The Episcopal Church is joining with a majority of churches in the World Council of Churches, in a co-operative venture in sending material aid (clothing, shoes, canned goods, seeds, vitamins, iron pills, soap, candle stubs) to our sister churches in liberated countries abroad. Our collection around Christmas proved most satisfactory. This is a continuing program, however, and the need is desperate. Bring your contributions to the Church office and we will send them to Europe.

The members of the Wednesday Night Club, under the leadership of Mr. John George are doing a fine job in entertaining the Service Men in the Community House. All the young people of the parish are welcome to join in this program. Bring a friend. Every Wednesday from 7: 00 to 11: 00 P. M.

With deep gratitude we acknowledge the following gifts to the Reconstruction and Advance Fund: Edward J. Cook, Jr., Dr. H. Alexander Matthews, Miss Emma L. Mink, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Powers, Mr. and Mrs. Fred. Schmid, Jr., and Mrs. Emily B. Campbell.

OUR INDUSTRIAL LIFE

Whatever the facts may be, even the most cursory investigation will indicate that the rank and file of labor are convinced that there is a concerted determination on the part of management to break the power of organized labor. Again, whatever the present facts may be, there is abundant evidence in the history of industrial relations to warrant the assumption.

If that were the sole issue and if all management were of one nature and labor leadership of one nature, it would be easy to formulate a Christian attitude. But the variants of attitude and personality on both sides are so great that the task of formulating fair judgments is hopelessly beyond the reach of the private citizen. On the one side there are the Girdlers and the Averys and there are the Fords and the Kaisers with a wide dispersion in between. On the other side there are the Petrillos and the Quills and there are the Murrays and the Dubinskis, again, with a wide dispersion in between.

The President has wisely said that both management and labor have too great power. When either one or the other, or both, in their struggle, can paralyze essential aspects of the life of the nation at a time when the world needs everything that America can supply in the way of materials and intelligent concern, then there is no question that too much power is at large without proper social control.

Centuries ago Jesus voiced the moral axiom that "a house divided against itself cannot stand". At this moment American industry is demonstrating its truth.

Obviously the time has come to recognize the basic fault in our economic structure. All contacts between management and labor are but armed truces because the house of industry is cleft in twain. The paradox lies in the fact that whole-hearted co-operation would profit management, would profit labor and would profit the general public, whereas conflict is devastating for all.

But whole-hearted co-operation must be more than a sentiment—it should be clothed with flesh and incorporated into structure. There is no way in political life save democracy. Can there be any other way in industrial life?

HOME PRAYERS

Opening Prayer:

Our heavenly Father, we would cast all our care upon Thee, knowing that Thou hast us in Thy heart. We bring to Thee our work to be sanctified, our wounds to be healed, our sins to be forgiven, our hopes to be renewed, our lagging zeal to be quickened, and our fainting hearts to be encouraged. We commit ourselves to Thy care. In Jesus' Name. Amen.

Bible Reading: Romans 12.

The Sermon:

"Be not wise in your own conceits."

Everybody respects a man of conviction. Everybody admires perseverance as a virtue. But nobody likes conceited stubborness. Possessors of that trait are often likened to a donkey.

Sometimes it is difficult for us to distinguish between conviction, which is a sign of maturity, and conceitedness, which is a sign of inexperience and immaturity. I refer to our own opinion of our own ideas. Somewhere during my years of formal schooling I picked up this jingle:

"The Freshman knows not; and knows that he knows not.
The Sophomore knows not; and knows not that he knows not.
The Junior knows; and knows that he knows.
The Senior knows; and knows not that he knows."

The longer a thinking person lives, the more strong and sure become certain convictions. But at the same time the thinker develops a tolerance for the opinion of others. He does not force his ideas upon another, but rather seeks to win others to his way of thinking.

In the early days of the modern period of Christian Missions, the missionaries used to treat their prospects as if all their past heathen ideas were untrue, and contained no religious truth. Fortunately, Missions have come of age, missionaries now retain whatever is true, or not actually unchristian, in the past religion of those whom they seek to convert.

The only way for any of us to gain respect for our convictions is to avoid stating them bluntly as if we knew the absolute truth, and our opponents were absolutely mistaken. The wise man tries to understand his opponent's point of view. Having then found common ground with them he is able to present his own ideas with some hope that they will be understood and respected.

Closing Prayer:

We thank Thee, O God, that we may turn to Thee in perfect confidence and trust in all affairs of life. We thank Thee that Thou hast called us to become co-workers with Thee in bringing about the reign of Thy will in this world. We pray that we may have the clearness of vision, the strength of purpose, and the courage of our convictions to follow the voice of conscience and to do what is right. We pray in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ. Amen.

Our deepest sympathy is extended to the family of the late Mrs. Mary L. Reed. St. Stephen's Church is proud that there are four generations of the Reed family in its membership.

We extend a warm welcome to our suffragan Bishop, the Rt. Rev. William P. Remington, D.D., who visits us to administer the rite of Confirmation. He will also preach the sermon.

The visit of a bishop is an important event in the life of any parish or community. The bishops are our chief pastors, they are set apart and ordained to be our "Fathers in God". They see the Church and its affairs in a wider angle than most of us can. Thus they have a message to give from a point of view to which we all need to go for the enrichment of our religious life, and to increase the effectiveness of our witness and service. In particular Bishop Remington is beloved here, as he is throughout the Diocese and the nation, and he will receive a warm greeting.

These in one source doth faith combine, In Three we praise one God alone.

The Christmas Basket Committee expresses its sincere thanks for the generous gifts to which no name was attached. We are grateful for your thoughtfulness which helped to make Christmas happy for many people who otherwise would have been sadly deprived of holiday cheer.

Welcome to St. Stephen's. We are happy to announce that the Rev. Gustav C. Meckling will be a full time member of our Church Staff on February 1st. Mr. Meckling will minister to the Hard of Hearing congregation and he will be the Director of the Community House Program with his office in that building. Mr. Meckling is a native Philadelphian. He was graduated from Brown Preparatory School, Swarthmore College; Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania and the Philadelphia Divinity School.

THE RECONSTRUCTION AND ADVANCE FUND

This fund at the present time has received $5,875.00 from sixty-four families. This is a splendid result and our total will undoubtedly go over our goal of $6,000. But we would like to hear from the many other families to whom the appeal has gone. It matters not how small the gift is, only that we may all be represented in this thank offering for a righteous victory and the return of peace. How better can we express our gratitude than in sharing in the rebuilding of what the war has destroyed, and in sending forth the good news of God's love throughout the world.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday-workers, young people in the service of our country and others)

Opening Prayer:

Teach us, O heavenly Father, the love with which Thou hast loved us. Fashion us after Thine own example of love. Shed abroad the love of God and man in our hearts, for Thy Name's sake. Amen.—(Henry Alford, 1810 A. D.; adapted)

Bible Reading: Luke 10: 30-37

The Sermon:

Looking on the map, you might think that the road from Jerusalem to Jericho was only thirty miles, a short way. But it is really much longer than that—it reaches clear around the world, and it runs down all the ages into our own day. It is Everyman's Road, on which each shows his way of life. "A certain man" going down over this old road, encountered three different kinds of people.

First there were the highway robbers. Their philosophy was "What's yours is mine—hands up!" And they fell upon the man, beat him up and took all that he had. We know that philosophy—the extremists in the Management-Labor field, the Farm Bloc and all the Pressure Groups in the Nation's Capitol in their zeal to get what they want regardless, exemplify the philosophy, "What's yours is mine—hands up!" That philosophy always leaves some one behind, bleeding and hurt, on the ancient road of life.

Second came the Levite and the Priest—very respectable, and very selfish. Their philosophy was, "What's mine is mine—what's yours is none of my business." Their time was their own, so they would not stop to care for the injured man. The Priest argued with himself, "It was his own fault—he had no business carrying valuable property over this road infested with bandits. I'll not get mixed up in this business." So he passed by. The Levite at least "came and looked upon him". But he, too, argued that it was no affair of his and went along on his own errand. Millions follow this easy way—they keep "out of trouble" by keeping themselves out of the troubles of others. They are polite and cool; and in great haste to take care of themselves.

Lastly there came the Samaritan. He saw the fallen man, and said to himself: "I'm the only man in sight to do anything about this. It's up to me." And he tore off strips from his own clothes, and bound up the wounds; poured a little oil on the bandages to make them soft and some wine, which he knew was good for wounds (although he had never heard of an "antiseptic".) He set the man on his own beast, and got him to a wayside inn; and saved his life.

Thus Jesus gives us three of the philosophies of those who travel the road of life. The danger to many Church people is that their philosophy smells too much of the Priest and the Levite. But our Master looks to us to be Samaritans, and as we come upon those in trouble, quietly to say to ourselves, "It's up to me!"

Closing Prayer:

Grant O Lord, that what we have said with our lips, we may believe in our hearts and practice in our lives; and of Thy mercy keep us faithful unto the end; for Christ's sake. Amen. (John Hunter, 1892 A. D.)

God is with us! O ye nations understand; submit yourselves for God is with us!

Give ear, all ye of far countries, gird yourselves, and ye shall come to naught; speak the word and it shall not stand.

Neither fear ye their fear, nor be afraid; sanctify the Lord God of hosts, Himself, and let Him be your fear.

He shall be for a sanctuary; I will wait upon the Lord and I will look for Him; behold I, and the children whom the Lord hath given me.

THE WAR'S DESOLATION

War leaves wide-spread havoc and desolation in its wake. Returning service men give eye witness account of the destruction brought to peoples and non-military buildings by modern warfare. Likewise, testimony is freely given to the dauntless courage and faith of many. It takes a stout heart and boundless faith to stand amid the ruins of one's life work among native peoples and resolve to carry on. Our Missionaries have seen their buildings blasted by bomb-bursts. But the work of the Church must go forward in spite of the destruction of churches and cathedrals.

This Sunday we shall take our general Parish offering for the Reconstruction and Advance Fund, bringing to a culmination the information we have been giving for the past four months by special pamphlets mailed to our families, explaining the purposes of this Fund. To summarize briefly: The Fund has a three-fold purpose, first to rebuild ruined mission properties, especially in the Philippines and in China; secondly to start an advance movement in the general missionary work of the Church particularly in Latin America, Liberia and among the Negro people of the United States of America, thirdly, to help the starving people in Europe.

The Episcopal Church aims to secure five million dollars; the Diocese of Pennsylvania has accepted as its share one-tenth, or five hundred thousand; St. Stephen's Church has been given as its quota six thousand dollars. On Sunday, January 20, we ask every family in the Parish to make a generous contribution towards this Fund that it may represent an all-inclusive gift of all the people of our Parish as a thank offering for a righteous victory in the war; for the safety of ninety-three of the ninety-five who went from our Parish into the Armed Forces; and affectionate and grateful memory of the sacrifices of the two who did not return.

The enclosed envelope and pledge card are for your convenience.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday-workers, young people in the service of our country and others)

Opening Prayer:

O God of peace, the true Light of faithful souls, the Helper of the needy and the Saviour of the sinful, be present unto our prayers, and give unto us the spirit of wisdom, that we may hear and understand Thy Word, and strength that we may keep it unto life eternal; for Christ's sake, Amen.—(Rev. John Hunter, 19th Century)

Bible Reading: Acts 3: 1-11

The Sermon:

Often it happens that people ask something of us—and we do not have it. The lame man, begging alms at the gate of the Temple called Beautiful, asked Peter for money; and Peter did not have it.

He was thoughtful for a moment. It was plain that he did not have what the man wanted. But still he began to ask himself, "What have I that could help this man? I can't do what he asks, but can I do something? Swiftly God's spirit in Peter's heart showed him that he had something far more precious than what the man had asked; not a coin or two to drop in a beggar's outstretched hand, but the power that would release him from begging at all! So he bade the man, "In the Name of Jesus of Nazareth, rise up and walk." And the amazed man suddenly found himself walking on sound ankles; able to work and support himself.

So many people, when they cannot do what a person asks of them, shrug their shoulders sorrowfully and do nothing. That is too lazy a way out of the situation. For God has endowed every living person with precious gifts with which he can help others, if he is willing. Your's may not be five-talent gifts (and, again, they may be!) but, consecrated to aid those about you, they can bring great joy and comfort, your bounden duty is to use the talents God gave you; use with all your faithfulness and strength.

Once Dwight L. Moody was preaching to a great crowd. He was thinking more of his burning message than of the literary form of it. A fussy-minded man, after the service, said to Mr. Moody, "You spoke with great eloquence tonight, but—I hope you will not mind my mentioning it—I noticed that you mispronounced four words and made five mistakes in grammar." Mr. Moody smiled quietly, and replied, "I don't doubt it for a moment. My early education was both scanty and faulty. But I am using all the grammar I know in the service of Christ—how is it with you? He was saying in different words, "Such as I have I give . . ."

How is it with you?

Closing Prayers. "Our Father" and the following prayer:

Lord, sanctify us wholly, that our whole spirit, soul and body may become Thy temple. Oh, do Thou dwell in us, and be our God, and we will be Thy servants, through Jesus Christ. Amen.—(Bishop Ken, 1637 A. D.)

A NEW YEAR'S GREETING . . . SHUT THAT DOOR!

Elijah once told a very distracted and anxious woman to go home and shut the door upon herself. Shrewd reader of human nature! He recognized that there would be something psychological in such an act. States of mind are induced by physical acts quite as often as physical acts are prompted by states of mind. William James always insisted, you know, that we didn't run because we felt afraid, we felt afraid because we ran. Even when Pilate went through the ritual of washing his hands with soap and water it gave his conscience a cleaner feeling too.

We will soon go through the annual ritual of shutting a door. At midnight on Monday night, when the clock strikes twelve and the tooting of whistles and the clanging of bells announce the end of the old year, there will be people all over the land who will feel that they are actually closing some kind of door. And they are—the door of the old year. But the question is, how many of them really shut the doors of their minds on time?

There are some mental doors closed when we close the door of the old year. One of them is the Door of Worry Over Things Undone. What a common experience it is to be plagued by a haunting sense that we have probably left something undone which we ought to have attended to especially when the rush is over and the door is closed. And how many things undone we can recall when the door of the year is shut if we let our minds go out and dwell on them—the letters we didn't write, the little thoughtful services we might have rendered, the duties we left unperformed, the friendships we neglected, the good intentions we failed to carry out. They range all the way from unsent birthday greetings to seized opportunities. It is too late now. Shut that door. There are still chances and ways for atonement in the New Year.

Another is the Door of Regret over what was wrongly done. It is related of old Doctor Samuel Johnson that in the last years of his life he could be seen once a year standing bareheaded at a certain spot in the market place, sometimes in the pelting rain, as he patiently observed the anniversary of the day and place where in his boyhood, he had slashed his father with a bad-tempered tongue. If one should keep the door of his mind ajar he could peek out on any number of regretted sins and follies —quick-tempered thrusts which drew blood, the bit of meanness which was so uncalled for, that unjust suspicion, and that ill-founded judgment. Any one of us could spend a great many unhappy moments this side of the door of the old year regretting what was wrongly done. And perhaps as a penance we deserve to. Nevertheless, SHUT that door.

Still another door of our minds which ought to be closed is the Door of Brooding Over Past Injuries, real or fancied. There are some people who sing a perpetual hymn of resentment adding new stanzas to it from time to time. I was acquainted with a woman, whether now in the flesh I know not, who used to say with a flash of her dark eyes. "I am like an Indian I never forget an injury." And she didn't either. What a thing to boast about! Why be like an Indian instead of like a Christian? Still there are folk who next July will be brooding over the slights and injuries of last July. The door of the year 1945 will be closed but the door of 1945's feelings will still be open. In heaven's name, let us shut THAT door!

Once more there is the Door of Sorrows, the hardest of all doors to shut. One would not say, "Shut the door of sacred memory upon thee." That would not be right. But the door of a rankling grief is different. St. Paul put it very wisely and very beautifully when he said, "Grieve not as those who have no hope". The glory of tomorrow is its hope. The joy of a new year is the light in its coming days. Gently shut the door on these bitter painful memories that recede with the past year and open the door ahead with thanksgiving that God is God, and Love is Love, and Life is stronger than all its sorrows.

It is behind the closed door that we are most likely, when we turn, to find ourselves facing Christ. "When the doors were shut—Jesus came and stood in the midst." It is behind a closed door that the woman discovered that Power which mysteriously multiplied the oil until it filled all the empty capacities into which she poured it.

A Blessed New Year. But first—be sure to shut that door!

—Repeated by request.

The annual appeal for subscriptions to our Church Bulletin has been mailed out to our members this week. We hope there will be a generous response as the cost of printing has increased almost 50%. Since we began the practice of mailing these weekly leaflets our list has increased from 180 to 600.

The rector will preach at the Church of the Epiphany, Sherwood on Epiphany Sunday, January 6th at 8 P. M. He preached at the Leamy Home on December 30th.

LITANY FOR ALL MOTHERS

From slowness of heart to comprehend what is divine in the depth and constancy of a Mother's love:

Good Lord, deliver us.

From the unreality of superficial sentiment, from commercial exploitation, and from all lip service to Motherhood while we neglect the weightier matters of justice and mercy and love:

Good Lord, deliver us.

By our remembrance of the Mother of our Lord standing by the cross of her well-beloved Son;

Good Lord, deliver us.

That it may please Thee to open our ears that we may hear the Saviour's word from the cross, Behold thy Mother;

We beseech Thee to hear us; good Lord.

That it may please Thee to give us grace from this hour, with the swift obedience of beloved disciples, to take unto our own those widowed, bereft, hard-pressed in life.

We beseech Thee to hear us; good Lord.

That it may please Thee to touch our hearts that we may behold our Mother in every woman; in women who toil in the factories and on the farms, in office and shop and home; in women of alien race and foreign clime, in women of every creed and color and condition;

We beseech Thee to hear us; good Lord.

That it may please Thee to lay upon our conscience the unequal lot of the Mothers of the poor, the underprivileged, and the unemployed;

We beseech Thee to hear us; good Lord.

That it may please Thee to excite our pity for all Mothers robbed of their beloved sons by war;

We beseech Thee to hear us; good Lord.

That it may please Thee to kindle within us divine discontent with any social order which tolerates war, or poverty, or any preventable suffering among the Mothers of the world;

We beseech Thee to hear us, good Lord.

That it may please Thee to hasten the coming of the divine society, when every Mother shall be secure, encompassed by loving provision for all her need;

We beseech Thee to hear us; good Lord.

In the name of the Father and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit. Amen.

PARISH MEETING

The Annual Meeting of the Parish will take place on Wednesday, May 14th, at 6:00 P. M. A supper for all the Parish will be served. In the belief that all should enjoy the fellowship of this supper, a caterer has been secured to serve a meal for no more than one dollar a plate. Reservations must be made in advance.

Organization leaders should see that secretaries' and treasurers' reports (brief) are made to the meeting and that copies in writing are available to print in the annual booklet.

Besides the election to the Vestry, important matters are to be discussed. One purpose of this meeting is to show how wide-spread is the influence of the church and what numbers it benefits.

The Vestry will meet briefly on Monday, May 19th in order to organize under the Church Constitution.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others)

Opening Prayer:

Almighty God, the Creator of all good things, make conscious to the torch-bearers of life—the mothers of the race—Thine infinite interest and care for them; fold them in the everlasting arms of Thy love.

Thou didst struggle with them as they climbed the steps of motherhood, through its travail of mind, body and soul. May their compensation be a clearer vision and a guiding wisdom, a love returned and understood, and the ultimate satisfaction of knowing that they have lifted those entrusted to their care up into helpful harmony with Thy Kingdom. Through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

Bible Reading: Judges 5.

The Sermon:

"The mother of Sisera looked out from a window and cried through the lattice 'Why is his chariot so long in coming?'"

In world literature there is no finer portrayal of the spirit of the mother than this lyric. She was a pagan woman but the instincts of the maternal heart rise above any limitation of race or religion. The mother of Sisera stands at the window waiting the return of her warrior son. The shadows gather. The sun sinks in the western sky. Still she is there. Intently she listens for his chariot wheels. Impatiently she cries "Why is his chariot so long in coming?" She pictures his distant camp and the division of the spoils. The richest things are for her boy!

Is not this the epic of mothers? She is always believing, trusting, hoping, dreaming the best things for her child. In gayer mood and in graver moments no one understands the lad as the mother does.

We are noticeably silent today in our arguments against the equality of women. They have proved their equality plus. What we are most interested in is the quality of women—not the equality. There is the reason we turn to Motherhood. We have found that no civilization can rise higher than its womanhood.

In a very large part womanhood has entered nearly every walk of life for the sake of a New Ideal. She has realized that she has a special contribution to make. She sees things differently. A man usually asks: "How much will it cost?" "How much will it make?" A woman steeled in centuries of sacrifices breathes: "How will it affect my home?—my children?"

The Ideal of Motherhood will ever remain the highest ideal of womanhood. Nothing can ever replace this as her most cherished vocation. It is with this ideal in mind that woman has gone forth into every realm. Wherever she has gone life has been enriched and ennobled.

Is it not the extension of this ideal of Motherhood into all of life that will redeem our modern society? In no better way can we understand the Universal Brotherhood of the human family than in terms of the home in which the ideals of Motherhood holds sway.

Yes, this is a woman's world—a Mother's World! We honor all womanhood today as the Home, impersonated in a Mother, goes forth to conquer the world for the Kingdom of Christ.

Closing Prayer:

We thank Thee, Lord, for Christian homes, proud or humble, rich or poor, where men and women, boys and girls, may work and play and live in joyous comradeship; where unbreakable ties bind into a single unit the separate members, so that each is made strong in the strength of others. We ask it in Thy Name. Amen.

We wish to thank Mrs. Jane Dell, Mrs. Mae Gilbert, and Mrs. Gerald B. Street for their subscriptions to the 1947 Church Bulletin.

HOME-COMING

A wise poet has sung the praises of Christmas "for the coming home to share in the Christmas joys!" For Christmas is, above all else, a home-coming day. By car, by train, by plane, people are speeding homeward—to gather around the family hearth this joyful season.

Deep in the heart of all of us, there is a greater home-coming at Christmas-tide. At midnight the church is thronged, and men and women who have not "been home" for many a moon kneel before the altar of God. Something draws them there that night that is stronger than all other desires—the mighty love of God drawing them back where they truly belong.

On Christmas Eve we stumbling human folk know our littleness—small children in a vast world where there is too much darkness for our liking. Deep down in us we feel our need of Him; we crave the comfort of His strong, protecting love. We come back to find that He loves us everlastingly, in spite of all that we are, and are not. On our knees, with empty hands stretched out for His feeding, we are filled with strength once more. We are home, where we are loved by Him Who is wise and great. A star of hope shines across the night, and we know that all things are possible to every soul that walks humbly and faithfully, guided by His wisdom.

May your Christmas-tide be joyful and prayerful!

Sincerely your Rector,

ALFRED W. PRICE.

The Church Staff—the Rector, Mr. Meckling, the Parish Visitor, the Secretary, the Verger and the Community House Sexton—unite in their desire to convey to you, one and all, their best Christmas wishes.

A Christmas Prayer

O Almighty God, Who by the birth of Thy holy Child, Jesus hast given us a great Light to dawn upon our darkness; grant, we pray Thee, that in His light we may see light to the end of our days; and bestow upon us, we beseech Thee, that most excellent Christmas gift of love to all men, that so the likeness of Thy Son may be formed in us through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

EDITORIAL

First, some facts!

1. The Philippine constitution, as originally adopted, required that 60 per cent of each corporate business must be owned by Filipinos.

2. In 1946 Congress passed the Tydings War Damage Act, granting $620,000,000 for rehabilitation work in the Philippines, but with the proviso that the Philippines should grant to United States citizens equal rights in "exploitation". Yes, that very word was used.

3. On March 11, 1947 the Filipinos voted to amend their constitution as Washington wanted.

The Consequence of the facts!

Dr. Henry Sloane Coffin has just arrived home from a tour of the East in behalf of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions. He visited the Philippines.

Dr. Coffin reports that the prestige of the United States, once so high in the Philippines, has sunk very low and is still going down.

When he asked informed Filipinos the reason, he was told that it was because of our "capitalistic exploitation" of the islands.

When Dr. Coffin asked what was meant by our capitalistic exploitation, he was shown the stipulation of the Tydings Act. Obviously, having been called upon to amend their constitution in order to get the benefits of the Act, all Filipinos know of the proviso insisting on American equality in "exploitation."

Obviously, also, very few Americans knew of the crude and shocking condition which was attached to the rehabilitation grant. (The grant alone would not have been charity since the use of the Philippines was essential to our strategy against Japan and at the time the damage was done the Philippines were under American sovereignty.)

But the facts are out now and surely the moral indignation of the people of the United States will demand the repeal of that vicious proviso.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others)

Opening Prayer:

Almighty God, give us grace to contend always for what is true and right, and to be ready, if need be, to suffer for it. Give us not over to fearfulness of soul, but lift us into that love which casteth out fear, so that we may glorify and enjoy Thee now and for ever, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

(Presbyterian "Book of Common Worship" 1946.)

Bible Reading: Matthew 26:47-56

The Sermon:

Back in April there were two notable events: Some American planes made a demonstration of strength over the Greek guerilla armies, and a Korean lad won the Boston Marathon race.

Our American planes flew over the Greek rebels to show them how powerful the United States air force is, and to warn them that they'd better be good boys, and stop rebelling. (It seems a little strange for a nation which won its freedom by a revolution to be threatening rebels, does it not!) The pity of it is that this kind of "diplomacy" only cuts its own throat in the long run. Waving our fist under the nose of Russia can only make Russia hate us more; can only justify the Russian government in calling us "the American bully". You can't stop Communism, or any other way of life, by means of planes and armies, any more than the Roman Empire could stop Christianity with its well-armed legions. Ideas, faiths, cannot be checked by force of arms. Christianity captured the Roman Empire in two short centuries without ever drawing a sword. As Jesus said, "All they that take the sword shall perish with the sword." It does not take a long memory to recall how Germany proved the truth of that teaching twice in the past thirty years. God help the United States if we embark seriously on the sword-rattling game of power-politics, which leads only to destruction.

On the other hand, there is a simple and victorious way of drawing nations together into peace tand friendship. Out in Korea, where our American soldiers are still on guard duty, communism and democracy are struggling, each seeking to win the loyalty of those people, some of our G. I.'s noticed a Korean lad, a long-distance runner, and were so impressed by his speed and stamina that they told him that he should go across the world to compete in the famous Boston Marathon run. When they found that he did not have enough money for the trip, they dug down deep in their pockets, and collected the necessary amount. So he went; and he won the race in world's record time. No one can calculate the sum of friendship those G. I.'s won for our nation by this simple act of friendship. But one can guess what the little Korean runner thinks of the United States, and what his countrymen are thinking, as a result of the generosity of our boys. Such practical "diplomacy", which is simply the application of Jesus' teaching, builds for peace and friendship across the world.

On Memorial Day, we recall the costly sacrifices of past generations, out of love for their country; that their children might live in peace. Today it is clear that the way of peace does not run along the primrose path of power-politics, it runs along the way that Jesus trod, the way of quiet determined, honest friendship for all men.

Closing Prayer:

The very God of peace sanctify us wholly, and preserve us unto the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ. Amen.

Members of the Philadelphia Light Opera Workshop will sing the Music Program of the Evening Prayer Memorial Day Service, Sunday, June 1st, at 7:30 P. M. (Members of St. Stephen's Church who would like to sing in the Philadelphia Light Opera Workshop are welcome. Contact the Rev. Mr. Meckling, or Mr. Edward James Snyder, Director.)

The Church School Picnic is Saturday, June 7th. Everyone is welcome to attend the Annual Boat Ride to Riverside Beach. The boat leaves Chestnut Street Pier at 9:00 A. M. Tickets are 70 cents for adults, and 40 cents for children under twelve (other than members of the Church School). Please notify the Church Office if you are able to go, and how many tickets you require.

Mr. Edward J. Cooke, Jr., is to be graduated from the University of Pennsylvania June 7th, and hopes to enter Law School in the fall. Our hearty congratulation.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others)

Opening Prayer:

O God, Who knowest what we need, give us Thy Holy Spirit to teach us what to ask for, and grace to employ Thy gifts in Thy service; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Bible Reading: Isaiah 40:28-31

The Sermon:

The life of the great novelist, Walter Scott, was like a three-act play. First, the youthful days when poetry poured from his pen like song from the throat of a bird—he was the darling of the gods, and no prize seemed beyond his grasp. In those days he mounted up on wings as an eagle. Then came the middle years, when he built up fame and fortune by writing one great novel after another. He worked while others slept, drawing on resources that seemed inexhaustible. In those middle years he ran swiftly, and was not weary. Then came the dark hour when suddenly he found himself facing a debt of over half a million dollars, through the failure of the publishing business he owned. He could have slipped out from under this staggering burden by going into bankruptcy, and settled with his creditors for a small part of the debt. But Scott was of finer fibre than that, and he declared, "If I live and retain my health, no man shall lose a penny by me." So, at the age of fifty-five, he plunged passionately into working to pay off this debt of honor. Day after day, month after month, he worked and worked. Now he no longer mounted up on wings as an eagle, nor ran without weariness; but he did walk, and not faint. He wrecked his health with his terrific work; but, in the end, every penny of the debt was repaid.

The prophet promised that those that wait upon the Lord will always renew their strength; always find the power needed to carry out God's purposes. And it is a golden experience, after falling flat on our faces, to call upon God, and feel the returning rush of new vigor, and soar back into life and work and achievement. It is exhiliarating, also, when the chariot-wheels of our lives have been driving heavily, to turn to our Creator, and have him pour new vitality into our spirits, and find ourselves miraculously speeding onward again. But, often in the wisdom of God, it is not our privilege to experience either of these two glorious renewals. Instead, we find ourselves renewed only to the point where we can work on quietly, usefully, without thrills, and without glory, and achieve the task God gave us to do. We are pedestrians on the road of life; but pedestrians on God's business!

Some of the noblest lives I know are God's pedestrians. It takes greater character, tougher fibre of soul, closer walking with God, to walk and not faint. For that very reason I believe that, if you walk onward with quiet courage, without fainting or quitting, you give special joy to the heart of God. And, if you keep at it, you will find that serenity which is the "peace that passeth all understanding."

Closing Prayer:

O Loving Spirit, by Whose gift alone we can worthily serve our Maker: Mercifully grant that Thy power and wisdom may in all things uphold and guide our hands; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

EDITORIAL

It is tragic that the current debate about labor legislation is, with rare exception, being conducted without the presence of or apparent concern for the one who should be Exhibit Number One—the average individual working man.

In the struggle for power between top labor and management this average worker has been and is being kicked around rather consistently.

It is at this point that religion must be greatly concerned, for a primary purpose of religion is to bring about a society in which to each individual is accorded that dignity of personality due him as a child of God. It is safe to say that where management conscientiously applies this fundamental religious concept it has industrial harmony and peace—witness among others the notable record of the Standard Oil of New Jersey. Where it fails to do this—it develops a John L. Lewis.

But the time has come when this individual worker needs protection not merely from the abuses of management. In all too many instances labor leadership has treated the worker as a mere pawn in the struggle for power and privilege. In some instances labor leadership has been as dictatorial and cruel as the most unjust management that is recorded in American industrial history. It is doubtful if any employer has been more abusive of power than, for instance, the leadership of the International Longshoremen's Association.

If we must have labor legislation, and it is assumed that some is needed, our legislation should begin by establishing a Bill of Rights for the average individual worker. Only on such a foundation can we build for industrial peace and prosperity.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others)

Opening Prayer:

Almighty God, Whose glory fills Thy temple; Let the whole earth keep silence before Thy tranquil majesty, that we may venture reverently to worship the beauty of Thy holiness; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.—(John W. Suter.)

Bible Reading: Matthew 16:13-18

The Sermon:

In the old days when Greece was made up of many little states, the King of Sparta was visited by an ambassador from one of the other states. The King showed him around the city with pride. "It's a fine city", the visitor said, with a question mark in his voice, "but I am surprised that Sparta has no city walls." "Tomorrow morning I'll show you the walls of Sparta," the King replied with a quiet smile. The next day dawned, and the King took his visitor out on the palace terrace, from which they could look down to the plain below, where ten thousand men were at work. "There," said the King, "are the walls of Sparta. Ten thousand men, and every one of them a brick!" (That, by the way, is the origin of the friendly expression of praise, when some one says, "He's a brick!")

In the days when Jesus walked among men, and spoke so often about the Kingdom of God, even His own disciples were puzzled because He never spoke of armed soldiers and fortifications. To them a kingdom meant a stronghold, protected by the ancient implements of war. But Jesus knew that the only enduring strength lies in the invisible forces of character trained by God. A mighty Maginot Line becomes tissue paper when the morale of its defenders is undermined. So, in His wisdom, Jesus discarded the old and shaky defenses, and put His whole confidence into the building of people whose lives would be castles occupied by the Spirit of God. Thus defended, He knew that they could meet life's most shattering blows with victory. Look out across the world today, and see the chaos caused by frightened statesmen who measure strength by an atomic bomb. They have no defense against the enemy, Fear. Jesus was wiser than they.

We do not know whether the frightened statesmen are leading our world towards a catastrophe beyond our imaginations. But one thing we do know. That there is just one course open to us as Christians. Each of us is one brick, one stone in the wall of our country; one brick in the Kingdom of God. If each builds that brick strong with the peaceful wisdom of God, then he is doing his best to strengthen that Kingdom of God which, again and again through history, has survived the decay and fall of great nations and empires. When Jesus looked ahead and planned for the upbuilding of His Kingdom, He looked at Peter (the average man, at God's service) and said, "Upon this Rock I will build my Church; and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it." So to your building, Peter!

Closing Prayer:

O Jesus Christ, Who has made us living members of Thy Church; keep us steadfast in faith, obedient to Thy voice, and constant in prayer; that we may have power and strength to fight manfully under Thy banner, and obtain the victory; to the glory of Thy Holy Name. Amen.—(John W. Suter.)

The Annual Burd Day is May 24th. You are cordially invited to the School at 4226 Baltimore Avenue at 4:00 o'clock. There will be a play presented by the girls and diplomas presented to the graduates.

Suddenly, the home-call came to Agnes MacAllister on May 7th. God has taken her to labor with Him in the spacious fields of eternity. May God bless her and keep her evermore.

Mrs. Elizabeth Bowen Clayton, wife of a former Verger of St. Stephen's, passed away in her 93rd year in Washington, D. C. Service was conducted by the rector in the church on May 10th. Mrs. Clayton was an active member of the Woman's Auxiliary and served with distinction for many years as the chairman of the Negro Committee. May she rest in peace and may light perpetual shine upon her.

Their work on earth have done,

The flowers on the Altar today have been presented by Mrs. James F. Armstrong in memory of her husband; also in memory of Mr. Clarence S. Slatcher, given by his family.

The rector's sermon of last Sunday "Hasten the Day", has been chosen as the SERMON OF THE WEEK by the Churchman Magazine in a national contest on sermons preached by ministers and rabbis on the subject of goodwill and brotherhood. The best sermon of the year will be chosen from the fifty-two weekly sermons and a prize awarded. All the weekly sermons will then be published in book form. The weekly sermons are being delivered by outstanding laymen over Station WOR every Sunday at 9:15 A. M. Mr. Owen J. Roberts will deliver the rector's sermon on Sunday, May 4th. Other prize sermons have been read by Ex-Governor Herbert Lehman, Ex-Mayor Fiorella LaGuardia, Mayor O'Dwyer, Ralph Bellamy, Frederic March, Florence Eldridge and Raymond Massey.

PARISH MEETING

The rector is anxious to have a record attendance at the Annual Parish Meeting. A fine home-cooked dinner will be served, there will be the election to the Vestry, and important matters to be discussed. One purpose of this meeting is to show those who help maintain this down-town church by their gifts, attendance, and co-operation, how wide-spread is the influence of the church and what numbers it benefits. Please make no engagements for that night and make it a point to attend. Wednesday, May 14th is the date. The time is 6:00 P. M. and the dinner will cost one dollar. Secure your reservation today.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others)

Opening Prayer:

O Lord, Who hast taught us that all our doings without love are nothing worth; send Thy Holy Ghost and pour into our hearts that most excellent gift of love, the very bond of peace and of all virtues, without which whosoever liveth is counted dead before Thee; grant this for Thine own Son, Jesus Christ's sake. Amen.

(Archbishop Cranmer, 1540 A. D.)

Bible Reading: 1 John 4:7-18.

The Sermon:

Those who have studied the strategy of warfare are familiar with the "flank-attack". The idea is that you do not attack the enemy head-on, at his strongest point; but rather approach him from the side. The same strategy is necessary in spiritual warfare. As we saw last week, you do not overcome sin and impurity in others by attacking it directly, but by the spiritual flank-attack of lifting Christ before them. The same indirect strategy is called for if we are to overcome fear in our lives.

The writer of the first epistle of John indicated clearly the victorious flank-attack on fear when he said, "There is no fear in love; but perfect love casteth out fear." In other words, if fear of any kind grips you, occupy yourself straightway with the needs of those about you. Don't fight the fear directly; turn away from it, and write a letter to a friend, fix the kitchen door for your wife, bake one of your husband's favorite pies, telephone your neighbor to inquire about her sick child, start making out your order for the seed company so you'll have a fine garden for the family. In other words, train yourself in the honest practice of loving-kindness, and you will defeat fear; for most fear and fretting is worry about yourself, is plain selfishness. When Jesus said, "Thou shalt love", He was laying down the spiritual strategy against fear, and many other evils. If you learn the habit of concern for others, fear will be pushed out of your life. Dr. Link tells this simple story of the conquest of fear, in the words of the young woman who won the victory:

"As a young woman I was troubled with many fears, one of which was the fear of insanity. After my marriage and the birth of our first child, these fears still persisted. However, we soon had another child, and ended up by having six. We never had much money and I had to do all my own work with practically no help. Whenever I started to worry about myself, the baby would cry and I would have to run and look after him. Or the children would quarrel, and I would have to straighten them out. Or I would suddenly remember that it was time to start dinner, or that I must run out and take in the wash before it rained, or that the ironing had to be done. My fears were continually interrupted by the needs of my family, which I had to do something about quickly. Gradually my fears about myself disappeared, and now I look back on them with amusement".

"There is no fear in love; but perfect love casteth out fear." Learn love, and fear will shrivel up, and blow away!

Closing Prayer:

Now the Lord of peace Himself give us peace always by all means; the Lord direct our hearts unto the love of God; the Lord be with us all for evermore. Amen.

(St. Paul)

THE PRESIDING BISHOP'S FUND

To date we have raised only about $300.00 of the $1,700.00 which is our quota for the Presiding Bishop's Fund for World Relief. Some parishes in the Diocese have already gone over their quota. I am sure that St. Stephen's Church will not lag behind them. We have until Whitsunday, May 25th, to fulfill our obligation to the suffering peoples—our fellow Christians in Europe and Asia.

The money we raise will be distributed through Christian churches. If a great disaster were to befall us Christians in America, I am sure we would think it strange if Christian people in other countries did not come to our assistance. From the earliest days of Christianity Christians have tried to help their brethren. St. Paul took up a collection in the new churches which he founded to send help to "the saints who were in Jerusalem".

Please give generously to his cause. It is a test of our Christian compassion.

We acknowledge with appreciation ten dollars from the Woman's Auxiliary for the Hard of Hearing, and thirty-one dollars and eleven cents from the Girls' Friendly Society for the Presiding Bishop's Fund for World Relief.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others)

Opening Prayer:

Take from us now, O God, all tediousness of spirit, all impatience and unquietness. Let us possess ourselves in patience, and commit our souls and bodies into Thy hands, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.—(Jeremy Taylor, 1650 A. D., adapted)

Bible Reading: Matthew 5:13-16

The Sermon:

One of the commonest mistakes in Christian living is to think that we can help people by saying, "You must not do that harmful thing." That does not succeed. But, if we carry in our hearts the true spirit of our Master; if our deeds are channels of His love, His cleanness, His strength, people are drawn away from their sins, toward Him. In that way we can become "the salt of the earth", "the light of the world." A friend has told me this story, which vividly shows us the way:

"A young man entered training as an art student in London. During those years he thought he would draw a portrait of Christ. He was disappointed . . . he tried, and failed and tore it up. He tried again later, but failed to satisfy himself. The World War broke out and his work came to an end. He went to camp and was finally sent to France and to the front. He was billeted in a French chateau in a room with nine other men. When he went to bed the first night, he was distressed to see over the beds of the other men vulgar drawings that were being circulated in those days. He was tempted impetuously to pull them down, but remembered that everyone had a right to put on his wall-space whatever he liked, so he planned rather what he would do with the space over his bed.

"The only spare time he had was at night, and the only drawing material a pencil and a plain post-card. He determined to try again to draw a head of Christ. He worked on his drawing for several nights, with only a candle to give him light, and when it was finished, he nervously pinned it on his wall. He did not know what the other men would say or do when they saw it in the morning.

"In the morning they simply looked at it, said nothing, and went out. In a few days all the other pictures were pulled down by them, and only his drawing remained. He had lifted up the Risen Christ in testimony to those around him."

In your heart you want to lift up the Risen Christ to those about you. Remember that you cannot do it by criticizing the wall-space of their lives. But, if you have the likeness of the Christ living in the wall-space of your life, it will do wonders in the lives of those about you, who will change themselves because they find a bit of Him in you!

Closing Prayer:

All through this week, Lord, let me touch the lives of others for good, by the power of Thy quickening Spirit, whether through the word I speak, the prayer I breathe, or the life I live. In the name of Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.—(A. S. T. Fisher)

MATERIAL AID

Now is the time to check for clothing for relief. Find the things your children have outgrown: shoes, snow-suits, baby clothes, coats. Take out the spare blankets you never use, the worn sheets, the unused tablecloths. Separate from your own clothes the things you seldom wear. If you can do without them, give them. In the lands across the sea, none of these things are available and all are needed. St. Stephen's has bags big enough to hold 20 to 30 pounds of clothing, shoes and bedding. No box, no string, no wrapping paper are needed. All you have to do is pull the drawstring top of the bag, tie it, shut and ship it. The address of the Church World Service Center, New Windsor, Md. is already stencilled on. Ask for your bag today.

PRAY DAILY

O God, guide and enable Thy people of St. Stephen's Church that they may find ways and means to pledge and pay the total amount needed by the Episcopal Church for its program of material aid for World Relief. Through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

THE MILLION DOLLAR CAMPAIGN

Presiding Bishop's Fund for World Relief

Our quota is $1,700.00. Envelopes have been sent in which to make your offering.

In Europe the aid will be administered by the World Council of Churches; in Asia, through the National Christian Councils.

A group of American soldiers accompanied a shipment of heavy machinery from Okinawa to Burma. Each took along a $10.00 bill knowing that with the fabulous money exchange rates they could buy silk kimona's and other souvenirs while passing through China. So pathetic were the sights along the streets, however, that the boys pooled their money, totaling $680.00, and turned it in to buy food for the people. Returning to their base they were surprised to find a citation waiting for them. It spoke of their generous donation to the food fund and revealed that with their money 30,000 persons were fed for one week.

* * *

A group of girls in a Children's Home in New York City wanted to do something to help in overseas relief and decided to go without their dessert twice a week and send the equivalent of the food they saved to the children overseas. As a result of this self-denial they contributed to Church World Service the sum of $32.00.

* * *

You can't spare any more for overseas relief? Mrs. E's husband, a private in the Army was killed in the Pacific. Shortly thereafter her baby died. Now she has a job and is trying to support an older child and rebuild her life. She sent $21.80 . . . the tithe of her first month's salary, saying she wants a part in helping to make the world a better place in which to live.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others)

Opening Prayer:

O God, may the grace of courage, gaiety, and the quiet mind, with all such blessedness as belongs to the children of the Father in heaven, be ours; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.—(American Grey Book, adapted.)

Bible Reading: Romans 8:29-39

The Sermon:

Last Sunday we were thinking together of the invisible world, and its power in the lives of men. I wonder if you have noticed how the faces of men and women, as they grow older, reveal the unseen forces and dreams which they have held most dear.

There are some tragic elderly faces, which, year after year, grow more coarse and hard; others, if you catch them in repose, which show defeat of the soul and disappointment in life; sombre faces, where the light has gone out, as a darkened house with no lighted windows. These are the lives which have companied with self-pity, or counted too heavily on the pleasures of the body, or paid little heed to God. And this inner world within their hearts leaves its mark plainly on the open book of their faces.

And there are, thank God, glorious lives which lived in daily company with the unseen Master, guiding themselves by His promptings, girding themselves with His unshakable faith in the Eternal. So, as the writer of Hebrews put it, their faces and their characters become "conformed to the image of His Son"—something of Him speaks through their talk, lights up their friendships, glows in their smile. Whatever we keep in our hearts—we become like that. So take care about the hospitality of your heart—which remembrances you brood over, which hopes and dreams you cherish, for an unknown writer has put it:

"You don't have to tell how you live each day,
You don't have to say if you work or play.
A tried, true barometer serves in the place—
However you live, it will show in your face.
The false, the deceit, that you bear in your heart,
Will not stay inside where it first got its start;
For sinew and blood are thin veils of lace—
What you wear in your heart, you wear in your face.

"If you've gambled and won in the great game of life,
If you feel you have conquered the sorrow and strife,
If you've played the game fair and you stand on first base,
You don't have to say so; it shows in your face.
If your life is unselfish, and for others you live,
For not what you get, but how much you give,
If you live close to God in His infinite grace—
You don't have to tell it; it shows in your face."

Closing Prayer:

And now unto Him Who is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that worketh in us, unto Him be glory through all ages, world without end. Amen.

The Church extends a cordial welcome to all who are worshipping here today. New persons in the congregation are requested to use the cards in the pew racks to record their names and addresses for the information of the rector.

The Spring ingathering of the United Thank Offering at St. Stephen's will be Sunday, April 20th. You are asked to bring the contents of your United Thank Offering Blue Box to the 11:00 A. M. service on that Sunday. Every woman of the parish and church should share in this offering of women workers in the mission field at home and abroad.

The Girls' Friendly will have a Card Party in the Community House on April 28 at 8:00 P. M. for the benefit of the Girls' Friendly Church on Wheels which is doing such fine work in the rural sections of Mississippi and Kentucky. Bring your friends. The price of tickets is 35 cents.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others)

Opening Prayer:

Eternal God, the light of the minds that know Thee, the joy of the hearts that love Thee, and the strength of the wills that serve Thee; grant us so to know Thee that we may truly love Thee; so to love, that we may full serve Thee, to the honor and glory of Thy holy name. Amen. (American Grey Book)

Bible Reading: St. John 12: 24-25

The Sermon:

There is nothing in the world more commonplace than a seed. The pictures in the seed catalogs, and those on the small envelope in which seeds are commonly vended are far more interesting to most of us than the seeds themselves. A seed takes on importance only when we remember the marvelous powers bottled up in it. If we meditate about a seed it is no longer something to be taken for granted; it becomes a reservoir of energy and of life. It has the power to multiply itself. One seed, carefully tended, can produce hundreds of seeds just like itself.

Human life is also commonplace. When we see a person walking down the street we do not stop and wonder that he is alive. If he were not alive he would not be there. But again, as in the case of a seed, something tremendous is bottled up here. The life that makes a person able to move and to think, also makes it possible for him to love or to hate, to be a saint or a sinner; to live a life that matters or one that is worthless or worse than worthless.

A seed is destined to be put into the ground and lose its life for its posterity. A human life is destined to live not for itself alone but in living service for other lives, as they in their turn are destined to serve it. A life that is not concerned simply with moving its own body about and giving it pleasant sensations, but rather seeks to associate helpfully with other lives, loses its commonplaceness and becomes as wonderful as a seed.

My brother, we have the power to plant seeds. We also have the power to use our lives for the purpose God has assigned to them.

Closing Prayer:

Protect us, O Lord, in all the changes of this mortal life, that we, surely trusting in Thy never-failing love, may accept the issues of life in the glad service of Thy Son, Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen. (American Grey Book)

$1,000,000.00

There! I knew that would catch your eye!

I wish I could say that all of you would receive that amount if you attended every Sunday from now until Whitsunday. But the Church has little money to give away.

$1,000,000 is what the Episcopal Church, in its General Convention in Philadelphia last September, voted unanimously to raise each year for three years for relief of suffering in the needy countries of the world.

But, you say, we have already given for that purpose through the Reconstruction and Advance Fund. So we have. But not enough. The need is something tremendous. You should see Bishop Sherrill's face (our Presiding Bishop) whenever he recalls the sights he saw on his European trip last year. He is normally a cheerful man, but the recollection of the world's suffering has made lines of suffering on his face which will never be erased.

One of the primary demands upon Christian people is that to which the Good Samaritan responded. Our mandate to raise this money comes from the General Convention, but it came to them from the higher compulsion of the Christian Gospel itself.

Bishop Hart figures that the Diocese of Pennsylvania should raise $100,000. In order that this amount may be raised, each parish has been asked to set as its goal not less than one-third of its accepted proportional share of the missionary budget. Our goal at St. Stephen's is $1,700.00. If everybody gives this will not put a great strain on any of us.

Between now and Whitsunday, I will tell you about the needs in many ways, and you will have an opportunity to see two moving pictures taken in Europe the Summer and Fall of 1946. Special envelopes for your gifts of money will be provided.

"Hunger won't wait".

Checks are to be drawn to the order of the Diocese of Pennsylvania designated for the Presiding Bishop's Fund for World Relief.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others)

Opening Prayer:

Let Thy Spirit, O Lord, come into the midst of us, and, washing us with the pure water of repentance, prepare us to be always a living sacrifice unto Thee; Who livest and reignest, ever world without end. Amen.—(Mozarabic Liturgy, 700 A.D.)

Bible Reading: St. John 12: 32-36, 44-50

The Sermon:

On the surface of the Altar in most Christian churches are carved five crosses, one in the center and one at each corner, as a reminder of the five wounds of Christ, when He was crucified. But those crosses mean more than that. They are intended to remind us of the hard hearts of human beings, as they wound and crucify the Eternal God down through the ages.

When Jesus told His friends "And I, if I be lifted up, will draw all men unto Me", He knew that there is but one power which no heart can withstand—the power of patient, continuing love. As soon as any person really knows his own share in wounding and crucifying Him, and understands His undying love, that person is drawn to Him in penitent and grateful surrender.

As Good Friday comes on, it is urgently necessary, therefore, that each of us look at his own life in the mirror, and see where he is wounding God. It may be, deep in your heart, a grim refusal to forgive some wrong done you one day; or a habit of stern anger and impatience with your children; or a delight in sharp, sarcastic words; or self-pity which makes you blind to the greater sufferings of others, and of God; or a foolish self-content which thinks you can get on rather nicely without God. Each one of these sins is a spear driven into His side; a nail fastening His hands and feet so that He cannot help you. Before we can find the resurrection-power of Easter Day, we must in honesty face our part in His crucifixion, humbly implore His forgiveness, and start fresh.

Robert Haven Schauffler, in his poem "The White Comrade", recalls the lovely legend of Christ coming to care for the wounded on the battlefield. In the poem, the wounded man sees the White Comrade, who comes, gathers him up in his arms, and, taking him away to a quiet place, attends to his wounds. Then suddenly the soldier sees that the White Comrade, too, is wounded—

"Then I saw he was hurt,
Shot through the hands that were joined in prayer.
Then, as the dark drops gathered there
And fell in the dirt,
The wounds of my friend
Seemed to me such as no man might bear....
Then suddenly I was aware
That his feet had been wounded, too,
And, dimming the white of his side,
A dull stain grew.
'You are hurt, White Comrade!' I cried....
'These are old wounds' said he,
'But of late they have troubled me'."

Closing Prayer:

Forgive us, O Christ, for we have sinned; pardon us, for we have trangressed! Amen.—(Rabbi of Lissa, 16th century; adapted.)

Our heartiest congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Carrigan, who celebrated their forty-sixth anniversary on March 20th.

The flowers on the Altar today have been presented by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Shippen Morris in memory of Roland S. Morris, and by Mrs. William F. Machold in memory of Roland S. Morris.

The Very Rev. Chester B. Emerson, D.D., Dean of Trinity Cathedral, Cleveland, will be our guest preacher at the LENTEN NOON-DAY SERVICES, March 24-28, inclusive. Dr. Emerson is a native of Maine. Twenty years ago Detroit was famous for its preachers; Chester Emerson was one of them, and his pulpit in another communion had high prestige. Upon the late Bishop Rogers' invitation, he sought ordination in the Episcopal Church, and became Dean of Cleveland. Dr. Emerson combines profound and mature scholarship with aptness for simple and direct appeal from pulpit to pew.

These requests will be mentioned and intercession made, at the Thursday Healing Service.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others)

Opening Prayer:

LORD of all power and might, Who art the author and giver of all good things; graft in our hearts the love of Thy Name, increase in us true religion, nourish us with all goodness, and of Thy great mercy, keep us in the same; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Bible Reading: St. Matthew 26: 36-45

The Sermon:

"Only a few lucky ones escape suffering", Weatherhead points out, and then he adds, "And are they really lucky? When I was at school, I heard of boys who, for one reason or another, escaped school. How lucky I thought them. But now I don't think they were lucky. For they had to learn later, when it was harder to learn, or else they suffered a permanent loss." Life is like that—ask some one about years of unforgettable suffering they had, if they wish they had never had that pain. Most people will immediately tell you that they are glad that they passed through those hard years which taught them so much and drew them so much closer to the suffering GOD. On the other hand, take a look at those few "lucky" souls who have had easy lives—mostly they are soft and flabby lives, with little understanding or strong character. They are not much use in the world, because they have missed out in the school of suffering.

Do not mistake me. I am not suggesting that any one of us is going to greet suffering with a cheer! Even Jesus prayed in the Garden, "O my FATHER, if it is possible, let this cup pass from Me; nevertheless, not as I will, but as Thou wilt." He did not desire to step into that dread experience of utter loneliness and trial; but He had the matchless courage to ask His FATHER if there was something great which could be made out of it; something which could come from the Cross and bless mankind. And, because Jesus was willing to suffer for us, you and I look to the Cross as the mark of our worth—it is the sign that GOD was willing to suffer for us. So when you come to the fork in the road, and you have to choose either the painful way or a pleasanter one, remember that you have the privilege of following your Master's leading. You need not be ashamed because you draw back, shuddering, from that dread path, for He did just that in Gethsemane. But from knowing His story, you have learned that you can bless others more richly by being willing to suffer for them than by anything else you can do. So, if you are truly turned to GOD, you will find yourself saying, "Nevertheless, not as I will, but as Thou wilt". And you will step forward courageously, with confidence. And, one day, a friend will look back over the years and say to you, "You know, I began to wake up and really live when you went through so much for me."

So, while I wish for you many a deep joy, I do not pray that you will escape the School of Suffering. I do pray that you will go through it in the companionship of the GOD Who can transform your pain into joy and victory, for others, and for yourself!

Closing Prayer:

LORD, we pray Thee that Thou wilt open our eyes to behold the heaven that lies about us, wherein they walk who, being born to the new life, serve Thee with the clearer vision and the greater joy. Amen.

DR. GEORGE SINNAMON

After a long, lingering illness, it has pleased our Heavenly Father to call to a larger field of service, our friend, Dr. George Sinnamon. While we are sorry for his passing from us, we are also glad that he has been delivered from the body of his suffering, and for his abundant entrance into the better life with GOD. We are glad to claim him as a friend, and are grateful for his goodness and patience under the most trying conditions.

We recall his many acts of kindness, generally unheralded, his noble service to the sick, his unfailing righteousness which sprang from a love for and understanding of his Heavenly Father. He won the respect and held the affection of all who knew him. The battle has been won. George Sinnamon is not dead; he is alive for ever!

The Rector preached at Trinity Cathedral, Trenton, March 20th and will preach at St. Jude and Nativity, March 27th. He will give the invocation at the State Council, Daughters of the British Empire, March 24th.

The Annual Corporate Communion and breakfast for the Women of the Diocese will be held at Holy Trinity Church, Walnut at 19th Street, at 8:30 A. M. The breakfast will be in the Parish House, 217 S. 20th Street. The Speaker will be the Rev. Father Joseph of the Order of St. Francis.

There will be a Quiet Day of preparation for this service on Monday, March 24th at St. Peter's Church, Pine at 3rd Street, from 10:00 A. M. until 3:00 P. M.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services: the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others.)

Opening Prayer:

Refresh us, O GOD, with Thy presence and Thy power. Quiet our restless spirits. Open our hearts to the love of GOD, that in His light we may see light, and, filled with His Spirit, we may find joy and strength and bring help to others, to Thy honor and glory, for ever and ever. Amen. (H. R. L. Sheppard).

Bible Reading: St. John 12:23-33

The Sermon:

"Why did GOD let this happen to me?" most of us have asked at some point when we were visited by a dark angel of disappointment or pain or grief. Leslie Weatherhead, beloved English Christian leader, has given us a valuable clue to answering this question.

Weatherhead points out that when a little child is learning to walk, his parents allow him to tumble. They do not restrict his adventures to a padded cell, but, under their watchful eyes, they let him tumble and bump himself. They know that he learns more quickly through bumps than he would by being closely protected and guarded. In the same way GOD has ordained our slow schooling from ignorance to knowledge from folly to wisdom, from sin to holiness, that, through both suffering and success we should learn the way of "growing up".

Old-fashioned folk used to believe that GOD sent suffering to people as punishment for sin. But Weatherhead does not believe that GOD wills suffering for us; does not believe that the ALMIGHTY sends us painful hours. The parents of the little child who is learning to walk do not wish him to tumble—if that is what they wanted, they would push him over. They don't do that—nor does GOD send us pain. But He allows it to come to us, because, so often, the school of pain can teach us wisdom that nothing else seems to teach. Sometimes our pain comes as a result of our own sin and folly, as when bad health comes as the result of burning the candle at both ends. Thus we learn to obey the laws of health. Sometimes our pain comes not through any sin, but because we love some one, and are woven into their lives so much that when they suffer, we suffer also. Thus we are drawn into closer and truer friendship with that person, because we are willing to suffer with them through their dark hour.

The glory of the Christian faith is that it can triumphantly take hold of pain, and make something shining out of it. The mature Christian does not moan, "Why did this happen to me?"; but "What can I do with it?" "What does GOD mean me to make out of it?" So Jesus looked forward to the Cross, with its terrible suffering of body, and its much more terrible suffering of soul, and said, "And I, if I be lifted up, will draw all men unto ME." He knew that, with His FATHER'S help He could show men GOD'S love for them, by means of the Cross; and so He took hold of the Cross and used it to fill our lives with a new light. Every painful experience that comes to you can be transformed into new strength of character for yourself, new joy and help for others. When your painful hour comes to you, stop and quietly ask, "What does GOD mean me to learn from this?" So will you grow steadily through the years; and a large part of your growth will come through the mysterious school of pain.

Closing Prayer:

The GOD of all grace, Who hath called you unto His eternal glory by Christ Jesus, after that ye have suffered awhile, make you perfect, stablish, strengthen, settle you. To Him be glory and dominion for ever and ever. Amen.

THANKS

The Rector wishes to express his thanks for all the kind remembrances which have come to him on this his fifth anniversary as Rector of St. Stephen's Church. Especially is he grateful for the splendid faille silk cassock presented to him by the members of the Vestry, the Parish Organizations, Members of the Congregation and others. This was a most timely gift, as the present cassock had been worn threadbare. A beautiful and generous gift! No Rector could have more true, loyal and helpful friendship from the members of the congregation than I have been blessed with during the past five years. I am sure that you all realize how much we hope and pray for your well-being and prosperity. May Christ continue to dwell in your hearts by faith.

We extend a hearty welcome to the Very Rev. Nathaniel R. High Moor, D.D., Dean of Trinity Cathedral, Pittsburgh. Dean Moor is well-known to the people of Philadelphia having been a Lenten preacher here for the past fifteen years. Dean Moor has a simple, direct approach to the problems that confront the average man, and is in constant demand as a lecturer and preacher to men.

The preacher on Saturday, March 22 is our good friend, the Rev. Lars R. Backe-Wiig, Associate Rector of the Holy Apostles' and Mediator. Mr. Backe-Wiig has had a fruitful ministry in the missionary field before coming to Philadelphia and is doing splendid work in the Diocese as well as in his own parish.

HEALING MISSION

We extend a hearty welcome to the Rev. John Gayner Banks, D.Litt., who is to conduct a Healing Mission in St. Stephen's Church Sunday, March 16th, through Thursday, March 20th. He will preach at the 11:00 o'clock and 7:30 P. M. Services on Sunday, and at 10:30 A. M. and 7:30 P. M. each week-day. Dr. Banks is the Director of the Fellowship of St. Luke (Church Society for the promotion of Divine Healing) with headquarters in San Diego, California. He is the author of several books and the editor of "Sharing", a monthly magazine devoted to Healing and the Spiritual Life.

The purpose of this Mission is to offer to all peoples in the Name of Christ and His Church the healing power of GOD. It complements the best medical advice which each may receive. The power of the Healing Christ has always been latent in the Church. Never have more people been in need of this strength for body, mind and spirit than today.

Everyone is invited to attend these services of Healing and to receive the Laying-on of Hands.

For the past five years services of Spiritual Healing have been held regularly every Thursday at 12:30 P. M. in St. Stephen's Church, at which time the Rector preaches on the subject of healing, individual prayers of thanksgiving and petitions are presented at the Altar, and an invitation is given to those who are troubled in mind, body or spirit to come to the Altar Rail to receive the Laying-on of Hands with prayer. Intercession cards may be found on the table in the vestibule for those desiring prayers for the recovery of a sick person.

RECTOR'S FIFTH ANNIVERSARY

The Rector will celebrate his fifth anniversary as Rector of St. Stephen's Church, on Sunday, March 9th. He is asking the people of the Parish to join with him in celebrating that occasion by making it "Family Sunday"; that is, that all the families of the Parish will attend Church at one of the services, preferably the eleven o'clock services, having as many members of the family present as possible and sitting together as families.

He chooses this method of celebration, because of a deep conviction of the fundamental importance of family life. Many influences today tend to weaken family ties; the Church should do everything in her power to strengthen them. The Holy Spirit is the only power in the world today able to resist the disintegrating influences and to stimulate the love and devotion which will unite families for time and eternity.

The Rector hopes that many of the people of the Parish will gather in Church by families that day and make this a memorable and inspiring occasion.

THE RED CROSS is commencing its campaign to secure $2,490,000 in the Philadelphia area. We commend this worthy cause to all our people.

We extend a hearty welcome to the Rev. W. Hamilton Aulenbach, Rector of Christ and St. Michael's Church, Germantown, who will preach at the noon-day services, Monday through Saturday. Under his vigorous leadership his church has become one of the strongest in the Diocese. Mr. Aulenbach's greatest pulpit achievement is the success with which he preaches to men, with aptness for simple and direct appeal from pulpit to pew.

The rector will preach in St. Philip's Church, Brooklyn, N. Y. on Wednesday night.

NIEMOELLERS TO SPEAK TO PHILADELPHIANS. On Monday, March 10th, a women's meeting will be held at the First Baptist Church 17th and Sansom Streets, at 2:30 P. M. to hear Mrs. Niemoeller. At 8:00 P. M. a public meeting will be held in the MET OPERA HOUSE, Broad and Poplar Streets, to hear the REV. MARTIN NIEMOELLER speak on his Christian experience during 8 years in concentration camps. Doors open 7: 00 P. M.

George M. Lamsa, noted Bible Lecturer and Author will continue his interesting Bible lectures in the Community House Sunday, at 4: 00 P. M.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others.)

Opening Prayer:

ALMIGHTY GOD, with Whom nothing is obscure, nothing dark, send forth Thy light into our hearts that we may perceive Thy law for us, and, walking in Thy way, may fall into no sin; through Thy beloved Son, and our beloved Example, Jesus Christ. Amen. (St. Gregory, 600 A. D.)

Bible Reading: St. Luke 2: 42-52

The Sermon:

"And Jesus increased in wisdom and stature . . ." That is just what we set out to do in Lent. But some one may protest, "It's easy for youth to learn new ways, but I'm not young anymore; and you can't teach an old dog new tricks."

Fiddlesticks! Can't teach new tricks to an old dog? Come out with me to a near-by airport, and I'll show you a grandfather who is learning, most successfully, to fly an airplane. Look around your own neighborhood, and you'll find plenty of housewives who, in the past few years, have learned to use electric mixers and curling-irons, pressure-cookers, and any number of useful modern gadgets which called for the forming of entirely new habits of work. Look out the window, and see that elderly man driving by in a brand-new car—do you suppose that he argued with the salesman that he could not buy that car because it had the new type of gear-shift, rather than the old one with which he was familiar? No, he was sure he could manage it, and he's doing it now. Let's be plain honest about this—we can learn new habits, new ways, when we want to!

One of the reasons why Jesus grew so amazingly was that He put His mind under the daily teaching of His Father, Who can give power with every bit of new knowledge, Who can quicken the human will to new driving strength, Who can even mould our stubborn, sharp-cornered human nature into lovelier forms, and make us a lot easier to live with. Let us admit that it is harder to form a new habit of generosity, or to school oneself to patience, than it is to master a gear-shift or an electric mixer. True, but Christians also know that with GOD all things are possible.

It takes a teachable spirit, then, for this business of being transformed. We must go at it as pupils of the ALMIGHTY. Those who do this achieve remarkable things, in every day and generation. An English traveler tells of seeing a delicate instrument for indicating the position of the stars, made by a Moslem in India a thousand years ago. Around the edge of the fine brass-work ran this inscription, "This is the work of Hussein Ali, mechanic, mathematician, and servant of the most high GOD". Take heart, O doubting friend! Lent can be a time of deep and glorious transformation in your life, if you go to work on yourself as the servant of the most high GOD!

Closing Prayers: "Our Father," and the following prayer:

Direct, O GOD, suggest, this day,
All we design, or do, or say,
That all our powers, with all their might,
In Thy sole glory may unite. Amen. (Thomas Kerr, 1675 A.D.)

The Mothers will present a Minstrel Show with Dance, on March 15th, at 8: 00 P. M. in the Community House at 923 Ludlow Street. The price is 50 cents and the proceeds go toward the expenses of the Sunday Evening Service Club.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S WEDNESDAY NIGHT CLUB

Last Wednesday 25 members of the Young People's Club met to reorganize their program and plan for a variety of entertaining events for the Spring months. The Rev. Mr. Meckling introduced Mrs. Dorothy Linton, who is the new Advisor for the group, and she presented a number of ideas to be worked into a Spring Program. Officers were elected and the group with much enthusiasm discussed plans which they intend to carry through this Spring. One of their immediate goals is to secure new members for the Club and an invitation is extended to all the young people in the Church and their friends to join the Young People's Club. The meetings will be short and after each meeting there will be time for social activities and refreshments.

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others.)

Opening Prayer:

Send out Thy light and Thy truth, O GOD, and lead us through the mists of ignorance, vanity, and fear, into the clear shining of the perfect day of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. Amen.—(Henry Sylvester Nash)

Bible Reading: I Thessalonians 5: 14-28

The Sermon:

A friend has sent me the story of a group of ministers who had gathered to discuss difficult questions. Among the problems they took up was how it is possible to obey the command, "pray without ceasing". There was a lot of talk, with various ideas advanced, but none of them seemed very clear or useful. So one of them was appointed to write an essay on the problem, and read it at the next monthly meeting, when they would all have had the chance to think it over. A young servant happened to come into the room at that moment, and, hearing the decision, she exclaimed, "What! A whole month wanted to tell the meaning of that text! It's one of the easiest and best texts in the Bible". "Well, Mary", said an old minister, "what can you tell us about it? Let us know how you understood it. Can you pray all the time?" "Oh, yes, sir!" "What! When you have so many things to do?" "Why, yes, sir, the more I have to do, the more I can pray." "Indeed! Well, Mary, do let us know how it is; for most people think otherwise."

"Well, sir", said young Mary, "when I first open my eyes in the morning, I pray, 'Lord, open the eyes of my understanding.' And while I am dressing, I pray that I may be clothed with the robe of righteousness. And while I am washing, I ask for the washing of regeneration. As I begin my work, I pray that I may have strength equal to my day. And when I kindle the fire, I pray that GOD'S work may revive my soul. And while I am preparing and partaking of breakfast, I desire to be fed with the hidden manna and the sincere milk of the Word. As I sweep out the house, I pray that my heart may be cleansed from all its impurities. And as I am busy with the little children, I look up to GOD as my Father, and pray for the spirit of adoption, that I may be His child . . . and so on, all day; everything I do furnishes me with a thought of prayer".

"Enough! Enough!" cried the old minister. "These things are revealed unto babes, and often hid from the wise and prudent. Go on, Mary", said he, "and pray without ceasing. And as for us, brethren, let us bless the Lord for this exposition, and remember that He has said, 'The meek will He guide in judgment.'"

As we seek to grow in grace and strength during these Lenten days, each of us might well be learning to "pray without ceasing". Practice it, day by day; adapt it to your life, and let it become a part of your day's routine. No one but GOD can tell what new power may be added to your life if you learn to "pray without ceasing"!

Lord, now lettest Thou Thy servant depart in peace, according to Thy word. For mine eyes have seen Thy salvation, which Thou hast prepared before the face of all people; to be a light to lighten the Gentiles, and to be the glory of Thy people Israel.—(Simeon, St. Luke 2: 29)

THE NEW HYMNAL

Five hundred copies of the New Hymnal have been placed in the pews, each one is a memorial gift given by the members, friends and vestry of St. Stephen's Church. There are two hundred new hymns in this book and over six hundred hymns altogether. This morning we are to sing five of the new tunes. Four of the five are by modern writers such as Dr. Fosdick, Jan Struthers, the author of Mrs. Miniver, Clifford Bax and Lesbia Scott. We tend to overstress the value of perfectly sung music in the Episcopal Church. We must remember that the words are more important than the tune, and sincerity more important than artistry.

The musical portions of the service are meant to be aids to spiritual devotion and to provide an enrichment of our worship. They attain their greatest value when the congregation retains its share and by sincere and hearty singing makes them truly a feature of the act of corporate worship. The inspiration of a service usually is well indicated by the measure in which the people join in the singing of the hymns and canticles.

The Rector will preach at the Noon-Day Services in TRINITY CATHEDRAL, Pittsburgh, February 24th-28th, inclusive.

We are most happy to welcome the Rev. Canon Michael Coleman, acting Vicar of ALL HALLOWS, London, during the blitz and now Canon of CHRIST CHURCH CATHEDRAL, Victoria, British Columbia. The Rev. Jack Hart will be the guest speaker on Saturday, March 1st.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others.)

Opening Prayer:

Let Thy Spirit, O Lord, come into the midst of us, and, washing us with the pure water of repentance, prepare us to be always a living sacrifice unto Thee; Who livest and reignest, ever world without end. Amen.

(Mozarabic Liturgy, before 700 A.D.)

Bible Reading: John 14:1-12

The Sermon:

Just as all truly alive human beings welcome the return of Spring so do all honest Christians welcome the return of Lent. For "Lent" is just an old word for "Springtime", because Lent is the special season when all eager Christians let GOD draw nearer to them, as the sun draws nearer to the earth in Spring. So Lent is a time of growing. For Christians it is the growing season!

See how much we have to outgrow! How much of childish selfishness we have to rise above. A writer once told the life history of a little creature called the barnacle. "This creature lives fastened to a rock or to the bottom of a boat living in a cone-shaped shell which has a hole at the top and a little trap-door which opens and shuts like the shutter of a camera; the little creature opens this door, stretches out a wavering arm with clutching fingers at the end, and grabs, grabs, grabs for any chance morsel floating by. That grabbing is the whole life of the barnacle". The writer went on to say that all little children begin by grabbing, just like the barnacle, and that some people never outgrow this childish stage, but live all their days "with the grabbing hand tirelessly at work". As Lent begins, we turn toward the GOD of the open, giving hand of love, and we seek His aid to give us power to overcome, to outgrow, our grabbing habits.

See how much we have to grow up to! In the words of Jesus which you have read today, we find His promise that we can be like Him, that we can do the works that He did, and live the victorious and deeply-loving life that He did. Take that seriously, for certainly you can depend on the word-of-honor of Jesus; and He said that you could grow to be like Him. You can live by His Spirit, with a hand that is tirelessly at work—not grabbing, but giving and encouraging. Let GOD come very close to you in the six weeks of Lent, and you will find yourself really growing up into a new character which will some times remind people of your Master.

Closing Prayers: "Our Father", and the following prayer:

O GOD, keep our hearts sound, our lives pure, our thinking straight, and our spirits humble, that we may become like our Master, Jesus the Nazarine. Amen.

ELIZA HOWARD BURD

We welcome the members of the Burd School and many of the Alumnae to the service this Sunday morning on the 154th birthday of Mrs. Burd. The School is now in its 91st year. It had its origin in a private school for fatherless girls opened in the year 1856 by Mrs. Burd on Sansom Street near her Chestnut Street residence. Mrs. Burd was the mother of eight children, all of whom died in early life, the last in 1845. In 1849 she lost her husband, who never rallied from the shock of his last child's death. Left solitary in her old home, Mrs. Burd devoted herself to the church, works of charity, and in conducting her school, studying meanwhile how her wealth might best be used.

Following her death on Good Friday, April 6, 1860, it was disclosed that she had left practically her entire fortune for the building and endowment of a school where fatherless girls should be educated and prepared for life. The Rector and Vestry of St. Stephen's Church were named Trustees and under the trust, the founder's wishes have been strictly followed.

EDITORIAL

Humanity is ripe for Christian Evangelism. As never before, leaders of state, of education, of science and of cultural life, are saying almost with one voice that there must be a profound moral regeneration, or else . . .

The Evangelism for which the world is ripe is not a sectarian or an ecclesiastical movement. Indeed, the world is impatient with both these aspects of religion which seem to it to suggest that the church is primarily concerned about itself.

Nor does the world, by and large, raise the question, "What must I do to be saved?" There is recognition of the fact that personal salvation is inseparable from the effort for the salvation of humanity.

The church has in its basic revelation the answer to the world's question. It is not to be found in clericalism or ritualism; it is not contained in hierarchal propoundings. It is the center and core of the purpose and teachings of Jesus—the summons to the Kingdom of God.

Like all true evangelisms, what is needed today must start with the recognition of and repentance for sin—the sin of man's assertion of independence from God's moral law in his international life, his inter-racial life, his economic life, as in most of his life.

Repentance must be followed, if we are to be saved, by the heroic and sacrificial endeavor to rebuild the life of man and the institutions of man upon the inexorable and immutable principles announced by Jesus.

The evangelism which the world must have is a Kingdom-of-God-Movement.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others.)

Opening Prayer:

Come in, O Christ, and judge us: come and cast out for us every sin that hinders Thee; come and purge our souls by Thy Presence. Come, and be our King, for ever and ever. Amen. (Phillips Brooks).

Bible Reading: I Samuel, Chapter 3.

The Sermon:

Lent begins in a few days. What are we going to do with those six great weeks? Why not give our hearts to letting Him speak to us more often; to letting Him speak through us to other people more steadily? Maude Royden puts it vividly:

"Did not God speak to some of you first through your mother's eyes? Or did not the first time come to others through a lover or a friend? When Samuel heard the voice of God, he thought it was the voice of his best friend. He said to his old friend, Eli, "You called me!" But it was God Who called him, though it sounded like the voice of his friend.

Do you know the touching little Irish story of a woman who was in great distress of mind because she had lost the sense of God's nearness? She cried out, "Why doesn't He make me feel that He is here? How can He leave me alone? If I could only feel Him, know that He had touched me!" And the old woman, who was sitting with her, said, "Pray to Him. Ask Him to touch you. He will put His hand on you". She began to pray in agony, and suddenly felt the hand of God touching her. She cried out "He has touched me!" and went into an ecstasy of joy. Then she said, "Do you know, it felt just like your hand?" And the old woman replied "Why, it was my hand". "It was your hand?" groaned the disappointed friend. "Sure, what did you think God would be doing? Did you think He would make a long arm out of heaven to touch you? He just took the hand that was nearest, and used that."

God takes the human beings that are nearest, and through them for the first time we see love; and love is God. He takes the human hand of some friend or stranger and uses that, and for the first time we feel the touch of God. We say, "It is only a friend!" What do we mean by "God" if it is not love? How can God speak to us but by a human voice?

For your Lenten adventure, friend, make it your high purpose to be the hand, the voice that is nearest, the one that God can use!

Closing Prayers: "Our Father", and the following prayer:

O Christ, our only Saviour, so dwell within us that we may go forth with the light of hope in our eyes, and the fire of inspiration on our lips, Thy Word on our tongue, and Thy love in our hearts. Amen.

RABBI MAX REICHLER

It will be a great pleasure to welcome to our 11:00 A. M. Service on Sunday Morning Rabbi Max Reichler of Beth Sholem People's Temple, Brooklyn, N. Y., who comes to speak to us on Brotherhood Sunday. Rabbi Reichler is a leader of the Jewish Community, an author of authoritative books on Jewish Eugenics, Jewish Conception of Justice and the Talmud, and a man greatly beloved by Christian and Jews alike.

There are differences among Christians and Jews which are not construed into personal antagonism. Why should not Jews and Christians differ theologically and yet remain fraternal and co-operative? Jesus reflected and realized what Abraham, Moses and the Prophets preached and practiced. The Jews aspired to do the same. Let us come together and co-operate upon that basis, especially now when the world is infected with mutual suspicion and tragic antagonism.

The Rector preached at the annual FEAST OF LIGHTS in Calvary Church, 41st and Brown Streets last Sunday night.

Mr. George Hackett, a Philadelphia lawyer will speak to the Bible Class at 4 P. M.

George R. Bishop, Jr., whose college education was interrupted during the war while he served with distinction overseas, was graduated from Princeton University on February 5th with high honors, having been elected to the Phi Beta Kappa Society. He is now studying for his Master's degree and specializing in the Department of Modern Languages.

We extend a hearty welcome to the members of our Boy Scout Troop No. 2 who are attending the Sunday morning service on this annual Boy Scout Sunday.

Bishop Hart will visit our parish on Sunday morning, February 16th at 11:00 o'clock to administer the rite of CONFIRMATION. We shall be happy to present to him any members of our parish who have not as yet been confirmed and would like to be. A number have been preparing to take this step and have been in attendance at the Rector's Class of Instruction on Sunday mornings, and at Mr. Meckling's Class in the afternoons. At this eleventh hour it is not too late to make your decision to be confirmed. Speak to the Rector!

Our deepest sympathy is extended to Miss Margaret Keiser in the passing of her father.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others.)

Opening Prayer:

Our heavenly Father, we know that Thou "hath made of one blood all nations of men for to dwell on the face of the earth". We thank Thee, that Thou art no respecter of persons; that all men are the object of Thy love, and that it is Thy desire that all men everywhere should live together in love, brotherhood and peace. Forgive us for the misunderstandings that are prevalent in the world, and for the hatreds that are revealed. We ask it in Thy name. Amen.

Bible Reading: Acts 17

The Sermon:

"He made of one blood every nation of men for to dwell on the face of earth."

These are the familiar words from the report of St. Paul's speech at Athens. They are singularly appropriate to BROTHERHOOD WEEK. Paul was a Jew. He was also a Christian. He was speaking to pagans. He found common ground for pagan, Christian and Jew in their relation to GOD, the Father of the world-wide family of men.

We are concerned primarily today with the strengthening and enriching of this brotherhood in our own land between Christian and Jew—those who trace their faith in GOD back to a common source in the remote and dim past. GOD is to all of them living, righteous, merciful. He has spoken to all of them in the great prophets of Israel. In the supreme devotion of the Psalms all of them have been lifted into His Presence; whatever may divide them, they all accept this common divine Fatherhood.

Yes, we are concerned with the strengthening and enriching of this brotherhood in America; but because the ground of that brotherhood is the universal Fatherhood of GOD, our speech like St. Paul's must carry its message for the righteous man in every nation and make its appeal to the pagan world about us, a world which all too often frankly denies the claims of brotherhood in the worship of gold and power.

Our record in America is none too good. Christians and Jews have distrusted each other and still do. There are a thousand reasons (so one may say) why they should. We hear them constantly. Some are political, some social, some economic. They are ordinarily confined to small groups but sometimes they flare into widespread Jew-baiting movements. We have had in America, thank GOD, no organized pogroms; but wherever Jews have come into positions of high leadership, wherever they have seemed to be appropriating a large share of what others want, the Jewish question arises. And today there are menacing signs of the growth of anti-Semistic sentiment, an evil contagion which no national boundaries, no official quarantine can keep out.

Ordinarily, unregenerate human nature has much to do with these distrusts. If things go wrong we like to put the blame on someone else. If a scapegoat can be found who is different, whom for some reason we don't understand, so much the better. The foreigner is pretty nearly always wrong, whether judgment is passed by a distinguished U. S. Senator, or by some modern Sam Weller. There is something mysterious about him. He is an adept in "ways that are dark and tricks that are vain".

Yes, there seem to be a thousand reasons why we should distrust and dislike each other, but none of them are good reasons. However much we may in the pseudo-scientific slang of the day "rationalize" them, they are poor reasons. They cut into our own lives and leave sores. They cut into the life of the nation and infect it with social poison. Above all, to change the figure, they blur the vision of brotherhood. They blind men to the interests of all GOD'S family. They are petty, limited, parochial, selfish.

And all the while GOD calls to us—His children, one people, one family—to live not only in tolerance but in active love and good will. He calls us to build that commonwealth of co-operation and love which is the Kingdom of GOD.

Are we prepared to meet that call? It is urgent. It is imperative. The need of the world presses upon us; accents the call of GOD; cries to us that for the sake of our country, for the sake of men's souls, for the sake of the world's salvation we who believe in GOD and the unity of His children should think together, work together, fight together.

Closing Prayer:

GOD Of The Nations, Who didst proclaim peace through Thy Prophets of old and didst send Thy Son, Jesus, to reveal Thy loving kindness to all the world, overrule, by Thy Spirit, the pride of men and teach us that we cannot truly please Thee until and unless we accept as our brethren, Thy children everywhere. For all witnesses to such Brotherhood we give Thee thanks. In humility of spirit, in comprehensive love, with Christ-like compassion, help us to serve our day and generation to the upbuilding of Thy Kingdom, in the Name of the PRINCE OF PEACE. Amen.

HYMNAL MEMORIALS

Soon we shall have 500 new hymnals in the pews. These hymnals will all be dedicated to the memory of departed loved ones. Some 125 have already been designated and an attractive book-plate has been inserted with the inscribed names of the persons for whom the hymnal is a memorial.

One of our members has provided 75 hymnals to be dedicated to the memory of the Hon. Roland S. Morris, who had a great knowledge of and abiding interest in Hymns and their Authors. He served on several commissions in the past that were appointed to revise the official hymnal of our church. The congregation for the Hard of Hearing has provided 20 hymnals in memory of Mr. Morris.

By action of the Vestry the balance of hymnals not provided by individual donors will be purchased by the Vestry and dedicated to the memory of Mr. Morris.

The inscription reads as follows:

The Hymnal is presented to the Congregation of this Church that it may serve in the worship of Almighty God and as a Memorial to The Honorable Roland S. Morris, Rector's Warden of St. Stephen's Church and Chancellor of this Diocese; who, throughout his entire life contributed his fine knowledge of Hymns to the service of the Master

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others.)

Opening Prayer:

O Almighty God, grant, we beseech Thee, that we, whose trust is under the shadow of Thy wings, may, through the help of Thy power, overcome all evils that rise up against us; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.
(Roman Breviary, 1099 A. D.)

Bible Reading: St. John 1:1-9

The Sermon:

But once I pass this way,
And then—and then, the silent door
Swings on its hinges—
Opens . . . closes—
And no more I pass this way.
So while I may,
With all my might
I will assay
Sweet comfort and delight
To all I meet upon the Pilgrim Way.
For no man travels twice
The Great Highway
That climbs through darkness
Up to light,
Through night
To day.—John Oxenham

In a little more than two weeks it will be Lent again, and it is in that royal season that the Great Highway becomes thronged again. Suddenly many of us find that we are in the dark, discover our shocking ignorance about truly important matters. We may know a dozen different ways of cooking meat leftovers, but we have difficulty in counting up six of the great Christians of our times. We may have learned all the knots an advanced Boy Scout must learn, or pages of the ritual of our lodge, but still do not have the faintest idea how to pray when a good friend is "up against it" and needs the help of God through us. We are so clever about trivial matters, and so ignorant about affairs of life—and—death importance. We suddenly become aware of this as Lent approaches.

Therefore, this Lent, let us set ourselves to be learners—dig fresh secrets from Christ's teaching in the New Testament; read some books which will give us new skill and wisdom in praying; school ourselves to the patient, resolute practice of faith. As those majestic opening verses of John tell us, there was a time when Light broke into darkness; and Lent is the time to take "The Great Highway that climbs through darkness into Light."

Closing Prayer:

Lighten our darkness, we beseech Thee, O Lord; and by Thy great mercy, defend us from all perils and dangers of this night; for the love of Thy only Son, our Saviour, Jesus Christ. Amen.—(Book of Common Prayer).

Theological Education Offering: This annual offering by all the parishes in the country is for one of the most vitally necessary projects in our entire Church program. Without adequate training, the Church can expect no adequate future leadership. In the midst of the numberless drives which are competing for your interest, please be as generous as you can in this connection. Our offering will be divided between the Philadelphia Divinity School and the Rector's School (Cambridge Theological School).

EDITORIAL

It seems evident that during the months ahead the hunters and the hounds will be out across America.

Some of the hunters will be on the legitimate business of searching out in our citizen body those who, while enjoying the benefits of America, are nevertheless planning the destruction of our democracy and giving true allegiance only to a foreign state.

But with these legitimate hunters there is bound to run a strangely assorted pack. There will be those who merely run and bark because others are running and barking. There will be those who run and bark to attract attention to themselves for personal advantage. There will be those who run and bark because, frustrated themselves, they want something outside themselves to bark at; and there will be wolves who, mingling with the pack, attempt to simulate the hounds and to lead them off the track and on to the pursuit of citizens who are striving to bring about in America the fulfillment of its unfulfilled promises and in the world of brotherhood and peace.

We shall need sensistive ears to distinguish the true from the false in the motley babel.

But while we are hunting the enemies of America, would it not be well to pause and ask, What Makes Men Who Live In America Reject Its Way of Life? Is it not better and more humane, as well as more effective, to change conditions which cause men to lose faith in America, than to tolerate injustice and focus blame upon those who often are merely victims?

After the recent exposure of the treatment accorded Negroes in Mississippi, should we be surprised if the Negroes of that State were to turn to Communism? Pray GOD they won't; but the question remains: Does a share-cropping Negro of Mississippi have more freedom and dignity than a collective farmer in the Ukraine?

The supreme answer to Communism is an American way that works for every man.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others.)

Opening Prayer:

O Lord Jesus Christ, Who didst give Thy life for us that we may receive pardon and peace; mercifully cleanse us from all sin, and evermore keep us in Thy favor and love, Who livest and reignest with the Father and the Holy Spirit, ever one God, world without end. Amen.—(From an ancient collect).

Bible Reading: Matthew 18:21-35 (How often shall we forgive?)

The Sermon:

Abraham Lincoln, whose birthday comes next month, knew what Peter was talking about when he asked Jesus, "How often shall my brother sin against me, and I forgive him?" Lincoln knew—for he had a wife, Mary Todd.

Lincoln had frequent opportunities for forgiving Mary! In the first place, she had wanted to marry the handsome, dashing Stephen A. Douglas, but when Douglas wisely stopped courting her, Mary had set her cap for Lincoln. She did not fancy the way Lincoln dressed, so she set out to reform him. So harsh and loveless was she about it that Lincoln decided that he could not marry her, and went to tell her so. But, seeing her prize slipping away from her, she burst into such an agony of tears that Lincoln's tender heart was touched—he caught her in his arms, and promised to marry her. But when the wedding day came, Lincoln was so frightened that he never turned up. The bride in her wedding dress, the minister, and all the company of friends were there—they waited for two hours and a half, but the groom never appeared. Two years later she persuaded him, and they were married quickly.

What a married life he had! As one biographer tells one incident: "Shortly after their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln were having breakfast at Mrs. Early's boarding-house in Springfield when Lincoln aroused the fiery temper of his wife. What he did to arouse her, no one remembers now. But Mrs. Lincoln, in a rage, dashed a cup of hot coffee into her husband's face, right in front of the other boarders. Saying nothing, Lincoln sat there in humiliation and silence while Mrs. Early wiped off his face and his clothes." And when they were at last in the White House (where Mary Todd had hoped to be!) she was so determined to be a social success that she bought clothes and jewelry with reckless extravagance, until she plunged her already heavy-laden husband $70,000.00 in debt—almost three times his annual salary as President. Abraham Lincoln forgave seventy-times seven, and then some! Few of us has as much to forgive as he did.

When any human being has learned that secret of endless forgiving, then it is clear that he understands the teaching of the Master. Then it is clear that the Master counts that person as belonging to Him, as a true comrade in the conquest of the world.

Closing Prayer:

O GOD Our Father, grant us patience with one another, that we may cast away all fretfulness and complaining, and whatsoever hinders the course of kindness, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

EDITORIAL

The second Assembly of the United Nations has closed and its delegates have gone home. They have earned a good rest after the intense days which with their long hours and their difficult problems laid heavy strains upon their bodies, their minds and their spirits.

These delegates have also earned the gratitude of the peoples of the world for making the United Nations more of a reality and for carrying humanity somewhat forward along the road of justice and brotherhood toward peace.

Of course they did not resolve all of the questions on their agenda, but, among other things they established the Trusteeship Council, set in motion the processes of disarmament, created the International Refugee Organization, and, thanks to the generosity and help of Mr. John D. Rockefeller, made definite choice of a permanent site.

When one looks back over the long road toward world unity which the nations have traveled in a year, one looks back upon the churches with a sense of sadness.

Despite the verbal conflicts and the clash of policies, the suspicions and the indecisions, the nations of the world have created a continuously functioning instrument of co-operation in which they have each deposited a share of national sovereignty.

Is it recorded that any denomination has deposited the slightest share of denominational sovereignty in any instrument of co-operation or that we possess in the field of religion any continuously functioning and measurably authoritative common body?

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our Country and others.)

Opening Prayer:

Grant unto us, we beseech Thee, O Almighty God, that we, who seek the shelter of Thy protection, being defended from all evils, may serve Thee in peace and quietness of spirit; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.—(Roman Breviary, 1099 A. D.)

Bible Reading: St. Luke 18: 15-17

The Sermon:

How often we say with scorn about some person, "Why, he's acting like a child—he should grow up!" But, when we turn to the pages of the New Testament, we find our Master saying that if we do not act like children, we cannot count ourselves at His comrades. We had best get our minds busy, and understand this puzzling teaching of His.

A friend of mine in New Hampshire, once told a story which made clear what Jesus meant about the importance of our being childlike.

A curly-headed three year-old stopped to talk with a gardener outside a greenhouse while his mother went in to buy some flowers. "What are you doing?" the small boy asked the gardener. The man only growled. But the boy persisted, asking, "What did you say?" "Go away!" snorted the old gardner. Curly-head smiled up at him, "Why do you want me to go away?" The foreman of the greenhouse, who was watching from the open door, started to laugh quietly, and explained to the surprised mother that this gardener had the worst disposition of any one around, disliked children, and was never known to give a civil answer to anybody. When the flowers had been selected, and the foreman came out of the greenhouse with the mother, what was their astonishment to see Gruffanuff, the gardener, leading curley-head by the hand over to the barn to see the cows. The child just did not believe there could be any one who would not want to make friends with him. He kept right on believing that Gruffanuff really wanted to be friendly. The results showed that he was right.

That child had really "received the Kingdom of God"—he really believed that no one can resist real love; believed in the power of good will to overcome gruffness and hate. The child was right. Try it out yourself, like a little child, on some one who does not like you; or, at least, who has acted as if they did not! If you approach them like a little child, in simple friendship, not seeking anything for yourself, it will work with every one whose heart is still alive!

Closing Prayer:

May God bless us with a loving sense of His near presence, that we may know what it is to walk close to Him all our life long. Amen.

EDITORIAL

The election of Charles Taft to the highest office in American Protestantism, the President of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, is a timely choice.

Mr. Taft is admirably qualified for this position of leadership by his loyalty to his own church (Episcopal), his devotion to the ecumenical movement, and his distinguished record of public service. Mr. Taft is the chairman of the National Social Welfare Assembly.

In electing a layman, the Federal Council opportunely broke with its tradition. The choice of a layman, as President, serves to emphasize emphatically the fact that Protestantism is not hierarchically controlled. While to the clergy are assigned prayer and distinctive functions, laymen participate in the government of Protestantism and in the direction of its policies; and the process of election is shared by all, either directly or through their chosen representatives.

In recent generations there has been a tendency toward hierarchical control in Protestantism. This has not been a purposed tendency, but has rather, come about through the inclination of laymen who, preoccupied, with business and regarding ministers as professionals, were willing to let them run things. At the same time, ministers have perhaps assumed that it was easier to do things themselves and in some instances have manifested a desire for undue power and control.

The Church needs its laymen very greatly today. It needs not merely their participation as attendants and contributors. It needs the understanding of their minds. It needs their skills, their time, their energy, in almost every aspect of its life.

HYMNAL MEMORIALS

Many are taking advantage of the opportunity of memorializing a loved one by providing a new hymnal for use in the Church. An attractive book plate will be inserted with the inscribed name of the person for whom the hymnal is a memorial. The cost is one dollar per book. You may provide any number of books you choose.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our Country and others.)

Opening Prayer:

Grant, most gracious GOD, that we may love and seek Thee always and everywhere, above all things and for Thy sake, in the present life, and may at last find Thee and forever hold Thee fast in the life to come. Grant this for the sake of Jesus Christ Our Lord. Amen.—(Archbishop Bradwardine, 1292 A. D.)

Bible Reading: John 15: 1-11 (Our deep human need of GOD.)

The Sermon:

Every human being goes through rebellious times when he wants to do as he pleases and have his own way. In those times he resists GOD, fights against the need of "abiding in the Vine."

John Masefield, in his great story poem of "The Everlasting Mercy", tells of the drunkard, Saul Kane, who struggled so hard to keep clear of GOD. One day in the saloon a woman found him trying to make friends with her boy, and she was so afraid of such a sorry companion for her son that she blazed out in fearful, scorning anger against Saul Kane. When she was at last through, Saul said to himself, "I've often heard religious ranters, and put them down as windy canters, but this old mother makes me see the harm I have done by being me." That same day he was rude to a Quaker woman who came into the saloon to tell men about Christ, and she spoke out to the stubborn drunkard about the Christ he was denying, finishing with, "He waits until you knock".

Saul Kane grew sick of having his own way—he could not hold out against Christ any longer. Through the weeks that had passed he had kept catching sight of the Everlasting Mercy of GOD—the GOD Who waits until we come home to Him; the GOD Who lets us put Him on a hard Cross and torture His great heart with our hard-fisted, self-willed lives; the GOD Who sees church folk keeping others away from Him by our selfish lives—and all the time, in His endless mercy, He keeps on loving us. Saul Kane could not keep on resisting a GOD like that—he let go, and let GOD in at last. No longer was his ardent prayer, "My will be done", but "THY Will". And he poured out his heart in joy and freedom at last, saying,

"I did not think, I did not strive; the deep peace burnt Me alive;
The bolted door had broken in, I knew that I had done with sin
I knew that Christ had given me birth to brother all the souls on earth,
And every bird, and every beast should share the crumbs broke at the feast.

CLOSING PRAYERS—"Our Father", and the following praper:

Breathe on me, Breath of GOD, fill me with life anew,
That I may love what Thou dost love, and do what Thou wouldst do.
Breathe on me, Breath of GOD, till I am wholly Thine,
Till all this earthly part of me glows with Thy fire divine. Amen.

EDITORIAL

"I should say that it is our position that whatever the United States does in the way of relief should be done by the United States, unilaterally."

In these words Secretary Byrnes epitomized the proposed world relief policy, which the Administration will present to Congress when it convenes subsequent to the official termination of UNRRA on January 1st.

We are therefore rejecting the plea of the other nations for united relief activity under the United Nations and we are proposed to go it alone.

By this decision the United States is choosing to travel a perilous road. This is and will continue to be a desperately hungry and needy world. In such a world, the United States is the one large nation capable of developing large surpluses under present circumstances. The hungry eyes of the world will be upon us.

It is natural for hungry men first to envy and then to hate those who have plenty, unless there is a generous and willing sharing. The first question is therefore whether, in a year which seemed destined to emphasize economy, we shall, as a nation, determine not to diminish our works of mercy.

The second problem involves the necessity for Congress and the State Department to resist, strenuously, the temptation to use the means of mercy to save political ends. During the depression a few over-zealous and insensitive religious organizations attempted to win "bread-and-butter converts" by making attendance at religious service the price of a meal. "Mission stiffs", their fellow sufferers dubbed those who would go through the motions of conversion for food and lodging.

Our State Department and Congress would do well to write down as a fundamental premise the precept of Jesus: "If thine enemy hunger, feed him." To send food in political wrappings is to make charity despicable.

And what self-restraint Congress will have to exert in debating specific gifts and loans, lest the words of these representatives of America stir the hearts of hungry men to bitterness.

Surely men of religion of all faiths are called upon to insist that our national charity be generous in spirit and in measure.

WORKERS' COMMUNION

On Sunday, January 5, there will be a special service of Holy Communion to which we invite our young people, Church School teachers, and all the active members of our parish organizations. We ask them to begin the year at the altar, to present their activities, and to ask God's blessing upon all we do.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our Country and others.)

Opening Prayer:

O Lord, if we have found favor in Thy sight, show us now Thy ways, that we may know Thee; but if Thy Presence go not with us, carry us not up hence. O Lord Jehovah, show Thy servants Thy greatness and Thy strong hand. Amen.

(Moses, 1400 B. C.)

Bible Reading:

Do you remember that time when you were small, when your family moved to a new town, a new home? Your heart was filled with an odd mixture of eagerness and anxiety. You were leaving familiar friends and places for strange ones; you were tearing up your roots, and that was uncomfortable. On the other hand, you were going "over the horizon" to unguessed delights, going into the unknown with new treasures to be discovered. You tingled with the sense of adventure, for as Joshua had put it to the Israelites, "ye have not passed this way heretofore".

Stepping into a New Year is just like that. Behind us lie the familiar scenes and experiences. Ahead lies the unknown—for better or worse, for richer or poorer! There is one way to enter the New Year with confidence, and Joshua pointed it out. His counsel to his people was simple—to follow after the Ark, which was the sign of the Presence of GOD. In other words, "Follow GOD into the unknown". It was good advice, and it worked out well, as you will remember from the history of the people of Israel, for they became a great nation, from which we received our faith.

Joshua added a bracing word of cheer to follow GOD into the unknown, "for tomorrow the Lord will do wonders among you." Every one of you who will keep GOD in your hearts, heeding the whisper of His voice, can venture into the unknown New Year with assurance, even with childlike eagerness. For every soul who travels with GOD can anticipate miracles ahead, fresh delights, new friends, new worlds to conquer. As Hudnot wrote:

"Quit you like men, be strong;
There's a God Who blesses the good with might—
So are ye forth with a song.

"Quit you like men, be strong;
There's a work to do, There's a world to make new,
There's a call for men who are brave and true—
On! on with a song!

"Quit you like men, be strong;
There's a year of grace, There's a God to face,
There's another heat in the great world race—
Speed! speed with a song."

Closing Prayer:

O Thou Who art ever the same, grant us so to pass through the coming year with faithful hearts, that we may be able in all things to please Thy loving eyes; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen. —(Mozarable Liturgy, 700 A.D.)

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services: the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others.)

Opening Prayer:
Almighty God, the comfort of the sad, the strength of sufferers, let the prayers of those that cry out of any tribulation come unto Thee, that all may rejoice to find that Thy mercy is present with them in their afflictions; through Jesus Christ our Lord. (Gelasian Sacramentary, 494 A. D.)

Bible Reading: Psalm 84

The Sermon:
Have you ever been in the Valley of Baca? Before you answer, "No", let me tell you that you have been there, and know it well. For the clear translation of that word is "Weary-Glen" or "Vale of Misery". You certainly are familiar with that locality; for what human being is there who has not known misery at one time or another!

All men alike go into that shadowy, bleak valley. But how different they are when they come out! Some emerge from their suffering exhausted and beaten down, while others come out strengthened. These last are the folk who "passing through the Vale of Misery use it for a well". In the Good News of God they have learned that days of sickness, of grief, of trouble, can be days of opportunity—days in which they find new springs of refreshment. So Paul could say "most gladly, therefore, will I rather glory in my infirmities, that the power of Christ may rest upon me". St. Paul, you may remember, had "a thorn in the flesh"—scholars think he may have been subject to epileptic fits. He prayed to God to heal him in his trouble; but God did not. So St. Paul wisely decided that this thorn in the flesh could keep him close to God; mindful that, without God, he was nothing; remembering to turn over from his human weakness to the infinite strength of the Almighty. Passing through his Vale of Misery, St. Paul used it for a well.

I do not know, of course, what your particular Vale may be. I only know that, as a believing, practising Christian, you can turn it into a well, and use it for strength. An older woman once told me of the special miseries of old age—and how they had brought her to an everyday quiet fifteen minutes with God; minutes in which she just listens in stillness until the clouds clear a bit, and she sees, in the light of God's wisdom, how she can go on through that day. Your trial may be shortness of stature, a difficult husband, your own touchy disposition, painful rheumatism, slenedr finances, or too-many-people-in-one-house. Whatever it is, there are hidden springs in its barren wastes.

Some one has said that "one can live life on a shoe-string, as Jesus did, as St. Francis did". He who walks with God finds the hidden well-springs of Baca. God put them in your Vale of Misery for your renewal—use them, every day of your life!

Closing Prayer:
Stretch forth, O Lord, Thy mercy over all Thy servants everywhere, even the right hand of heavenly help, that they may seek Thee with their whole heart, and obtain what they rightly ask for; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen. (Gelasian Sacramentary.)

WATCH NIGHT SERVICE

New Year's Eve this year falls on Wednesday night. Mr. Meckling will conduct a Watch Night Service at 11:00 P. M. with hymns, prayers and an address followed by the Holy Communion. The coming year is certain to be a year of tension and great pressure. We shall do well to approach it in the spirit of solemn dedication to God, turning to Him for strength and insight. He alone will see us through successfully.

Bishop Hart will visit our parish on Sunday morning, February 29th, in connection with the 125th ANNIVERSARY of St. Stephen's at 11:00 o'clock to administer the rite of Confirmation. We shall be happy to present to him any members of our parish who have not as yet been confirmed and would like to be. The Rector's instruction class will meet in his study every Sunday morning at 10:00 o'clock beginning January 11th.

We acknowledge with thanks the Church Bulletin subscriptions of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Goldenberg, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Matthews, and Mrs. Joseph J. Hardiman.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services: the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others.)

Opening Prayer:
O God of heavenly glory, source of earthly peace and goodwill; may our Christmas be merry because touched with joy divine, through Him Who is born again in our hearts, Thy Son, Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.—(John W. Suter)

Bible Reading: St. Luke 2 : 8-20

The Sermon:
As the shepherds hastened through the star-lit night, I suspect that they stopped from time to time at some farmhouse, asking, "Is this the road that leads to Bethlehem?" So they "came with haste", anxiously seeking the right road.

Right now you are up to your neck in Christmas preparations, hurrying eagerly that everything may be ready for the great day. Look well that you are preparing for something more than a heavy dinner, a gaily decorative home, a handsome lot of greeting cards and presents. For all these glad and merry acts are empty and senseless unless they be lighted with the meaning of Christmas Day. Ask yourself right now, whether all your kitchen-scurrying, your feverish shopping and your last-minute addressing is done in honor of Love—come down-to-earth. Is your Christmas haste truly "on the road to Bethlehem"?

For what was it that the eager shepherds found at the end of the Bethlehem road? In that tiny, new-born Christ-Child, they discovered what God is like! As some one has said, "God is as helpless as the Babe in the Manger—that is the way the Christian doctrine about God begins. God is as helpless as Christ on the Cross—that is the way the Christian doctrine about God ends. And Christmas gives us the picture of a God without weapons wherewith to drive men to do His will. It gives us the picture of One Whose power is the power to make us love."

Think of it—at the end of the Bethlehem road men find a God Who will never compel them to do anything. God is far wiser than the dictators, the compellers—He wants only willing obedience, only that service which springs gladly from a loving, adoring heart. So He made Himself a helpless babe at Bthelehem, a Christ-nailed-to-the-Cross at Calvary. He looks up from the Manger, looks down from the Cross, with eyes of loving confidence which invite your worship and loyal service. For the other roads of life, the way of the mailed fist and the bullying heart, the way of hard dictatorship in home and village, lead only to ruin and heartbreak. God takes the Bethlehem way, and calls you to take that selfsame road, and follow faithfully on it.

This may bring you up sharp—you may have to change your ways with your wife or your children, or some special person; may have to put your temper under curb, and pray deeply for the power to forgive and be forgiven. But risk that, my friend—stop short, in all your Christmas busy-ness, and see that you are on the right road!

Men travel bravely by a thousand roads,
Some broad and lined with palaces; some steep
And hard and lonely, some that blindly twist
Through tangled jungles where there is no light;
And mostly they are travelled thoughtlessly.
But once a year an ancient question comes
To every traveller passing on his way,
A question that can stab and burn and bless.
"Is this the road that leads to Bethlehem?"

Closing Prayers: "Our Father," and the following (A Child's Christmas Prayer):
Dear Christ, the Light of all who love You, help us to make ready for Your birthday by preparing room for You in our hearts. Let no selfishness of ours darken our home. Let no ill feelings spoil our fun. Draw us closer together by showing us the way to love aright; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

We are most desirous of learning whether there are any additional members of the parish interested in joining the Adult Confirmation Class. If so, will you please make yourself known to the rector. Classes begin in the early part of January.

Turn back, O Man, forswear thy foolish ways. Old now is Earth, and none may count her days, Yet thou, her child, whose head is crowned with flame Still wilt not hear thine inner God proclaim "Turn back O Man, forswear, thy foolish ways!"

Earth might be fair and all men glad and wise, Age after age their tragic empires rise. Built while they dream, and in that dreaming weep, Would man but wake from out his haunted sleep.

Earth shall be fair, and all her people one, Nor till that hour shall God's whole will be done. Now, even now, once more from earth to sky, Peals forth in joy man's old undaunted cry, "Earth shall be fair, and all her folk be one!"

CHRISTMAS DINNERS

Each year St. Stephen's donates baskets or the equivalent to those who are unable to give to their families the fullness of Christmas cheer, with which others are blessed. Will you help with your generosity? Every member and friend of the church is asked to use the special Christmas Dinner envelope. We need $300.00. Fifty-three families, and individuals were cared for last Christmas.

Are you supporting your Church with your prayers, time and money? The Church needs your help in every way. If you are not yet pledging to the financial support of the Church, begin today.

The Choir of St. Stephen's is now enjoying new vestments thanks to the generous action of Miss Gertrude McClellan who has made over twenty surplices, and fitted each member with a hand-made garment. The material and workmanship is excellent and should last many years. New cassocks and caps were made by the National Cap and Gown Co. of Philadelphia.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services: the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others.)

Opening Prayer:

Banish our terrors, we beseech Thee, O Lord, and of Thy great goodness, equip us with valor and confidence for the day; for the love of Thy only Son, our Saviour Jesus Christ. Amen.—(John W. Suter)

Bible Reading: Psalm 125

The Sermon:

If, as we saw last week, it is important to begin each day as a little Advent, it is just as necessary to end it in the same spirit. For if you fall asleep worried and tense about tomorrow, you will awake in the same sorry mood. But, you may say, how can I end my day peacefully? How can I relax when my big son has been "too busy" to help me move heavy furniture; when food costs so much, and the family fusses endlessly about having so little meat; when there's a rumor that the mill is going to shut down, and my husband will be out of a job? Just how can any one expect me to end the day with a serene heart!

But have you not heard that this problem was solved a long, long time ago—long before the telephone was invented! It was. That's what the Bible's all about, the victorious life of those who walk with God, and know that God is with them. A professional boxer has just written the vivid picture of his terrific fight with the drug habit, and his final victory, and he called his story, "God was in my corner." Where God is let in, there are no impossibilities—you can look forward to tomorrow with Advent zest. But just how can you get rid of the gloomy, fearful thoughts that push into your mind as you start to go to sleep? Dr. Peale suggests:

"A gentleman for whom I have great respect told me of the method he uses to get these thoughts out of his mind. Somebody had suggested to him that the highest form of prayer is thanksgiving. Therefore, while lying in bed at night, he began to make a list of the wonderful things that had happened during the day. One by one he thanked God for simple things: for his breakfast, crisp bacon, the odor of which is delectable; for his ability to walk to work; for the privilege of living in a free country; for the sunshine or the rain or the snow; for his job, for his boss, for his secretary. He thanked Him for every good thing. He said that after he had done this for a night or two, all of a sudden he realized that marvelous over-balance of the good against the bad." He felt a deep security, a true serenity, like that of the Psalmist who wrote, "They that trust in the Lord shall be as Mount Zion, which cannot be removed." Try out this simple, practical, night-time thankfulness as you turn your eyes toward Christmas!

Closing Prayer:

Quiet our thoughts, we beseech Thee, O Lord, and let Thy peace descend upon our waiting souls; that, commending our spirits to Thy holy keeping, we may accept the miracle of sleep; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.—(I. W. Suter)

There shall be no more curse, nor pain, nor death. But the throne of God and of the Lamb shall be therein, and His servants shall serve Him, and they shall see His face. HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services: the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others.)

Opening Prayer:

O God, give us a pure heart, a clear mind, and a steadfast will, that all our work may be to the honour of Him Who hath honoured us with His love and fellowship, Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.—(Henry Sylvester Nash.)

Bible Reading: Psalm 118: 1-24

The Sermon:

Advent has now begun—the season of humble and solemn rejoicing that God came among men, and still comes today. But this rejoicing need not be limited to a season. Why not make every day a little Advent?

So many people "jinx" each day before they start it, by saying to themselves, "This is going to be another tough day". By picturing it in this gloomy light, they make sure that it will be tough. As someone has said, "Such persons like a defective record on a victrola, keep repeating over and over again the same wrong thought."

Why not form the habit of "Advent-thinking"? Suppose you begin each day by quietly saying to yourself, "This is the day which the Lord hath made; we will rejoice and be glad in it." While you are still in bed, and drowsy, say those great words slowly, and let them sink in, deep in your heart. Remember that, since God made this day, wonderful things can happen—quiet and lovely miracles, like the smile of a friend in response to your thoughtfulness; wondrous miracles, like your finding peace in forgiving an old wrong; thrilling miracles, like discovering that at last you can face your worst nightmare with steady eyes, because God is with you.

Every day is a good day if you pray, if you start it with Advent expectation. God made this particular day a rainy day. You will say this is a terrible day. This is not a terrible day. The Lord is trying to do something with this day. He has to have days like this. There may be a day of seemingly terrible failure—but here is a man who failed in business, and had to get out of it; and then found another business where he is doing remarkably well. His day of failure was a wonderful day—it freed him to find what he was best fitted to do. Your heart may sink within you as, in the midst of house-cleaning, your doorbell rings. But Advent may well show you that your visitor was God-sent, a joy or a golden opportunity. Since this is the day that the Lord hath made, you become watchful for His hand in every event. Even everyday-living becomes shot through with the glory of God. As a teen-ager once wrote, "In the short time I have known God, I have found a very strange something inside that makes my life so full of laughter and happiness." Such radiance is forever flooding "the day which the Lord hath made."

Closing Prayer:

O God, Master of life, illumine our minds with the light of Thine own reason, inform our wills with Thine eternal purpose, and so make our daily work a prayer; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.—(Henry Sylvester Nash)

EDITORAL

A lawyer, whose firm is consulted in the preparation of an exceptional number of income tax returns, has expressed amazement that so many returns filed by Protestants showed, in contrast to others, such meager religious and charitable deductions.

Obviously, no Protestant minister is going to sit down with a parishioner and seek to direct his charity budget or tell him how much he should give either to a specific project or in total contributions. That is not and never will be our way.

The responsibility rests on the conscience of the individual as to where and what he shall give.

It was inspiring to learn recently from a mutual friend that Governor Stassen tithes not only his income, but his time, as well. At least one-tenth of his time has been committed to the service of the Church and to Kingdom causes. How desperately the wide acceptance of that sort of dedication of life is needed today!

It is the human tendency, granted freedom of conscience and of choice in such matters as the stewardship of means and of time, for the individual to grow lax and irresponsible.

It is there—is it not, that the prophetic function of the Church and of the ministry enters in. Is it not the responsibility of both to continuously nourish and stimulate the generous qualities of personality with which selfish nature is ever at war? Salvation in this life of the flesh is never at once and for all achieved. The spiritual man must be renewed daily—even hourly. Generosity, charity, stewardship will fade and vanish in many a life where stimulus of conscience is not continuously offered and received.

We wish to thank Miss Susan C. Thackara for her subscription to the Church Bulletin.

Sunday, November 30th is DEDICATION SUNDAY, and we hope you will be present. We shall drop our pledge cards in the "CHEST OF JOASH" and dedicate them to God at the Altar. The Rector will explain "Where the money goes". This sounds as if it might be dull, but we hope to make it interesting and instructive.

The annual BIRTHDAY CALENDAR will go to press December 1st. There is still time to have your birthday recorded. Send your name and birthday and ten cents to Mrs. Mearns.

MATTERS FINANCIAL

MY DEAR FRIEND AND PARISHIONER:

Every family has to think about its money affairs. The Church is like a large family and every Fall it has to consider money matters seriously. I suppose no family enjoys this particular part of its life, neither do I enjoy it as much as I do other responsibilities that I have been chosen to carry in the Church. But I have come to appreciate the fact that the way a family earns and spends its money is as good an indication as any of the real quality of the family life. Seen in that light, money affairs lose some of their drabness and take their part in the romance of living.

Before I speak about this year's money affairs, I should like to say something about the past six years. When I became Rector six years ago, the financial outlook of the parish was not bright. In 1941 only $3,567.28 was raised by the congregation. In 1942, $5,021.20 was raised. We raised in 1943, $12,743.50. In 1944 we raised $16,839.74. In 1945, $17,543.09 was raised. We raised, in 1946, $20,291.74. This shows a gain of $16,724.47. This means that a great many people are giving more than they did five years ago.

It does not mean, I am sorry to say, that many more people are giving. In 1941, 140 people pledged, and 1947, 204 pledged—64 additional contributors. Over 200 parishioners made no pledge at all for 1947. Those figures trouble me greatly. I cannot understand how people can allow their names to be on the register of Communicant Members of St. Stephen's Church, signifying that they wish to be considered a part of it, and yet give nothing, not even a token as a sign of their interest and care. In other denominations their names would be automatically dropped from the membership list. I am glad that such is not our practice and I go on hoping that some day they will wake up to their opportunities.

To the large group who have given more and more generously, I am grateful. Their reward is the knowledge that they have shared in the reconstruction work of God as He ministers to men and women through the agency of His Church.

I have no hesitation in asking them to continue to give to the Church. The budget this year, like all budgets, clearly reflects the high cost of living. The Church above all others must pay the people who work for her a decent and living wage. In addition to the increase in cost, there is the ever increasing opportunity to serve. Doors are opening to us on every side. Thousands of people are working in the large office buildings in our neighborhood. The sick and the troubled look to us for advice and help. On Sunday as well as during the week the people come from all over Greater Philadelphia to join together in a renewal of their spiritual aspiration and effort. To close any of these doors because of lack of funds would be a responsibility which I, for one, should not like to assume.

The sooner you make your pledge and either mail it to the Church Office or place it yourself in the CHEST OF JOASH on Sunday, November 30th, the sooner we will know that you want us who are on the staff to go ahead with the work. It would be my greatest joy to announce in next week's bulletin that we had settled our money affairs for next year satisfactorily.

Will you help us do that?

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services: the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others.)

Opening Prayer:

O Thou Who art heroic love, kindle, we pray Thee, in our hearts that high spirit of adventure in which men scorn the way of safety and seek danger, rather, to do Thy will. Help us to prove worthy of their brave and loving company who, at Thy bidding, put everything upon the hazard, until they passed over, and all the trumpets sounded for them on the other side. Amen.—("Toc H Prayers")

Bible Reading: John 1:35-42.

The Sermon:

One of these autumn days when the sun is shining, you may hear a cricket chirping under your window. Get a watch or a clock that has a second-hand, and carefully count the number of times your cricket chirps in fourteen seconds. Suppose you count thirty chirps. Add forty-five to that thirty and you will know that the temperature is exactly seventy-five where the cricket is. (Always count the number of chirps in fourteen seconds, and add forty-five.) I'm not sure that the late fall cricket on the hearth is reliable, for he is a bit sleepy and tired—but your outdoor cricket will always be right. The warmer it is, the faster Mr. Cricket will chirp. He always responds faithfully, reliably, to light and warmth.

God made crickets to be like that. They have no choice, and, I suppose, deserve no credit, for they cannot help being so reliable. But the wonderful fact remains—their sensitive and unfailing response to God's light.

God made human beings with a far greater capacity for responding to Him; gave them the ability to be Christlike parents, friends, neighbors. But He also left them free to disregard His light; to be sensitive to darkness and evil instead. Peter and Judas both lived close to Jesus; and Judas finally yielded his will to work treachery, while Peter set himself to loyalty to the Light. The warmth of God's undying love shone just as clearly for both men—and one chose to insulate his heart against it, while the other willed to obey its bidding. You will find it very easy to apply this truth to your community, to the people you know. You will find it more uncomfortable, but much more profitable, to apply it to yourself! Are you training yourself to be sensitive to the highest and best, so that you obey the promptings of God as the cricket obeys the sunlight?

Dwight L. Moody once said, "Let God have your life. He can do more with it than you can." A young doctor named Wilfred Grenfell heard those words, and dedicated his life to obeying God's will for him. For over half a century the barren shores of Labrador have been blessed by Dr. Grenfell's life-saving work. Your golden chance, my friend, is to become "God's Cricket."

Closing Prayer:

O THOU Who art the light of the minds that know Thee, the life of the souls that love Thee, and the strength of the hearts that serve Thee; help us so to know Thee that we may truly love Thee, so to love Thee that we may fully serve Thee, Whom to serve is perfect freedom; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Because of THANKSGIVING DAY, the usual two services of Spiritual Healing at 12:30 and 5:30 P. M. will not be conducted.

The Rector will preach at St. James Church, Kingsessing, Sunday, November 23rd at 8:00 P. M. on the subject of Religion and Health.

We wish to thank Mrs. Cora M. Cooke and Mr. and Mrs. James R. Merchant for their contributions to the Benevolent Society.

One of the outstanding events of our coming One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Anniversary is the special Anthem "Lord, I Have Loved the Habitation of Thy House." Composed for the occasion by Dr. Matthews.

This is one of the finest anthems, if not the finest, of all the wonderful compositions of our talented and distinguished Organist and Choir Director.

Po Tun of Karenni State, Loikaw, Burma writes "Many thanks. God Bless You All" for articles sent by St. Stephen's through the American Church Relief Center at New Windsor, Maryland. Bags for your overseas clothing are now available in the rector's office.

Have You Thought about Confirmation? Why not join the Class to be presented to Bishop Hart at the One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Anniversary Service of this Church. Speak to the rector now.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services: the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others.)

Opening Prayer:

Grant us, we beseech Thee, O Lord, the aid of Thy Holy Spirit, that whatever by His teaching we know to be our duty, we may by His grace be enabled to perform, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.—(J. C. Chute)

Bible Reading: Isaiah 26: 1-9

The Sermon:

On some November afternoon you may find yourself in a great stadium, watching a stirring football game in the crisp fall air. Between the halves a dog may slip out of the stands and onto the football field. Instantly there will be a chorus of whistles, dog-calls, and shouts from the jammed stands. First the dog will rush frantically toward one half-recognized voice, then turn at the sound of a more piercing whistle. Then he will stand, trembling, confused, not knowing which way to turn. Then, it may be, a familiar figure will hurry onto the field, and suddenly he hears a voice he trusts; and he will run joyously to his master, and find peace of mind once more.

Some one has remarked that the American people today are exactly in the position of that poor hound in the stadium. So many voices pour down on each one of us—from the people around us, from our radios and telephones, our newspapers and magazines. Some urge us toward pleasing ourselves in marriage and work; others to faithfulness and consideration of others. Some whistle our nation toward ostrich-like isolation; others toward One World. Some call us to depend on Lady Luck; others, on the unfailing God. The loudest, brassiest voices wheedle us toward soft and heedless ways, and suggest that there is no sense in being hard on ourselves. Quieter voices call us to high, hard ways, and remind us that, only along those climbing paths, has man ever found peace of heart.

What can the human "hound" do amid this confusion of calls? He can learn to recognize one voice that he can trust. Joseph Fort Newton in his autobiography tells of a man who, at the age of forty-two, read the New Testament for the first time, and cried out, "The story of Jesus stirred me as nothing else ever did. We could be free of wrong things and false goals if we kept in the way Jesus taught us, which is the road of faith and love and helpfulness." That man's life was made new by listening, at last, to the one voice which can always be trusted, the one voice that never lets you down. Learn the sound of His voice in your Testament, day by day; then listen for that same Voice in the everyday world. You will begin to discover it in the conversation of a few of your choicest friends, in a handful of the leaders of our world. You will begin a steadier trust in the God Who "wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on Thee."

Closing Prayer:

O Thou Who art the Way, the Truth, and the Life, make Thy way plain before our face. Teach us to live boldly, that we may be free from fear or favour, strong in Thy love and power. Amen.—(Adapted from Knutsford fellowship.)

EPISCOPAL HOSPITAL

Following the general custom in this Diocese, your offering on Thanksgiving Day is asked for the support of the Episcopal Hospital. The rising costs of care, the growing demands on the Hospital by the community, and the inability of many persons to pay for their care make the offering a vital part of the Hospital's financial structure. Last year our offering amounted to $1,034.56. Your generous response to this annual appeal is earnestly requested.

On Saturday, November 22nd, at 8: 00 P. M. in the COMMUNITY HOUSE, the YOUNG PEOPLE'S CLUB will present THE TOWN CRIER'S DRAMATIC CLUB in three one-act plays. Dancing with music by an orchestra will follow this entertainment. Prizes —Refreshments. Donation only 75c.

We wish to thank Mrs. A. G. Balsley for her contribution to the Benevolent Society, and Mrs. Ida T. W. Leach, Mrs. Christine Leight and Mr. Louis P. Stumpf for their Church Bulletin subscriptions.

WILL WE—WON'T WE

While starvation threatens and freedom trembles in the balance—while Europe hopes that help will come and Russia seems to hope that it will not—the following are excerpts heard one day from the stream of consciousness of American democracy in the process of making up its mind:

"DECEMBER 1, CRISIS DATE"—Newspaper headline

"Americans simply do not realize how terrible and how critical is the situation."—A qualified observer just returned from Europe.

"Republican leaders in Congress say there is no need of special session unless President Truman has a solution to problems."—Newspaper report.

"Winthrop W. Aldrich, Chairman of the Chase National Bank, is deeply, strongly in favor of the Marshall Plan. He is so keen about it that today he told America's bankers 'here is our opportunity to restore to the world enough strength to maintain peace.' "—Newspaper on Bankers' Convention.

"There is a growing skepticism over the results of extensive aid to Socialist European Governments."—The N.A.M. News.

"Will we—won't we—will we—won't we"—so it seems to go; so it goes in an individual mind faced with a critical decision; so it goes in the mind of America today.

Pray God that if the President and Congress fail to take initiative, the heart of America—the lovable America—will assert itself and bring about speedy and adequate action.

Many waters cannot quench Love, neither can the floods drown it. Love is strong as death. Greater Love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends.

Who His own Self bare our sins in His own Body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness.

Ye are washed, ye are sanctified, ye are justified in the Name of the Lord Jesus.

Ye are a chosen generation, a royal priesthood, a holy nation, that ye should show forth the praises of Him Who hath called you out of darkness into His marvellous light.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services: the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others.)

Opening Prayer:

O God, Who art the Infinite Thinker, make our thoughts high and good. O God, Who art the Eternal Truth make our words honest and kind; O God, Who art the Almighty Power, make our deeds loving and brave. Amen.

Bible Reading: Amos 8: 4-6

The Sermon:

"Hear this, O ye that swallow up the needy, even to make the poor of the land to fail,

"Saying, when will the new moon be gone, that we may sell corn? and the sabbath, that we may set forth wheat, making the ephah small, and the shekel great, and falsifying the balances by deceit?

"That we may buy the poor for silver, and the needy for a pair of shoes; yea, and sell the refuse of the wheat?" Amos 8: 46.

In every age there have been people who were willing to get rich at the expense of others. The prophet Amos had something to say to such people in his time, as we note in this text. In his novel, "House Divided", Ben Ames Williams displays some unsavory characters who made a profit out of the misery of the people of the South in the "War Between the States". I have no doubt that we have cheats and defrauders and unscrupulous people in our own day.

But it is not the purpose of this sermon to add further condemnation to that already heaped upon such people by many writers, and by decent public opinion everywhere. I would rather point out, as so many have done before, the wonderful generosity and spirit of self-sacrifice in the majority of people, which make possible acts of charity and kindness. Particularly in America it is possible to raise great sums of money and great stores of goods to help those in need.

Once again a challenge faces the American people which will surely be met. It is the appeal of the Community Fund. All over the United States the good people will give generously to aid people in trouble and to create agencies for the building of sound bodies and good character. I think Amos would take heart if he could witness the response to this opportunity. Perhaps he might feel that he was a pioneer in the development of a spirit of charity and generosity. The Community Chest Fund is an opportunity for each to dedicate himself again to the best in life. Do you remember the Roman Emperor who had a slave ride in his chariot, during each triumph, to whisper in his ear ever so often: "Remember, master, you are but human!" This campaign says in the inner ear of every attentive citizen "Remember, servant, you are divine and here is your divine opportunity."

Closing Prayer:

O Lord, Who hast taught us that all our doings without charity are nothing worth; send Thy Holy Ghost, and pour into our hearts that most excellent gift of charity, the very bond of peace and of all virtues, without which whosoever liveth is counted dead before Thee; Grant this for Thine only Son Jesus Christ's Sake. Amen.—(Book of Common Prayer).

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services: the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others.)

Opening Prayer:

Deepen, O Lord, the stillness of our inmost thoughts, and refresh us with the quiet springs of Thine eternity; that we may know Thy peace which passeth understanding, and love Thee with an everlasting love; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Bible Reading: I Samuel 2:1-9

The Sermon:

How did the saints get to be saints? We do well to ask ourselves that question, for November first is All Saints' Day, when we remember them with loving gratitude before God. We get a clue to the answer in the above Bible reading, in Hannah's prayer, where she muses, "He raiseth the poor out of the dust . . . He will keep the feet of His saints . . . for by strength shall no man prevail." Hannah was wise enough to know that the saints have to struggle, and that the dust of their striving rises about them and often overshadows them. She knew that, of their own strength, no man or woman could ever be lifted up out of that darkness into saintly character. She knew that something besides the strength of man is needed.

Two children were overheard talking about the death of their grandmother. The five-year-old girl was asking her seven-year-old brother how "grandma went to God." "Well", said the boy, "it happened this way: first grandma reached up as far as she could; then God began to reach down and down. When their hands touched, He took her." That is a true parable of life. The choice souls whom we remember as saints are those who, year after year, "reached up and up" towards God, and His will for them. They were the people who remembered to "think on these things"—the Christ-taught things, the things of God. And, as they persisted in reaching up, with all their being, God reached down until His love touched them, and refined them into precious gold, and made them the choice lights of their generation. There are no "self-made" saints—for it takes both the eager up-reach of a person, and the down-reaching compassion of God, to work this miracle of heaven on earth.

Perhaps you have been deeply discouraged about your life. There were times when every one of your saints was also plunged deep in the blackness of discouragement. But they knew the way out, and they left it an open secret for you to see. Like Saul on the Road to Damascus, like Peter behind prison walls, they kept reaching toward the final source of power. And they were ever rewarded by those strong, down-reaching hands that drew them up into the light once more.

Closing Prayer:

Almighty and everlasting God, Who dost enkindle the flames of Thy love in the hearts of the saints; Grant to us, Thy humble servants, the same faith and power of love; that as we rejoice in their triumphs, we may profit by their examples; through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.—(Book of Common Prayer)

SPIRITUAL HEALING

The rector has been conscious for some time of the need of an additional service of healing for those who are unable to attend the regular Thursday Healing Service at 12:30 P. M. Beginning Thursday, November 6th there will be two services on Thursdays, 12:30 P. M. and 5:30 P. M.

Religion has a message for the whole person and for the whole of life. The Church of Christ is interested in the soundness of men's bodies and minds, as well as in their souls. It wants to help strong people grow stronger and it wants to help weak, ineffective and psychologically divided people to find their full selves.

The home call came to Mrs. Katharine L. Edsalll on October 24th. While we are sorry for her passing from us, we are glad that she has been delivered from the body of her suffering, and for her abundant entrance into the better life with God. We are glad to claim her as a friend, and are grateful for her goodness and patience under the most trying conditions. May God rest her soul in peace.

YOUNG WORKING PEOPLE and those just out of school are cordially invited to attend the Young People's Club every Wednesday, 8:30 P. M. in the Community House. On November 5th there will be a short, important monthly business meeting followed by dancing, ping pong and refreshments.

VICTORY TO LIFE

Most people with whom I have talked appear to have missed completely a recent and most amazing news item. It was reported by a creditable agricultural scientist on the scene and it is that the crops in the Nagasaki neighborhood have been phenomenal this year. The wheat crop is twice the normal yield. The cotton crop has trebled, pumpkins, tomatoes, sugar beets, eggplants and other garden produce have borne a fifty per cent increase. Sweet potatoes, planted in May, were ripe for harvest in July. Some crops bore two fruits where only one blossom had appeared.

Nagasaki is one of the areas on which the atom bomb wrought a vast human, as well as material destruction.

Scientists will of course proceed to examine cautiously the relationship between the atom bomb and these bumper crops, but while we await their verdict we are justified, if the facts be true, in allowing our minds and spirits to speculate on this phenomenon.

Has it been that the blood of the slaughtered has so enriched the soil as to produce this beneficience from nature, or has atomic energy some rarely stimulated power?

Is it a divine answer—that, where man has wrought his most ruthless destruction, the processes of God have begun immediately to offset death with life?

Is this a call from the Father of all mankind to turn our attention from atomic energy to give victory to life?

Whatever it may be—and time alone will tell—the Christian heart will rejoice that to the survivors of Nagasaki is given this boon that the wrath of man is not the last word of the universe.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services: the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others.)

Opening Prayer:

O Thou that enlightenest every man that cometh into the world, enlighten our hearts with the brightness of Thy Grace, that we may ponder and love those things that are acceptable unto Thee. Amen.

Bible Reading: II Kings 2: 1-9

The Sermon:

Elisha had been a faithful servant of his master Elijah. Now, as the end drew near for Elijah, he asked Elisha what farewell gift he most desired. And Elisha answered, "Let a double portion of thy spirit be upon me." In other words, a repeated portion of his master's inner spirit—he wanted to be like Elijah. If you read on through the life of Elisha, you will find him walking devotedly in the other prophet's steps, even repeating many of his actual deeds; and you may come to the conclusion that Elisha was an imitator. And you will be right, for he was just that. But if you look down on Elisha for being an imitator, you will be wrong.

After all, very few of us have much originality, except the geniuses. We run-of-the-mill folk sometimes feel that we are doing something new and original, only to discover that many others have been ahead of us. The wisest human beings are those who open their hearts and minds to the great lives that tower above the crowd, and learn from them. Elisha had this wisdom. He had the high common sense to imitate a great man. In his humbleness of heart, he looked about him for a blueprint of life worth living, and Elijah was the best life he had ever seen. So he imitated the best he knew, and the noble courage of Elijah lived again in his faithful disciple.

Furthermore, Elisha was more than a "copy-cat". He did not just try to go through the motions of Elijah. He asked that the living spirit of his master might dwell in him; that he might live by the same light of God, that he might be like his great teacher. And all through his days he walked in close company with that noble spirit, kept him ever before his mind's eye; each day drank deep of the memories of his love and courage and God-guided character.

Each of us has a few choice souls we remember and cherish. Joseph Fort Newton, in his autobiography, tells of his mother, who was very loyal to her loved ones, refusing to criticize them or judge them even when they seemed mistaken. At those moments, her son relates, "she could be silent in seven languages"—a rare and gracious quality worth remembering. He speaks also of a man of God he had looked up to as a boy, "a man whose life was sweet with certainties, and rich with wisdom"—another person who thus lived on in his heart as worth following. After all, these are simply qualities of Jesus which we have recognized embodied in the lives of loved ones—the "judge not" qualities in that mother, and the "sweet certainties" of the man of God.

There is little chance that you or I are going to be original. Hence, take a leaf from Elisha's life—copy the best you know, the inner spirit of the choicest living you have seen. And that means—imitate Jesus Christ, the Saviour of mankind.

Closing Prayer:

Living or dying, Lord, I would be Thine; keep me Thine own forever, and draw me day by day nearer to Thyself, until I be wholly filled with Thy love, and fitted to behold Thee, face to face. Amen.—(E. B. Pusey)

Ye that have spent the silent night In sleep and quiet rest, And joy to see the light That riseth in the East. Now lift your hearts, your voices raise, Your morning tribute bring, And pay a grateful song of praise To Heaven's Almighty King. And as this gloomy night did last But a little space; As heavenly day Doth show his pleasant face. A CENTURY AND A QUARTER

A century and a quarter anniversary is a great event in the life of a parish. No living member was here when the parish started in 1823; no living member will be here one hundred and twenty-five years from now. So this is a significant celebration and we want the most of it.

On Sunday morning, February 29, we shall open our week of celebration with an impressive service at eleven o'clock with the presentation of a class of confirmees for the ancient and beautiful rite of the laying on of hands. The preacher will be the Bishop of Pennsylvania, the Rt. Rev. Oliver J. Hart, D.D., LL.D.

In the evening at eight o'clock, two outstanding clergymen representing two divergent schools of thought within the Episcopal Church will speak on the life and work of Dr. Carl E. Grammer, beloved Rector of St. Stephen's Church for thirty-one years and Rector-Emeritus for eight years. Dr. Robert O. Kevin, Professor of Old Testament at the Virginia Theological School and one-time assistant to Dr. Grammer will be one of the speakers, and Dr. Leicester C. Lewis, Vicar of St. Luke's Chapel, New York, an old friend of the Grammer family will be the other speaker.

On Wednesday evening in the Community House there will be a parish dinner for our own people. We feel that this ought to be on our own premises rather than in a hotel and arrangements are being made so that this will be possible. It will be an affair for our parish family and we hope that every one will wish to be present. We are extremely privileged to be able to announce two exceptional guest-speakers: Gouverneur P. Hance, S.B.B., Founder of St. Barnabas' Brotherhood, a lay Order in our Church and the founder of St. Barnabas' Free Home for Incurable Men and Boys near Pittsburgh. Brother Hance was brought up in St. Stephen's and lived on Girard Street opposite the Church. He lived across the street from Dr. McConnell and used to play with his two sons. Brother Hance has a thrilling story to tell of how God has used him in developing a great work. The other speaker is our own beloved and distinguished lay leader in the Diocese and Accounting Warden of St. Stephen's Church, Mr. I. Smith Raspin. Mr. Raspin will tell us of the outstanding laymen of St. Stephen's Church. Information about reservations for this dinner will be sent out in the near future and it is our determination to keep the cost within the reach of the whole membership of the parish.

On Sunday, March 7, we shall have a corporate communion in the early morning, followed by a breakfast for those who will stay afterwards and at 11:00 A. M. there will be a beautiful service when the memorial to Dr. Grammer will be unveiled. Philadelphia's great sculptor, Louis Milione has immortalized Dr. Grammer in marble and this outstanding addition to our many works of art will be placed on the East Wall, a worthy companion to the Saint-Gaudens' masterpiece. Dean Charles Taylor of the Cambridge Theological School will be the preacher.

No celebration of St. Stephen's Church could be complete without a recognition of the part that music has played in its history across the years, and for this reason music will be a feature of the anniversary. On Sunday evening, March 7, at eight o'clock an outstanding musical service in memory of David Wood, Doctor of Music and Organist and Choir Director of St. Stephen's for 46 years will take place. The music for the evening will consist entirely of Dr. Wood's own compositions. Dr. Edward E. Allen of Boston, Director Emeritus of the Perkins Institute for the Blind will give the address.

ANNIVERSARY EXPENSES

Members of the parish will appreciate that the elaborate plans for the Anniversary will involve considerable expense. We propose to print a history of the parish, and a booklet containing the four church services for free distribution to our members. There will be the expenses of our invited guest-speakers, most of whom come from a distance. The musical service which will crown our anniversary will require an investment in soloists and musicians. And in order that the parish may derive full benefit from as much public attention as possible, there will necessarily be the cost of advertising and publicity on an unusual scale. We shall spend no money foolishly or wastefully, but the costs of having the kind of celebration we want will not be small.

A "ST. STEPHEN'S ANNIVERSARY FUND" has been established with Mr. I. Smith Raspin as the Treasurer, and contributions from members of the parish are now being received. The Anniversary Committee will be grateful for gifts at this time, and the names of all donors will be inscribed in the parish annals. Kindly make checks out to "ST. STEPHEN'S CHURCH ANNIVERSARY FUND" or mark your cash contributions clearly for this purpose when you send them in.

A PILGRIMAGE

For those who wish to know something about the history and interesting details of the Church, Mr. I. Smith Raspin will conduct a pilgrimage after the morning service. Those who wish to join the group are asked to meet in the front pews.

We acknowledge with thanks the following contributors to the Benevolent Society; The Misses Davis, Mrs. Jesse Darlington, Mrs. Charlotte Nodine Weiser, Miss Betty Bonneville, Dr. Herbert Old, Mrs. F. A HUNGRY WORLD

The most important challenge facing the American people today is that of sustaining the free peoples of the world. The forecasts for this winter ahead are heavy with dreadful foreboding. Crop failures, fuel shortages, economic and social maladjustment—these will impose grievous burdens of suffering.

The appeal of human need should be enough to rouse us—and to any conscientious Christian it will be—but there are other reasons of great weight.

If hunger and cold stalk Europe this winter, and if malnutrition and disease continue to sap the vitality of the people, political and social chaos will be inevitable. Amidst such chaos, how many of the free nations can escape transformation into police states? How many people can resist totalitarianism?

And what will happen to the United Nations if the free states of Europe become police states? What chance will remain for international co-operation and for peace?

In America we are in the grip of inflation. The price of certain essential foods in adequate quantity has risen above the budget limitations of many of our families. Costs in the archaic building industry have brought home building almost to a standstill. An unprecedented number of gainfully employed people have greatly increased our domestic demand. In the face of this, selfish interests, narrowly nationalistic influences, and cheap politicians avid for power, are preaching economic isolation, blaming high prices for the world's hunger, bidding the American people to forget the world's need and serve their immediate interests.

Surely the challenge is flung fully in the face of the moral forces of America. Shall we realistically grapple with our responsibility toward world need, ration ourselves, engage in all out production, and do our utmost? Shall we make a half-hearted gesture towards a hungry world or shall we turn our back upon it?

The path we take will be the measure of the real value of America in the sight of God and of history.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others.)

Opening Prayer:

Most gracious God, enlighten our souls with the brightness of Thy Presence, that we may both know Thy will, and be enabled to perform it. AMEN.
—(Roman Breviary, adapted.)

Bible Reading: Psalm 121.

The Sermon:

In the days of old there was once a man who used to get hemmed in by little things. The orneriness of his neighbors got on his nerves. The pettiness of the local politicians annoyed him. The smallness of his own life and his daily work troubled his peace of mind. Then one day he remembered to raise his vision above little things to the eternal truths, and the eternal God. It made a new man of him. So he wrote it down in that song, "I will life up mine eyes unto the hills."

In that song you have the simple solution of an ancient problem. It is so easy to get one's whole being fixed on the tiny circle close about one; become burdened with immediate woes; and mull them over rebelliously until one "has the miseries", and becomes a most unpleasant person to live with. One day John Wesley was walking with a friend who was filled with doubt and anxiety. "I don't know what I shall do with all this fear and worry", he moaned. At that moment Wesley noticed a cow looking over a stone wall. Do you know why that cow is looking over that wall?" he asked. "No; what has that to do with my troubles?" he grumbled. "I'll tell you", said Wesley. "She's looking over the fence because she can't see through it. That's what you will have to do with your wall of fear and trouble—look over it, and beyond it."

Most of us live in a smallish world—whether we dwell out along the country roads, in a busy little town, or in a tiny bit of a great city. Most of us play a very small part in a great enterprise—whether we work as one of millions of farming folk, or in a corner of a huge factory, or do our bit in a church which is just a handful of souls in the mighty Kingdom of God. Sometimes we grow bitter and disgusted over our unimportance—until we learn the secret of the Ninety-First Psalm.

An old man was stationmaster of a little railroad station in the West Country of England. It was his pride to keep that station and the tiny plot of ground around it spick-and-span. One day a London train was held up there for half an hour, and a man stepped off to stretch his legs. He saw the old stationmaster tidying up things, and inquired with a quiet smile, "Hello, there! Is this Paddington Station, London?" "No, sir", said the old man, straightening up from his work, "but it's on the same line." He was proud to belong to a great railroad system, and that honest pride kept his part of the system clean and beautiful. Your life is set on the great Highway of God. Live with care and energy, my friend—for He has entrusted a part of the line to you. "Lift up your eyes!"

Closing Prayer:

Almighty God, Whose glory the heavens are telling, and Whose greatness all feeling and thinking creatures everywhere herald; to Thee belongeth glory, honour, might, greatness and magnificence, now and forever, to the ages of ages, through Jesus Christ our Lord. AMEN.—(Liturgy of St. James, 2nd Century)

PROCESSIONAL HYMN 578 .....Pleyel
KYRIE .....Willan
ANTHEM—"O Saviour Sweet" .....J. S. Bach

A Saviour sweet, O Saviour kind,
Thy Father's will has all Thy mind,
From Heaven Thou hast vouchsafed to come,
With men, as Man to make Thy home,
So Saviour sweet, O Saviour kind.

O Saviour sweet, O Saviour kind,
The way to please Thee we would find,
Whate'er we have, it comes of Thee,
O let us ever near Thee be,
O Saviour sweet, O Saviour kind.

Thee with tender care I'll cherish,
Live to Thee, die to Thee;
Thus I shall not perish,
But with Thee abide for ever,
Joyfully, peacefully,
Where life endeth never.

BENEVOLENT SOCIETY

Last year the Benevolent Society sent 4,850 articles to seven major hospitals in Philadelphia. The material for these garments was furnished by the hospitals, and the Benevolent Society paid women to sew these articles in their homes. These needy women were paid $541.01 for this vast amount of sewing last year.

In one hospital alone, Jefferson, the following articles were made: 237 patients' gowns, 62 small children's gowns, 62 large children's gowns, 349 red center towels, 346 tea towels, 965 masks, 740 R. long sleeve gowns, 49 housekeeping aprons, 72 kitchen aprons, 32 long flannel children's gowns, 149 small C.D.R. tray covers, 72 breast binders, 77 blue center towels, 95 diapers, 36 short sleeve gowns and 190 operating room towels. A total of 2867.

Five hundred dollars will just about cover expenses for the season 1947-48. Your contribution will help the needy women who do the sewing and also the hospitals who desperately need the articles. The enclosed envelope is for your convenience.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others.)

Opening Prayer:

Visit, O Lord, this household with Thy mercy, and remove far from it the snares of the enemy; let Thy Holy Presence dwell in it to preserve us in peace, and let Thy blessing be upon us evermore; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.
—(Grey Book)

Bible Reading: Acts 17: 22-28

The Sermon:

If you should take a trip to Chichicastenango in Guatemala, you would find there a most interesting monument. At the top of a wooded mountain you would come upon a primitive stone idol, perhaps five thousand years old. You would find, at its base, fresh offerings of strewn flower petals and pine needles, and a fire smouldering on a crude altar. The people still worship that old idol. And, carved of the same stone, standing right against the idol, you would find the Cross of Christ!

Those Mayan people of Guatemala are very much like the Greeks whom St. Paul visited. On the famous hill at Athens, St. Paul found many altars to many gods; and then, just for luck, an altar to "an unknown god." Down the long years hosts of people have bowed their heads in worship of several gods at the same time, being too lazy-hearted to surrender themselves, heart and soul, to the Maker of the Universe.

As old Elijah put it, "How long will ye go limping between two opinions? If the Lord be God, follow Him." That challenge was needed by the Greeks; it is needed by the Mayans; it is certainly needed by ourselves. We worship God, but we also build in our hearts an altar to the power of money. There is a Cross of self-sacrifice in our hearts but, right close to it, an idol of selfishness; we say, "I believe in God's way of love, but of course I've got to look out for myself." And sometimes the old idol towers up bigger than our belief in God!

One reason why our present world is so tragic is our split loyalty, our half-hearted trust in Almighty God. Oh yes, we believe in an organization of united nations, but we still must have the biggest armed force in the world. Of course we believe in God, but we are not often willing to seek His will, and obey it. In as perilous a world as ours today, we had best quit this double-worship; had best stake our whole future on the God Who is truly Almighty. So I propose a very simple habit for each of us in the days and months ahead—just to ask ourselves, again and again, "Is this God's way?" Ask ourselves which path ahead is the one He desires us to take; and then take it! Do it for a year, and the world about you will have a new joy, and new patience, and a new peace.

Closing Prayer:

Everlasting Father, the radiance of faithful souls, Who didst bring the nations to Thy light and kings to the brightness of Thy rising; fill, we beseech Thee, the world with Thy glory and show Thyself unto all nations; through Him Who is the true light and the bright and morning star, Jesus Christ, Thy Son, our Lord. AMEN.

CONFIRMATION

Bishop Hart will visit St. Stephen's Church in connection with the 125th Anniversary of the consecration of our church on Sunday morning, February 29th. His visit will mark the beginning of a week of major events in the celebration of this important milestone in the history of our parish.

We are, therefore, giving early notice of this impressive service of the ancient and beautiful rite of the laying on of hands. The Rector will begin instruction immediately after Christmas. Meanwhile he would be glad to have the names of any who are thinking of being confirmed this year, or to confer with anybody who wishes to know more about the meaning of Confirmation.

Last year we presented to Bishop Hart the largest class in thirty years. We feel confident, that, if every member of St. Stephen's will prayerfully, and conscientiously endeavor to lead some one to this important decision that we shall be able to present even a larger class this year. Our age is desperate. Statesmen are agonizing to stave off world calamity. What can we do? The Church says: "Undergird the world with vital Christianity." For that the Church needs genuine Christians. Your one real opportunity is to bring some one to Confirmation. An earnest humble communicant, alive to what God wants him and the Church to do, should be the finest citizen both of our good Land and of the Heavenly Country. That's your part and mine. Trust God for the rest.

A PILGRIMAGE

For those who wish to know something about the history and interesting details of the Church, Mr. I. Smith Raspin will conduct a pilgrimage after the morning service. Those who wish to join the group are asked to meet in the front pews.

Mrs. David L. German will appear with the Cosmopolitan Opera Company at the Academy of Music, October 8th. Mrs. German will sing the role of Amneris in "Aida".

Miss Eleanor Reed was graduated from Hahnemann Hospital as an X-Ray Technician on September 26th. Eleanor joins the many Burd School graduates who are making their helpful contribution to a better world.

The Girls' Friendly Society will open their new year of activity on Monday, October 6th with a supper served at six o'clock on the top floor of the Community House. All girls and young women are cordially invited to attend. Reservations, however, for the supper must be made in advance.

It is with the greatest pleasure that we tell you that St. Stephen's Church has over-subscribed its quota to the Presiding Bishop's Fund for World Relief by 55 per cent. Our Diocese has raised $102,271.97, which overpays its share by $1,010.97. The Episcopal Church has promised to raise three million dollars in three years for World Relief. The first year of our work has been a great success. Our Diocese has given more, to date, than any other Diocese in our Church.

This work must go on. Special envelopes for this program will be sent to all our people in a few weeks. We will also continue to receive and ship material aid. We have bags for shipping on hand in the Church Office for your use.

St. Stephen's contributed through its friends and members $1,404.30, besides many hundreds of pounds of clothing.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others.)

Opening Prayer:

O God, the might of all them that put their trust in Thee, grant that we may be more than conquerors over all things that make war upon our souls, that at the last we may enter into the perfect peace of Thy Presence; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.—(Roman Breviary)

Bible Reading: Revelations 2: 8-11

The Sermon:

During the war there was a little old French woman who came with her faded old umbrella to a field hospital. Day after day, she would stand, shielding the eyes of the wounded who were brought in on stretchers. The old woman could not do much to win that tremendous war, but she could do this. She had learned the lesson of doing what she could; of humble faithfulness.

Today our world is beset with towering nightmares. Hunger and homelessness still hound millions. Palestine and India seethe with burning hate. Blind guides of the blind still play muddle-headed power politics. Paganism swaggers through our own land, bidding people to eat, drink, and be merry, for tomorrow we do not die. Hosts of honest, working people are troubled by the action of our politicians who have brought on tragic inflation and the possibility if not, the certainty of a depression. What can we do, in the face of all these ghostly specters?

We can follow the bidding of the Spirit to the church in Smyrna, "Be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee the crown of life." We can do as the old French woman did; do what we can, and do it every day. We can do as Ruth did—she stuck to Naomi, through thick and thin; "but Ruth clave unto her," saying, "Whither thou goest, I will go; and where thou lodgest, I will lodge; thy people shall be my people, and thy God my God." It is as simple as that. God expects faithfulness of us, doing all that we can in His Name each day. And He promises that, if we do this, He will give us "the crown of life." By switching our minds from fretful worries to deeds of friendship and love, we become eternally alive, losing ourselves in His way of living.

"God broke the years to hours and days,
That hour by hour and day by day, just going on a little way,
We might be able all along, to keep our spirit poised and strong.
Should all the weight of life, and all the future, rife
With woe and struggle, meet us face to face, in one small place,
We could not go, our hearts would faint, and so
God lays a little on us every day; Never, on the year's long way,
Will burdens bear so deep, Or pathways rise so steep
But we can struggle on, If by God's power,
We learn to bear our burden hour by hour."—(George Kingle)

Closing Prayer:

Grant, O Lord, that we may know Thee, love Thee, and rejoice in Thee; and if in this life we cannot do these things fully, grant that we may at least make progress in them from day to day, for Christ's sake. Amen.—(St. Anslem, 1033-1109 A.D.)

Commencing this Sunday, September 28, 1947, the services at St. Stephen's Church will be held on STANDARD TIME.

The Church School will hold its first session for the new year Sunday morning, at 9: 45 A. M. We look forward to seeing all our officers, teachers and pupils Sunday morning, that we may together begin a very useful and successful year in our Sunday School work.

Mr. I. Smith Raspin will give an address "What a Layman Can Do to Support His Bishop" at a Conference for all the Vestrymen of the North Philadelphia Convocation at St. Simeon's Church on October 1st.

We wish to thank Mrs. Benjamin Reath, Miss Mae Miller, Mrs. C. Bilse and Mr. Walter A. Steele for their subscriptions to the Church Bulletin.

"COME TO THE FAIR"

The Women of the Hard of Hearing Auxiliary are giving their second annual AUTUMN BAZAAR in St. Stephen's Community House, Thursday, October 2nd, from 10: 00 A. M. to 10: 00 P. M. A tasty luncheon will be served from 12: 00 to 2: 00 P. M. For dinner there will be a Baked Ham Dinner at $1.25 per plate. The decorations will be blue and white with silver stars. Picturesque Booths will sell homemade cakes, candies, jams, jellies, aprons, handkerchiefs and novelties. It's worth looking at. It's worth attending. All are welcome.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others.)

Opening Prayer:

O GOD, mercifully grant that the fire of Thy love may burn up in us all things that displease Thee, and make us meet for Thy heavenly kingdom. AMEN.
(Roman Breviary)

Bible Reading: John 14: 1-6

The Sermon:

Leslie Weatherhead, the English preacher, points out one way of having a sound sense of values is to realize where we are going. When the steamship Titanic was going down, he relates, a certain titled and wealthy woman, who had been allotted a space in one of the life-boats, rushed back to her stateroom and snatched up, not her jewelry, but three oranges. An hour before the accident, diamonds were more valuable to her than oranges, but not now when she was embarking on a journey when diamonds could do nothing, but when oranges could satisfy both hunger and thirst. He continues:

"Well, we are on a journey, too. Where we are going, diamonds won't buy anything—nor money, nor fame, nor sex, nor beauty. What do we value most—remembering that we are off on a journey to a world completely spiritual? It would be hell to be at an endless concert, and not to be able to appreciate music; hell, to be at an everlasting banquet, and not to be able to eat anything; hell, to be in heaven, and not to have developed any taste for the things of the spirit, when the things of the spirit are the only things that remain."

We live today in a pagan world. In the average American community not more than fifteen out of every hundred people are in any sense active members of a Christian Church. It is fashionable to live for the satisfaction of the body, for thrills and excitement, to dress smartly and have a new car. Sometimes one wonders where these people—pleasant and attractive people, lots of them—think they are going! They are living for the moment, on shallow pleasures which are exhausted so soon that they have to set right out and seek new ones. But the real tragedy of their lives is that they are letting their spiritual faculties shrivel up through lack of use. They are losing their ability to enjoy the things of the spirit, to lay hold of the eternal satisfactions that never wear out. They are like that woman who had given all her looking to dresses and hats and "keeping up" with people; so when she stood at a famous spot in Switzerland, with all the breath-taking panorama of the Alps spread before her, she grumbled, "They said there was a view up here. Where is it?"

It makes a vast difference where you are going. You are going to need oranges instead of diamonds. As you grow older, and your physical satisfactions inevitably grow less, see to it that you train yourself for the more permanent delights which will be available on that part of your journey. Since, when we leave this earthly scene, we shall have to leave our bodies behind, start feeding your spirit now on the truths which Jesus taught; start learning to find delight in the joys He marked as abiding. For the only sure journey into the "many mansions" of God is to follow the Way, the Truth, and the Life.

Closing Prayer:

O LORD, Who seest that all hearts are empty except Thou fill them, and all desires balked except they crave after Thee; give us light and grace to seek Thee and find Thee, that we may be Thine and Thou mayest be ours forever. AMEN.
(Christiana Rossetti)

WANTED: A FIRE?

If St. Stephen's Church were to be burned to the ground, all of us would mourn and consider it a great calamity. If we had a mortgage on the building of $100,000 or so, that would also be considered a calamity. If either of these things came to pass, what would we do?

The answer is plain, and is to be found in the experience of many a parish which has faced such calamity. We should go to work with all our brains and strength to build a new church, if the first were true, or to get rid of the mortgage, if we were saddled with that. In doing either of these things we should find a new appreciation of what our church means to us, and a new, intense sense of fellowship in working for the church. Many a parish has been knit together by calamity.

Fortunately we have had no fire. Fortunately we have no debt of any kind. None of us is crazy enough to set fire to the church to get a richer fellowship, or to waste the resources of the parish so that we may have a mortgage. Yet we need a fire, we need a sense that we have a debt which must be paid. We need a spiritual fire that will make us aware of how much our church really means to us. And the debt we need to recognize is our debt to spread the Gospel to the unchurched.

Old stuff! you think. But, please, do not dismiss it so casually. Why does St. Stephen's Church exist? Is it here to be used when we have a particular need for it? Yes, it is. It is here when we need a Baptism, or a Sunday School, or a Confirmation, or a wedding, or a burial. It is here when we feel like hearing a sermon, or receiving Communion or of saying a prayer in time of joy or distress, when, in short we need instruction or worship. It is here, when we need the pastoral counsel of spiritual help which only a minister is trained to give. It is here for us when we need it. Is that all it is here for?

The answer to the last question is found in the history of the Christian Church. From the very beginning the Church has been an Expanding Church. We all like to belong to a growing organization, but that is not the reason why the Church seeks to expand. The real reason is that we care so much for Christ that we heed His command to spread the Christian life to all people. If the Church does not do this it will not be done.

In recent years St. Stephen's Church has definitely proved that it wants a big part in carrying on the traditional mission of the Church. Our missionary giving has more than doubled in the last five years. We are raising a large sum to help the needy and the work of the Church in Europe and Asia. That is wonderful. Now the time has come, has it not? to look to our own parish as a religious power. Are we content with what it is doing? Are we satisfied with the number of worshippers in church on Sundays or weekdays? Has not the time come to make a determined effort to get more people to go to church regularly?

I ask two things of you. Will you bring somebody else to church with you, if you have been coming regularly; or, if you have not been coming regularly, will you begin to do that? The second request is that you will send me topics or texts on which you would like to have me preach, so that I may better meet your needs.

Let's have a fire of that sort! Let's pay off our debt to the people of Philadelphia! Let's remove the calamity of a partly filled church.

SAPOLIO, BORAX AND THE CHURCH

Not so very long ago Sapolio and 20 Mule Team Borax dominated their respective fields. The manufacturers did not feel it necessary to spend any money to promote their products—everyone used them, so why make any sacrifice in profits to do any advertising.

They were good products and anyone with common sense KNEW they were good. But some new manufacturers came into the field and they realized that if they were to make inroads on the market they would have to sacrifice profits and use some of their income for promotional work until they had captured some of Sapolio's and 20 Mule Team Borax's followers.

So they went out and broadcast the story of their commodities—but Sapolio was not alarmed—20 Mule Team Borax was not alarmed—and they just kept making the same old product in the same old way, feeling more secure in their ability to maintain their position in their fields. Now, here's a $64.00 question. WHERE ARE SAPOLIO AND 20 MULE TEAM BORAX TODAY!!

Along about the time we declared our independence from England, the Episcopal Church dominated the non-Roman field. The Church leaders did not feel it necessary to promote their Church; most everyone who was anybody was a member of the Church. It was a good Church and people recognized it as such. All you had to do was to look around and you'd see that it was a leader. Why, most of the signers of the Declaration of Independence were Churchmen (Episcopalians)—our first President was a Churchman—in fact, all the leading men in most towns were Churchmen.

But about that time people began to move back into the frontiers—and new denominations began to spring up. The leaders of these denominations recognized that if they were to make inroads on the Episcopal Church they would have to make sacrifices. They would have to put up with hardships in many respects in order to get their message across.

But these people were willing to sacrifice for their product—and they gave of their time and means while too many of the Episcopal Church felt secure that our Church was a good Church and there was no need to get excited about the new-comers.

J. B. Bernardin, in his "An Introduction to the Episcopal Church" says, "most of the clergy were lazy"—perhaps he could have added, "and so were most of the laity!!"

In the meantime our environment changed—whereas—fifty and more years ago the Church provided the most interesting places to go, even if you were bored with the service, we gradually found new attractions were competing for the people's time and money. Movies, Sunday concerts, sports, etc. made going to Church a real hardship to many.

In some instances the Church did things to compete with these new influences, but for the most part it sold the "same old product in the same old way."

And that brings up another $64.00 question—where is the Episcopal Church today!!

Numerically, we are way down the list and we should not be. We know that our service has more dignity and sincerity in it than most. It has a background of tradition that makes for beauty and closeness to GOD.

One advertising expert, Bruce Barton, said that given an advertising fund, he would take the Episcopal Church and make it great because it has everything.

"O.K.", you say, "So what?"

First, I realize that a small group of Churchmen can not revolutionize things in the country. BUT we can and should do something where we happen to live. I also realize that no matter how determined we might be, we shall never succeed 100%, but we surely can try!

As Churchmen, we should do something for our parish and diocese and thereby have some reason for being, or we should just quit. I, for one, do not think we should quit, but we should sieze the opportunity given us to exert our influence so that we can in future years look back on a better Church and feel the deep satisfaction of knowing that we had a little part in making it so.

We should start with ourselves—let's be Churchmen in fact as well as in name. Let us serve with our lives and not with our lips. Let us be known as doers.

We do not have to walk around with a long, sad face; we need not give up anything, but we should add a few attributes. One step we should take is to make a little sacrifice of time and start getting some people who are not church-goers to get a "demonstration" of our Church.

One leader in the automobile industry has a standard "ten mule demonstration ride" that is given to all prospects, and they throw the book at them during the ride.

Let's have a "three Sunday" or "four Sunday demonstration ride"—and get someone whom we think would get some good out of our Church to try it out for three or four Sundays.

Let's look at our Church and then go and look at some others—and then let's do something about it. Let's sacrifice a little time to give this demonstration to a few people.

Summer months are lean months for the Church Treasury. Please bear this in mind as you bring your church envelope contributions up to date.

We wish to thank Miss Gertrude Bergen for her subscription to the Church Bulletin.

The Wednesday Night Club for young people will have its opening meeting after the summer holidays on Wednesday, September 17th, at 8:00 P. M. Mrs. Linton, the Adult Advisor, has prepared an interesting program for the Fall Season, and all young people and young married couples are cordially invited to attend. The Wednesday-Niters meet on the third floor of the Community House.

The Church extends a cordial welcome to all who are worshipping here today. New persons in the congregation are requested to use the cards in the pew racks to record their names and addresses for the information of the Rector.

EDITORIAL

Among the doctrines of the Church, which receive in general only casual attention in these years, is one from which we can learn a profound lesson today. It is the doctrine of the humiliation of Christ. He, being God, despised not to become man. Born in a manger, He took upon Himself the form of a servant. He went about doing good. He bore on his heart the burdens and the sorrows of the people. His pulpit was the market place, the wayside, the open field. At the end of the road was death on a cross—but out of that death issued life for mankind.

Jesus identified himself with the people.

Nowadays, one hears often in church circles the pious wish for a new evangelism, adequate for our wistful and fearful times. One heard such an expression recently from a clergyman who has a summer home and a winter home, but who thought that the issue of "Housing" did not concern the Church.

It is such a precise illustration as this that indicates the need for the Church to realize the significance of the doctrine of Christ's humiliation. If the Church is to be the body of Christ, it must will to use its body as He used His. It must lay aside its pride and dignity and identify itself with the people. It must carry in its heart their sorrows and their burdens. It must walk the streets, enter the by-ways and tarry in the market place. It must be the champion of brotherhood and justice, in deed as well as in word.

Nearly every utterance which fell from the lips of Christ grew out of a service which He had rendered.

A Church which gives itself in Christ's name to humanity will find its evangel spontaneously emerging and eagerly received.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others)

Opening Prayer:

O God, forasmuch as our strength is in Thee, mercifully grant that Thy Holy Spirit may in all things direct and rule our hearts through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen. (Gelasian Sacramentary, 492 A. D.)

Bible Reading: Matthew 10:32-39.

The Sermon:

Dr. Bowie tells how he once received a letter from a small boy, ending, "I hope you will live all of your life." It was war-time, and what the boy had in mind was the hope that his friend would not be killed in action. But the words stuck in Dr. Bowie's mind, kept sounding in his thoughts until they set him to writing a book, "On Being Alive", in which he considered whether he was really alive—alive to people, alive to God.

He shows that the only way to be "alive" to God is to give our strength and dreams to Him, to "lose" our lives in God. This means being willing to get rid of the idea that we own ourselves, and can do what we please with our days. It means that we admit, at last, that God is wiser than we are, and that our only chance of living up to the best is to yield our wills to the Best. No one can argue you into this. No one can prove it to you by logic. But take a long look at the lives you have known that lived with a real desire to please God. How did they work out? You know the answer—they lived all their lives; were as full of hope and humor and love at seventy as they were at seventeen. They had lost their lives in God, and, ever after, were overflowing with life.

He shows that we can be "alive" to people only by giving ourselves to them. Dr. Clarence Horner puts it, "In your neighborhood a child is ill. You hear of the illness and say, "I'm sorry." But are you sorry enough to go to the father and mother of the sick child and try to comfort them—to do little acts of kindness in their distress? Do you give yourself away with your sorrow? We all appreciate words of sympathy, but it is the person who backs his words with himself who really comforts us. It is the person who "does something about it" who saves us from our despair. As Jesus taught us, only by sinking ourselves in the lives of others do we really find life at all, and discover how rich and glorious it can be.

Some one has said, "Let me make this suggestion about giving yourself away. When the impulse is fresh, act fast and carry it out. Do not say, "I'll write that letter tomorrow. I'll make that call next week. If you do, perhaps the letter will never be written, nor will the call be made." Wherever the Master was, acts of love were carried out "straightway!"

Children are not afraid to give themselves away. On the warm impulse of love, they will give away their most prized toy. Instead of restraining them, we older people had best learn their secret of abundant life. Only by learning it can we find the fullness of life promised by Jesus.

Closing Prayer:

Almighty and everlasting God, grant that our wills be ever meekly subject to Thy will, and that our hearts be ever honestly ready to serve Thee. Amen.—(Roman Breviary).

The Sunday and Week-day Services will be under the direction of the Rev. Gustav C. Meckling during the Rector's absence.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others)

Opening Prayer:

O Everlasting God, let the light of Thine eternity now fall upon my passing days. O holy God, let the light of Thy perfect righteousness fall upon my sinful ways. O most merciful God, let the light of Thy love pierce to the most secret corners of my heart and overcome the darkness of sin within me. Create in me a clean heart, O God; and renew a right spirit within me. Through Jesus Christ. Amen.

Bible Reading:—St. Matthew 16: 13-28

The Sermon:

June 29th is St. Peter's Day. St. Peter was a leader full of initiative when occasion for action arose, but he was not a pioneer in the sense of having a wide vision and an eager desire to venture into unknown regions. He was impulsive and one who not unfrequently made mistakes because of his eagerness to speak.

Peter lacked in moral courage, for he not only denied his Lord thrice, but he, in after years, dissembled at Antioch. On the other hand he was honored as the leader of the Jewish Christians and held in esteem by the whole Church. His weaknesses were simply those of human frailty and were not held against him by the brethren.

The New Testament which is supposed to give a reliable and sufficient history of the early Christian Church, makes no mention of St. Peter as ever having visited Rome or exercised papal authority. There is no evidence anywhere of God ever giving a monopoly of religious privilege or authority to anyone. Peter was an example, as were also the other apostles, of the fact that God uses such human materials as are at hand for the building of His kingdom. The materials are not perfect nor permanent, but are made to do for the time being.

We are all in a strange fashion kinsmen of Simon Peter. The red blood of our common humanity flowed in the veins of this passionate soul who oscillated between the careers of a traitor and a martyr, and managed to achieve both. The dealings of Jesus with St. Peter speak of the divine purpose which broods over the world and shapes the lives of men. It is the story of the human race. It is a strange story of denials and returns, strange light and perplexing darkness, of triumph and failure, of passionate impulses behind reckless desertions. The glory and shame of it are near akin; the achievements are never safe; the failures are never final. The world is not bound by its evil; men are never doomed. Over the whole story there broods a God of untiring patience and compassion, who, when things are blackest, sends His flaming summons out over the world of men, "Follow Me."

Closing Prayer:

We give Thee thanks, O Lord for all who have taken up their own crosses and have followed Thee. For the noble army of martyrs and for all who are willing to die that others may live. For all suffering chosen for noble ends, for pain bravely endured, for temporal sorrows that have been used for the building up of eternal joys.

O Lord my God, give me grace to understand the meaning of such afflictions and disappointments as I myself am called upon to endure. Deliver me from all fretfulness. Give me a stout heart to bear my own burdens. Give me a believing heart to cast all burdens upon Thee. Amen.

MEMORIAL FLOWERS

The following persons will be remembered during the summer:

July 6, Mrs. Harry Hauger, in memory of her parents; July 13, The King's Daughters in memory of Mrs. Vanderslice; July 20th, The Rev. Alfred W. Price, in memory of his father; July 27th, Mrs. Mary McEwen, in memory of Walter McEwen; August 31, Mrs. William B. Campbell, in memory of her husband.

There are four Sundays in August available for memorial flowers. Flowers are provided for the Altar at a cost of three dollars. Those desirous of subscribing, please communicate with the secretary of the Altar Guild, Mrs. William B. Campbell.

LAST ISSUE

This is the last issue of St. Stephen's Bulletin until September. This does not mean that the activities of the Parish close also. There will be services every Sunday at 9:00 and 11:00 A. M., and 7:30 P. M. The Wednesday and Friday Noon-Day Services will continue throughout the summer. The only change will be that the Thursday Healing Services will be discontinued until September 4th. But the Rector does need a rest. It is no small task to write three sermons a week along with the weekly bulletin. He needs a little more leisure for reflection. So he counts on you to carry on without the constant reminder which this paper brings.

We acknowledge five Memorial Hymn Books from the Burd School Alumnae in memory of Eliza Howard Burd.

FROM OUR MEMBERS TO OUR VISITORS

DEAR FRIEND:

We are happy to welcome you to St. Stephen's Church. We hope you will be moved to come frequently. We know, from our own experience, that it is only through vital and habitual attendance at one particular House of Worship that God becomes real, Jesus Christ is realized as our Lord and Master, and the Spirit of God becomes a moving power within us.

We not only feel better, but we are better from attending the services in this Church, a House of God, dedicated to the moral and spiritual uplift of men and the institution of man. The chimes, the service, the music, the messages from the pulpit, all help us to grow stronger, more social in our inner attitudes and our outer activities; they give us renewed energies and loftier visions of what God wants us to be.

We deeply desire, if you have no Church Home, that you share these benefits and practice the Spirit of Jesus Christ with us.

Sign your name and write your address below and hand it to an usher.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others)

Opening Prayer:

O Lord our God, grant us grace to desire Thee with a whole heart, that so desiring Thee, we may seek and find Thee, and so finding Thee may love Thee, and loving Thee, may hate those sins which separate us from Thee, for the sake of Jesus Christ. Amen.—(Saint Anslem, 1033-1109 A. D.)

Bible Reading: II Peter 1 : 1-8

The Sermon:

A second practical way of having a true sense of values, Dr. Weatherhead says, is to stop and remind ourselves of what we cost. After all, the cost of anything is apt to indicate its value.

There is the human cost of our lives—what it has cost others to give us a life. Each of us come into this world through the travail of a mother and since that day, so much thought, and money, and strength, and love has been spent on us by those who have loved us. Just recall those who have helped you on your way, what they have done for you, what sacrifices they have made. Your human cost comes to a considerable amount, does it not! You are worth that; and, hence, are above cheap and tawdry things.

Then there is the divine cost of your life, summed up in the Cross. If you are worth His dying for, that makes you something very special. Face the picture of Calvary, and find yourself saying, "That is what I cost Him; He thought I was worth that." That surely puts a high price-tag on you, lifting you above worthless, trashy activities. In your weaker moments you may find yourself doubting whether you are worth that much—we all have moments like that. But, even so, we cannot escape that worth. For the Cross is the everlasting landmark which shows what God thinks of our worth. And we can hardly argue with God!

St. Paul put it in his forceful way when he wrote, "Ye are not your own. Ye are bought with a price." Through His life of matchless love; through His death on the Cross to show God's great love for us, He showed us what life at its best can be; showed us the only way to peace, by living in God's way, under God's direction. By the Cross He saved us from our worst selves. By the Cross He offers to us the golden chance to live as the sons and daughters of God.

All through the New Testament epistles one comes across the phrase, "a servant of Christ." Those early Christian men were so deeply filled with the sense of what God had done for them, through Christ, that they considered themselves honor bound to the Master as His humble servants, bound to live for Him. They kept reminding themselves what they had cost; and so they still shine before men as the ambassadors of the high and holy God.

Closing Prayer:

Eternal and most glorious God, Who hast stamped the soul of man with Thine Image, received it into Thy Revenue, and made it part of Thy Treasure; suffer us not to undervalue ourselves, nor so to impoverish Thee as to give away these souls for nothing. Do this, O God, for His sake Who knows our natural infirmities, and knows the weight of our sins, for He paid a dear price for them, Thy Son, Jesus Christ. Amen.—(John Doane, 1572-1631)

A PILGRIMAGE

For those who wish to know something about the history and interesting details of the Church, Mr. I. Smith Raspin will conduct a pilgrimage after the morning service. Those who wish to join the group are asked to meet in the front pews.

INVITATION

To all who mourn and need comfort; To all who are weary and need rest; To all who are friendless and desire friendship; To all who believe in God and wish to worship; To all who hunger for prayer and wish to pray; To all who know sin and need a Saviour; To all who are convinced that they ought to put first things first—St. Stephen's opens its doors in the name of Jesus Christ—and in His name and for His sake bids you WELCOME.

Better Hearing for the Hard of Hearing; 200 Hearing Aids available. Precision made like a watch, hearing aids need careful handling. Always get your hearing aid from the usher at the door. At the close of the Service, return it to the usher. Do not force the volume control. If the hearing aid does not work, return it for another. Always keep the ear piece close over the ear, otherwise the sound escapes and may annoy others nearby. Always keep the aid turned off when the ear piece is not over the ear.

RELIGION AND HEALTH

Every Thursday at 12:30 P. M., the rector conducts a healing service in the church endeavoring to bring the helpfulness of religion to bear on fear, anxiety, worry, frustration, guilt, sickness and disease. There is opportunity for private interview. Veterans are especially welcome.

EDITORIAL

"Faith is conviction of the reality of the unseen," said St. Paul, and proceeded to show the world's debt to men who had lived by and for the unseen. How that list could be compounded by a search of the pages of subsequent history; and how it would broaden were a list of the creators of beauty—the pioneers of democracy—the path-finders of science and their kindred, included.

These all not only lived and died in faith, but these all had the same focus as Abraham, the Father of the Faithful. They turned their backs upon the unsatisfying present and plunged into the unknown to seek, not fame and glory, not profit or power, but to seek a "better country", a "better humanity", "a city whose builder and maker is God". The men of their times in large measure were hostile, amused, or embarrassed for them. But history makes the verdict of God unanimous. God is not ashamed to be called their God; and posterity is not ashamed to hail them as its great benefactors. As for their contemporary detractors, they are either forgotten or the objects of scorn. That which was unseen to great souls has by their faith become the "seen" to us.

There is, however, as Christ insists and as life substantiates, "no resting place down here". The status quo is never the Kingdom of God. The horizon is ever before us as "time makes ancient good uncouth." The Christian is always a pilgrim to the better future.

Faith is not attending a church. Faith is not repeating a creed. Faith is not performing a ritual. Faith is not offering a prayer. All of these are incidental to faith—by-products of faith, perhaps. Faith, itself, is building a better life, a better humanity, a better world.

How deeply disturbed should we be today—how deeply discontented with things as they are—how certain that the golden age is not in the past! And by the same token, how we should draw upon God and join hands with man, for strength to carry forward our main task—the building of a better society.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others)

Opening Prayer:

Our help is in the name of the Lord, Who made heaven and earth. O come, let us worship, and bow down: let us kneel before the Lord our maker. Amen.

Bible Reading: Matthew 13:44-46

The Sermon:

Dr. Temple once said, "The world, as we live in it, is like a shop window in which some mischievous person has got in over-night and shifted all the price tags around, so that the cheap things have the high-price tags on them, and the really precious things are priced low. We let ourselves be taken in." See how people pour their hard-earned money through the betting windows of the race-tracks, just for the cheap thrill of taking a chance. See how hosts pour their strength into the shoddy game of "keeping up with the Joneses", their precious time into the cheap trash of the average movie or radio program. We certainly do let ourselves be taken in!

Each of us, therefore, must have a surer sense of values, be ready to discard trashy opportunities, seek things of true worth. Leslie Weatherhead, the English preacher, points out that one way of having a sound sense of values is "to remind ourselves of what we are. Man is a spirit, and has a body. As Augustine said, 'Thou hast made us for Thyself, and, our hearts are restless until they find rest in Thee.' Man, the spirit, may keep his sense of values by reminding himself that, because he is a spirit, he will never be happy by pretending that he is only a body and a mind." Some modern novels seem to think that man is only a body—yet see the tragedy in the lives of those who live chiefly for physical satisfactions. Just study the people you know who have reached their seventies and eighties and make up your own mind. You will find that those who have been "taken in", who have spent themselves lavishly for the cheap things, are a rather pitiful, unhappy lot of people; while those who could read life's price-tags rightly are still living richly even in the lengthening shadows of old age.

Just recently I went into a home I know well, and heard the most glorious music pouring from the piano. "Who is that playing?" I asked my hostess. "That's Aunt", she replied. I blinked with amazement, for Aunt is very lame, and her eyesight is failing, and she is eighty-eight years old! A few minutes later, I stood just behind Aunt as those youthful hands flashed over the keys, and the breath-taking music of Bach and Chopin filled the room. I knew, then, the importance of a sense of values. For, ever since she had been a girl, Aunt had loved great music. Seldom had she let a day go by without serious practice. Again and again, she had brushed aside the twittering demands of cheap and trivial pleasures, to devote herself to the precious worth of beauty in music. She had followed Christ's teaching that man is a spirit, and can find peace only through the things of the spirit. Music, in all its spiritual value, had been her "pearl of great price". So, at eighty-eight, she was still very much alive. So it can be with you, in those years when the body grows less satisfactory, if your life has been devoted to the things of the spirit, the pearls of great price.

Closing Prayer:

Lord, we beseech Thee, grant Thy people grace to withstand the temptations of the world, the flesh, and the devil and with pure hearts and minds to follow Thee, the only God, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

(Gelasian Sacramentary, 494 A. D.)

We wish to thank Mrs. James Carrigan and Miss Laura Wilde for their subscriptions to the 1947 Church Bulletin.

EDITORIAL

Some deeply disturbing facts have been brought to light recently. The Times reported that in 1946 Americans spent more than eight and a half billions on liquor. Life reported that they spent more than six billions in gambling. The Twentieth Century Fund reported that they spent as much for movies as for religion.

Such facts in conjunction—or even perhaps singly, launch a rapid succession of reactions.

One thinks, for instance, of another sequence of facts: That England is slowly but surely starving to death—its people lacking today the physical vitality to produce more that they may eat more; that hunger in Germany, where the struggle for democracy is on, is at its peak; that thousands have dropped dead from starvation in the streets of Shanghai since the first of the year.

Then one thinks of the pittance which the State Department asked for foreign relief (three hundred fifty million) and how the House cut the amount nearly in half; or the mind turns to the shocking testimony of the emptiness of American life that led to the expenditure of so much on liquor and gambling and movies—for all three are mechanisms of escape.

And finally, one turns almost in despair to the churches. Where is the soul of America? How can it be so niggardly in charity when it can throw away so much? Why can't these escapists find the meaning of life and enjoy it instead of seeking to flee from it?

The Church is the keeper of the nation's soul. If the nation lacks charity, we have not bred it. If Congress is niggardly, we have not given it a mandate to be otherwise. If people are fleeing life, somehow we have failed to lead them to it. Of course, they do not come to the Church as searchers—though more of them do than we suspect—but we, as Christians, are not commissioned to wait for people to come; we are commissioned to go and seek.

What we need in the Church, above all else, is a long-searching conference on Kingdom Strategy.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others)

Opening Prayer:

O Lord Jesus Christ, Who art the Way, the Truth, and the Life, suffer us not to stray from Thee, Who art the Way, nor to distrust Thee, Who art the Truth, nor to rest in any other thing than Thee, Who art the Life. Teach us, by Thy Holy Spirit, what to believe, what to do, and wherein to take our rest. Amen.

—(Erasmus, 1466-1536 A. D.)

Bible Reading: St. Luke 9: 57-62

The Sermon:

Robert Frost has a poem about a man who came to the fork in the road. Both branches were inviting, and he found it hard to make up his mind which way to take. One was a well-beaten track; the other, rather difficult to follow. Finally, he decided on the less-travelled way, and set out along it. The farther he went, the more he wished that he had taken the other road, for the more travelled road might have given him better chances; his life would have been broader and more interesting, with richer opportunities.

But the wise Master of men once said, "No man, having put his hand to the plough, and looking back, is fit for the kingdom of God." In other words, this business of regretful looking-back is stupid business. To go on saying, "If I had only married some one else, if I had only gone to college, if I had only changed jobs . . ." is sheer folly and waste of time. No one ever knows where the other road would have led, or whether it was smooth or rough. The plain result of this brooding, backward look is that one misses the shining opportunities on this road; one's backtracking thoughts never notice the golden chances right within arm's-length!

Emerson once said, "Finish each day, and be done with it." You have to do that, if you want to play the useful part God means you to. He has enough of a load for you to carry today, without your adding the heavy memories of yesterday's regrets. He has enough challenging jobs to occupy your full attention; and looking backward simply makes you do today's chores badly. Have done with "looking back!"

When the Moors were diven out of Granada, they were so sure that they would return some day, that they locked the doors of their homes, and carried the keys with them in their flight. But they never returned. A good many of us carry around a lot of rusty, useless old keys for doors that will never open again, for we shall not return to use them. But the followers of Jesus heave the old keys out on the scrap heap and go about the high calling of living each day right up to the hilt, "forgetting those things that are behind", and finding true peace of heart in the tasks that are right at hand.

Closing Prayer:

Lord, grant us to see the right path and steadfastly follow whither it leads; for the sake of Him Who is the Way, the Truth, and the Life, even Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.—(H. R. James, 1863-1931)

"Thank you" to Mrs. M. Weitzel and to Mr. and Mrs. George W. Hicks for their respective subscriptions to the 1947 Church Bulletin.

William Linton, serving in the Japanese Occupation Forces, has been made a Sergeant. Congratulations!

The total of St. Stephen's gift for the Presiding Bishop's Fund for World Relief is now $1,141.95.

Mr. Carrigan wishes to thank the many friends who contributed so generously to his anniversary gift. "I didn't realize how many friends I have", replied this faithful servant of St. Stephen's, when the rector gave him the list of well wishers.

Miss Marion Headman writes, "I am at a loss for words to tell you of my appreciation of the wonderful gift I have received from St. Stephen's Church. Just to say 'thank you' seems so inadequate; I think you must know, however, how deeply I do appreciate your thought of me . . ."

The rector will preach at the Evening Services during the month of June while Mr. Meckling is on a well deserved vacation.

As it began to dawn toward the first day of the week, came Mary Madgalene and the other Mary to see the sepulchre.
And behold, there was a great earthquake; for the angel of the Lord descended from heaven and came and rolled back the stone from the door and sat upon it. His countenance was like lightning, and his rainment white as snow, and for fear of him the keepers did shake and became as dead men.
And the angel answered and said unto the women "Fear not ye, for I know that ye seek Jesus, which was crucified.
He is not here, for he is risen as he said. Come see the place where the Lord lay. And go quickly and tell his disciples that he is risen from the dead.

Christ the Lord is risen to-day,
Sons of men and angels say.
Raise your joys and triumphs high;
Sing ye heavens, and earth reply,
Alleluia!

Love's redeeming work is done,
Fought the fight, the battle won.
Death in vain forbids Him rise,
Christ has opened paradise.
Alleluia!

Soar we now where Christ has led,
Following our exalted Head,
Made like Him, like Him we rise;
Ours the Cross, the goal, the skies.

The Rector's Easter Greeting

WHEN DAY DAWNS

My Beloved People of St. Stephen's:

Easter dawns! Throughout the world, millions of people of all races and creeds, strain their eyes, looking into the East for the first signs of the morning light. If dawn comes, the dawn of faith, the light of hope, the re-birth of love, the resurrection of justice, and the release of brotherhood, then there is hope.

It will be true. The dark Friday and silent Saturday will pass. Then, brightest of all and fairer than ten thousand, the radiance of the living present will walk by our side. Christ will live forever in our hearts.

Easter came before Christmas. A man's return from death was the first theme of the Christian Church. Mary met Jesus in the Garden and ran forth to tell the others. Peter boldly announced the resurrection of Jesus on the hostile streets of Jerusalem. The glad news that Jesus' cause was not ended, that hate had not triumphed, that God was not defeated, spread like wild fire, over the ancient world, sick unto death.

The news ran from street to street, from alley to alley, from town to town, from fishing boat to fishing boat, and at last to Rome, Corinth, Athens, Macedonia. It was heard by Paul. It was preached by Luke. It was interpreted by Augustine. It found a life in Luther, Wesley, Whitefield, Brooks, and now it awaits restatement by us.

Easter is the foundation of our faith. It is the dawn of spiritual triumph, and the glow of immortality. This year its light will be cast across a suffering world. Humanity writhes in agony and cries out in fear, as truth and right seem to be crucified anew. Hunger keeps a ghastly vigil over a world surfeited with goods.

But one of the strange mysteries of life is the birth of strength in the midst of suffering, and that peace comes through pain. Gethsemane and Calvary are preludes to Easter with its eternal significance. He who refuses to suffer, and to endure pain, forfeits strength and serenity.

Easter is God's assurance to every person who is right that the cause he supports will ultimately win.

Affectionately and Faithfully, your Rector,

Alfred W. Price

CHRISTMAS, 1948

Soon children—and grownups, too—will be looking away from opened presents, asking others, "What did you get for Christmas?" Why not change the question this year, and ask, "What did I get from Christmas?"

A certain artist painted a picture of the shepherds on the hillside, looking up into the shining heavens as they listened to the angels singing, "Glory to God in the highest, and on eath, peace, good will toward men." The shepherds' faces are uplifted in a glow of wonder and amazement. One of the sheep-dogs stands by the shepherds, poised and alert, but his head is turned in a different direction—he is not looking up! Dogs are, I think, the most lovable of all creatures in their loyalty and faithfulness; but they cannot look up to wonders beyond their human master, or a sheep to turn back to the flock, or a well-earned meal at the end of the day's work. A dog enjoys Christmas dinner and the friendliness of the glad home circle. But surely you are more than a dog. Ask yourself, what you are going to get from Christmas that a dog cannot get.

At Christmas you can discover, with the pure joy of a child, the wonder of coming home. For, at this holy season, child-like folk are reminded that they are more than animals, more than earthly creatures who live their little span and return to the earth again. Around the Manger, they discover that they sprang from the love of God, and may live in the warmth of that love all their days on earth, and then return to the household of God's many mansions when their span on earth is done. Christmas is homecoming time, not only for the families of earth, but for God's mighty family—for men to return gladly to their Father's care, knowing that they are loved by Him as dear children.

So Christmas lifts up the leaden hearts of the lonely, the cold hearts of the loveless, the aching hearts of the angry, the sorrowing hearts of the bereaved, the lagging hearts of the heavy-laden. For at Christmas they remember that they are the cherished children of the most high and loving God. A child of God, you see, can no longer hang his head in discouragement, or flash angry words of irritation, or mope in cheap self-pity. A child of God is filled with hope and confidence, overflowing with a wealth of love. Your dog could not get that from Christmas. How about you!

May your Christmas-tide be joyful and prayerful!

Sincerely your Rector,
Alfred W. Price

The Church Staff—the Rector, Mr. Meckling, the Parish Visitor, the Secretary and the Verger—unite in their desire to convey to you, one and all, their best Christmas wishes.

The Flowers on the Altar today are given by Miss Charlotte Shoemaker in memory of her mother, Charlotte Fitzwater Shoemaker.

We wish to thank Mrs. Mabel R. Erwood for her subscription to the Church Bulletin.

The following is an excerpt from a letter to Mrs. David D. Wood from Mrs. Agnes Sligh Turnbull, author of "The Bishop's Mantle":

"Dear Mrs. Wood: You can't imagine the pleasure your letter brought me! All through the years as I visited my uncle (Dr. McConnell) I looked at the fine face of Mr. Wood as it hung close to my uncle's desk. So it was indeed of him or at least of his face I was thinking when I described the blind organist in my story.

"My uncle loved your husband and spoke so very often of him to me. I only wish I could have met him and heard him play!

"My uncle was always closer in spirit to St. Stephen's than to any of his other parishes."

EDITORIAL

One of the most profound reasons for the tragic confusion of our time is the fact that as human beings we lack a sense of proportion. We have been so preoccupied with the physical and material aspects of life that we have held, in relative insignificance, life's spiritual aspect. Furthermore, we have sought to prostitute the spiritual and mental values to material purposes. This goes for America, as well as for Russia, although there is a difference in degree.

Some living people were brought up on the ridiculous chronology of Bishop Usher, who contributed greatly to human confusion and vanity by suggesting that creation was little more than 5,000 years old. This led to the belief that man had come a long way in a very short time.

Many more people accepted the assumption of automatic progress, born of the presentation and acceptance of an immature concept of evolution. Before the first world war it was widely believed that the human race was on the threshold of perfection. Dogmatism and finality in religion, economics and politics therefore seemed justified.

But how old is creation and who are we? According to the knowledge of science today, creation is at least eighteen thousand million years old. Man has existed for less than an eighteen thousandth of that time and recorded history goes back scarcely seven thousand years.

Instead of being on the threshold of perfection, humanity is in primitive infancy and, instead of being a finished masterpiece, man is still a transitory type—an animal in which a soul is striving to be born and to mature at the call of the Creator.

If humanity could understand that to be materially minded is death and that to be dominated by the spirit is life, the path ahead would open quickly through the fog of confusion which surrounds us.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others.)

Opening Prayer:

O Lord our God, grant us grace to desire Thee with a whole heart, that so desiring we may seek and find Thee, and so finding Thee may love Thee, and loving Thee, may hate those sins which separate us from Thee, for the sake of Jesus Christ. Amen. (St. Anselm, 1033-1109)

Bible Reading: Exodus 4: 10-12

The Sermon:

Moses made the great mistake of thinking of God as a Task-Master, giving out chores to be done. We make the same mistake. John Baillie has pointed out that we thus do God a grave injustice. Professor Baillie says:

"I know that what God wants of me is not in the first place that I should do something for Him, but that I should let something be done for me, and done to me, and in me. He wants me to put myself in His hands. He wants to take charge of my life—and leave all the burden of it, and all the worry of it, to Him. He comes to me indeed with a demand, but the demand is only that I should accept a gift—the free gift of salvation. The Presence at my heart's door has not been that of a Task-Master, but of a Saviour." In other words, when God spoke to Moses out of the burning bush, in the dream, He was seeking, chiefly, to enrich Moses. He wanted to give Moses the faith that could move the stubborn wills of the Israelites. He sought to give Moses that final security of heart which knows that, so long as we go with God, nothing can overcome us.

We see, in a flash, that Moses was actually fighting God's gift. And we cry out, "Stupid old Moses!", and we are right. And then by some strange chance, we look in the mirror, and there, before us, is a little twentieth century edition of Moses, repeating the old stupidity!

True, God does bid us to do His chores, for they need doing—those quiet deeds of love and courage. But in giving us those chores, God is starting us on something hard enough so that we are going to need His help. What He really wants, you see, is to give Himself to us. It does not take a very bright person to see that the man who makes room in his heart for God becomes rich in strength and love.

But it does take an inner fight to settle the question. Dwight L. Moody said that the greatest struggle he ever had in his life was when he gave up business. For he had a natural genius as a business-man, and could easily have become a multi-millionaire. So, while Carnegie, Armour, Gould, Rockefeller, and Morgan were building their vast fortunes, Mr. Moody was doing God's business. And someone has said, "The business talents which other men used for their own ends, Mr. Moody used for God's ends." Do you imagine that any one of those merchant princes ever found life as good and glorious and joyful as Mr. Moody did? I doubt it, for the God-filled, God-serving life is everlastingly worthwhile, every minute of it; while the self-serving life drifts into staleness, and misses the boat. You say "Yes" to God; and He says to you, "Now, therefore, go, and I will be with thy mouth, to teach thee what to say." And, from that day on, you really live!

Closing Prayer:

Grant to us Lord, we pray Thee, day by day, the joy of true living, that we who seek Thy service may find Thy peace and grow into the likeness of Thy Son, Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen. (C. Jenkins)

We extend a hearty welcome to the many patriotic organizations present with us this morning.

The rector will dedicate the American Flag and the Post Flag of Hamilton Village Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. These colors are in memory of Technical Sergeant Rodney S. McCaughin. Rodney was baptized and confirmed in St. Stephen's Church. He was a member of the famous 100th Bombardment Group. He completed twelve successful missions over occupied territory. He accomplished his thirteenth mission but was shot down on April 28, 1944. A Memorial Service was held in St. Stephen's for Rodney on Sunday, April 29, 1945. His body was returned to this country and burial service was held in St. Stephen's Church on April 17, 1948.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others.)

Opening Prayer:

Lord, keep us ever near to Thee; let nothing separate us from Thee, let nothing keep us back from Thee. If we fall, bring us back quickly to Thee, and make us hope in Thee, trust in Thee, and love Thee everlastingly; through Jesus Christ. Amen.
(E. B. Pusey, 1800-1882)

Bible Reading: Exodus 3:1-12

The Sermon:

Sooner or later each of us must face the great question of "belonging." Do I own myself? Do I have a quit-claim deed to use my life as if it were my sole possession? Every maturing character soon begins to find the answer, that a great deal of their time and strength belongs to other people: to their own family, their friends, their church, their lodge, their community, their nation, their world. One sure sign of growing up in this dawning sense of responsibility. As St. Paul said, "Ye are not your own."

Then, one day, we face a deeper "belonging." Like Moses in his dream about the burning bush, we hear God bidding us to do some hard job. God told Moses to go back to his enslaved countrymen and "bring them forth out of Egypt." And Moses argues, "Oh, my Lord, I am not eloquent, but am slow of speech and of a slow tongue." But the firm, sure voice of God returns, "Who hath made man's mouth? Now, therefore, go, and I will be with your mouth...go!" Moses wriggles and squirm, and tries to escape God's loving reach. (You may remember the Negro preacher who said, "Young man, young man, your arm's too short to box with God!") But at last he sees the truth. He sees that he belongs to the God Who made him, and knows how to use him, just as the violin belongs in the swift fingers of a Fritz Kriesler, as the scalpel belongs in the sensitive hand of a great surgeon. So our lives belong in the wise hand of God; for only thus can we fulfill our destiny on earth.

Once a man says "Yes" to God's bidding, he begins to find the fullness of joy. To know that God is using you for His ends gives that deep peace of heart that passeth all understanding. Young Dr. Wilfred Grenfell, as a result of hearing Dwight L. Moody speak, put his medical career into the hands of God. Fourteen years after his conversion, Dr. Grenfell for the first time met Mr. Moody face to face. He told the great evangelist about that night so long ago, and Mr. Moody quietly replied, "Good." "What have you been doing since?" "Doing," replied Dr. Grenfell, "Well, I've been living and working among fisherman from the Bay of Biscay to the coast of Labrador, instead of staying in London." "Regret it?" "No Sir, I should say not!" And then Mr. Moody invited the young doctor to come that evening and speak for a few minutes to a great crowd, to tell them what had happened when he put his life into the hands of the God to Whom he belonged. Life's true joys begin when we turn ourselves over to God—for He knows how to use us!

Closing Prayer:

Take us, we pray Thee, O Lord of our life, into Thy keeping this night and forever. O Thou Light of lights, keep us from inward darkness; grant us so to sleep in peace, that we may rise to work according to Thy will; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

The Tuesday Noon Club for Business Men got off to a good start on May 11th. Forty-two men attended the service and stayed for lunch. Mrs. Theodore Bechtel and a committee of women from the Woman's Auxiliary of the Hard of Hearing took care of the Luncheon. This Club is open to men of every business and profession and every denomination. A twenty-five minute service consisting of hearty singing, prayer and sermon by the rector begins at 12:30 P. M. Luncheon is served before and after the service.

The Benevolent Society of St. Stephen's Church which is responsible for such fine needlework and sewing for the major hospitals of the city has been the beneficiary of a gift from the Mrs. John Coates Brown Estate amounting to $4,050.70. This amount added to their present endowment produces an income of around $250.00 a year. This added to the special offering received each year from the congregation will help greatly in meeting the annual expenses of this fine society.

St. Stephen's has a number of splendid opportunities for modest legacies. Remember your church in your will.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others.)

Opening Prayer:

Lord, keep us ever near to Thee; let nothing separate us from Thee; let nothing keep us back from Thee. If we fail, bring us back quickly to Thee; and make us hope in Thee, trust in Thee, love Thee everlastingly; through Jesus Christ. Amen.
(E. B. Pusey 19th Century)

Bible Reading: I John 2:1-25

The Sermon:

Suppose a man with a hidden microphone mingled with an American crowd one day (in the bleachers at a baseball game, for instance), asking this question, "How would you act if you thought you were going to live forever?" There is one answer I am sure he would get, many times, "Brother, if I thought I was going to live forever, I would sure live differently." But that is exactly what Jesus Christ brought to men—"And this is the promise He hath promised us, even eternal life."

Scads of people do not even live with a thought for the rest of their life on earth. Tomorrow morning's bargain sale, Saturday afternoon's horse races, tonight's pleasures—these small, present concerns take up all their thoughts. Some of them play fast and loose with the health and strength God gave them. "Confound these legs of mine," said Lord Northampton, as he came tottering out of Court, having spent his youth in fast living. "If I had thought that they were one day to carry a Lord Chancellor, I would have taken better care of them." Short-sighted living bears a painful harvest.

However, what is done, is done. As Rufus Jones points out, "Our task now is to make sure of the Henceforth. In a marvelous scene in his Roman prison, St. Paul said, "Forgetting the things that are behind, I press henceforth toward the goal of life for the prize of my high calling in Christ Jesus." After all, it is never too late to remember that God offers us an endless life. As Studdert-Kennedy once said, "I am not the least afraid of hell; but I am terribly afraid that some day some one will look me in the eye and say, "What did you make of your life?"

Remember that you will take into the world beyond, that self which you became on this earth. Apparently that self is all that you will take with you—that character, that person you grew into. Therefore, it is well that we live as day-by-day pupils of the Master, letting Him fashion us into something strong, and richly loving. If we let Him do that, we shall want to live forever. It was Rendel Harris who once said, very characteristically, "When I pass over, I do not want anyone to sing, 'Now his labor's ended.' I shall at first want to rest a little, and then I shall be ready to go on with God's work in new ways." He was ready for an endless life!

Closing Prayer:

Almighty God, pour out Thy Holy Spirit upon all who are working for Thee. O Lord, take their minds and think through them; take their lips and speak through them; take their hearts and set them on fire with love to Thee; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

The monthly meeting of the Vestry was held in the Divinity School at 4:30 P. M., May 10th. The Vestry attended the Chapel Service and had dinner with the Dean and the student body. In the evening the Vestry met the students and enjoyed an informal discussion.

The Packages for Britain project has proved most successful. The Girls' Friendly Society packed three cartons of clothing valued at $45.00 and many, many packages of fine clothing and considerable money were contributed by members of our congregation. Many thanks!

We wish to thank The Rev. George R. Bishop for his donation to the Benevolent Society, Mrs. Cora M. Cooke for her donation to the Anniversary Fund, Mrs. August Albers and Mrs. George E. Scull for their Church Bulletin Subscriptions, and the following donors for their Prayer Book Memorials: The Rev. George R. Bishop (6), Mrs. Clarence S. Slatcher (3), Mr. George W. HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others.)

Opening Prayer:

Stretch forth, O Lord, the right hand of Thy heavenly help over all Thy servants everywhere, that they may seek Thee with their whole heart, and obtain what they rightly ask for; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

(Gelasian Sacramentary, 494 A. D., adapted.)

Bible Reading: John 13: 31-35

The Sermon:

Last week we reminded ourselves that a disciple is a "learner," a teachable person. But just what is it that a disciple of Christ learns? What is the major subject in the school of Jesus?

He has told us clearly, many times, in many ways. In the passage you have just read from St. John, He says it again. It was on His last evening on earth with His friends. How are men going to distinguish you, my men, from other men, He asked? Men know how to distinguish a robin or a bluebird from other birds. How are they going to distinguish you from other people? "By this will men know that ye are My disciples," He explained, "if ye have love one to another." Your identifying mark will be a rare and noticeable loving-kindness.

Most human beings are not naturally self-sacrificing, for each creature has plenty of self-interest. But God gave us, in addition to that self-interest, a capacity for deep interest in others. It is the major course in the school of Jesus to master this art of love, this knack of constant concern for the hopes and needs of our fellows. The Master can overlook many a shortcoming, but not lack of love. For the heart can be trained to loving, just as the body can be trained for the playing of a game. Those who gain the habit of living with an ear cocked for the voice of the Master make swift progress in the great art of loving-kindness.

Some people learn that art when they are still very young. When Louis Agassiz (who later became the great scientist) was a boy in Switzerland, he and his very small brother one day decided to cross a frozen lake to join their father on the other side. Their mother, as she stood in the kitchen window, could see them start across. They were too far away to hear her call, and she watched in an agony of fear, for she knew that, a little way out, there was a wide crack in the ice, more than a foot wide. "Louis can get over it," she thought to herself, "but the little fellow will try it, and fall in." She saw them stop and talk together. Then Louis got down on the ice, his feet on one side of the crack and his head and shoulders on the other, making a little bridge over which his brother crept safely to the other side. Louis had learned, at an early age, to put his whole mind on the needs of the "next man," and to take care of them! Put your whole heart and mind into learning the high art of love. Your busy life will become simpler and happier, and, what is more important, you will greatly please your Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ.

Closing Prayer:

Almighty and everlasting God, grant that our wills be ever meekly subject to Thy will, and our hearts be ever honestly ready to serve Thee; for the sake of Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen. (Roman Breviary, 1099 A D.)

EDITORIAL

To ears attuned to understanding, the desparate cry of our humanity is a cry for salvation.

It was not by mere chance that communist doctrine which had lain dormant for seventy years, or Fascist doctrine which seemed to have been buried with the middle ages, swept over the world to take possession of the loyalties of men and to be heralded with a religious fervor.

The immature scientific philosophy of the last decades of the nineteenth century seemed to sweep God clean out of the universe. In the place of God, man substituted belief in automatic human progress. Materialistic philosophy was accepted even where it was verbally denied. Materialism, its practical expression, gained the ascendency over all phases of life. Original goodness was substituted for original sin. A rudimentary psychiatry was interpreted as urging man to experience life, to give expression to his animal nature. The deluge of immorality and amorality followed.

Into the vacuum in the soul of man rushed the devils of communism and facism. Man must have a faith in something outside himself.

In the truest sense—as is said many times today by thoughtful members of society, statesmen, scientists, historians, social observers—the challenge of these "isms" and of the materialism and amorality which have induced them is a challenge primarily not to the State, but to the Church and to religion. Today the Church must seek partnership with a humbled and spiritual awakening science in making man to understand that man-made security is illusion and in rebuilding the foundations of life.

The Flowers on the Altar today are given by Mrs. James F. Armstrong in memory of her husband, and by Mrs. Clarence S. Slatcher in memory of her husband, Mr. Clarence S. Slatcher. The Memorial Flowers last Sunday were given by Mrs. Casimera Petroski and the Messrs. Adams in memory of Julius and Thomas Adams, and by Mr. Thomas B. Lovelock, Jr., in memory of his mother, Mrs. Hattie A. Lovelock.

CHANGE OF TIME

Daylight Saving begins at 2: 00 A. M. Sunday, April 25th. Pay back the borrowed hour on Sunday, September 26th.

Quietly the home-call came to Helen Swarts in the Episcopal Hospital, April 15th, after a short illness. May her soul rest in peace, and may light perpetual shine upon her. Helen was buried in St. Stephen's plot in Laurel Hill Cemetary.

Service for Technical Sergeant Rodney M. McCaughin was held in St. Stephen's on Saturday, April 17th. Rodney was baptized and confirmed in St. Stephen's. He had completed twelve successful missions over occupied territory in Europe as a member of the famous 100th Bombardment Group. He was shot down on his thirteenth mission on April 28, 1944. A Memorial Service was held in St. Stephen's for him on April 29, 1945. Burial was in Arlington Cemetery following service in St. Stephen's on April 17, 1948.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others.)

Opening Prayer:

Grant us O Lord, to pass this day in gladness and peace, without stumbling and without stain; that, reaching the eventide victorious over our temptations, we may praise Thee, the eternal God, Who dost govern all things, world without end. Amen.

(Mozarabic Sacramentary adapted)

Bible Reading: Matthew 11: 20-30

The Sermon:

How did Jesus choose His disciples? For that matter, how does He choose them today? People with a fancy education or an established "position" in the community? People of "substance"? No, these were not the sort He called to make up the twelve. Rather, He specialized on humble folk who were eager to learn; child-like men and women who listened and remembered; teachable people who craved to learn life's answers from Him Who knew them. He called them "disciples", which means learners. Do you hear Him calling you? That depends—are you teachable? "Take my yoke upon you, and learn of Me."

He wants the "meek", the "poor in spirit"—those who know how much they lack; and who have discovered how much He has to give; those who have waked up to the fact that He has "the words of eternal life". In His earthly ministry His time was short, and He naturally devoted it to those who were eager to learn. In the ministry of the Risen Christ today, He walks only with this same blessed company of "disciples"; for the self-satisfied people have already learned all they want to. So it is very simple. No matter "who" you are, or what you have, if you sincerely want to learn of Him, He calls you.

Our toughest problem is to form the habit of being teachable. Anyone can get stirred up by a beautiful church service or a stirring radio sermon, and, for the moment, feel humble and eager; only to forget about it the next day, and slip back into self-satisfaction. But to be a true disciple, a continuing student of His day after day, that is another matter. To do this, one must train one's thoughts to walk steadily with Him; must discipline one's mind to turn to Him twenty times a day for counsel and light. One joins His training school, and learns "on the job"; lives with an ear alert for His coaching. Such self-discipline takes time, and bears wonderful fruit.

A small boy in India learned that art of discipleship. He had been taken into a Christian school, and had become an earnest follower of Christ. His greatest ambition in school activities was to win a place on the soccer team. His joy was unbounded when his dream came true. In the very first game, he kicked the ball magnificiently far down the field, and cried out, "Parum", "Yesusuwami, parum!" which, being interpreted, means, "Look, Lord Jesus, look!" That boy had become a disciple at heart. He had become so aware of his Risen Lord that nothing could drive that awareness away. Try it yourself, for six months. He is inviting you now—"Take my yoke upon you, and learn of me!"

Closing Prayer:

"Renew my will from day to day,
Blend it with Thine, and take away
All that now makes it hard to say,
Thy will be done."

—(C. Elliott)

U. T. O.

A great deal of the missionary work of the church is done by women... teachers, nurses, social workers and deaconesses. Most of the workers are paid and their work is supported by the women of the church. Over a three year period they raise and spend something over a million dollars. The money is given, not made, and it is given because of gratitude for the good things God has given to his people. The offering, therefore, is called the United Thank Offering. Without it a large part of the missionary work of the church would cease at once. The custodian of the offering for St. Stephen's Church is Mrs. B. M. Tinsley, She is anxious that every woman have a part in this far-flung activity of the church and she has already taken steps to make the offering from the women of St Stephen's Church more truly representative in numbers and resources. The Spring In-gathering of the Blue Boxes will be Sunday, April 25th. The enclosed envelope is for your convenience. Please return it to the Church Office, or better still, bring it to the church and place it on the alms basin.

ANNUAL PARISH MEETING

The Annual Meeting of the Parish will take place on Wednesday, April 21 at 6:00 P. M. in the Community House. A dinner will be served at that hour at a cost of one dollar per person.

A qualified voting member of the Parish is one who is a communicant and who is supporting the church by attendance and pecuniary aid. St. Stephen's Church in the City of Philadelphia is an ecclestical corporation incorporated under the laws of Pennsylvania. Its governing body has always been the Proprietors of Pews. The present By-Laws of the Church defines a proprietor as a member of the church and renter of a pew or sitting who has paid therefor during the preceding year a sum of no less than Five Dollars ($5.00) per sitting, paid through the envelope system of this church or by contributing not less than the said sum in a manner which identifies in writing the contributor and that the contribution is for pew or sitting rental.

As this is one time in the year when we can meet as a Parish family to consider the "state of the Parish," we hope there will be a large attendance. In addition to the election of vestrymen there will be brief reports by the leaders of our organizations. Those who can come will be assured a profitable and pleasant evening and they will be serving their Parish in an important way.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others.)

Opening Prayer:

O Heavenly Father, we pray Thee to send into our hearts, and the hearts of all men everywhere, the spirit of our Lord Jesus Christ. Amen. (H R. L. Sheppard)
Bible Reading: Matthew 11:25-30

The Sermon:

On these April days, it is not hard to feel "the power of His Resurrection." On any country road, stop for a moment, and drink in the color of the swelling buds against the blue of the sky. We are living in a resurrection-world. But, dull things that we are, we are slow to know the power of His resurrection in our hearts; slow to believe that He can waken a wintry-dead person, and fill him with the spring-fire of awakening life.

But it happens wherever people express their lives in His warmth. This resurrection happens to plain people like us. Take Josefa Ilano, who lives in the Philippine Islands. Some of her family had been Christians, but she had never found a living faith. "My life was completely empty," she recalls. But, during a meeting at the Christian college she attended, one night she heard the words, "I am the Resurrection and the Life...I am the Light of the World;" and then it seemed that Christ's hands were stretched out to her, and His voice said, "Come unto Me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will refresh you." So, in her weariness and darkness, she accepted Him as her Lord and Saviour; and there was spring-time in her life. She became a doctor noted both for her skill and for her Christian faith, which she had found by the power of His Resurrection.

Then came a crucial test. In 1946 she was flown to the United States for a speaking tour with two other Christian women, one of them from Japan. On the first day of the tour, at the dinner-table, Dr. Ilano found herself seated next to Mrs. Nemura, her Japanese colleague. Dr. Ilano's mind was filled with memories of horror, pillage, and death caused by the Japanese in the Philippines, and she could not bring herself to speak to Mrs. Nemura. She even avoided her glance. That night they were lodged in the dormitory of a women's college. In the morning, Dr. Ilano heard a knock at the door, and there stood her Japanese colleague, with bowed head asking, "May we go to breakfast together?" The two walked in silence through the long corridor, downstairs and then into a small room, alone. Mrs. Nemura looked at Dr. Ilano, her face filled with humility and radiant love, and said, "Dr. Ilano, will you forgive me and my people for the suffering inflicted on you in the Philippines?" In that moment they both fell to their knees, and prayed as only Christians can who have suffered much; humbly confessing their sins before God, the love of Christ drawing them together. They went to breakfast together, smiling. The people could see what had happened, and were very happy. On that trip the two became fast friends. Out of the dark resentment of Dr. Ilano's heart had come a second resurrection. To those who follow Christ faithfully there come many resurrections as the years pass, and He takes an ever-firmer hold on their willing lives.

Closing Prayer:

Defend, O Lord, us Thy servants with Thy heavenly grace, that we may continue Thine for ever, and daily increase in Thy Holy Spirit more and more, until we come to Thy everlasting Kingdom. Amen (Book of Common Prayer, adapted.)

HOW CHRIST FOUND A RABBI

We are privileged to have as our speaker on Sunday, April 18, at 11:00 o'clock an outstanding Jewish Rabbi who has been converted to Christianity. Rabbi Benedict was educated in London and served with high distinction in synagogues in Philadelphia, Richmond, Virginia, and in Lynbrook, Long Island. You will be thrilled with the burning eloquence of this Christ-filled man. You will be gripped with the earnestness of his unique testimony. Do not fail to be present.

Miss Jane Norris and the Rev. Gustav C. Meckling said their vows each to the other before the Altar of St. Stephen's Church, the Rector officiating, on the morning of April 7, 1948.

Copies of George Benedict's book "Christ Finds a Rabbi" are available in the vestibule of the Church. This is a book that throbs with life, the story of the conversion of a Jewish rabbi, the account of the struggle which takes place in every man to come to terms with Jesus Christ. If your faith has grown weak, here is a book to stimulate faith anew.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others.)

Opening Prayer:

O Lord, help us to be masters of ourselves, that we may be the servants of others. Amen!

Bible Reading: Revelation 21: 1-7

The Sermon:

The Master of men lived and died for us to "make all things new." And the power of His life today remains so great that it can change stubborn people like us into forgivers. Listen to the story of George and Jimmy, from that thrilling little book, "Come Wind, Come Weather." When the bombing of the English cities began, in World War II, George and Jimmy were moved to the country with hundreds of other children. Now these two were tough. They were pug-nosed and grubby, and they loved to fight; and nobody wanted to keep them in their home, until they landed at the home of a mill manager and his wife in Yorkshire.

The woman tucked them in for the night, and went downstairs to listen to the radio. Soon there came thumps and yells from above, and she went up to find them fighting tooth and nail on the floor. She pulled them apart, sat them on their beds, and calmly asked, "Why were you kids moved here from your homes?" "Cos there was a blarsted war on," grinned George. "Right. It's bad enough having a war in the world, without having it in the house as well. Do you think that countries will ever agree if boys like you cannot agree?" They stared at her, solemn and surprised, for they had expected to be thrashed, as they would have been at home. She continued, "Now you sit there quietly, and let that stupid anger die away; and when a better feeling comes, let it show you where you are wrong; and never mind about the other fellow. That better feeling you'll get in a minute will be God."

The boys said nothing for a long time. Then George spoke, "I pulled Jimmy's hair, and punched his nose—sorry." "All right," the woman said, "and what about you, Jimmy?"

Jimmy wriggled uncomfortably, "I called George a damn fool before he pulled my hair." "All right, that's finished and done with," the woman went on, "I often get cross and fed up; and then I sit quietly and listen to the Better Voice; and then I know what to do. My husband does the same. It saves a lot of fuss and bother. Good night."

Jesus came on earth to teach quarrelsome mankind to "listen to the Better Voice." Have you learned it, friend? It saves a lot of fuss and bother!

Closing Prayer:

O GOD, forasmuch as our strength is in Thee, mercifully grant that Thy Holy Spirit may in all things rule and direct our lives; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

The Annual Corporate Communion for all the Women of the Diocese will be at Christ Church, 2nd St. above Market, at 8: 00 a. m. on Monday, April 5, followed by Breakfast in the Parish House. Bishop Hart will be the celebrant, assisted by Bishop Remington. The speaker during breakfast will be the Rev. Samuel M. Shoemaker, Rector of Calvary Church, New York. Please make reservations for Breakfast (.75c) through the Woman's Auxiliary Office at the Church House.

Mrs. David German is to sing the lead in the opera "Lucia Di Lammermoor" at the Academy of Music on April 7.

PARISH MEETING

The rector is anxious to have a record attendance at the Annual Parish Meeting. A fine home-cooked dinner will be served, there will be the election to the Vestry, and important mattrs to be discussed. One purpose of this meeting is to show those who help maintain this down-town church by their gifts, attendance, and co-operation, how wide-spread is the influence of the church and what numbers it benefits. Please make no engagements for that night and make it a point to attend. Wednesday, April 21 is the date. The time is 6: 00 P. M. and the dinner will cost one dollar. Secure your reservation today.

At the early service on Palm Sunday the rector dedicated a beautiful communion chalice of Gothic design presented by Mrs. Roland S. Morris. This family heirloom originated in Dr. Duchachet's rectorship.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others.)

Opening Prayer:

O God, Who hast prepared for those who love Thee such good things as pass man's understanding; pour into our hearts such love toward Thee, that we, loving Thee above all things, may obtain Thy promises, which exceed all that we can desire, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen. (Book of Common Prayer)

Bible Reading: Galatians 6: 1-11

The Sermon:

When St. Paul wrote a letter to his friends in the newly founded Christian churches, they listened, because St. Paul knew what he was talking about. This time he was writing to the Galatians, who had started out enthusiastically ("ran bravely"), taken on the ways of Christ, and now showed a tendency to slip back into old ways. He protests, "I marvel that ye are so quickly removing," but then, instead of scolding them, he quietly points to one of the unshakable laws of God—"Remember, whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap." Paste that in your hat, says St. Paul. Think it over!

Usually this law of God is shaken at men like a fist—to convince them that if they do evil, they will reap trouble and distress. That is, of course, true. We all saw it, in a vivid incident, part-way through World War II. The Germans had overcome France, and the French leaders must now come to surrender to the Nazi chiefs. The meeting-place was an old railway-carriage, in which the victorious allies of World War I had forced humilitating terms on the beaten Germans; a railway-carriage which the French had made into a shrine of vengeance, placing on it a tablet which read, "Here, on November 11, 1918, was frustrated the criminal arrogance of the German imperial reich, defeated by the free peoples which it sought to enslave." So, now, in 1940, Hitler sat in the same chair from which Foch had humiliated the Germans, and proudly demanded unconditional surrender. Unfortunate France was now sowing the harvest of its own hatefulness.

But this mighty law of reaping-the-harvest-of-one's-own-seeds is equally true of goodness and love. So. St. Paul pleaded, "As we therefore have opportunity, let us do good unto all men, especially unto them who are of the household of faith." And the Christians all along the Mediterranean shores believed him; and went at their tasks of sowing shining faith and loving deeds. And seventy years later, a pagan Athenian orator, Aristides, wrote, "The Christians know and trust God. They placate those who oppress them, and make them their friends; they do good to their enemies. Their wives are pure, and their daughters modest. Their men abstain from unlawful marriage. They love one another. He who has, gives ungrudgingly to him who has not. If any one among them is poor and needy, they fast for two or three days, that they may supply him with the necessary food. But the good deeds they do, they do not proclaim them in the ears of the multitude, but they take care that no one shall perceive them. Truly this is a new people and there is something divine in them." This was the harvest of shining faith and loving deeds! It always is!

Closing Prayer:

Eternal Father, unto Thee we commit ourselves; use even us with our ignorance and frailty to accomplish Thy holy will; and hasten the day when all shall dwell together in mutual helpfulness and love; for Thine is the Kingdom, and the power, and the glory, for ever and ever. Amen.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others).

Opening Prayer:

Come in, O Christ, and judge us; come and cast out for us every sin that hinders Thee; come, purge our souls by Thy Presence; come, be our King for ever. Amen. (Phillips Brooks).

Bible Reading: Matthew 21

The Sermon:

As we come to Holy Week, we may wonder what is the mysterious power of the Cross. A Hindu scholar once gave a clue to it as he wrote, "There is in Christianity a doctrine which I believe is peculiar to that religion...the doctrine that God can take what is bad, and bring good out of it."

Through the Cross, we see the transforming power of God. Calvary looked like the black defeat of all that is high and holy; looked like the dismal end of the golden dream of God's Kingdom on earth; looked like the finish of the Matchless Christ. It looked so dark that even the faithful disciples took to their heels. Yet, out of the dark stuff of Calvary, God fashioned a Triumph—love defeating hate, faith overcoming doubt, life rising out of death. So, ever since that day, Christian men have been able to say to suffering folk, "If God could make something so glorious out of the first Calvary, surely He can make something out of your lesser Calvary, if you will let Him." One day a man and I looked at a small silver cross together; and he was deciding whether he would let God make something out of his Calvary of broken dreams and broken health. God can take what is bad, and bring good out of it.

For it is Love on the Cross that redeems, and cannot be killed or defeated. At long last love is always stronger than hate—even though it may take months, or years, or even centuries. In the long run, love wins against all odds. Out on the Pirate Coast the Arabs resisted Christianity for nearly fifty years, though the medical missionaries worked among them faithfully and with skill. Then one day Paul Harrison saved a small Arab girl's life by the gift of a vein from his own arm, after the girl's own father had refused to make the sacrifice himself. With the new vein, she recovered. That simple act of sacrifice opened the eyes of the Arabs to what the Cross means. Love incarnate was too strong for them, and swept aside their resistance. They began to walk straight into the Kingdom of God, until, soon, there were forty Christians where, for nearly half a century, there had been none.

God can take any person, any situation, and bring out great and glorious good. All that is required is some one with the Spirit of the Cross in his heart. That "some one" could be you.

Closing Prayer:

Look down, O Lord, from Thy heavenly throne, and illumine all darkness of this night with Thy celestial brightness, and from the sons of light banish the deeds of darkness; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

EDITORIAL

It is a tragedy that we, as Americans, fail to see the issue of national civil rights in a world context.

A friend, who was in London at the time of our horrible lynchings a year or two ago, told me recently of the report of this lynching in British papers and of the reaction of the British people. They simply could not understand the inconsistency between our professions and our tolerated practices.

If that be true of people who are friendly to us and to the ideals of democracy, what of the reaction of the hundreds of millions who are evaluating the choice between democracy and communism. We may be sure that they hear or read all of the vivid details of the atrocious violations of civil rights and liberties with which we are too familiar.

While the House Committee on un-American Activities is beating the bushes for communists, Congress hesitates to face seriously the most thoroughly un-American activity of all—the denial of civil rights to individuals who are freeborn American citizens.

If there is one concept before all others that is the keystone of democracy, it is the dignity of the individual. By the same token, if there is one concept which, above all others, makes totalitarianism, communism or facism, repulsive, it is the submergence of the rights and dignity of the individual in the supposed interest of the dominating group which considers itself to be the state.

There would have been no communism in this world if there had been no "superior" groups holding power and neglecting or denying the rights of those whom they considered inferior.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others).

Opening Prayer:

Our Father, teach us, not only Thy will, but how to do it. Teach us the best way of doing the best thing, lest we spoil the end by unworthy means; for the sake of Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen. (H. R. L. Shepherd, "This Day").

Bible Reading: I Corinthians 13

The Sermon:

Up State the highway snow-plough breaks out the driveway for each home along the country roads, so that the people can get out. Suppose, one day, you saw that powerful plough come part way in your driveway and then stop; and the driver got out and tried to shovel his way by hand through the deep drifts; and finally gave up, shaking his head with discouragement and drove away. You would think the man crazy.

Yet see how curiously Christian folk act. In the life of Jesus, God revealed to men the most tremendous power there is—the power of love. Jesus lived that life of love, right among people; demonstrated its incredible power. Men have never forgotten that Life. They have written books about Him, worshipped Him. They have done almost everything except to follow in His steps and use the power He showed them. When some one is hateful, the average Christian makes a little stab at being loving, goes a little way in Christ's spirit, then tries slapping back; and finally gives up, shaking his head sadly.

Real love never gives up. That is what St. Paul meant when he said that it "never faileth". He meant that genuine love never quits. He did not mean that love succeeds every time, right away; even Jesus could not win the Scribes and Pharisees, and they crucified Him. But, in the long run, over the centuries, love has a way of winning. Even in our short lives, if we are in earnest, honest love wins remarkable victories. So, in these Lenten days, look at your problem in the light of the Star. Some one has closed his heart against you in resentment. You did try love for a while, and then quit, discouraged. Underneath the Star, that old trouble challenges you to try again. Let me tell you a story.

A Protestant girl was deeply in love with a fine Roman Catholic boy, and engaged to marry him. Her mother swore that she would never speak to her again. The girl consulted her minister, asking what she could do about her mother. The minister said, "The Book I trust promises that love never faileth. Write your mother every Thursday—a newsy, gay, loving letter, every Thursday until she opens her heart to you. She will not be able to withstand real love. Will you do it?" The girl promised. A year later he met her, and simply asked, "Every Thursday?" "Every Thursday", she replied. Week after week she wrote her Thursday letter of love, until one day, several years later, the girl and her husband went to see the mother. As they came up the front walk, the door flung open, and the mother ran out to meet them; and flung her arms around the girl, and kissed her. Honest, enduring love wins breath-taking victories like that. Try it, yourself!

Closing Prayer:

O Christ, our only Saviour, so dwell within us that we may go forth with the light of hope in our eyes, and the fire of courage in our lives; Thy word on our tongues, and Thy love in our hearts. Amen.

The rector preached at Trinity Church, Ambler, Wednesday night and the Church of the Atonement, West Philadelphia on Thursday night. He will adress the Torch Club March 15th on the subject of St. Stephen's history. Last week the rector on invitation of Dean Thomas addressed the members of a graduate class in theology at Temple University on the subject of Spiritual Healing.

ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

It affords us great satisfaction to announce to the Episcopalians of this city and to the public in general that the preparations for the erection of St. Stephen's Church were commenced this morning, and, under the superintendence of our valuable and ingenious architect, Mr. Strickland, it is contemplated to complete it by the month of December next. It is intended to make 130 pews on the ground floor and about 80 in the gallery, which will afford abundant accomodation to the Episcopalians in the western part of the city, and to those who may not have had an opportunity of procuring pews in the other churches. An Episcopalian church in the western part of Philadelphia has long been a great desideratum, and it is with peculiar gratification that we announce the commencement of a plan that is so perfectly feasible.

The front elevation of this church may be seen at the Academy of the Fine Arts. About one-third of the pews are already subscribed for, and those who may be desirous to procure seats will make application to either of the committee, or at Mr. Potter's book store in Chestnut Street near Third Street.

This church is most conveniently situated, and being a beautiful specimen of Gothic architecture, will, with its lofty spires, conduce to the embellishment of our populous city. —From the National Gazette, May 20, 1822.

The Illustrated News of July 9, 1853 carried an interesting article on St. Stephen's Church. The following anecdote is from this article: "There is a somewhat curious and characteristic anecdote told of the well-known Philadelphia millionaire Stephen Girard, in reference to the towers of St. Stephen's Church. These towers were not built until the building was transferred to the Episcopalians; and when their erection was contemplated, a committee called on Girard, soliciting his aid, to which he replied with a contribution of $50.00. Somewhat disappointed with the sum, they intimated their discontent, when the banker requested permission to look at the check, which was instantly granted. It was not, however, replaced by a larger, but at once destroyed. We should, perhaps, apoligize for mentioning this anecdote, were it not already so well known."

The Altar Flowers today are given by Mrs. John T. Troth in memory of her husband, Mrs. Rosswell C. Williams in memory of her husband, and by Mrs. William K. Barclay.

The Altar Flowers last week were given by the Burd School Alumnae in memory of Eliza Howard Burd, by Virginia and Harold Mortensen and children in memory of Mary L. Reed, and by Theresa and John Reed in memory of Mary L. Reed, their mother.

The Free Library of Philadelphia, Logan Square, 19th Street and the Parkway will have a special exhibition of Ancient and Modern Documents of the Episcopal Church. The Exhibit will continue until March 12. Old and unusual prayer books, early church documents, prints of old churches, interesting curios and present day publications will be displayed.

125th ANNIVERSARY

Sunday, March 7, will be the climax of our 125th anniversary observance. At nine o'clock there will be a corporate Communion and breakfast for the members of the 1948 Confirmation Class, their friends and others who would care to come. Breakfast will be served in the Community House following the service.

We extend a hearty welcome to the Very Rev. Charles L. Taylor, Th.D., D.D., Dean of the Cambridge Theological School who will preach the sermon on Sunday morning, March 7. The rector was graduated from this, the most outstanding School of Theology in America, in June 1929. Dr. Taylor was then a Professor in Old Testament. Two years ago he was elected to succeed Bishop Dun as Dean of the school. He is one of the youngest men in the history of the school to be elevated to this highly responsible position.

Our hearty thanks and gratitude is extended to the Mothers' Meeting for their generous gift of $250.00 to pay for the new choir vestments. At first the sum of $125.00 was voted as an Anniversary gift; then for good measure this sum was doubled. Many, many thanks!

We acknowledge with grateful appreciation $50.00 from the Woman's Auxiliary of the Hard of Hearing for the Anniversary Fund.

The memorial to Dr. Grammer on the south side of the east wall is a relief portrait, larger than life size, of Dr. Grammer, preaching from the pulpit. This panel of Italian marble matches that of the panel of Augustus Saint-Gaudens on the north side of the chancel. The inscription may be found in the special Anniversary Service leaflet. Mr. Louis Milione, Philadelphia's distinguished sculptor, has put a year of painstaking work on this likeness of Dr. Grammer, and his unexcelled craftmanship has added another masterpiece to the rich collection of art in our church. With only a photograph of his subject, Mr. Milione, neverless, with consummate skill, presents the former rector with convincing faithfulness of portraiture. He is still preaching to his interested flock the things that belong to their peace. To Louis Milione's purity of line and perfection of technique, is added the overtones of a precious benediction of one who came to mininster among us.

The cost of this memorial was borne by the few but faithful friends who remain from the great days of Dr. Grammer's rectorship.

The grand climax of our celebration will take place at eight o'clock with the Musical Festival in memory of David D. Wood, blind organist of St. Stephen's Church for 46 years. Music will consist of Dr. Wood's own compositions with choir and special soloist under the direction of Dr. H. Alexander Matthews. Short addresses will be made by Dr. Edward E. Allen, Emeritus-Director of the Perkins Institute of the Blind, Boston, and Mr. H. B. Rumrill of Berwyn. Dr. Rollo F. Maitland, Organist and Choir Director of the Church of the New Jerusalem, 24th and Chestnut Streets, will play an offertory during the service and at the close of the service will improvise on an original theme by David Wood.

Dr. Maitland was Dr. Wood's star pupil at the School of the Blind. In fact his whole musical education was supervised by Dr. Wood. He imbibed the great spirit and touch of his teacher and helped Mrs. Wood in writing down the accompaniments of anthems that Dr. Wood had not published. We extend a hearty welcome to Dr. Maitland.

ONE HUNDRED TWENTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY

February 29 March 7

Philadelphia has older churches than St. Stephen's, but none which has taken a deeper hold upon the lives and loyal affections of its people. In the midst of the business and shopping district, St. Stephen's specializes in a ministry to the on-the-go business person. Last year over 42,000 people attended services. Its warm and worshipful interior attracts many hundreds of people who daily come in for a moment of prayer and meditation.

From its foundation, St. Stephen's has always stood for an alliance between Christianity and the Arts. It has believed that religion should nourish a large and rich culture and that the Arts should contribute to worship. Its artistic memorials have given the church a distinct place in Philadelphia. Many refer to it as the Westminster Abbey of America. St. Stephen's is not only a temple of worship, but it is also a shrine of the most refined and spiritual beauty.

We extend a warm welcome to our Bishop, the Rt. Rev. Oliver J. Hart, D.D. In the brief space of his Episcopate, he has succeded amazingly in quickening our Diocesan spirit, and placing our Diocese in the forefront of the American Church. The measure of his achievement, as our leader, is limited only by the support which the Clergy and Laity give him as their Father in God. We of St. Stephen's assure the Bishop that our hearts are his, and where he bids us go, gladly we will follow in the strength of Christ. May God grant him many years of fruitful service among us as the gracious Bishop and shepherd of our souls.

CORPORATE COMMUNION

The members of the 1948 Confirmation Class will receive their first Communion on Sunday, March 7th at 9:00 A. M. Following the Communion Service breakfast will be served in the Community House. Everyone is welcome to attend the breakfast provided we are notified in advance. This is a fine opportunity for our parishioners to meet the members of the Confirmation Class, and to make their Communion an expression of thanksgiving and re-dedication on the occasion of the 125th Anniversary of St. Stephen's.

ANNIVERSARY DINNER

There are still tickets available for the 125th Anniversary Dinner to be served in the Community House on Wednesday, March 3, 6:30 P. M. The price is $1.50. Two addresses will be made. Mr. Raspin will speak about the great laymen who have served St. Stephen's during the 125 years of our history.

Brother Hance of Pittsburgh will tell us of the great miracle that happened to one of St. Stephen's boys who gave his life to God. Don't miss this event!

DR. MATTHEWS TO BE HONORED

On May 6, the State Federation of Music Clubs will hold their annual convention in Harrisburg. At that time Dr. Matthews will be honored by being designated as this year's State Conductor and Composer. Dr. Matthews will conduct in the Forum Auditorium in Harrisburg a chorus of eight hundred voices in the singing of his newest anthem, "Lord, I have loved the habitation of thy house."

This anthem was written for the one hundred and twenty-fifth anniversary of St. Stephen's Church and will have its premiere tonight at the Service of Thanksgiving in memory of Dr. Grammer and will be heard again next Sunday morning, March 7.

ELIZA HOWARD BURD

We welcome the members of the Burd School and many of the Alumnae to the service this Sunday morning on the 155th birthday of Mrs. Burd. The School is now in its 92nd year. It had its origin in a private school for fatherless girls opened in the year 1856 by Mrs. Burd on Sansom Street near her Chestnut Street residence. Mrs. Burd was the mother of eight children, all of whom died in early life, the last in 1845. In 1849 she lost her husband, who never rallied from the shock of his last child's death. Left solitary in her old home, Mrs. Burd devoted herself to the church, works of charity, and in conducting her school, studying meanwhile how her wealth might best be used. Following her death on Good Friday, April 6, 1860, it was disclosed that she left practically her entire fortune for the building and endowment of a school where fatherless girls should be educated and prepared for life. The Rector and Vestry of St. Stephen's Church were named Trustees and under the trust, the founder's wishes have been strictly followed.

The Flowers on the Altar today are given by the Burd School Alumnae in memory of Eliza Howard Burd, by Virginia and Harold Mortensen and children in memory of Mary L. Reed, and by Theresa and John Reed in memory of Mary L. Reed, their mother.

The following subscriptions to the 1948 Church Bulletin are gratefully acknowledged: Mrs. John Bealmear, Mr. George S. Agnew, Miss Margeret Hall.

We acknowledge with thanks the Hymnal Memorial of Gail and Harold Mortensen, Jr., in memory of their grandmother, Mary L. Reed.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others)

Opening Prayer:

Open wide the window of our spirits, O Lord, and fill us full of light; open wide the door of our hearts that we may receive and entertain Thee with all our powers of love. Amen. (Christina Rossetti, adapted).

Bible Reading: St. Mark 14: 32-42

The Sermon:

A young housewife searches eagerly for a recipe—she wants to know the secret of making a dish to please her husband. With even greater eagerness, men and women seek for the recipe for peace-of-heart. The great difficulty is that there are many inferior recipes for this; and they do not produce true, deep-down peace-of-heart. Jesus taught that secret.

Two plain, everyday folk, a lighthouse keeper and his wife, once lived on the rocky Maine coast. Early one stormy February morning the wife woke to the sound of gale-driven waves thundering against the rocks. As soon as it was light enough, she looked out, and to her horror saw a small vessel pounding to pieces on a nearby reef, hammered by the smashing seas. One mast had already gone over the side; three men were lashed to the other mast; and the waves breaking over them. Her husband was still sound asleep—would she wake him? If she did, she knew that he would get the life-boat out, and struggle out into the wild storm to try to rescue those men. Would she wake him? If she let him sleep, soon there would be no need of rescuing those men, for the mast would break off, and they would be beyond rescuing. Would she wake him? Turning away from the raging sea, she looked long and hard at the kindly, weather-beaten face of the man she loved, safe in his bed. Would she wake him?

Suddenly she made up her mind. She turned and roused him quickly; pointed to the men on the wrecked craft. A few minutes later, with her heart in her mouth, she was watching him inching the little skiff out through the mountainous seas, as he bent to his oars. With a veteran seaman's skill, he fought his way to the wreck; took off the half-frozen sailors, and turned back. Once they disappeared completely from sight behind a mountainous green sea, but, somehow, they came through safely. Soon she was getting them warm and dry around the kitchen stove. Then it was all over; and she breathed a sigh of relief. Now, she knew, that, if she had let him sleep while those sailors died in the storm, he and she would never have had peace in their hearts again. Always before her eyes would have been those men, tied to the mast; the men she had let die. Always in his mind would have been that lost opportunity to do his duty. But now they could both remember that they had dared to do the job God had entrusted to them. And peace was deeper in their hearts than ever before.

The recipe for peace-of-heart is a very simple one. Jesus revealed it in the Garden of Gethsemane. For there He saw His duty, the God-given duty He did not want to do; but He knew the secret of peace, and said, "Thy will be done"; and did it. That is the secret of peace.

Closing Prayer:

May God, Who commanded the light to shine out of the darkness, shine in our hearts, to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ, to all people. Amen.

WHY IS CONFIRMATION IMPORTANT?

Because Confirmation (the New Testament name is "the laying on of hands") brings to the recipient the gift of spiritual strength through the outpouring of the Holy Ghost. It is not the equivalent of the ceremony of "joining the Church" used in some other Christian bodies; rather is it the ordination service to the priesthood of the laity, their call to active service as trained soldiers of Christ.

There is still time to join the Class to be presented to Bishop Hart on February 29 at 11: 00 o'clock.

ANNIVERSARY FUND

The rector would remind the members of the parish that there is still need of gifts to meet the expenses incident to th 125th Anniversary Celebration. Each member is to receive a 48-page illustrated booklet of the history of St. Stephen's and the four anniversary services will be printed in an attractive booklet and mailed to each family. Together with the extra music and publicity costs the need for a generous offering from each family is imperative. We have received $500.00 to date. We need in the neighborhood of $1,500.00.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others)

Opening Prayer:

O Lord Jesus Christ, Who art the Light of the World, illumine our minds, we beseech Thee, with the brightness of Thy glory, and guide our feet into the way of peace; for the honor of Thy Holy Name. Amen. (John W. Suter)

Bible Reading: St. Matthew 2: 1-12

The Sermon:

I suggest that we go into the great season of Lent with the story of the Wise Men in our thoughts. For it is the story of Three-Men-In-A-Rut. They were men who earnestly sought what is right and true. But they had sunk into a rut, trying to solve old problems in old ways, and they were not solving them. So, in their discontent, they sought new light. In the familiar sky they saw a Star brighter than the rest; and followed it across the weary miles, until it brought them to the Manger. There they found God in the form of a Baby; God Who would grow up among men and show Himself to them as Companion, as Pilot through stormy days. Under the Star of divine love, they saw life in a new light.

The world today gropes in an Old Testament twilight, seeking to solve the old problems of mankind in outworn ways—in warring, hostile ways, with blind fists and blind words. As a result, hosts of people find their lives in a tangle, and the affairs of nations snarled up in a mess. The most hopeful sign is the deep discontent in the hearts of men; the knowledge that we must find different ways of tackling our problems.

It is simple, if your discontent is honest and deep enough. Let Lent be seven weeks when you look at all problems in the light of the Star, in the Light which shines from the life of the Son of God. Take the weather, for instance, the commonest cause of men's complaining; especially at just this season of the year. Under the Star, the weather becomes a clue to the spiritual climate in which God means us to live—storms to test us, glorious days of sunlight to delight us; ever-changing weather, to train us to be ready for anything. Take suffering, which can so easily make you bitter. Under the Star, it becomes a challenge to your faith, a glorious chance to prove God's resources within you. The story is told of a gallant old lady, very fond of golf, who was suddenly afflicted with a painful and malignant malady. To the young clergyman who visited her, she remarked, "Young man, I'm in a bunker; now watch me use my niblick!"

Yes, if you will step out into Lent with the Star to guide you, life will take on a very different look. Even hardships will be welcome; with God in your heart, they can be beaten, with zest in the struggle.

Dr. Grenfel was lecturing one day about his great work in the frozen wastes of Labrador, when a sentimental woman gushed, "Oh, Dr. Grenfel, how nobly you are sacrificing yourself to those poor people". Dr. Grenfel looked at her with pity as he replied, "Madam, you do not understand. I am having the time of my life in Labrador." Under the Star, you see life in a new light, and you do have the time of your life!

Closing Prayer:

Show us Thy ways, O Lord, and teach us Thy paths, that, walking in the radiant light of Thy Presence, we may find the fulness of joy, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen. (John W. Suter)

HEALING MISSION

We extend a hearty welcome to the Rev. John Gayner Banks, D.Litt., who is to conduct a Healing Mission in St. Stephen's Church, Sunday, February 15th through Friday, February 20th. He will preach at 11: 00 A. M. and 8: 00 P. M. on Sunday, February 15th and at 10: 30 A. M. and 12: 30 and 8: 00 P. M. each weekday. Dr. Banks is the Director of the Fellowship of St. Luke. (Church Society for the promotion of Divine Healing) with headquarters in San Diego, California. He is the author of several books and the editor of Sharing, a monthly magazine devoted to Healing and the Spiritual Life.

The purpose of this Mission is to offer to all peoples in the Name of Christ and His Church the healing power of God. It complements the best medical advice which each may receive. The power of the Healing Christ has always been latent in the Church. Never have more people been in need of this strength for body, mind and spirit than today.

Everyone is invited to attend these services of Healing and to receive the laying on of Hands.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young People in the service of our country and others)

Opening Prayer:

Heavenly Father, let peace abound in our company. Purge out of every heart the lurking grudge. Give us grace and strength to forbear and persevere. Offenders ourselves, give us the grace to accept and forgive offenders. Forgetful, help us to bear cheerfully the forgetfulness of others. Give us courage and gaiety and the quiet mind; through Christ our Master. Amen.

Bible Reading: St. Luke 2:7-14

The Sermon:

As they looked back, years afterward, and the shepherds tried to describe that wondrous scene, all they could say was that the "glory of the Lord" shone round about them. It was something that made them forget all their small desires and petty affairs. It was the Light of a God so great that it lifted them out of their narrow minds, their irritations and grudges, into a high and holy largeness of spirit which crowded out all littleness. They were never the same after that majestic view of the heavenly host.

The hostess of a passenger airplane over Europe tells the story of a man who was caught in the underbrush of small-mindedness. As a matter of fact, he was a man who was famous, far and wide, as a leader in the industrial world. He dictated to the hostess a hard and nasty note, discharging one of his employees, accusing him of neglecting his work. It was a mean, bullying letter. When the hostess came back with the typed letter, she called the man's attention to the view through the cabin window—brilliant sunlight on fluffy white clouds, a patchwork of deep green countryside stretching away into the distance, and then, a hundred miles away, the majestic snow-capped line of the Alps, standing out clear-cut against the deep blue of the sky. The great man looked, spellbound, at that wondrous scene. He said nothing for fully five minutes, gazing at the breath-taking beauty of the scene. Then he looked at the nasty letter he had written, and deliberately tore it to bits. Through lifting his eyes to the everlasting hills, the glory of God had reached him, and lifted him out of his smallness.

Every effective Christian has his ways of lifting his eyes to find the glory of God. Some turn to the Bible, which is filled with that glory; to some familiar passage, like I Corinthians 13, or Isaiah 40, or Psalm 23, or Revelation 21. Some turn their steps toward a quiet church, where they have found God many a time before; and sit there quietly, open to God in His House. Another may seek out a little child, and be lifted up by the honest love and trust of those eyes. Be sure that you have a tried and trusty way of finding God's glory. And, especially when you get prickly with irritations, use it!

Closing Prayer:

Grant, most gracious God, that we may love and seek Thee always and everywhere, above all things and for Thy sake, in this present life; and may at last find Thee and forever hold Thee fast in the life to come. Grant this for the sake of Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen. (Archbishop Bradwardine, 1292 A.D.)

St. Stephen's Branch of the Girls' Friendly Society will have the Fancy and Useful Articles Booth at the G.F.S. CARNIVAL, February 7th, 2:00 P. M. to 11:00 P. M. at the Y.W.C.A., 5820 Germantown Avenue. The proceeds are for the repair and painting of the Holiday House, Cape May, N. J.

Thousands of boys in Scout uniforms will attend service in their local churches Sunday morning or evening, February 8th. Scout Sunday reminds us of the Scout Oath and Law—the code of living which has affected the lives of 14,000,000 of our citizens. We are happy to welcome the members of Troop No. 2 of our parish this morning.

Wednesday, March 3rd is a date you will not want to miss. Our 125th ANNIVERSARY DINNER will take place that evening. The cost will be $1.50 per plate and the reservations will be limited to 150.

Please, therefore, make your reservations promptly that you may not be disappointed.

On five Wednesdays during Lent, beginning Ash Wednesday, February 11th, the Rev. Mr. Meckling will conduct a class in religion for young people.

Class begins at 7:45 P. M., promptly, and closes at 8:30 P. M. Open to all young people of the Parish. The subject for February 11th will be "The Crucifixion. Was it ordained by God?"

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others)

Opening Prayer:

Bless us, O God, with the vision of Thy being and beauty; that in the light of it we may learn to think Thine own thoughts after Thee, and in the strength of it way do our work without haste and without rest; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen. (Henry S. Nash.)

Bible Reading: I Corinthians 13.

The Sermon:

In the Adirondack Mountains of New York State, Mount Marcy towers above all the others—the Indians used to call it the "Cloud-Cleaver". It is interesting to know that this mountain was named after William Marcy who in his youth was considered the worst boy in town. Hadn't he and his gang driven the school teacher out of Southbridge, Massachusetts, one winter! After that the shrewd Yankee school board looked very carefully for a new teacher, and hired a man named Salem Town. Then the whole town watched to see which would win, Bill Marcy or the new teacher.

Years after the Governor of Massachusetts was giving a great reception to a famous man who had been a Senator in Washington, three times Governor of New York, and Secretary of State of our nation. The name of the famous man was—the Honorable William Marcy. Near him on the platform was an old man, now retired from teaching—a Mr. Salem Town. The presiding officer turned to them, asking, "Do you two men know each other?" And the Honorable William Marcy, looking at old Salem Town, said, "This is the man who made me. When I was a boy, not even my father and mother saw any good in me. He was the first who believed in me. Whatever I have attained I owe to him more than to any other person."

Do you wonder that St. Paul said, "And the greatest of these is love"? Here was the toughest boy in town, really a hard egg. His own father and mother could not do anything with him. The old women sat around with tongues clacking, saying that he would come to no good end. The men around the stove of the country store talked about "bad Bill", and shook their heads. Then the new teacher came along, and took a liking to this young roughneck; saw golden possibilities in the rough ore of this youngster, just as Jesus did in some of His young fishermen friends. Before Salem Town came, Bill Marcy had begun to agree with the neighbors who called him bad; but Salem Town trusted Bill, and loved him wisely, until at last Bill began to believe in himself. Severity and punishment had made Bill a rebel. Hate had made him bitter. Distrust had made him tricky. But love at last made a man of him. So there is deep common sense in St. Paul's words, "And the greatest of these is love."

There may be somebody who troubles you, some one who is making a rather bad mess of things. Remember Bill Marcy! Remember that you cannot force that person to be better; cannot argue him into new ways; and anger will only make him worse. You have only one chance—you can love that person into new character. Honest love and trust can transform him. St. Paul learned that secret from Jesus; and it is yours for the asking.

Closing Prayer:

O God, Who art Love, grant to Thy children to bear one another's burdens with such good will that Thy peace which passeth understanding may keep our hearts and minds close to Christ Jesus our Lord. Amen.

The Wednesday Night Club will celebrate its anniversary on Saturday, February 14th with a Formal Dance in the Community House. Orchestra and Refreshments. Admission $1.00. Members and friends are cordially invited. The Club is for older young people and meets every Wednesday, 8: 30 P. M., 3rd floor of the Community House.

We are desirous of learning whether there are any additional members of the parish interested in joining the Confirmation Class. If so, will you please make yourself known to one or the other of our ministers.

The weather has not been kind to our services, Sunday or Week-Day, and we ask our people to make the effort to improve attendance.

Dr. George M. Lamsa is to give a series of Bible Lectures in St. Stephen's Church on the first four Sunday Evenings in February, beginning February 1st.

Dr. Lamsa is a native of Assyria and speaks the language of the Aramaic people who dispersed from Palestine near the close of the first century A. D. In the mountainous seclusion of Dr. Lamsa's homeland, his ancestors perpetuated the idiomatic language and the religious customs of this earliest Christian people. From this historic land, Dr. Lamsa, speaking the language of Jesus, comes to our western world to interpret the gospels according to the Aramaic tradition. If you have heard Dr. Lamsa you will want to hear him again. If you have not heard him, here, indeed, is a new and vital interpretation of Jesus of Nazareth.

CONFIRMATION

There are many people today not attached to any church, but are Christian men and women; they occasionally attend services but are drifters. Some of them were regular and devoted members of churches in the places from which they came. We would have such people identify themselves with St. Stephen's Church and take a stand for Christ and His Church.

Other people are regular attendants at the services of St. Stephen's but have never made any public profession of religion. They march along with the army but are not in uniform. When asked if they attend church they hesitatingly reply that they "go to St. Stephen's"! They inwardly feel that they are not sons of the house! For their own sakes as for the good of the Church it would be wise for such people to take a definite step.

Children grow up and reach the age of decision. They then take upon themselves responsibilities which were put upon them by parents and teachers. That age, roughly speaking, is about fourteen.

The visit of the Bishop to the Parish on February 29th is the occasion for all the people to take their places among the organized followers of Christ. Some do it by Confirmation and others by Letters of Transfer or in other ways: but the important thing is for all to join the fellowship of the disciples under the leadership of the Master.

Confirmation classes are being held every Sunday at 10: 00 A. M. in the Rector's Study. All are welcome whether or not they have been confirmed, whether or not they have any intention of being confirmed. Such subjects as these are being considered: Faith, Morals, Sacraments, Church History, the Prayer Book, etc.

THEOLOGICAL EDUCATION SUNDAY

Today is Theological Education Sunday throughout the Episcopal Church. The purpose of this emphasis is threefold: (1) to acquaint the Church with the work of the Seminaries, (2) to interest men in the ministry, and (3) to encourage offerings to augment funds needed to support the Seminaries. Most parishes will take up special offerings today.

Since 1890 membership in the Episcopal Church has increased 300%. In the same period the number of ministers has increased from about 4000 to about 6000, a gain of only 50%. Of these 6000 only 3500 give their full time to one parish.

The war cost the Church about 500 ministers. Although some 600 Episcopalians in the armed forces stated their intention of entering the ministry, today's crowded seminaries barely supply enough men to meet the normal current demand for ministers. The losses in the past years are as far from being made up as ever, while new undertakings are either seriously hampered or completely prevented by the lack of trained men.

Our eleven seminaries need more men—the best available. They need your financial support! The enclosed envelope is for your convenience. If you cannot attend service this Sunday, please mail your gift to the Church Office.

EDITORIAL

Without a doubt, one of the great books of the century is Arnold Toynbee's "A Study of History". It is an encouraging fact that this significant book, in its one volume reduction is being widely read in the United States, as is testified by its high place on the best seller list.

While perhaps Professor Toynbee has a tendency to force himself to the discovery of a rhythmic pattern running through all civilizations, the book and the author are awe inspiring for the sweep of comprehension presented. Here is a man who moves familiarly through epochs and civilizations as most of us ordinary mortals move through moments and city blocks. We desperately need his historic perspective in our attempt to understand the great movements and issues of our time.

There is great stimulus for the Christian in this book. The stimulus of warning, as well as encouragement, is written large on its pages. One lays it down with the consciousness that Christianity is the saving factor in our civilization, that the Church has an unprecendented opportunity, but that if the Church is to meet this opportunity it must drastically overhaul its strategy from top to bottom.

In what might be considered almost a postlude to "A Study of History", Toynbee, in a recent issue of the New York Times' Sunday Magazine, laid down a threefold formula of accomplishment necessary to the preservation of our civilization: First, the achievement of some form of world government; two, the establishment of a working relation between the free enterprise of the West and the socialism of the East; Three, the shifting of the structure of our society from material to spiritual foundations. Here are three great aiming points for a Church, whose function it is to save the world and not just to save men out of the world.

In the beginning was the Word, and The Word was God. All things were made by Him, and without Him was not anything made that was made. In Him was life; and the life was the light of men. And the light shineth in darkness, and the darkness comprehendeth it not. The Word was made flesh and dwelt among us, and we beheld His glory, as of the only begotten of the Father, full of grace and truth. He came unto His own, and His own received Him not. But as many as received Him, to them gave He power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe in His name. Arise! BULLETIN SUBSCRIPTIONS

It is time again for the annual subscription to the Parish Bulletin. Eleven hundred copies are printed each week. Some 675 are mailed to individuals and families to people who live in eighteen of the forty-eight states in the country, and in addition, to people in Canada, Japan, and the Phillipines. It goes not only to members but to shut-ins and people who value the weekly messages. It costs $30.00 a week to print and to mail this publication. There are some 44 issues a year at a total cost of $1320.00. Last year the total received from individuals was only $255.85. If every family would give $2.00 a year the cost would be met. Of course a great many people on our list cannot afford to pay anything, so that a check of $25.00 received today by the Rector from an individual in the parish will go a long way to pay for those who are financially unable to subscribe. The rector would appreciate a greater response on the part of those who can afford it. The rising costs of printing make this appeal necessary.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services: the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others.)

Opening Prayer:

O God, from Whom all good things do come; grant to us, Thy humble servants, that by Thy holy inspiration, we may think those things that be good, and by Thy merciful guiding may perform the same; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen. (Gelasian Sacramentary).

Bible Reading: Philippians 4: 1-8

The Sermon:

There is an old legend of the Franconia valley, that some day a child would be born who would grow up great of heart, an illustrious person. He could be recognized because his features would resemble the Great Stone Face. The dwellers in the valley cherished the legend, but the years passed, and nothing happened.

Then, one day, they had word that a man who had grown up among them was coming home to live—a great merchant now, having amassed a vast fortune. Crowds cheered him as he drove up Main Street in a shining coach-and-four. And people said to each other, "This is he!"—all except Ernest, a young town boy who had always dreamed of the legend. Ernest could not see. in the mean. pinched face of the millionaire, any resemblance to the Great Stone Face. After a time, the disappointed people agreed with Ernest. In later years, there came another former town boy—now a famous soldier, known in all the capitals of the world. Once more their hopes were fanned into a blaze, but Ernest, who kept on dreaming the Great Stone Face, shook his head, and once more was right. Finally the town welcomed home a famed politician, a man with a golden voice and an ability to stir peoples' hearts—men were saying that he might be made President. But Ernest reluctantly shook his head once more. So the people became disgusted with the lovely old legend, and decided to put no more faith in it.

By this time Ernest was an old man. He had lived his whole life right there—a life of friendship and goodness and understanding, of quiet and loving faith in the old legend. One rainy day, when the farmers were gathered at the grocery store, a stranger came in. He heard them complaining about the old legend, and how it had never come true. Suddenly the stranger rose to his feet, and pointing to Ernest, who sat quietly to one side, declared, "Gentlemen, you must have a touch of blindness. There is the man you waited for so long, the man whose features are those of the Great Stone Face." Stunned with surprise, they looked, and saw that Ernest was the image of the Great Stone Face. Suddenly they realized how great a heart he had, living his quiet and generous life among them. All through the years he had kept that dream in his heart—so he had become like the dream.

"Think on these things", wrote the Apostle, the things that are true and honest and just and pure and lovely, because you will become like the things you most think of. Put the matchless Master of men at the center of all your dreams and thoughts—and you will become like Him. Think of Him, rather than cheap and hateful things, for you will become like the object of your thoughts. Think on these things!

Closing prayer:

Fortify us, O God, with the courage which cometh only from Thee; that in the midst of all our peril and perplexities we may find that peace which only Thou canst give; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Light of the world, we know Thy praise
The angels and archangels raise
And all the host of Heaven,
More worthily than our faint hymns,
Whose jaring sound that glory dims,
Which God to Thee has given.
But Thou didst not disdain to take
Our low estate, or e'en to make
The tomb Thy resting place
So Thou might bring into our night
The dawn of Thine eternal light
To shine upon our face.
Nor death, nor hell, nor sin, is Lord
But Thou O Son of God.
Thy Word is now our sovereign law.
Therefore we thank Thee and we pray
Thy Light may shine unto the Perfect Day
On us for evermore.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services: the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others.)

Opening Prayer:

Eternal GOD, in Whose sight a thousand years pass as a watch in the night; grant us to run with patience the race that is set before us, forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things that are before; so that finally by Thy mercy we may obtain the crown of everlasting life; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen. (John W. Suter)

Bible Reading: Matthew 2: 16-23

The Sermon:

The Christian Faith began among thorny difficulties. It began with an inn-door closed in the face of the unborn Babe. It continued with flashing swords which sought to liquidate the Holy Child. It went on with a flight in the night, as Joseph and Mary sped away to carry their Babe to the safety of distant Egypt. A few years passed, and the bread-winner, Joseph, died, and the Oldest Son took up the burden of providing for that large family. So the Christian faith went on, through the ranks of the angry, hostile Scribes and Pharisees, through the desertions and denials and betrayals, through Gethsemane to Calvary itself. The Christian way seemed to have a genius for landing in grave difficulty, and an equal genius for overcoming it!

So Christian folk have always felt at home in difficulty. You may remember, in the unforgetable "Uncle Remus Stories" (now singing through all the nation's dance-halls in a popular song), how Brer Fox was determined to bring Brer Rabbit's career to an end. Brer Rabbit very shrewdly pleaded with the fox not to throw him in the briar patch; let Brer Fox do anything else to him, but, please, not that! So the fox threw him plumb into the middle of the briar patch, with all its brambles and thorns; and Brer Rabbit scrambled to his feet, shouting joyfully, "Bred en bawn in de briar patch, Brer Fox! Bred en bawn in de briar patch!" The fox should have remembered that Brer Rabbit was quite at home in the difficulties of the briar patch, for he had grown up there.

Some one has said that, if you try to be a Christian, you will always be in difficulties. That is true. You will always be deep in the difficulties of others, because you care enough about them to help them work their way out. You will always be finding yourself on steep paths, because Christ has a way of leading His people up to high joys and far views; and that always takes climbing. But the Christian, like the mountain climber, is at home in difficulties. He loves the far view, the glory of overcoming tough slopes; the thrill of knowing that, with Christ as guide, no difficulty can lick him.

I do not remember that Uncle Remus ever mentioned Brer Rabbit's religion. But I do know that you and Brer Rabbit have a lot in common. You both know your way around in the briar patch!

Closing prayer:

Now the GOD of hope fill us with all joy and peace in believing, that we may abound in hope, through the power of the Holy Ghost, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

The following Church Bulletin Subscriptions are gratefully acknowledged: Mr. A. E. Kullman, Mrs. Jean Z. Becker, Miss Florence Frazier, and Mr. David Magee.

"This highway beheld at break of day
Three Eastern Kings go by upon their journey.
This highway beheld at break of day
Three Eastern Kings go by in rich array
With courage high all their guards passed by,
Their knights-at-arms with squires and the pages,
With courage high all their guards passed by
With gilded armor shining like the sky.

Wondering then I watched the mighty men.
I stood amazed as the knights were passing,
Wondering then I watched the mighty men.
And as they passed I followed them again.
They journeyed far to the guiding star
That shone where Jesus was lying in a manger
And far away where the Christ Child lay
They found the shepherds come to watch and pray.

Gaspard old had brought a gift of gold.
He said "My Lord, Thou art the King of Glory".
Gaspard old gave Christ his gift of gold
And that this Child would conquer death he told.
Then incense sweet at the Christ Child's feet
King Melchior placed, saying "Thou art God of armies.
Although He lies here in humble guise,
This little Child is God of earth and skies."

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services: the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others.)

Opening Prayer:.

Assist us mercifully, O Lord, in these our supplications, and so dispose the way of Thy servants, that, among all the changes and chances of this mortal life, they may ever be defended by Thy most gracious and ready help; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen. (Gelasian Sacramentary, 494 A. D.)

Bible Reading: Revelation 21: 1-7

The Sermon:

A solitary house stands at the end of a long peninsula, jutting out from the coast of England. On its rear door, as you approach from the land side, you find written, "This is the last house in England". Sadness touches your heart for a moment—you have left behind England, with all its brave and pleasant people, its ancient churches, its quaint country lanes and cottages. But go around to the sea side of the house, and on its front door you will see, "This is the first house in England." And now all England, with its rich treasures, lies before you. New Year's Day is like that house. Looking to the past, "This is the last house." But looking forward, "This is the first house."

On New Year's Day it is altogether natural and right that we should think of bygone days. There will be sadness as we do this, of course, as we remember glorious people who once companioned our days, and lent music to our living. But there will be also deep joy. On the wall along side of my study desk, I like to look at the pictures of five men I loved—men of rich talents, of gaiety and warm hearts, of large vision, of unfailing kindness and understanding, of solid faith in God and His way of doing things. I look back on New Year's Days that were the "last house" of earthly companionship with them; and I am sad, and wonderfully grateful.

But, for the Christian, New Year's Day is always the "first house" also. It is always the beginning of something full of promise. For God has a miraculous way of "making all things new". Some stubborn, tangled problem lies heavy on your heart; and suddenly, in the light of faithful praying, God reveals new possibilities, and you begin to see a way through.

Perhaps you feel "heavy with years", and your son (or grandson) comes in to see you, and you wake up to the fact that your love warms him at his chilly times; that you are the living link with past days which he cherishes; so you look ahead with quickened joy. Perhaps you are reading your Bible, with a rather leaden heart, and you come upon those words, "With God all things are possible"; and you find yourself actually anticipating a new hobby, new friends, new truths, new beauties, new victories.

Don't you dare to linger too long at the back side of that house, my friend, and get stuck there. For all those who follow the Master, New Year's Day is the "first house", a day of new beginnings. "Behold, I make all things new".

Closing Prayer:

All through this year, O Lord, let me touch as many lives as possible for Thee. And every life I touch do Thou by Thy Holy Spirit quicken, whether through the word I speak, the prayer I breathe, or the life I live, in the name of Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

CALLING ALL CANDIDATES. The Rector's Confirmation instruction class will meet in his study every Sunday morning at 10: 00 o'clock beginning January 11. Attendance upon the instruction class does not commit you in any way. However, the rector desires the opportunity of presenting the why and wherefore of this subject. Confirmation is a service in which you are asked to come and receive God's blessing at the hands of one of the Church's chief pastors, the present day successor of the apostles. The service has come down through the ages. Today more than three-fourths of the total number of Christian people are confirmed.

The new 1948 Birthday Calendar is now available. The price is 25 cents, and the proceeds are for the Church School missionary offering.

We acknowledge with thanks the Bulletin Subscriptions of Mrs. William Langhorne and Miss Janice Bushnell.

THIS IS THE SUNDAY when the women of the parish have an opportunity to present their UNITED THANK OFFERING. This offering makes possible each year a tremendous and inspiring part of the church's missionary work. It supports the women missionaries both at home and abroad. Envelopes are in the pews and your offering may be presented today or sent to Mrs. B. M. Tinsley, the Custodian, 4504 Chestnut Street.

The fifth broadcast in the series "Great Scenes From Great Plays" sponsored by the Episcopal Church will be given Friday, 8: 00 P. M. over WIP entitled "On Borrowed Time", with that distinguished actor, Mr. Boris Karloff, as star. The Bible says, the last enemy that shall be destroyed is death and the theme of this play presents the message that death is not the end of life, but the beginning of a larger life...a truly inspirational thought for us all.

We acknowledge with appreciation the gifts of the following persons to the Benevolent Society: Mrs. Charles Hutt, Mrs. R. C. Williams, Jr., Mrs. John Smyth, Miss Marion Slatcher, Miss Emily L. Grothelhen, Mrs. Blanche C. Piper, Miss M. K. Caldwell, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson C. Leithead, Mrs. C. S. Slatcher, Miss Katharine Fetzer, Mrs. B. M. Tinsley, Miss Helen Haubert, Mrs. James F. Armstrong, Miss Hilda E. Yeutter, The Misses Elizabeth J. and Margaret Davis, Mr. Carl H. Johnson, Mrs. Kathryn Schrott, Mr. Luis P. Stumpf, Miss Susan C. Thackara, Mr. Thomas M. Armstrong, The Misses Daley, Mrs. G. R. Bishop, Mrs. Harry Lyster, Mr. Clarence P. Garrett, Jr., Miss Elsie Dahl, Miss Mary Swift, Dr. Herbert Old, Mr. and Mrs. I. Smith Raspin, Mrs. Benjamin Reath, Mrs. Carl Merris, Miss Mae Sneddon, Miss Jane S. McEldowney, Mrs. Martha Atherton, Mrs. Joseph J. Hardiman, Mrs. H. J. Hauger, Mrs. T. S. MacGoldrick, Mrs. Mildred K. Steele, Miss Gertrude McClellan, Miss Marion Headman, Mrs. J. C. Beatty, Miss Elizabeth and Miss Minnie Corrigan, Dr. and Mrs. Edward Schantz, Mrs. M. Brantley Ellis, Mrs. J. C. Funck, Mrs. Jesse Darlington, Mrs. Green, Mrs. Grant S. Hanley, Mrs. Leon Merrow, Miss P. S. Leypoldt, Miss Mary Millham, and four Anonymous donors. Our thanks also to Mrs. Leon Merrow and Mrs. Edwin C. Jones for their Church Bulletin subscriptions and to one Anonymous contributor to the Church Bulletin.

YOUR UNITED THANK OFFERING IS YOU!

Do you know that the United Thank Offering belongs to every woman of the Church?

Do you know it is given in thanksgiving to God for His gifts so freely given us?

Do you know it helps send 200 women missionaries all over the world?

Do you know it provides tools and necessary equipment for their work, such as typewriters, mimeographs, gas for their cars, recreational equipment, refrigerators to aid in their teaching, and furniture for their homes?

Do you know that a microscope and nurse's bag reached Miss Olive Brower, Nenana, Alaska, right in the midst of a typhoid fever epidemic when they were desperately needed?

Do you know the U. T. O. erects buildings on the mission field, repairs others, and provides special equipment such as motors, organs, stoves, or even a freezing unit or a skeleton.

Do you know that Holy Cross Church, St. Croix, Virgin Islands was repaired by the U. T. O. after the chancel was split by an earthquake?

Do you know that in co-operation with other Communions, Women's Colleges are being supported in India and China?

Do you know what other mission projects are being aided through the U. T. O. in this country and overseas?

Do you know that the United Thank Offering takes your gifts where you cannot go yourself?

Do you know that your U. T. O. is yourself in action?

Your United Thank Offering is you!

We request the hearty co-operation of all parents in the plans of our Sunday School which meets in the Community House every Sunday at 11: 00 o'clock. Do not send your sons and daughters to St. Stephen's. Come with them. The education of your children in the love and service of God is a shared responsibility. Parents and Church must work together at it. The Church can never be the sole agent.

THE RECTOR'S OFFICE
ST. STEPHEN'S CHURCH
PHILADELPHIA 7, PENNA.

Dear Members and Friends of St. Stephen's:

You and I have reason to rejoice that we are members of a Church which is so vigorously serving God and man as is portrayed in our annual booklet Our Church In Action. We receive light and strength from God through St. Stephen's, and in turn, by our loyal and generous support of the Church, spread His light and strength far and wide through our community and the world. Thus Christ says to us: "You are the light of the world."

Loyalty Sunday is a major means of keeping that light burning brightly in ourselves and others. So I urge you to sacrifice everything to be present Sunday morning, October 31st, at eleven o'clock and to pledge, on faith, for 1949. I feel confident that I can count on your loyalty and presence at this great service.

Yours affectionately,

DID YOU KNOW?

...that the Rector gives a series of lectures each year for those who want to know more about the Episcopal Church? Some people who come to the Confirmation Class know that they want to become members of the Church, but others are looking for more information. The class will begin after Christmas, and if you would like to be notified, give your name and address to the Rector.

...that there are still a goodly number of new Prayer Books that are available for memorials. The cost is one dollar and an attractive marker is placed in the Prayer Book. The book may be placed in the pew where you are accustomed to sit.

...that you may "park" your baby or young child in our nursery under the watchful eye of a competent person while you attend the morning service.

...that St. Stephen's has a Business Men's Club the object of which is to promote Christian fellowship among men in our business district. Some eighty-five men have signed membership cards. It is opened to all men whatever their denomination may be. A fine lunch is served by a committee of our women on the second floor of the Parish House before and after the 12: 30 P. M. service in the church. If you are a business or professional man, you are urged to join this splendid group.

EDITORIAL

The world must have an alternative to chaos. It is a matter of life or death for humanity.

But that alternative will be found only if it is sought on profound levels and it will be effective only if it is courageously applied by enough people.

All too many are hopefully expecting that someone will suddenly find a magic formula—that science or statesmanship will discover a process which can be applied with a minimum disturbance to the routine of life.

The alternative to chaos is not novel. It has existed throughout the life of our civilization. If it is not recognized, it is largely because it is too familiar and because it makes revolutionary demands upon the life of the individual as upon society.

Man must choose between his animal and higher natures. He must choose between the material and the spiritual. He must choose between God and Mammon. He cannot serve both. He faces that choice in his personal life, his family life, in his quest for pleasure, in business and political and social life. Wherever he is, he faces that choice. It is God or Mammon, the material or the spiritual. In neither case can it be both.

The choice is not registered by simple assent. It can be registered only by a way of life constantly growing through studied improvement.

And, socially, that alternative will appear when the leaven of dedicated individual lives is potent enough to leaven the lump.

FAMILY SUNDAY

Many churches are celebrating Youth Sunday on October 17th. Here at St. Stephen's we call it Family Sunday. The subject of the family is not an exciting one. It is literally a simple, homey subject. It calls upon us to turn our attention to our own household. It reminds us of the dining room, the kitchen and the sitting room, the places where the family meets, and raises the question as to what goes on there.

The rector hopes that many of the people of the parish will gather in church by families that day and make this a memorable and inspiring occasion.

ALICE B. WOOD

Members of St. Stephen's will be sad to learn of the passing of Mrs. Alice B. Wood on October 5 in her home on North Park Avenue.

Mrs. Wood was the widow of Dr. David D. Wood, blind organist of St. Stephen's for 46 years. All her life, she loved the Church and worked in its behalf. A charter member of the Girls Friendly Society she compiled and contributed to a splendid edition of the Friendly Song Book which is used throughout the Church. Many a parish group will recall her talks on music and other subjects which came alive under her engaging personality. They will recall the bright twinkle in her eyes and a warm friendliness. She was a charming, cultured, spiritual, interesting person. Such women make a parish rich.

HOWARD B. NEWMAN

Most of you probably did not know Howard B. Newman. But as members of St. Stephen's, you have been beneficiaries of his skill and devotion. He passed to his reward in September.

Mr. Newman was a very skillful commercial artist whose office was in the Victory Building. He had a genuine interest in St. Stephen's and he went out of his way to do us many kindnesses. He has been responsible for many drawings of the church's interior as well as most of the eye-appealing designs which have accompanied the rector's printed publicity.

Although Mr. Newman was a member of another church, he liked to come here during the week and worship with us. His quiet, serene presence was an inspiration to this writer. Our sympathy goes out to his family.

Our deepest sympathy goes out to Louise Costello in the passing of her mother. May God's comfort and guidance be with Louise and may He rest the soul of her dear one in peace!

We acknowledge with thanks the Church Bulletin Subscriptions of Mrs. J. Granville Leach, Jr., Mrs. Helene M. Wong, Mrs. Sarah V. Adams, and an anonymous contributor. Owing to lack of space the names of contributors to the Benevolent Society will be printed in a subsequent issue of the Church Bulletin.

The third coast-to-coast program in the radio series "Great Scenes from Great Plays," sponsored by the Episcopal Church, over Station WIP on Friday evening from 8: 00 to 8: 30 E.S.T., will be "The Barretts of Wimpole Street." Basil Rathbone and Beatrice Straight have the leading roles.

Not miracle healing but medicine for the soul is the underlying theme of "The Barretts of Wimpole Street." This is why this religious message stresses the fact that through the help of God and the Church, by seeking the advice of an experienced clergyman, many have found their way to better physical health through better health of mind.

St. Stephen's School of Religion got off to a good start last Sunday. One child attended the Nursery School, thirteen Kindergarten children were enrolled, and a number of new pupils were enrolled in the Junior and Intermediate Departments. The new hour of 11: 00 A. M. seems to have met with enthusiastic response.

The attendance last week at our services was as follows: Tuesday, 12: 30 P. M., 40; Wednesday, 12: 30 P. M., 57; Thursday, 12: 30 P. M., 72 and 17 at 5: 30 P. M.; Friday, 12: 30 P. M., 37; Sunday, 9: 00 A. M., 21; 11: 00 A. M., 251, and 7: 30 P. M., 74. In other words 569 people attended our regular services. For this time of year this is very encouraging.

The rector dedicated a beautiful tombstone to the memory of Mrs. James Carrigan on Sunday afternoon, October 3rd.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country, and others.)

Opening Prayer:

Almighty God, Who art the Light of minds that know Thee, the Joy of the hearts that love Thee, and the Strength of the lives that serve Thee; Help us so to know Thee that we may truly love Thee; so to love Thee that we may joyfully serve Thee, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen. (Gelasian Sacramentary)

Bible Reading: John 14: 15-27

The Sermon:

We live in a threatening world. Thunder clouds tower against our sky. Our world seems filled with dangerous forces, seeking to divide and weaken us: in the United Nations, in our own land, and even in the Church of God. It would be very grim indeed if we could not look at our world through the eyes of Christian faith!

As Jesus sat with His disciples one day, He was thinking of the time when He would no longer be with them. He had been their "Comforter," their strength-giver. Now, preparing for the day when they could no longer walk with Him along the country roads, He promised, "I will pray the Father, and He shall give you another Comforter, that He may abide with you forever." On the Day of Pentecost, the early Christians first experienced this new strength-giver, this Holy Spirit of God, which enables believers to face the darkest thunderclouds with quiet confidence.

Jesus explained very clearly what a person must do in order to receive this Comforter in his heart. "If a man love Me, he will keep My words, and My Father will love him, and we will come to him, and Make our abode with him." In short, if a man desires the sustaining strength of God's Spirit in his heart, he must first become an obedient disciple. He must be in tune with God. If you live in the country, and want a good water supply in your kitchen, you have to find a spring which allows a downgrade to your house, for water will only run downhill. If you want the Spirit of God in your heart, you must be obedient to His commandments, for God can dwell only with those wills that are in tune with Him.

There was once a famous Chinese philosopher named Lu Chu. He had a disciple who was so self-satisfied and smug that he had not even guessed that a man, in order to be wise and strong, must look to God, and depend upon divine aid. How could Lu Chu teach this conceited man? Suddenly he had an inspiration. He took two lutes and tuned the strings so that the two instruments were in perfect accord. The more precious one, his "master-lute," he placed in the hall; the other, in an adjoining room. Then he struck a note on the master-lute, and immediately the other lute spoke up in response. He struck another note, and the other echoed it melodiously. Then he "un-tuned" the other lute, and now, when he struck a note on the master-lute, the other gave forth only a jangle. For the making of music there must always be harmony with the master-instrument. So the Christian, to have God's strength-giving Spirit within him, must simply be in tune with God. And where men and women are true, obeying Christians, God's Comforter unites them into an unbeatable company of believers, strong against the evil forces of division!

Closing Prayer:

O Lord Jesus Christ, Who didst pray for Thy disciples that they might be one even as Thou art one with the Father, draw us to Thyself that, in common love and obedience to Thee, we may be united in the fellowship of the one Spirit, that the world may believe that Thou art Lord, to the glory of God the Father. Amen.

BENEVOLENT SOCIETY

Last year the Benevolent Society sent over four thousand articles to Jefferson, Pennsylvania, Presbyterian, Woman's and Price hospitals, and Visiting Nurses' Society. The material for these garments was furnished by the hospitals, and the Benevolent Society paid women to sew these articles in their homes. These needy women were paid $455.90 for this great amount of sewing.

Five hundred dollars will just about cover expenses for the season 1948-49. Your contribution will help the needy workers who do the sewing and also the hospitals who desperately need the articles. The enclosed envelope is for your convenience.

We acknowledge with thanks the Church Bulletin Subscription of Mrs. Ella M. Keys.

The rector is happy to announce the appointment of Mrs. Madeline Keller as Parish Visitor of St. Stephen's. Mrs. Keller is available for consultation in her office daily, except Saturday, from 9: 00 A. M. to 1: 00 P. M., and on Sundays before and after the 11: 00 o'clock service. Mrs. Keller will spend her afternoons calling upon the members of the parish.

The Burd School was officially opened for the year 1948-49 by the rector on Wednesday morning, September 8, at the Chapel Service. Twenty-seven girls matriculated from the ages of five to seventeen.

We extend a hearty welcome to our new Directoress, Miss Charlotte U. Day. Miss Day is a native of the state of Maine, and taught for some years there. She comes to us from the Greer School in New York where among other activities she has had unusual experience in the field of religious education and Young People's Work. We are indeed fortunate to secure Miss Day and look forward to a constructive and happy administration.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others.)

Opening Prayer:

O God, forasmuch as without Thee we are unable to please Thee; mercifully grant that Thy Holy Spirit may in all things rule and direct our hearts; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen. (Gelasian Sacramentary).

Bible Reading: I John 5: 1-12.

The Sermon:

There comes a time when "the world" seems too much for us. Life pushes us around; circumstances "break" against us; the winds are contrary. We cast about us for some power that will enable us to stand our ground. And perchance there comes to our minds an ancient word, like stirring music for weary, marching feet, "Whatsoever is born of God overcometh the world; and this is the victory that overcometh the world; even our faith."

Recently I came across the story of the greatest oratorio ever written. After forty years of brilliant success, the great composer Handel was down and out. His health was broken. His main financial supporter, Queen Caroline, was dead. He was deep in debt, and hungry. He felt a hundred years old, and hopelessly tired. There was no fire of inspiration left. As he walked by a London church one day, he groaned, "My God, my God, why hast Thou forsaken me?" Hopelessly he returned to his shabby lodgings. There, on the desk, he found a bulky package. He broke the seal, drew out the contents. Here were the words for "A Sacred Oratorio." The author was asking Handel to write the music for it. He grunted indignantly. He was not a specially pious man, and just now, was in no mood for religious meditation. Why hadn't the author written an opera instead of this religious stuff? But, as he began to turn the pages, a passage caught his eye, "He was despised and rejected of men...He looked for someone to have pity on him, but there was no man; neither found he any to comfort him...He trusted in God...God did not leave his soul in Hell...He will give you rest." with meaning: "Wonderful, Counsellor...I know that my Redeemer liveth...Rejoice!....Hallelujah!"

Handel could feel the old fire rekindling. In his mind wondrous melodies tumbled over one another. Grabbing a pen, he started writing with amazing swiftness, page after page. For twenty-four days he labored, night and day, pausing only occasionally for rest or a bite of food. At the end of the twenty-fourth day he threw himself on his bed exhausted. On his desk lay the score of "The Messiah," the greatest oratorio ever written. His last years were beset with many difficulties, but he never again gave in to despair. His resurrected faith remained, victorious, to the last.

"This is the victory"—God touching the broken spirit of an old man, and filling it with quickening life. You may be old, or young—at any age, if you will let God touch your wintry despair with His love, you can have spring." No matter how tough the world seems, or how many times it has beaten you, "This is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith!"

Closing Prayer:

O God, take our minds and think through them. Take our lips, and speak through them. Take our hearts and set them on fire with love for Thee; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen. (W. H. Aitken, adapted.)

EDITORIAL

A last editorial is most difficult to write—even when there is to be only a two month's interval before one will speak again. Two months in this rapidly moving and eventful world is a long time and so many things want saying.

What of those thirteen youngsters from one police precinct who, over a recent week-end, were hospitalized with knife or gunshot wounds? Thousands of children are in that area—and there is play space for less than two hundred.

What of the plight of the hundreds of thousands of homeless families? The powerful opposition wants to strike out the provisions of the T-E-W Bill (which would provide a limited amount of public housing for those for whom private industry cannot build), but retain guarantees for loans on more expensive private construction.

What about the Rail Strike, called by a Union which will not allow in its own Union-owned hotels to be unionized?

What about the justly merited pensions of coal miners and John L. Lewis' coming bid for power?

What of Palestine and Europe and of the ideological struggle?

What of this threatening atomic age which has filled our hearts with fears—but scarcely altered our patterns of life?

And what of a Church which, in spite of the awesome inperatives of the day, lingers complacently in parochial and denominational isolation?

Shall we cry "Peace" when there is no peace—or shall we face life in its fullness and go forth unitedly in the name of Christ, to save the world?

To be a rector of a mid-city church has been in a very real sense a vantage point. One sees the city as a whole, is appealed to in behalf of its victims of injustice and under-privilege, is called into its by-ways and streets of shadow. And one sees, as perhaps nowhere else individuals from all denominations, conservative and liberal, high churchmen and low churchmen, and one comes to recognize those who have the spirit of Christ and for those for whom Christianity is "just words" or something to be exploited.

And now since with this issue we suspend until fall, one gives a last brief report before the Bulletin is silent:

The humanity I see was never more bewildered, never more uncertain and insecure in the depth of its soul. The multitudes around us are in the valley of indecision, milling to and fro, listening eagerly for a confident voice that shall proclaim "This is the way, walk ye in it."

By that token there never was a harvest so ripe as today. But as I look toward the Church I do not see the laborers coming forth to the harvest. I see most members of the Christian Churches half-hearted or engrossed in institutional life—parochial or denominational. I hear them speaking with uncertain sounds, not sure that Jesus is the answer. I do not see them listening to the "still sad music of humanity."

And I conclude that these things we need most: A new sense of the authority of Jesus, with a complete committment to Him; a movement out of the churches and on to the establishment of the Kingdom of God; the rule of Christian principles over every area of life; a strategy of unity through which, like soldiers marching to the front, we hail each other as comrades and keep contact with each other.

God grant that before it is too late these things may come to pass.

PARISH VISITOR

After ten years of faithful and devoted service as Parish Visitor, Mrs. Mearns has resigned her position as of September first. Mrs. Mearns has rendered unique and unexcelled service to the parish and to the many who have come to her for advice and counsel during the past decade. With her many and varied contacts among the social agencies of the city and her all-round resourcefulness, she has been an invaluable aid to the rector in dealing with the numerous and insistent calls upon a church in the heart of the city. Mrs. Mearns has been active and interested in every phase of our parish life and has exerted valuable leadership all along the line. Her ministry of service has brought much happiness to others and we extend to her our heartfelt gratitude.

The rector will preach Sunday mornings during July and the first Sunday in August as well as celebrate the early Communion at 9:00 A. M.

EDITORIAL

One continuously meets people who seem troubled almost to despair concerning the future of democracy and the future of Protestantism. In their minds quite correctly, the two are linked, for both democracy and Protestantism depend primarily upon the response of the individual to duty, as over against authoritarian requirement.

In the light of present circumstances, we may well be troubled about the immediate future of both democracy and Protestantism. There is no doubt that, from the viewpoint of expediency, authoritarianism has the short range advantage. It can make quick decisions. It can command conformity. It can levy resources.

Furthermore, there is no doubt that the sense of duty, which is the driving force in individual responsibility, is at low ebb in our national life.

It may well be that for a time both democracy and Protestantism will be eclipsed. But, while authoritarianism in large measure has controlled the past and threatens to control the immediate future, the real future belongs to democracy and to Protestantism, for the future belongs to freedom. It belongs to men who will ever be open-minded to new and unfolding truth. It belongs to a race in which the individual will react to life in response to internal controls, to an ever quickening conscience capable of intuitively responding to God's way to new and untried situations as over against those who are subjected to external controls and who must wait until authority speaks. It belongs to men to whom God alone shall be Lord of the conscience, the God Who deals directly with each man's conscience and who has not delegated His wisdom and authority to any man or group of men.

But, lest we assume that authoritarianism is stimulated with high confidence, let us ask the question: "Who builds iron curtains?" and "Who forbids the free discussion of faith?" What hope has he who fears truth?

CHRISTMAS DINNERS

Each year St. Stephen's Church donates baskets or the equivalent to those who are unable to give to their families the fullness of Christmas cheer, with which others are blessed. Will you help with your generosity? Every member and friend of the Church is asked to use the special Christmas Dinner envelope. We need $300.00. Fifty-seven families and individuals were cared for last Christmas.

SPIRITUAL HEALING

Every Thursday in the church the rector conducts two services of healing, at 12:30 and 5:30 P. M. Religion has a message for the whole person and for the whole of life. The Church of Christ is interested in the soundness of men's bodies and minds, as well as in their souls. It wants to help strong people grow stronger and it wants to help weak, ineffective and divided people to find their true selves.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others.)

Opening Prayer:

The eyes of all things do look up and trust in Thee, O Lord. Thou givest them their meat in due season. Thou dost open Thy hand and fillest with Thy blessing everything living. Good Lord, bless us and all Thy gifts, which we receive of Thy bounteous liberality; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen. (Queen Elizabeth's Primer, 1558 A. D.)

Bible Reading: Ephesians 5:18 to 21.

The Sermon:

This year it will be easier to celebrate Thanksgiving in our land than anywhere else in the whole wide world. For we are the richest nation on earth. In spite of the high cost of living, most American families will at least have a square meal Thanksgiving Day—and that will not be true of any other nation under the sun, I think. Most American parents can be sure of warm clothing and shelter for their children during the wintry months. And most American people enjoy true freedom, with no tyrant holding a lash over their backs.

But the great apostle Paul was not thinking chiefly of creature comforts as he wrote to his Ephesian friends. With a wide sweep of his arm, he pleaded for "giving thanks always for all things unto God." That means thanking God even for our "vales of misery," because they draw us closer to His refreshing company. It means thanking God for our most vexing problems, which turn us back to His wisdom. It means thanking Him for the opportunity to practice real self-sacrifice in our eating so that the starving people of the earth may eat, and live. It means thanking Him for all the amazing treasures of the eye and ear and mind—for the vivid beauty of an autumn sunset; for the throbbing negro spiritual pouring out of our radio; for the wisdom found in great books like the treasure-chest Bible. Best of all, it means thanking God for God Himself—the matchless God Who made Himself known to us in Jesus Christ.

Thanksgiving is a national holiday. We cannot let it become Turkey-Day, with our thought given to the feed, rather than to the Maker of the food. It has become a cherished Family Day, when we gather our loved ones about the home table; but the day misses its deepest meaning without thanks given to the Father of all families. Perhaps the prayer at the beginning of this service may be useful. There is so much to thank Him for—

"For fun and friends and daily food; For children—my beatitude;
For strength to meet life's daily shocks; For apple-boughs and hollyhocks;
For snow in winter, fairy lanes; For peacefulness, and growing-pains;
For books by poet, seer, and sage; For easy-chair and middle-age;
For embers and for hearth, for songs; For faith that triumphs over wrongs;
For laughter and remembered pranks; For prayers at night—I give Thee thanks."
(May Carlton Lord)

Closing Prayer:

Lord, behold our family here assembled. We thank Thee for this place in which we dwell; for the love that unites us; for the peace accorded to us this day; for the hope with which we expect tomorrow; for the health, the food, the work and the bright skies that make our life delightful; for our friends in all parts of the world, and our friendly helpers. Let peace abound in our small company. Amen.
(Robert Louis Stevenson)

The Rector will conduct a service of Spiritual Healing in ST. JAMES' CHURCH, Kingsessing, at 8:00 P. M., November 28th.

ST. STEPHEN'S CHURCH is a convenient, downtown church, near the pulsating heart of the city's life, attended by visitors from all over the world. It is a friendly church, with a hearty welcome for all worshippers in a sanctuary in which majesty and homelike warmth are merged. It is a church conscious of its mission to the passing throngs and aware that the missionary program today must have its most strategic posts in the center of our great cities. For those who are seeking a church home and desire to affiliate with ST. STEPHEN'S, a card may be found in the pews which when signed will bring you the desired information.

The Military Order of the Purple Heart will have a shoppers' supper and bazaar on Wednesday, December 1st. Baked Ham will be served and the cost will be one dollar. Proceeds are for their hospital program.

Our heartfelt sympathy is extended to Mary Pointer Johnston, formerly of the Burd School, in the sudden passing of her husband, Dr. Richard C. Johnston of Spokane, Washington.

PRAYER BOOK MEMORIALS

There are still available a number of large sized Prayer Books for use as memorial gifts. The cost of each book is one dollar. You may provide any number of books you choose.

If you wish to take advantage of this opportunity give the information desired, insert it with your contribution in an envelope, and place on the offering plate, or hand it to an usher. If more convenient mail it to the Church Office.

RADIO—The Big Acts

The following is from the October 18th issue of the New Republic: "THREE PROGRAM ENTREPRENEURS lead the autumn field. In the order of their importance to the new season, they are the Protestant Episcopal Church, Fred Allen, and the Philco Corporation."

If to some the bracketing seems to verge on the blasphemous, that is just exactly what certain bishops feared. When the church had signed up 575 stations, including a number of non-affiliated outlets in addition to the full Mutual network, for a program called "Great Scenes From Great Plays," there were mumblings about "commercialized evangelism." But the Right Rev. Henry Knox Sherrill, presiding bishop, issued a counter-statement, threw the cue, and the show was on. Walter Hampden starred in a pair of scenes from Rostand's "Cyrano de Bergerac," and the church became one of that small—not to say exclusive—group of really talented religious broadcasters.

Only two network drama programs of a religious bent have thus far shown genuine artistic proficiency. They are "The Eternal Light," done Sundays at 12: 30 by NBC in cooperation with the Jewish Theological Seminary; and "The Greatest Story Ever Told," Sundays at 6: 30 over ABC, sponsored by the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company. "Great Scenes," living up to its name, joins this eminent pair, Friday evenings at eight.

The Episcopalians launched themselves into show business with professional competence. There are "commercials"—a general plea for church attendance, plus a few words from a local pastor. But the messages are not mixed with whatever moral the drama may contain. The church is relying upon esthetics to do its job of propaganda.

"Great Scenes" is being tried for a 13-week run. The time alone for network and stations costs about $11,000 a week. Whether the program is to stay beyond the initial cycle depends in part on its reception. The determining factor will be the willingness of the church to tax its contributors an extra three percent to finance the program. Why not make it a tithe and let everybody ante?

EPISCOPAL HOSPITAL

Following the general custom in this Diocese, your offering on Thanksgiving Day is asked for the support of the Episcopal Hospital. The merger with the University of Pennsylvania which has just been announced, will in no way affect the immediate future of the Hospital. Indeed, we believe still greater service will be rendered. We hope very much that with the help of every member and friend of St. Stephen's we will be able to meet our goal of one thousand dollars for the Episcopal Hospital. The enclosed envelope is for your convenience. Your generous response is earnestly requested.

The Rector was very pleased by the prompt and generous response to the annual appeal for pledges for the support of the work and worship of St. Stephen's for the year 1949. However, only 60% of our usual supporters have as yet responded. Please help by mailing in your pledge cards promptly. Every pledge counts. Fifty percent of those who have already pledged have taken the step up and increased their pledge over last year. Many thanks!

We wish to thank Miss Annadel Abadie for her Prayer Book Memorial, The Rev. Christopher Lord, The Misses Daley, Mr. Paul H. Downward, Mrs. James H. Mearns, and Mrs. J. C. Funck for their Church Bulletin Subscriptions, and also the following contributors to the Benevolent Society: Dean Emory R. Johnson, Miss Anna M. L. Lundh, Mr. David Magee, Mr. Joseph Frutchey, Miss Betty Elder, and Mrs. James H. Mearns.

Because of Thanksgiving Day, the usual two services of Spiritual Healing at 12: 30 and 5: 30 P. M. will not be conducted.

The Youth Advent Service of Worship will be held Sunday, November 28th at 7: 30 P. M. at the Church of the Holy Trinity. Bishop Aldrich of Princeton will be the speaker.

Only a few weeks remain in which to raise the 1949 budget. We cannot succeed unless every parishioner does his or her part. No pledge is too small—and none too big!

INVITATION

To all who mourn and need comfort; To all who are weary and need rest; To all who are friendless and desire friendship; To all who believe in God and wish to worship; To all who hunger for prayer and wish to pray; To all who know sin and need a Saviour; To all who are convinced that they ought to put first things first—St. Stephen's opens its doors in the name of Jesus Christ—and in His name and for His sake bids you WELCOME.

Better Hearing for the Hard of Hearing; 200 Hearing Aids available. Precision made like a watch, hearing aids need careful handling. Always get your hearing aid from the usher at the door. At the close of the Service, return it to the usher. Do not force the volume control. If the hearing aid does not work, return it for another. Always keep the ear piece close over the ear, otherwise the sound escapes and may annoy others nearby. Always keep the aid turned off when the ear piece is not over the ear.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others.)

Opening Prayer:

Show us, O God our Father, some way of serving Thee this day, by serving some of our fellows. Help us to be faithful even in a little, that we may learn to be faithful also in much; for Jesus' sake. Amen.

Bible Reading: Matthew 11:26-30.

The Sermon:

There is an old, old legend of a time when the people of the earth made loud lament. Every man felt that he had been given a heavier load to bear than his neighbor; and that, if he could trade troubles with his fellow-man, life would be easier. The clamor went on so long that the gods decided they must do something about it. It was arranged that on a given day, each man could bring his burden to a certain place, and there shed it, forever. But it was also arranged that each man must choose for himself one of those lighter loads he had so enviously watched others carrying.

What a day that was! People came and threw down their old burdens, aches and pains, problems, responsibilities, and besetting sins. And then they pawed over the vast heap, weighing one and then another, only to find it heavier and more uncomfortable than his old load. In the end, it is said, each man took back his familiar burden! The simple fact is that any burden is heavy if it is carried the wrong way. And any load, however light, grows intolerable if you keep thinking about its heft. Jesus said, "Come unto Me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will refresh you. Take my yoke upon you and learn of Me...and ye shall find rest unto your souls." Is your load too heavy? Then you'd better sit at the Master's feet, and have a lesson from Him.

Perhaps you are one of those people whose hearts are troubled about past mistakes, and are also anxious about danger ahead. Then you surely are carrying too much; for God never meant any man to carry the past and the future on his back, in addition to the tasks of today. Jesus reminds you, "Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof." Perhaps you are one of those over-sensitive folk who will not let anyone help them—but part of being a Christian is to welcome help as well as to give it. Perhaps you have been one of those independent people who pride themselves on being master of their fates without any help from Almighty God. If so, you have discovered that this does not work out well.

You can straighten your back, and carry your load strongly, if you really want to. "Take My yoke upon you," the Master bids. In other words, find out from Me what I want you to carry, which responsibilities I have chosen for you to bear. Then carry those, and forget the needless burdens you have added yourself. Carry God's load for love of Him, and of other folk. Carry it, trusting His Wisdom in giving you that particular load. You will, like all honest men before you, make the surprising discovery that God always gives sufficient strength to carry the load He has picked for you. It is as simple as that, "for My yoke is easy, and My burden is light."

Closing Prayer:

Set free, O Lord, the souls of Thy servants from all restlessness and anxiety. Give us that peace and power that flow from Thee, that, upheld by Thy strength, and stayed on the rock of Thy faithfulness, we may abide in Thee, now and evermore; through Jesus Christ. Amen.

EDITORIAL

Without a doubt, one of the factors which most greatly discredits our nation in the eyes of the world is our failure to open our doors to receive and welcome our share of the Displaced Persons of Europe. Britain, with all its burdens, has taken in 270,000 D. P.'s. The United States, with half the wealth of the world, has admitted less than 30,000. Meantime, hundreds of thousands still languish in concentration camps.

Who are these D. P.'s? Some of them are Jews who have suffered untold indignities since the early days of Hitlerism; more of them are Gentiles—many more! Protestants; they are, and Roman Catholics—people from Poland and the Baltic States, from Czechoslovakia and the Balkans—men and women and young people who left their native lands, rather than live under the slavery of the police state.

There is irony in the fact that as displaced persons in concentration camps, the expense of their food and clothing and maintenance is borne by us, whereas those admitted are and would be not only self-supporting, but would contribute to our national life.

Certainly these who left home, rather than live under communism, would be a moral asset in our ideological struggle—and it is logical, too, as those who know report, that these who refused to accept chains for bread are virile and honorable and talented.

And what shall be said of our tradition of haven and refuge? What shall we do with the Statue of Liberty? It is a rather hypocritical symbol in the face of our closed door.

"Give me your poor, your tired—
Your huddled masses, yearning to breathe free.
The wretched refuse of your teeming shore.
Send these, the homeless, tempest-tossed, to me.
I lift my lamp beside the golden door."

We wish to thank Mrs. G. J. Altermatt and Mrs. Charlotte MacEachern for their subscriptions to the Church Bulletin.

Our apreciation is extended to the following donors of Prayer Book Memorials: Mrs. William Langhorne (10), The Girls' Friendly Society (5), Mr. Burton N. Jones (2).

CHRISTMAS, 1949

There is a good deal to be said, we have decided, for the commercial Christmas. (Not for its vulgar arrogance, but whose fault is that?) This gay interlude between the first frost and the January white sales is not to be sneezed at. It brightens up the stores immeasurably; it supplies the remnants of our Puritan consciences with an excuse to adorn the streets; it redeems the city with blessed reminders of the country, if only for a week or two; it is needed admonition to friendship; it gives our poor, dry, bedraggled, beanpole spirits at least a few warm, pagan smells and sounds and tastes to remind us of what we have lost in our insane and insatiable thirst for respectability. Most of all, it is an excellent invitation to self-examination and a rearrangement of our values—it is in fact an involuntary invitation to Advent, that lesser Lent, which we are foolish not to accept.

The mechanics of it are quite simple. You walk through a store or two, meditating on your Christmas shopping. Almost at once you detect a curious little strain in your spirit. Perhaps the question arises as to what you would like for Christmas, and gruffly you mutter to yourself something about a kiss and a cup of coffee—you really don't want anything for yourself. But that is not quite true. If by some miracle time could be unwound and you could recapture the magic of a childhood Christmas...and you slow down for a second and take another look at the toy trains or the model airplanes...you wish they could bring you what they once did, and you wish you did not have to leave so much behind in life.

That is the strain we mean. We still hanker after the old loveliness, yet we know better. We wish the stores were as big as they used to be, and that we wanted what they have as eagerly, yet we are wiser than to hope for it. Homesickness is the best price we can find for freedom, and we are not fools enough to repent our bargain.

We are led, in life, from small joys to greater, from the bondage of "me" and "mine" to the wide liberty of "thee" and "thine.". In the process stores get smaller, red paper less glamorous, electric trains less exciting, a fat pocketbook less glorious, a sleek mind less imposing, national sovereignty less magnificent, our rights less transcendent, and fences between men less absolute. The world shrinks as well as a department store, and the things of the world fall into their proper perspective as things, not to be confused with people.

It does not happen easily, nor without a good deal of itching for the old days. But, somehow man has got to be made ready to see the world as God sees it—pretty small and not very satisfying except for its one superb privilege of being a birthplace for the children of God. It's about at that point that you remember the Stable and the Child, and wonder at the patience of God.

May the joy of His Word and the light of His Life abide in your heart this Holy Christmastide.

Sincerely your Rector,
Alfred W. Price.

The Church Staff—the Rector, Mr. Meckling, the Parish Visitor, the Secretary and the Verger—unite in their desire to convey to you, one and all, their best Christmas wishes.

There stood three Maries by the tomb
On Easter morning early;
When day had scarcely chased the gloom
And dew was white and pearly. Alleluia!

With loving but with erring mind
They came, the Prince of Life to find.
Alleluia!

But one, and one alone remained
With love that could not vary;
And thus a joy past joy she gained,
That sometime sinner Mary. Alleluia!

The first the blessed form to see
Of Him that hung upon the tree.
Alleluia!

The world itself keeps Easter Day,
The heaven above is beaming,
All in high festival array,
The merry bells are gleaming. Alleluia!

The Lord hath risen, as all things tell;
Good Christians see ye rise as well.

The Rector's Easter Greeting

THE EASTER CROSS

MY BELOVED PEOPLE OF ST. STEPHEN'S:

On Easter Day the pulpits of the Church will ring with the triumphant proclamation that our souls are immortal because Christ is risen, and that Easter Day has obliterated the black tragedy of Good Friday. The Easter victory, many will say, has cancelled the crucifixion. Spiritually, though not in actual fact, on Easter morning we bury the altar cross under Easter lilies.

There is a sense of course in which Easter does cancel Good Friday, or rather in which the Resurrection of Jesus in Judea cancelled what his enemies—and some of his friends—believed had happened to Him. They supposed that He had failed in His task, that His purpose of redemption had been thwarted. But we are entirely wrong if we celebrate Easter as if it annuls Good Friday for us. In our joy that "the three sad days are quickly sped," we must not infer that we can now forget all the sorrow and disappointment, all the burden of sorrow which Jesus endured on that dark day.

Easter does not annul Good Friday. It rather confirms it. It gives to the Cross of Christ an eternal validity, and to turn away from the Cross on Easter Day, to wish it might be removed from the Altar, or concealed behind flowers, as some have done, is to forget all that Christ has meant, and hopes to mean to us. Sacrifice, the vicarious bearing of human sin, in other words, the Cross of Calvary, is an experience not limited to one day, in Jesus' life or in ours.

The Prayer Book is profoundly right in referring to the Cross as often in Collect, Epistle and Gospel on Easter Day as on Good Friday. And "Christ our Passover is sacrificed for us" is a far more appropriate Easter anthem than "Fill the font with roses."

There has always been some plausibility in the doctrine of conditional immortality—the theory that we must earn everlasting life, and that some poor folk have nothing immortal that can survive their physical death, nothing worse saving. But whether or not all of us can live forever, everlasting life would be a living death for those who have not learned to lose themselves in sacrificial living. Easter means that we are to live in partnership with Him if we are to live at all. And He promises us rest only as we share His yoke.

This aspect of Easter throws no gloom upon it. It remains the most joyous day of the year. The Cross is uplifted, but the light of Easter radiates and glorifies it. Because of Easter the Cross can never again be mere suffering and sorrow. Easter gives an eternal validity to the life of sacrifice, and proclaims that he who finds such a life is in the central stream of the universe, sharing that self-giving Love which is the very life of God.

Affectionately and Faithfully, your Rector,
ALFRED W. PRICE.

4:00 P. M.—BIBLE CLASS

7: 30 P. M.—EVENING PRAYER AND SERMON

BY THE REV. MR. MECKLING

Soloist: MR. CLIFFORD SYLVESTER
"Behold the Master Passeth By"

The Right Reverend William P. Remington, D.D., Suffragan Bishop of Pennsylvania, will visit St. Stephen's Church Sunday morning at 11: 00 o'clock to administer the Rite of Confirmation. He will also preach the sermon.

The visit of a Bishop is an important event in the life of any parish or community. The bishops are our chief pastors, they are set apart and ordained to be our "Fathers in God." They see the church and its affairs in a wider angle than most of us can. Thus they have a message to give from a point of view to which we all need to go for the enrichment of our religious life, and to increase the effectiveness of our witness and service. In particular Bishop Remington is beloved here, as he is throughout the Diocese, and he will receive a warm greeting.

Confirmation, moreover, is not something private which takes place between the Bishop and the candidate. It is an act of the whole Church. If there were no Church there would be no Bishop and no Confirmation. All of us are the visible expression of the Church. We should try harder to be present at this service to do our share.

We list the names of the following persons in appreciation of their Church Bulletin subscriptions: Miss Marion Headman, Miss Emily M. Newlin, Mr. MacE. Gilbert, Miss Mary E. Garner, Mrs. M. Sinclair, Mrs .William N. Waters, Mrs. Edwin C. Jones, Miss Dorothy E. Kohl, Miss Marion Hart, Mrs. J. Wiley Christie, Mrs. Charles Stein, Mrs. Arthur M. Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Morris, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Bullock, Mrs. Mildred K. Steele, and Miss Adele M. Lewis.

You are invited to a Spaghetti Dinner and Illustrated Talk on Virginia Gardens by Mrs. Arthur L. M. Worthey in the Community House, Saturday, February 12th for the benefit of the Hard of Hearing Chapel. Tickets 65c. Dinner 5 to 6 P. M. Talk at 7: 30 P. M. Hearing Aids will be set up.

EDITORIAL

"Ill fares the land, to hastening ills a prey,
Where wealth accumulates and men decay."

Everyone of us learned to repeat in our early school days, those lines from Goldsmith's "Deserted Village."

How many of us then, or have since, asked "What are the signs of decadence which, accompanying the increase of wealth, warn a nation of a future fraught with ills?"

Surely one of them is what people do with their wealth.

The newspapers have made us familiar with the fact that 1948 was the year of greatest national income in our history.

At various times have we seen such other estimates as these: "More than 20 billion or nearly 10% of our national income for gambling;" "7 billion for liquor" ...; somewhat less than that for cosmetics...

And then we read that the indications are that last year the national contribution to charity fell to the lowest percentage figure on record—less than 1% of our national income, something like one tenth of our gambling bill or one third of our liquor bill.

As one moves about Philadelphia, meeting here and there with groups of people who are devoting their lives to human service, one finds an unprecedented atmosphere of tension: Costs have gone up, but contributions have not. In every mind the question arises, "What of the future?" To them a reduced budget is a very tragic human document. Behind its figures they see closing doors, services withheld, needy folk turned away. Here is a delinquent child who cannot be helped to normal life. There is an issue of justice which cannot be supported. Withal there is a shifting of responsibility from the personalized services of the voluntary agencies to the more impersonal and therefore more superficial services of the public bureau.

No law can change this condition! No external force operating on the individual can altar these facts. The answer lies in every man's heart. It lies in your heart and mine. What do we do with our money?

St. Stephen's Church operates seven days a week. In so doing, it demonstrates the fact that Christianity is concerned with all of a man's life and with all of a man's time. When it becomes simply a Sunday affair it is little more than a mockery. While the chief function of the church is to provide an opportunity for public and private worship, as a part of which the word of God is preached and the sacraments administered, there are other functions which in their place are important and significant. To work out the implications of the church's worship and to demonstrate its principles of belief in action, all of which is done within the fellowship of the group, is the purpose of the activities which are centered in the Community House. Every person who takes part in the worship of the church should, in the nature of things, take some part in the church's activity. As far as we can see, there is a place in the program for everyone. We would like you to find your place, and when you find it, to take it. There is no place in the church for spectators—participants alone are needed. There are some, of course, who in the course of events have been prevented from active participation in any activity, and they are released from active service, but for those of us who are well and strong the only way to full and real Christian life is the way of action.

Miss Elizabeth Gallagher of the Burd School was graduated on January 20th from West Philadelphia High. Betty won the runner-up award for the "Gift of Roses." This is a coveted award for the student who has done most for the school during the four years of study.

The Galilee Mission will hold its 52nd Anniversary Service on Sunday, February 6th at 8: 00 P. M. at 821 Vine Street. Bishop Remington, Dr. Tuke, Dr. Wilcox, Dr. Roak and the Rector will speak.

CONFIRMATION

Bishop Remington will visit our parish on Sunday morning, February 13th at 11: 00 o'clock to administer the rite of Confirmation. We shall be happy to present to him any members of our parish who have not as yet been confirmed and would like to be. A number have been preparing to take this step and have been in attendance at the Rector's Class of Instruction on Sunday mornings. At this eleventh hour it is not too late to make your decision to be confirmed. Speak to the rector!

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others.)

Opening Prayer:

O mighty Spirit of our God, incite our hearts and minds to seek the way of the Christ, and give us strength faithfully to follow the same, through all discouragements, for His own sake. Amen. (St. Augustine).

Bible Reading: Romans 8:31-39

The Sermon:

It was a very wise doctor who said, "Most people think that all we need to know is what disease the patient has. Often it is more important to know what patient has the disease." How right he was! I've seen two patients come into a tuberculosis sanatarium, each with the same excellent chance of recovery from an early case. One settled down, with courage and faith to take a good cure, and in eighteen months returned to his home and family, and to earning his living. The other sulked and fumed, and broke the hospital rules; and did not recover. It did not make so much difference what disease the patient had. It made all the difference in the world what patient had the disease.

Thomas Mann, the famous author, was discussing the effect of illness upon the career of a writer. He did not think that just being sick either makes or breaks a writer, "but if genius already exists, sickness stimulates it. It depends on who is sick." When a sick man lets his sickness stir him to a deeper dependence on God and a more self-forgetful love of others, then you get a Robert Louis Stevenson, or a Dr. Trudean.

It is fashionable to account for success or failure by circumstances. "So and so succeeded because he got the breaks." "I lost out because luck was against me". But the fact of it is that a man or woman of true faith can take even misfortune and make something great out of it, can take long months in a tuberculosis sanatorium, and make a new character and faith out of it. The fact of it is that Jesus took the grisly, shameful Cross, and made a sign of vitory out of it. St. Paul cried joyfully, in the face of all life can do to us, "We are more than conquerors through Him that loved us." If we let Him, God can take even our mistakes and our crosses, and weave them into a pattern of beauty.

A Persian student was telling how they make beautiful carpets in his country. The carpet is hung vertically on a frame, and little boys, sitting on planks at various levels, put in the colors from the wrong side. The artist stands on the right side of the rug, giving directions to the boys on the other side, telling them what colors to use, and where. The boys obey not seeing the pattern at all. "Don't the little chaps ever get tired or careless and make a mistake? What happens then?" asked a friend. "Well, of course they do," the student replied, "and quite often the artist doesn't make the boy take out the wrong color. If he is a really great artist, he weaves the mistake into the pattern, and it is lost."

Closing Prayer:

Take from us now, O God, all tediousness of spirit, all impatience and unquietness. Let us possess ourselves in patience, and resign our souls and bodies into Thy hands, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen. (Jeremy Taylor).

CONFIRMATION

There are many people today not attached to any church, but are Christian men and women; they occasionally attend services but are drifters. Some of them were regular and devoted members of churches in the places from which they came. We would have such people identify themselves with St. Stephen's Church and take a stand for Christ and His Church.

Other people are regular attendants at the services of St. Stephen's but have never made any public profession of religion. They march along with the army but are not in uniform. When asked if they attend church they hesitatingly reply that they "go to St. Stephen's"! They inwardly feel that they are not sons of the house! For their own sakes as for the good of the Church it would be wise for such people to take a definite step.

Children grow up and reach the age of decision. They then take upon themselves responsibilities which were put upon them by parents and teachers. That age, roughly speaking, is about fourteen.

The visit of Bshop Remington to the Parish on February 13th is the occasion for all the people to take their places among the organized followers of Christ. Some do it by Confirmation and others by Letters of Transfer or in other ways; but the important thing is for all to join the fellowship of the disciples under tthe leadership of the Master.

Confirmation classes are being held every Sunday at 10:00 A. M. in the Rector's Study. All are welcome whether or not they have been confirmed whether or not they have any intention of being confirmed. Such subjects as these are being considered: Faith, Morals, Sacraments, Church History, the Prayer Book, etc.

THEOLOGICAL EDUCATION SUNDAY

Today is Theological Education Sunday throughout the Episcopal Church. The purpose of this emphasis is threefold: (1) To acquaint the Church with the work of the Seminaries; (2) to interest men in the ministry, and (3) to encourage offerings to augment funds needed to support the Seminaries. Most parishes will take up special offerings today.

So many fine men are offering themselves for the Episcopal Ministry today that it looks now as if our Seminaries will not be able to take them all next year. With the present facilities of the Philadelphia Divinity School only eight new men can be admitted next Fall. $15,000.00 will enable the School to buy another house and take an additional ten men in the Junior Class. In addition to this $5,500.00 is needed for the present operating budget.

Our eleven Seminaries need the best men available. They need your financial support! The enclosed envelope is for your convenience.

Our "thank you" to the following persons for their subscriptions to the Church Bulletin: Mrs. William B. Campbell, Mr. Wayne R. Henry, Mr. A. E. Kullman, Mr. Frederick B. J. Crouse, Mrs. Charles P. EDITORIAL

The man of today asks of everything that is suggested to him, "Does it work?" This is true of a new fangled gadget; it is true also of an idea or an ideal.

To the modern mind Christianity, like everything else, must validate itself by performance.

Within recent days I have seen a most convincing objective demonstration of the validity of the unique power of essential Christianity. It is presented in the motion picture, "The Quiet One."

Here, in a convincing technical artisty is the story of the death and rebirth of a human soul.

A child is shown growing up in a loveless environment of misery and squalor. No one touches him, speaks to him, nor looks at him with the spirit of love. The capacity to love, which lies within him, is therefore uncalled to life. Its place is filled by loneliness, despair and hatred. Finally, this human animal runs afoul of the law and is sent away to a school devoted to giving him that which life had denied.

Slowly, very slowly, surrounded by patient and wise love, the capacity to love begins to unfold within the child. The first feeble and tentative gestures of outreach are made in the cautious manner of one who more than half expects rebuff. When that is not given, the process of growth accelerates until a new creature comes into being.

Here is the demonstration of the fact that love is the greatest thing in the world. Money cannot restore life—but the power of love can!

And the atonement is in this picture plain to see. Those who dedicate their lives to redeem "the quiet ones" must absorb at first all the hatred and all the abuse with which worldly cruelty has charged the young spirit. They must absorb and not lose patience, nor cease to love. Then, when hatred fails to draw the accustomed rebuke, when passion is met with gentleness, at length something miraculous happens—a child of God is born.

THE GLENN CLARK INSTITUTE OF PRAYER

will be held in St. Stephen's Church on Tuesday and Wednesday, January 18th and 19th. The afternoon sessions will be at 2: 30 P. M. and the evenings' at 7: 45 P. M. Glenn Clark, writer, teacher, founder and director of the Camps Farthest Out, will speak at each session and so also will the Rev. Roland J. Brown, Baptist clergyman of Chicago, who will present the subject of "Spiritual Healing."

EDITORIAL

The action by the Constituent Assembly of India, which declares "Untouchability is abolished and its practice in any form is forbidden," is one of the most heartening triumphs of spiritual power in human history.

Untouchability involved a form of imposed subservience in many ways more degrading than slavery. The principle and practice of the caste system, which condemned upwards of forty million people to hopelessness have been deeply imbedded in the religious and social systems of India for centuries. Buddha sought its extinction in vain; and other lesser figures through the generations, have striven for its abolition. They scarcely succeeded in modifying it.

But now, by the action of the representatives of the people of democratic India, the bonds have been broken; the walls have been destroyed without the application of physical or financial force.

It was spirit—and spirit alone—that won this victory.

Undoubtedly the focus of that spirit was Mahatma Ghandi. His power lives after him. But, while the focus was in this one remarkable individual, the power of the living Christ is plainly evident in this great liberation. It was from Christ, and not from the ancient religions of India, that the concept of human dignity and the passion for its realization were born and nurtured in Ghandi.

Furthermore, who is to say how far the influence of Christian missionary activity entered into this ultimate decision? For many years Christians have treated the untouchables as touchable. They have ascribed to them a God-given dignity. They have helped them to demonstrate their right to be respected even as other men are, by providing for them education and opportunity.

Beyond even this, who can estimate the degree of pressure that was exerted by the silent conscience of the world?

That this great act of liberation has been accomplished and that it was won not by gold nor guns, but by the power of spirit, is cause for great hope and deep reflection in this world which so largely discounts spirit.

BULLETIN SUBSCRIPTIONS

It is time again for the annual subscription to the Parish Bulletin. Eleven hundred copies are printed each week. Some 700 are mailed to individuals and families to people who live in eighteen of the forty-eight states in the country, and in addition to people in Canada and Japan. It goes not only to members but to shut-ins and people who value the weekly messages. It costs $28.75 a week to print and to mail this publication. There are some 44 issues a year at a total cost of $1,265.00. Last year the total received from individuals was $469.75. If every family would give $2.00 a year the cost would be met. Of course a great many people on our list cannot afford to pay anything, so that a generous check or two from those who can afford it will go a long way to pay for those who are financially unable to subscribe. The rector would appreciate a greater response on the part of those who can afford it. The rising costs of printing make this appeal necessary. The enclosed envelope is for your convenience.

We wish to thank the following persons for their Church Bulletin subscriptions: Mrs. Emily Weber, Mrs. May Brosamle, Mrs. Mabel Gibbs Weeks, Mrs. Arthur E. Schmidt, Mrs. George R. Bishop, Mr. David Magee, Mrs. Jean Z. Becker, Mrs. Helen Street, and an anonymous contributor.

CONGRATULATIONS!

I'd like to reach out my hand and shake yours, every one, individually. No, I'm not thinking of the 42,791 who attended the services of worship in St. Stephen's Church during the past year, for I do not believe congratulations are in order for attending services of worship. Friendly greeting and a welcome . . . yes, but not congratulations. I am sure the boss does not congratulate you for showing up at the office every morning; that is your business. And on Sunday or any other day when services are held its your business to be in your Father's house to worship and give your thanks to Him for your blessings.

So,—no congratulations for being in church in such large numbers this past year, but all kinds of congratulations on the splendid way in which you responded, in meeting your financial responsibilities to St. Stephen's and its work.

Of course, figures never prove a thing, they say. But nevertheless they are interesting. Year by year we are giving more to worthwhile objects outside the parish. Each year we assume a larger pledge to the missionary work of the Episcopal Church. This year we over-subscribed our missionary quota of $4,500.00. We raised $1,040.54 for the Episcopal Hospital. We gave $104.00 for Theological Education, $456.15 for the Women's United Thank Offering. We gave $1,142.00 for the Presiding Bishop's Fund for World Relief. We raised $1,719.13 for the benevolent purposes of our parish. Besides a great many packages for Britain we gave $65.05 for this project. We raised $305.02 for our Christmas Basket Fund. We paid in full our Diocesan Assessment of $1,244.41. The total of our benevolent giving for 1948 was $11,213.41. So, again, many thanks for this marvelous expression of your interest in the vital work of the Church. Sixty-five percent of all the money contributed to St. Stephen's by members and friends in 1948 found its way to benevolent and mission objects outside the parish. Oh yes, we almost forgot—despite the rising costs in every item on our budget this past year, we closed the year with a balanced budget and go into the new year with all bills paid.

WHY IS CONFIRMATION IMPORTANT?

Because Confirmation (the New Testament name is "the laying on of hands") brings to the recipient the gift of spiritual strength through the outpouring of the Holy Ghost. It is not the equivalent of the ceremony of "joining the Church" used in some other Christian bodies; rather it is the ordination service to the priesthood of the laity, their call to active service as trained soldiers of Christ.

There is still time to join the Class to be presented to Bishop Remington on February 13th at 11: 00 o'clock.

CALLING ALL CANDIDATES

The Rector's Confirmation instruction class will meet in his study every Sunday morning at 10:00 A. M. Attendance upon the instruction class does not commit you in any way. However, the rector desires the opportunity of presenting the why and wherefore of this important subject. Confirmation is a service in which you are asked to come and receive God's blessing at the hands of one of the Church's chief pastors, the present day successor of the apostles. The service has come down through the ages. Today more than three-fourths of the total number of Christian people are confirmed.

The rector was invited by the Dean of Temple Theological School to conduct a two hour seminar in the Graduate School on the subject of Spiritual Healing on January 3rd.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others).
Opening Prayer:

Almighty God, Whose glory fills Thy temple; Let the whole earth keep silence before Thy tranquil majesty, that we may venture reverently to worship the beauty of Thy holiness; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen. (John W. Suter)

Bible Reading: Mark 6:31-34

The Sermon:

There are many people who truly crave serenity, but do not know how to find it. Jesus shows us how.

There was a time in His ministry when He and the disciples were furiously busy. Crowds thronged about them, bringing their sick to be healed, their questions to be answered. Jesus saw that His twelve men were close to exhaustion—actually they were not getting enough leisure to eat their meals in peace; on the go, on the quick move, from morning until late evening. Jesus quietly passed the word to His disciples, "Come ye yourselves apart into a desert place, and rest awhile." So they went, and stretched themselves out in peace on that mountainside, and drank in the quietness of it all and the beauty of the far view. Sometimes "Be still and know that I am God" means that you must make your body be still, to stop moving, so that you can slow down your excited, straining thoughts, and listen to God.

There are simple, practical ways to still our bodies, to "come apart, and rest a while." You have been hard at work, house-cleaning, hurrying, hurrying, hurrying. Something within you says, "Come apart and rest awhile," and you stop your cleaning, and drop into a comfortable chair by the window, and look out. Maybe your eyes rest on a great company of swallows gathering along the telephone wires, and the sight of that annual exodus first gives you a reminding twinge that summer is over; then it reminds you of the wonderful ways of God Who has put into the birds the sure instinct when to wing their way to the southlands. You watch them, wondering; and suddenly you are praying, praising God for His greatness. A moment later you are back at your sweeping, refreshed by "coming apart" into thoughts of God.

There was once an over-busy, exhausted English businessman, whose doctor ordered him to go to a quiet place and rest. He went, but he did not know how to be still and relaxed. One day, in a frenzy of exasperation, he took his walking-stick and went for a walk across the countryside, slashing at the little blue flowers that covered the path. Finally he encountered a botanist, stooping down, and peering through a magnifying glass into the heart of that little moorland flower. "This ugly plant is a nuisance isn't it!" the businessman exploded. The botanist smiled, and handed over the magnifying glass, and bade him look. As he gazed through the glass, he saw for the first time the delicate beauty and symmetrical perfection of the tiny flower. He handed back the glass with a sober fare—"I didn't take time to look," he said. He had discovered this God-created beauty only when he stopped, made his restless body be still for a moment, and took time to look with seeing eyes. So serenity can come to those who truly desire it, those who are willing to come apart into the stillness with God.

Closing Prayer:

Walk with us, O Christ, in the way, as Thou didst with Thy disciples, until the day is spent and our journey done; then of Thy goodness break with us the bread of life, and grant us vision of Thy face; for Thy Name's sake, world without end. Amen. (John W. Suter).

WELCOME TO CHAPLAIN LESCELLES-WARD

We extend a hearty welcome to our guest speaker, the Rev. Neville Lascelles-Ward, Chaplain of the Philadelphia General Hospital. Chaplain Ward will speak to us at the 11:00 o'clock service on January 9th on his work in this great city hospital.

The rector has placed a clothes basket in the vestibule of the Church where you are requested to place gifts to aid the Chaplain in his work. Cigarettes, candy, tobacco, canned goods and any edible commodities will be gratefully received.

12/24/48: "Today I am having one of the most severe testing times of my life, and if it were not for the hope I have in God I don't know what I would do. I thank you for having the church open so one can stop in and pray for strength."—A brother in Christ.

We wish to thank Mrs. Elizabeth Mayer for her contribution to the Benevolent Society, and the following persons for their Church Bulletin subscriptions: Mrs. Lillian Carter, Mrs. J. E. Semon, Miss M. K. Caldwell, Miss Mildred W. Leach and Mrs. M. Caffery.

A NEW YEAR'S GREETING . . . SHUT THAT DOOR!

Elijah once told a very distracted and anxious woman to go home and shut the door upon herself. Shrewd reader of human nature! He recognized that there would be something psychological in such an act. States of mind are induced by physical acts quite as often as physical acts are prompted by states of mind. William James always insisted, you know, that we didn't run because we felt afraid, we felt afraid because we ran. Even when Pilate went through the ritual of washing his hands with soap and water it gave his conscience a cleaner feeling too.

We will soon go through the annual ritual of shutting a door. At midnight on Monday night, when the clock strikes twelve and the tooting of whistles and the clanging of bells announce the end of the old year, there will be people all over the land who will feel that they are actually closing some kind of door. And they are—the door of the old year. But the question is, how many of them really shut the doors of their minds on time?

There are some mental doors closed when we close the door of the old year. One of them is the Door of Worry Over Things Undone. What a common experience it is to be plagued by a haunting sense that we have probably left something undone which we ought to have attended to especially when the rush is over and the door is closed. And how many things undone we can recall when the door of the year is shut if we let our minds go out and dwell on them—the letters we didn't write, the little thoughtful services we might have rendered, the duties we left unperformed, the friendships we neglected, the good intentions we failed to carry out. They range all the way from unsent birthday greetings to seized opportunities. It is too late now. Shut that door. There are still chances and ways for atonement in the New Year.

Another is the Door of Regret over what was wrongly done. It is related of old Doctor Samuel Johnson that in the last years of his life he could be seen once a year standing bareheaded at a certain spot in the market place, sometimes in the pelting rain, as he patiently observed the anniversary of the day and place where in his boyhood, he had slashed his father with a bad-tempered tongue. If one should keep the door of his mind ajar he could peek out on any number of regretted sins and follies—quick-tempered thrusts which drew blood, the bit of meanness which was so uncalled for, the unjust suspicion, and that ill-founded judgment. Any one of us could spend a great many unhappy moments this side of the door of the old year regretting what was wrongly done. And perhaps as a penance we deserve to. Nevertheless, shut that door.

Still another door of our minds which ought to be closed is the Door of Brooding Over Past Injuriees, real or fancied. There are some people who sing a perpetual hymn of resentment adding new stanzas to it from time to time. I was acquainted with a woman, whether now in the flesh I know not, who used to say with a flash of her dark eyes, "I am like an Indian I never forget an injury." And she didn't either. What a thing to boast about! Why be like an Indian instead of like a Christian? Still there are folk who next July will be brooding over the slights and injuries of last July. The door of the year 1948 will still be open. In heaven's name, let us shut that door!

Once more there is the Door of Sorrows, the hardest of all doors to shut. One would not say, "Shut the door of sacred memory upon thee." That would not be right. But the door of a rankling grief is different. St. Paul put it very wisely and very beautifully when he said, "Grieve not as those who have no hope." The glory of tomorrow is its hope. The joy of a new year is the light in its coming days. Gently shut the door on these bitter painful memories that recede with the past year and open the door ahead with thanksgiving that God is God, and Love is Love, and Life is stronger than all its sorrows.

It is behind the closed door that we are most likely, when we turn, to find ourselves facing Christ. "When the doors were shut—Jesus came and stood in the midst. It was behind a closed door that the woman discovered that Power which mysteriously multiplied the oil until it filled all the empty capacities into which she poured it.

A Blessed New Year. But first—be sure to shut that door!

NOTES

At the Meeting of the Vestry on Monday, December 13th, the resignation of Mr. William H. Hollar, Jr. as Vestryman of St. Stephen's Church was presented and accepted by the Vestry with regret. Mr. and Mrs. Hollar have taken up residence in Hendersonville, North Carolina. Mr. Hollar has served on the Vestry of St. Stephen's Church for twenty-six years. He has served on the Church Property Committee and the Executive Committee with rare fidelity and efficiency. He supervised every detail of the building of the Community House and was responsible for its very efficient lay-out and equipment. The longer he served as a Vestryman, the more he grew both in his ability to handle the details of management and also in his deeper understanding of the larger issues. Speaking on behalf of all the staff, I should like to express to him our appreciation for the way in which he has dealt with us. He has always been ready to listen to our problems, always sympathetic to our needs, always frank and straightforward in his judgment. We all appreciate that kind of leadership and we wish him well. A. W. P.

The Rector gives a series of lectures each year for those who want to know more about the Episcopal Church. Some people come to the Confirmation Class knowing that they want to become members of the Church, but others are looking for more information. The Confirmation Class will begin on Sunday, January 2, at 10:00 A. M. in the Rector's study and will continue for six weeks. Bishop Remington will come to St. Stephen's on Sunday, February 13, to administer the Rite of Confirmation. If you are interested in this Class, please notify the rector.

On Sunday, January 9th at 11:00 A. M. the Rector has invited the Episcopal Chaplain of the Philadelphia General Hospital to speak to the congregation on the work he is doing in this great city hospital. Chaplain Ward is doing a fine work among the Episcopal patients. The rector will provide a clothes basket and place it at the door of the Church for this service, and the members of the congregation are asked to bring cigarettes, candy, tobacco, canned goods and any edible commodities to be placed in the basket. The Chaplain will then be able to give the patients a little gift as he makes his daily rounds.

The New Year's Eve Watch Night Service will be held at 11:00 P. M. with hymns, prayers and address by Mr. Meckling followed by the Holy Communion.

WORKERS' COMMUNION

On Sunday, January 2, there will be a special service of Holy Communion at 11:00 o'clock to which we invite our young people, and all the active members of our parish organizations. We ask them to begin the year at the Altar, to present their activities, and to ask God's blessing upon all we do.

HEALING MISSION

We extend a hearty welcome to the Rev. John Gayner Banks, D.Litt., who is to conduct another Healing Mission in St. Stephen's Church, Sunday, March 6th through Friday, March 11th. He will preach at 11: 00 A. M. and 7: 30 P. M. on Sunday, March 6th and at 10: 30 A. M. and 12: 30 P. M. and 8: 00 P. M. each week-day. Dr. Banks is the Director of the Fellowship of St. Luke (Church Society for the promotion of Divine Healing) with headquarters in San Diego, California. He is the author of several books and the editor of Sharing, a monthly magazine devoted to Healing and the Spiritual Life.

The purpose of this Mission is to offer to all people in the Name of Christ and His Church the healing power of God. It complements the best medical advice which each may receive. The power of the Healing Christ has always been latent in the Church. Never have more people been in need of this strength for body, mind and spirit than today.

The Mission is for all—not just for the sick. It is a special opportunity for realizing the power of GOD.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-ins, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the armed services and others.)

Opening Prayer:

O God of peace, Who hast taught us that in returning and rest we shall be saved, in quietness and confidence shall be our strength; By the might of Thy Spirit, lift us, we pray Thee, to Thy Presence, where we may be still and know that Thou art God, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Bible Reading: St. John 8: 12 (Book of Common Prayer, page 595).

The Sermon:

On December 21st, the sun edged up over the wintry horizon at 7: 25 A. M., and then slipped down behind the western hills at 4: 31 P. M., after a short day of nine hours and six minutes. On March 2nd (Ash Wednesday) the sun was up at 6: 34 A. M., and did not set until 5: 51 P. M., giving us eleven hours and seven minutes of daylight. That is where "Lent" got its name, for the "lencten fasten" was the church season that came in the time of lengthening days. So the true meaning of Lent is the season of growing daylight. Let us plan to make Lent a season of increasing light!

First, more light in your praying. Many of us get into a rut, praying the small, small prayer day after day. We need the light of bigger souls than ours, so Lent is an excellent time to memorize a few prayers, such as the ones on this page, or others from the Book of Common Prayer, or your devotional book. Learn several; and then always begin your private devotions by saying one of them. You will pray more wisely and more in Jesus' spirit, if your praying is so lighted by great prayers.

Second, more light in your thinking. With radio and television at our disposal, at the touch of the button, we get lazy about our thinking. Take your New Testament this Lent, and read one of the Gospels through thoroughly, asking yourself—What did Jesus talk about most? What did He mean by "sin"? What kind of people did he choose for friends? Or take a current best-seller, like Lloyd Douglas' "The Big Fisherman," and live through the stormy, wonderful life of Peter with his Master. Get some memorable biography out of your public library—Trudeau, St. Francis, Mahatma Gandhi, or Lincoln. See that your thinking this Lent is lighted by kindled lives.

Third, more light in your listening. Stop turning on the radio by the hour, blaring out its oily commercials and its sticky-sweet soap-box dramas. Pick out a few programs that will leave you warm and lighted and refreshed—a morning watch, a United Nations broadcast, a piece of great music. Or take telephone-listening-when-Gossipy-Girty rings you tomorrow morning, brimming over with the latest secondhand neighborhood fairy tales, have your wits about you, and think of some good reason why you have immediate business elsewhere. Then call up some one else, whose mind travels in sunlight rather than the sewer, for a few minutes' chat. You don't have to listen to everything, or every one. See that your listening is lighted by a Christlike spirit.

Plan your Lent that way. What happens? Where there is more Light, there is always growth. The lengthening days bring spring on earth. The increasing light within you will bring growth in your soul—and Easter will be Spring with you.

Closing Prayer:

Lord, have mercy upon us, for Thy great ocean is so big; and our little boats are so small. Amen. (Prayer of the Breton Fishermen..)

SUGGESTED LENTEN READING

"Forward-day-by-day"—A small booklet of prayers and meditations for every day. 10 cents.

"Forth"—The official magazine of the Episcopal Church telling of missionary work at home and abroad. Special Lenten number. 10 cents a copy. One year, $1.25.

"You are My Friends"—by Frank Laubach. Recommended by the Rector as a simple, usable devotional book. Written simply and popularly. $1.50.

"Things That Matter—The Best of the Writings of Bishop Brent." The Presiding Bishop's Book for Lent, 1949. $1.50. Prayers, meditations, intimate diaries of "Everybody's Bishop," as he was called; the inner life of a practical mystic, a wise executive, a prophet and pioneer of Christian unity.

"I Will Lift Up Mine Eyes," by Glenn Clark. A specific, concrete, reverent, and sensible guide to the practice of prayer. It deals with specific techniques by which one can learn to make prayer fruitful for life.

LENT 1949

Lent comes as on opportunity for the quickening and deepening of our spiritual lives. We can make good use of it in several ways. It is possible to enlighten our minds by reading some book which will clarify our thinking about religion. We can give a little more time to prayer and meditation, both in church and in our own closets. There are also special tasks of service which can be profitably undertaken and carried through between Ash Wednesday and Easter.

For the furtherance of all these purposes there will be special services in St. Stephen's. Beginning with Ash Wednesday, March 2, every day at noon, 12: 30 to 12: 55, a message will be given by some speaker in the course of the St. Andrew Lenten addresses. On Thursdays at one o'clock the Rector will conduct a Service of Spiritual Healing, and again at 5: 30 P. M. At the latter service he will give an address on healing, as well as conduct the Laying-On-Of-Hands. On Sunday evenings the Rev. Mr. Meckling has arranged a series of sermons on the seven last words from the cross.

* * * * *

The following subscriptions to the 1949 Church Bulletin are gratefully acknowledged: Mr. and Mrs. James H. Mearns, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dodulik, Mr. Paul Downward, Mrs. Elizabeth Huet and Miss Margaret P. Tappen.

With the exception of the Class of 1947, this year's Confirmation Class of twenty-four was the largest in thirty years. All but two were adults.

We extend a hearty welcome to our Lenten Noon-Day preachers. Bishop Hart will be with us on Ash Wednesday, Bishop Sterrett on Thursday, and our good friend, Dr. John R. Hart of Valley Forge on Friday and Saturday.

DR. MATTHEWS HONORED

On the evening of Washington's Birthday, Dr. Matthews was honored by the South Jersey Chapter of the American Guild of Organists with a festival of his music held in the First Methodist Church in Vineland, New Jersey. The combined choirs of South Jersey gave its entire program to the compositions of Dr. Matthews. The premiere of "The Wilderness," Dr. Matthews' latest anthem was given at this occasion. The anthem, by the way, will be sung in St. Stephen's with an appropriate sermon on Sunday, March 13th. The transportation strike prevented an earlier rendition of this lovely anthem in St. Stephen's.

We are to be congratulated here in St. Stephen's in having such an inspired musician and composer who, with his gifted choir, lifts our hearts heavenward, Sunday after Sunday.

WHERE PROTESTANTISM IS IN DEFAULT

The spiritual future of America will be determined by one of three major forces that are at work in our midst. These forces are secularism, Roman Catholicism and Protestantism. In the general breakdown of Western culture, the soul of America is being reborn. Shall it be a secular soul, a Roman Catholic soul, or a soul fashioned by those forces which the Protestant Reformation set free? No doubt the strongest force at the moment is secularism. A society whose children and youth receive virtually no education save that which is afforded by our public schools is destined to be a secular society. The Roman Catholic Church sees this clearly and provides at enormous sacrifice for the religious education of its children. Protestantism has never sensed the situation clearly, but has blindly imagined that it could safely entrust its children's education to public, therefore, non-religious, auspices. Its Sunday schools are only a pathetic gesture in the direction of Christian education. Unless Protestantism awakes to its default and projects an educational system which will supplement secular education with thorough-going religious education, the soul of America will become either secular or Roman Catholic. The Catholic Church is intensely active—in education, in the acquisition of vast properties, in the machinations of politics, in the steady gaining of control over the public schools. This activity cannot be offset by merely exposing it and opposing it. It can be offset only by positive Protestant action on a scale commensurate with the educational system of Roman Catholicism itself. There are only two genuinely effective educational forces now at work—the public school, which is secular (and should be vigilantly kept so) and the Roman Catholic system. Protestantism must be awakened to its fateful responsibility for the soul of America.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others.)

Opening Prayer:

O Thou Who enlightenest every man that cometh into the world, enlighten our hearts with the brightness of Thy grace, that we may ponder and love those things that are acceptable unto Thee; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Bible Reading: St. Matthew 11: 25-30

The Sermon:

One day it occured to me that it might be fascinating to write a book entitled "Famous Remarks That Jesus Never Said." The first one in the book would be, "Come unto Me, all ye that labor and are heavy-laden, and I will give you a lighter load." Jesus never said that. He did say to the burdensomely loaded folk, "Come unto Me, and I will refresh you. I will give you the new strength to carry that load without stumbling."

The secret of carrying a really heavy load is to want so much to carry it that you just have to find the strength to do it. Whoever you are, wherever you may be—the chances are that you have plenty of load on your back. Now if you are thinking about your small self, you will say, "This is too much for me," and you will not be strong enough to carry it, just because you don't really want to. But if you are thinking about the grief-wounded heart of a neighbor, you'll say, "I've got to help that person through the dark valley," and you'll find the time and energy to take on the task of comforting that grieving person, because you really want to. Most of us can do almost nothing if we want to, enough.

There is a story of a young woman whom a friend found bending over a dress, making the tiniest stitches you ever saw—and the dress was going to require hundreds of them. The friend said, "I don't see how you have the patience to make those hundreds of tiny stitches—that's too hard work!" The young woman looked up with surprise, and replied, "But this is my wedding-dress." No task was too great, that she might look her loveliest for the man she loved, on the great day when they would start life together.

One of the glorious things about following Christ is that so often He transforms a duty into an opportunity. He teaches us to love the task that was once a miserable chore. He even teaches us to love other people so much that we want to help them. We don't have to go about like grim little Boy Scouts, determined to do our good turn for some one today. Something new within us—a bit of the Living Christ—truly cares about other people. There is a Boy Scout poster which displays a picture of a boy carrying another boy (apparently a cripple) to a party; and a man looks with pity and says, "Son, that's a pretty heavy load you've got." But the boy grins, and shakes his head, and says, "He ain't heavy, mister—he's my brother!"

Closing Prayer:

O God, Who art love, grant to Thy children to bear one another's burdens in perfect goodwill, that Thy peace which passeth understanding may keep our hearts and minds in Christ Jesus our Lord. Amen. (Book of Hours, 1865).

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country, and others.)

Opening Prayer:

Lord, we pray not for tranquility, nor that our tribulations may cease; we pray for Thy Spirit and Thy Love, that Thou grant us strength and grace to overcome adversity, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.—(Savonarola).

Bible Reading: Matthew 6:5-13

The Sermon:

If you are in the Grand Central Station in New York City on any Monday, Wednesday, or Friday, a little before noon, go to the gate of Track 13. At the stroke of noon, Red Cap porter No. 42 will appear, and several others along with him. He will unlock the gate—follow them into a vacant coach, and you'll find yourself in a most interesting prayer-meeting. Ralston Crosbie Young (Red Cap No. 42) has been holding this prayer meeting since 1944, and countless people have, in that dingy day-coach, learned how to pray. In Guideposts Len LeSourd tells the story of how Mr. Johnson learned his lesson. He had not discovered that real praying must have Christ's spirit in it—but we are getting ahead of our story. Let Red Cap No. 42 tell it:

"Take Mr. Johnson who was here today. He had a brother who was very sick. Hearing of our 'Track Thirteen' prayer fellowship, he came one day simply to pray for his brother. When he told us about his brother, we all prayed for him too. Then he returned a second time, and a third. Finally, he told us that he believed our prayers were doing more good than anything else to help pull his brother through. We felt wonderful about it. Mr. Johnson's faith in his brother's eventual recovery grew with each visit. For a time it did seen that his brother would recover. Then suddenly he died. As far as Mr. Johnson was concerned, that did it. He was through with us—and worse—with God. He figured that God had let him down. I felt very bad. It was just one of those things very hard to understand and explain. Mr. Johnson was a fine man, but this hurt was more than he could take at that time.

"This all happened over a year ago. We didn't see Mr. Johnson again as the months went by, but we never forgot him in our prayers. Several weeks ago I was in a particularly low mood. Troubles seemed to be ganging up on me from all sides. I guess the Lord decided on Friday that I needed a special lift. That noon when I came to 'Track Thirteen'; there was Mr. Johnson. He didn't have to tell me why he had finally come back. I knew he would some day. He had found out that living without God is living without hope or happiness. 'Ralston', Mr. Johnson said to me, 'I suddenly realized that all along I had been asking God to give me something. I had never once tried to give something to Him in return. You just can't deal with God that way.'"

During the Easter Season we are trying to let the Spirit of Christ into various areas of our lives. I suggest that this week we try to let Christ into our praying, that He may cleanse it of selfishness, and make it an offering of ourselves to Him in answering love. Study today's Bible Reading, and see that the Master taught us to pray "Thy will bedone...Give us...Forgive us...Deliver us..."but never a word about "me." Nowhere are we taught to pray for ourselves alone. "God turned the captivity of Job, when he prayed for his friends." Learn to pray in that spirit, the Christ-way, and learn the joy and peace which comes from prayer that God can answer!

Closing Prayers:

"Our Father," and the following prayer:

O Glorious and Almighty God, in Whom all the spirits of the blessed place the confidence of their hope; grant to us that, by Thy help, we may be able ever to serve Thee with a pure mind; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

(Sarum Breviary)

Depart to Serve

INVITATION

To all who mourn and need comfort; To all who are weary and need rest; To all who are friendless and desire friendship; To all who believe in God and wish to worship; To all who hunger for prayer and wish to pray; To all who know sin and need a Saviour; To all who are convinced that they ought to put first things first—St. Stephen's opens its doors in the name of Jesus Christ—and in His name and for His sake bids you WELCOME.

Better Hearing for the Hard of Hearing; 200 Hearing Aids available. Precision made like a watch, hearing aids need careful handling. Always get your hearing aid from the usher at the door. At the close of the Service, return it to the usher. Do not force the volume control. If the hearing aid does not work, return it for another. Always keep the ear piece close over the ear, otherwise the sound escapes and may annoy others nearby. Always keep the aid turned off when the ear piece is not over the ear.

RELIGION AND HEALTH

Every Thursday at 12:30 P. M. and at 5:30 P. M., the rector conducts a healing service endeavoring to bring the helpfulness of religion to bear on fear, anxiety, worry, frustration, guilt, sickness and disease. There is opportunity for private interview.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country, and others.)

Opening Prayer:
O make Thy way plain before our face, O Lord, support us this week under all the difficulties we shall meet. We offer ourselves to Thee, this day, to do in us, and with us, as to Thee seems most meet; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.
(Bishop Wilson, 1663 A. D.)

Bible Reading: Matthew 27:38-44

The Sermon:
They had Him at last, exulted the enemies of Jesus! There He was, nailed securely to the Cross, done for, finished. They had been frightened, these proud little men—frightened that Jesus would lead the crowds away from them, and that they would lose their shiny little places in the sun. But they had smartly turned the crowds against Him—and he who laughs last, laughs best. So they looked up at Him, with grim laughter, and gloated, "He saved others; Himself He cannot save." And one of the thieves, nailed to a cross close by Jesus, took up the cry fiercely, "Art Thou not the Christ? Save Thyself and us!"

But he could not. That was one thing that Jesus was not able to do. Because He was Love clothed in the flesh, it was not in His nature to save Himself. It was His nature to save. The Almighty God, the All-Loving, cannot, by His saving character, be a self-saver.

Out of that fact there follows a truth which is sobering and startling. God, in His turn, can only save those who are willing to be savers themselves. Did not Jesus, instructing His disciples how to pray, teach them to say, "Forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive those who trespass against us"? In other words, God can forgive only those who themselves have forgiving hearts. For only forgiving people understand forgiveness. Only they can accept forgiveness.

Sometimes there has crept into Christian practice a strange notion that your first duty is to attend to your own salvation—to see that your own soul is ready to pass examination at the heavenly gates. How anyone ever drew that nasty, selfish idea out of the teaching of Jesus will always be a mystery. He taught that your first duty is to obey the will of God, and that His will then sets you to work in neighborly, lifesaving action for others. Self-love cuts you off from God's grace.

There is an old Russian legend of a man in hell who prayed earnestly to be released from torment. At last a voice said, "Rescue will come." A slender thread was let down, and he was told to grasp it. He did so, and thin though the thread seemed, it began to draw him up. But others, seeing him being released, seized hold of his garments that they also might be drawn out of torment. The man kicked them off, crying, "The thread will break!" And break it did! And again the voice spoke, "The thread of the love of God was strong enough to save both you and your brothers, but it was not strong enough to save you alone."

Closing Prayer:
Let Thy mercy, O Lord, be upon us, and the brightness of Thy Spirit illumine our inward souls, that He may kindle our cold hearts, and light up our dark minds; Who abideth evermore with Thee in Thy glory. Amen.
(Mozarabia liturgy, about 700 A. D.)

PARISH MEETING

The rector is anxious to have a record attendance at the Annual Parish Meeting. A fine home-cooked dinner will be served, there will be the election to the Vestry, and important matters to be discussed. Sunday, May 1st is the date. The time is 12:30 P. M. and the dinner will cost $1.25. Secure your reservation today.

REUNION OF CONFIRMATION CLASSES

Those who have been presented for Confirmation by the Rector at St. Stephen's Church are being asked to meet with their Confirmation Class at the Maundy Thursday Service at 8:00 P. M. This reunion should bring together one hundred and twenty-nine persons who have been confirmed here over the past seven years.

The amount of the offering our congregation gave for worldwide relief was $1,600. These dollars so generously given by you will do the maximum amount of good! Your generosity will be greatly blessed.

We are indeed grateful to those who made possible the generous amount of $1,208.70 last Sunday for the Presiding Bishop's Fund. From all indications it looks as though the goal of ten million dollars was realized through the nation-wide appeal over the radio.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country, and others.)

Opening Prayer:

O Lord, we beseech Thee mercifully to receive the prayers of Thy people who call upon Thee; and grant that they may both perceive and know what things they ought to do, and also may have grace and power faithfully to fulfill the same; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen. (Gregorian Sacramentary, 590 A. D.)

Bible Reading: St. Matthew 6: 24-34

The Sermon:

James Gordon Gilkey has written, "When sudden doubt and fear assail us, we must force ourselves to survey our own past and detect there the evidence of God's interest in us, God's effort for us. What are now those evidences? They fall into two groups.

"The first includes what might be called 'general evidences'. If you look back over your own career you will realize that the basic pattern of life has been planned in such a way that you, and every other human being, had a major chance to survive the perils of birth and childhood, and then develop normally. This pattern and this arranging were (we believe) the work of God. It was God who so ordered the life-pattern that as you grew older you found available the food and water, the light and the air, the work and the friends and the mate that you needed. It was God Who so ordered the life-pattern that when you finally reached old age you had the continuing loyalty and affection of other human beings, an affection quite as necessary at the end of a career as at the beginning. These are the general evidences of God's interest in you and God's effort for you...

"Beyond these general evidences of God's love and care we can discern what may be called 'specific evidences'. What are they? They are the personal and intimate experiences which come to every human being who tries steadily to do right... We pray for God's help, but we forget in how many small and quiet ways it comes to us all the time. In a helpful thought which emerges in our mind when we specially need wisdom, in a spoken or printed word which restores our confidence when we are downhearted, in an intruding duty which forces us to pause when we are about to make a misstep, in an unexpected delay which changes for the better a major decision—in and through these experiences God gives us His help. He gives it, not by working spectacular miracles in the external world, but by utilizing the mechanisms present in the minds of human beings and available for His use. His help comes, not once or twice in a lifetime, but continually. It comes, not to a few divine favorites, but to every human being who lives steadily at his best.

"My religion does not promise me immunity from harm. No honest religion can do that... But my religion does give me a courage as I face an admittedly dangerous world... My religion tells me that God has a purpose for my life, and that ultimately His purpose will be fulfilled... With this faith in my heart I can face life. 'This is the victory which overcomes the world—even our faith.'"

Closing Prayer:

God, the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, increase us in faith and all gentleness, and grant us a part and lot among His saints. Amen.

(St. Polycarp, 70-156, A. D.)

We extend a hearty welcome to the Very Rev. Chester B. Emerson, D.D., Dean of Trinity Cathedral, Cleveland, who will be our guest preacher at the Lenten Noon-Day Services, Monday through Friday. The Rev. Gustav C. Meckling will be the preacher Saturday.

The rector was the Lenten preacher at Trinity Church, Ambler, on Wednesday, March 30th, at 8: 00 P. M.

Miss Marion Headman, after twenty-five years of faithful service as Parish Treasurer of the Envelope System, has had to resign her important work because of ill health. It is impossible to estimate the amount of unselfish service Miss Headman has rendered the parish during this time. At least two full days a week have been necessary to give to this work. We are indeed grateful for her years of loyalty and hard work.

Mrs. Harry J. Hauger has succeded Miss Headman as the Treasurer of the Duplex Envelope System. We will want to make her work easier by writing on the outside of the duplex envelope the amount and distribution of the pledge between the red and black side.

WORLD RELIEF SUNDAY

On Sunday, March 27, an appeal will be made to some 77,000 Churches in America to make an offering for the relief of those many thousands in Europe and Asia who are still suffering from the effects of World War 2. This is the third year of a three year appeal by the Episcopal Church to her people for this purpose. In 1947 and 1948 the people of our Church gave $1,000,000 each year, and we are now asked to give the same amount for this year.

On Saturday, March 26, a nation-wide broadcast will be made on all the major radio systems from 10: 00-11: 00 P. M. We are all asked to listen to this broadcast and then make our offerings the following day. We are sure our people will respond for a third time as generously as they have to the two previous appeals. In 1947 we gave for this purpose, $1,379.30; in 1948 we gave $967.75.

The enclosed envelope is for your convenience.

The 22nd Educational Week for the Blind will be held in Gimbel Auditorium, March 21-25, 10: 30 A. M. to 4: 30 P. M. See the work of those who cannot see. Monday is Episcopal Day. Mrs. Mearns will receive contributions for our part in this worthy enterprise. Your prompt and generous support will be appreciated.

EDITORIAL

It is most appropriate for us to pause and emphasize the essential genius of Protestantism and its critically important mission in these times.

All too many people who call themselves Protestant have no precise conception of the significance of their calling. Without clear conception, conviction is impossible; and without conviction, there can be no vital dedication of life.

Men today are hungry for conviction. Opinion, belief, probability, concepts made questionable by the mingled dross of superstition: these have no vitamins for the soul. They furnish neither the substance in which internal peace can take root, nor the firm foundation on which a foothold can be secured by those who would stand up to life.

True Protestantism offers such as these the stuff of conviction, without at the same time seeking to seal off their minds against new and unfolding truth.

And Protestantism must play its full part—it simply must—in the two-front warfare in which the spirit of man is engaged!

On the one hand, the struggle against materialism and secularism was never more intense. The last centuries have concentrated the attention of man's senses upon the material world to the extent that he has not only become myoptic, but has even forgotten that there is immaterial and spiritual fact and that there are other ways of knowledge. It is no wonder that philosophy and psychology, education, sociology and even in aspect religion, itself, are dominated by materialism. To him who has lost his hearing, there is no such thing as sound.

On the other hand, man is confronted with the menace of authoritarianism. Just as Russia would exploit chaos to establish a small and absolute hierarchy of power, while others seek to establish a financial heirarchy, so the hands of authoritarianism stretch out to clutch man's mind and soul and to blend them to hierarchical control.

This world needs stalwart and convinced Protestants—men and women—who make freedom glorious by their understanding of it, by their inner conviction and by their self-responsibility.

The wilderness and the solitary place shall be glad for them; and the desert shall rejoice, and blossom as the rose. It shall blossom abundantly, and rejoice even with joy and singing: And they shall see the glory of the Lord and the excellency of God. Say to them that are of a fearful heart, "Behold your God will come with vengeance, He will come and save you." Then shall the eyes of the blind be opened, and the ears of the deaf shall be unstopped. Then shall the lame man leap as a hart and the tongue of the dumb sing; for in the wilderness shall waters break forth and streams in the desert, and a highway shall be there, it shall be called the way of holiness, And the ransomed of the Lord shall return, and come to Zion with songs and everlasting joy upon their heads. They shall obtain joy and gladness and sorrow and sighing shall flee away. (Isaiah 35)

THE WILDERNESS

We are to have the great privilege of hearing Dr. Matthews' most recent anthem, "The Wilderness" on Sunday, March 13th at the 11 o'clock service. Based on the 35th Chapter of Isaiah it sings its way into our hearts and minds.

We have purposely chosen the text of this anthem for the rector's sermon this morning. We will endeavor to point out the great contribution that Dr. Matthews and his choir have made to the Sunday Morning devotions of this old church. Their music lifts us out of ourselves and encourages us to renew the faith the supernal things which our materialistic age so casually drowns with cynicism. Through the genius of Dr. Matthews we have interpreted to us the heavenly mysteries through the ethereal agency of music.

MUSICAL TEA

You are invited to a Musical Tea given by the Women's Committee to be held at the Burd School, 4226 Baltimore Avenue on St. Patrick's Day, Thursday, March 17th, from two until four-thirty o'clock. Mrs. Alfred W. Price, a member of a ladies' quartet, will sing several numbers. The purpose of the Tea is to purchase furnishings for a new play-room for the younger children. Silver offering and article table.

MITE BOXES

The Sunday School children have received Mite Boxes and they have been asked to place sacrificial offerings in the boxes during Lent. Parents are urged to assist in this project by stressing the importance of making sacrifices for the spread of the Christian Church.

Mr. Edwin S. Heins, Superintendent of the Sunday School, will be happy to supply mite boxes to any adults who would like to have a part in this worthwhile project.

The Rector will speak to the students of the Philadelphia Divinity School on Thursday, March 24th from 9:00 to 11:00 A. M. on the subject of Spiritual Therapy.

We extend a hearty welcome to Dean Frank D. Gifford of the Philadelphia Divinity School who will be the Noon-Day Speaker from Monday through Friday, and to the Rev. Allen F. Kremer, Episcopal Chaplain, University of Pennsylvania, who will be the Saturday speaker.

SUNDAY SCHOOL

The attendance at the Church School this year has been better than in more recent years. The Staff is to be congratulated on the fine work they have done this year and also the children, for the very real effort they have put into their work. The Rector wishes to thank the Superintendent, Mr. Heins; and the teachers, Mrs. Price, Miss Emma Smith, Miss Eleanor Reed, Miss Lola Ball and Miss Grace Campbell. Their devotion to their work as teachers and their ability has done much to make the School interesting and worthwhile for all concerned.

The Upper School will close on Sunday, June 19th, and the Kindergarten will close on July 10.

Church attendance over the summer is desired, and we will look for all our boys and girls in their usual place in the trancept of the Church throughout the summer months.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others.)

Opening Prayer:

Almighty God, Who knowest the needs of all Thy children: Deepen our desires with heavenly wisdom, that we may faithfully accept and use the powers which Thou art ready to bestow; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Bible Reading: Matthew 25: 31-45

The Sermon:

How important to God is it whether the pulpit of your church stands in the center of the building, or to one side? How important, to Him, how your minister is dressed? How important, to Him, whether you worship from the pages of a hallowed book, or in the bookless simplicity of a meeting-house? If such things were vital to God, surely Jesus would have mentioned them in the picture He gave of the Last Judgment. But, in that awesome picture, Jesus tells us only that God cares greatly for the true loving-kindness which attends to the hunger and thirst and sickness and loneliness of men.

Am I saying that your familiar, well-loved ways of worshipping God amount to nothing? By no means. I am saying, with all my heart, that it is not their form that matters to God—it is what they amount to, what they result in. If your finding of Christ in a great sacrament stirs you to befriend lonesome people, then your worship is pleasing to God. If the Bible that stands at the center of your church as the source of God's voice stirs you to feed the hungry and care for the sick, then your worship delights Him. By contrast, the music of a mighty organ and an expensive choir in a costly house of worship, which sends people out to continue their soft and selfish living, is a stench in the nostrils of God.

In our last issue we thought about the power of united Christian action. We saw that when people of various churches unite in a common enterprise, they forget their surface differences, in the joy of common effort. One Saturday evening in April, the radio listeners of America had a surprise as they found themselves listening to the voice of Christ through His churches. All of the great Christian groups had united in "One Great Hour" to appeal to America to feed and heal and house the suffering people of the world, and to strengthen God's Kingdom in hard-pressed lands. All the churches, speaking together the true and loving message of Christ, could in sixty minutes raise millions of dollars for relief. No one church could have done that alone.

There is a lot of sentimental, frothy talk about the threat of pagan communism, talk that does nothing but chatter like irritated monkeys. But, if you really understand the peril of this determined, aggressive paganism, then stand shoulder to shoulder in united Christianity, and show the whole world (pagans and all!) what Christ can do through His men! Show the world that His way is wiser, more compassionate than any pagan creed. For the matchless Christ identifies Himself with the needy people of the world, and speaks straight to your heart: "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these, my brethren, ye have done it unto Me."

Closing Prayer:

Quicken our wills, O God, by the touch of Thy life-giving Spirit; that, awakening to the inward light of Thy Presence, we may think such thoughts and do such deeds as become those who dare to call themselves the Body of Thy Son, our Saviour, Jesus Christ. Amen.

Our hearty congratulations are extended to Mr. William S. Smith who received his Bachelor of Arts degree fom the University of Pennsylvania on June 15th. Bill, who devotes his spare time as bookkeeper of the church and Burd School, will matriculate in the University of Pennsylvania Law School in September.

George MacGoldrick our Church Crucifer was graduated from West Philadelphia High School this past week. Congratulations, George!

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others.)

Opening Prayer:

O Lord our God, grant us grace to desire Thee with a whole heart, that so desiring Thee we may seek and find Thee, and so finding Thee may love Thee, and loving Thee, we may hate those sins which separate us from Thee and from our fellowmen, for the sake of Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen. (St. Anselm)

Bible Reading: St. John 10:1-6, 11-16

The Sermon:

Today we must think about a scandal—and its cure. It smells to high heaven, and is offensive, most of all, to God Himself. The scandal is the divided Christian Church. How can the world take seriously a Christendom split into 250 fragments, each claiming the whole truth about God? Is it any wonder that missionaries are asked, "Which Christianity shall I believe?" Archbishop Temple once said, "We call the world...that its divisions may be healed, and that it may find fellowship in Him... and the world answers, 'Have you found that fellowship yourself?'"

In the past twenty years Christians have begun to blush with shame over this scandal. There have been successful attempts at organic union which fused two or more churches into one. Other attempts, however, have been tragic failures, because not even the leaders of the churches knew each other well enough to want to unite, whole-heartedly. In my opinion, there is a vital step which must come before organic union.

Church people of various churches must plan together, work together, before there can be healthy union. They must dream a dream, work out a plan of action together, and then toil together at the venture. In a New England town of 15,000 people, they have been trying this simple plan. They began with a United Church Canvass—six churches united on a single publicity campaign, and the canvassers broke bread together; with the exciting result of large increases of income. The practical Yankee businessmen looked up and took notice. Then they tried Inter-Church Lenten Services, with distinguished preachers from far places, and the Masonic Temple has been packed each Lent to hear these present-day prophets. Last fall they launched an Inter-Church Basketball League, and for fifteen Saturday evenings, 150 boys took part in a nip-and-tuck struggle with growing crowds paying for the expenses of the League, which ended with a banquet for the boys. No one church could have secured such powerful publicity; no one church could have secured those famous preachers; no one church could have swung the Basketball League. But the churches working together under one Master, have drawn together in deepening friendship, and growing confidence in each other. Often they have been startled to find what lovable, hard-working, capable Christians there are in other churches. Thus they build the Christian fellowship. Thus they find the power of United Christian Action. Thus they are discovering the one Shepherd and the one fold.

Charles H. Brent once said, "Christ's agile feet journey to the human heart along many and divers paths." The Master is so great of heart that no one church can ever capture all the truth about Him. But, by working together for the one Master, Christendom will at last be stronger than evil, and build on this fair earth the sorely needed Kingdom of God!

Closing Prayer:

O Lord Jesus Christ, Who art the Good Shepherd, and callest Thine own by name; Grant that all men everywhere may hear Thy Voice and follow Thee into the abundant life, that so there may be one flock and one Shepherd in Thine eternal kingdom of truth and peace; world without end. Amen.

We have received generous gifts toward the new refrigerator in the Community House from the Mothers' Meeting, the Woman's Auxiliary, the King's Daughters' and the Mothers' Minstrels.

THURSDAYS AT ST. STEPHEN'S

"Consider the lilies of the field, how they grow." Lilies of the field; of an Easter morning; or calla lilies on the arm of a bride. Each in its own way, making a peculiar contribution of beauty, uplift or sentiment. It matters not, the time, place or use. What matters is how they grow.

She is young and lovely. Honey colored hair arranged in neat coiffure upon the head that is literally poised. Her slender shoulders are straight. I have watched her come and observed her going. She moves, as the lily grows, unself-consciously.

When she enters Old St. Stephen's in the cool quiet of the healing atmosphere, she unlatches the stall door silently, slips into the seat apparently without stir or motion, and becomes very still. Then as though it were the same movement, she slips into position upon the foot stool. Elbows resting, hands upright in prayer, her eyes upon the Altar Cross, she kneels...listening, waiting, ready-ing her Self.

There must come within this graceful girl that immutable moment when she has merged her coming to this place with the time-less-ness of her rendezvous with Prayer. She seems to need no Healing for she does not go to the Altar. She remains tall, straight, upright upon her knees.

Many times I have observed this tiny scene being enacted and each time in my heart have been spoken the words, "Consider the lilies how they grow." Consider this lily, indeed! Perfectly erect and strong upon that slender stem or spine, her head is always high with face uplifted. I have a sense that she is being bathed in sunlight that shines upon her, but invisible to others. "Still dews of quietness" must indeed rest upon her brow and lips. Beauty, divine law and order, are expressed in the Quietude in which she seems to be completely oblivious to her surroundings. She kneels apparently for one purpose; intercessory prayer!

"Consider the lilies, how they grow," by seed dying in moist, black earth. Through the long dormant state they burst into tiny green shoots that open to rain and sun. Reaching, thirsting, blooming to die again.

Consider the Life of intercessory prayer.

Jesus came to teach, preach, heal; and commanded us to do the same in greater dimension. "Look to Me and be saved," He said, and this "being saved" is the healing process of integration, into becoming whole, and finally wholly His. Jesus' teaching becomes our discipline; His preaching our counsel; His healing our release into redemptive, creative Living.

The Intercessor unlocks the door. Prayer is the key, Jesus the Way, and God is the Source. Anyone, aware of a need, who knocks or asks, is the beneficiary. The Intercessor channels the Power.

That is why the second half of the Thursday Healing Service is so fraught with power. It is then that the congregation becomes the intercessor, when forgetful of self it prays for others.

"Jesus, I come bringing no will of my own; no ambition, no purpose. I bring myself, as an offering."

"Greater love hath no man, that he lay down his life for his friends!"

"Then I ask that you tuck your hand under the Old One's elbow and lift a bit...steady the faltering steps and light the way that seems shadowed at times." "Lover of all mankind, let Thy strength surge through the limbs of my beloved broken in war, that he may resume his rightful place." "Forgive those who unwittingly place obstacles of fear, distrust, ignorance and disease upon the path of the Seeker." "Friend of the way, companion those in mental darkness...and tarry with the lonely." "Send one of Thy little ones to her, longing for motherhood." "Teach compassion to the strong and steadfastness to the weak." "Use my hands and heart to carry out Thy purpose."

"Consider the lilies." How they grow by complete acquiesence to natural laws. By yielding, to unfold and blossom to its own fulfillment according to His purpose. "Therefore, be ye not anxious...but be ye made Whole.'"

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country, and others.)

Opening Prayer:

Defend, O Lord, us Thy servants, with Thy heavenly grace, that we may continue Thine forever; and daily increase in Thy Holy Spirit more and more, until we come to Thy everlasting Kingdom. Amen. (Book of Common Prayer).

Bible Reading: II Chronicles 25: 11-16

The Sermon:

Far back in Jewish history, so the Second Book of Chronicles informs us, Judah won a war over the Edomites; and Amaziah, the Judean king, came back in triumph to Jerusalem. But then we read, "He brought the gods of the children of Edom, and set them up to be his gods, and bowed himself down before them, and burned incense unto them." So, he won a resounding victory, and then worshipped the gods of his beaten enemy. At first, Amaziah's conduct seems absurd, yet isn't war itself a process in which we copy our enemies and serve their gods? If they conscript armies, we must conscript armies, too. If they centralize vast powers in a totalitarian government to wage war effectively, then we must centralize vast powers in our government, too. How strange war is—we call other men our enemies, and shout that we hate their ways and their ideas, and then proceed with utmost speed and zeal to imitate them!

This is Memorial Day, the day when we gratefully remember those who fell for freedom. They left us to be the trustees for that freedom. They look to us to protect it against the gods of totalitarianism.

In November, 1943, at the height of World War II, Dr. Fosdick uttered this prophetic warning: "Already one hears voices pleading that after this war America be militarized—universal conscription, universal military service, and all the rest. But this is the road down which our enemies walked...universal military service can be presented in beguiling terms, but watch that kitten—it has a way of turning out to be a tiger! It means a vast military establishment, huge munition syndicates, a powerful military caste. It means the increasing federalizing of power, and, at last, it means, as Mirabeau put it, "Not a-country-with-an-army, but an-army-with-a country." May God save us from that!...It would be Amaziah over again. He brought the gods of the children of Edom, and set them up to be his gods, and bowed himself down before them.

On one of the return trips of the "Gripsholm", bringing back missionaries from months in a Japanese concentration camp, a reporter asked one of them, "What did you think about while you were imprisoned?" To which he answered, "I was wondering whether I would be worthy of freedom when I got it." On this Memorial Day, less than four years after the defeat of Totalitarianism, we could well do a bit of wondering ourselves! Shall we betray those men who died for real freedom? Shall we "go over to the enemy" and take on alien ways, and change America into a uniformed, war-trained, army-burdened state? Shall we set up pagan gods, and bow ourselves down before them? I wonder! You'd best make up your minds about those gods of Edom!

Closing Prayer:

O God, the King of Righteousness, lead us, we pray Thee, in the ways of justice and peace; inspire us to break down all tyranny, at home and abroad; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

GEORGE H. STREAKER

Sometime Wednesday night, May 4th, George Streaker in his eighty-ninth year, crossed through that doorway that leads into the larger life and the nearer presence. For over forty years he has been connected with Scouting in America, and organized St. Stephen's Troop No. 2 several years before Scouting came to these shores. For many years he was the Superintendent of St. Stephen's Sunday School and in recent years he has rung the church bells at noon and at five o'clock every week-day. He has been the Santa Claus at the Burd School parties and has played that annual role much to the delight of children in hospitals and institutions without number. He enjoyed his annual appearance as Town Crier in the pageantry of Elfreth's Alley. He was a popular lecturer on the Romance of the Sea.

During all these years he had been most loyal and faithful, active and interested in the affairs of the Parish, anxious to do all that he possibly could to help. The spirit of human kindness motivated all his activities. He was a rare, buoyant and happy man. Simple, sincere, unselfish, a loyal communicant of the church, he was Christ's faithful soldier and servant unto his life's end. We are grateful to God for the inspiration of his life and example.

STREAKER MEMORIAL

The Vestry has decided upon a suitable memorial to the memory of George Streaker. For many years Captain Streaker has played the chimes in the tower of St. Stephen's. These bells are in a difficult place to reach. They are sadly in need of repair and the small number of bells limit the repertoire.

There has come to our attention a wonderful invention called electronic bells. The "bells" are tiny pieces of metal, some weighing only three ounces. Struck with a miniature hammer, they give off barely audible sounds. These sounds are amplified 100,000 times or more by an electronic device, and the result is a clear bell tone that can be heard up to twenty miles away. These bells can be played from a small keyboard.

What a wonderful way to memorialize all that George Streaker has meant to St. Stephen's! These bells will be played twice every week-day and twice on Sunday. The enclosed envelope is for your convenience.

The Woman's Auxiliary of St. Stephen's Church will have a Strawberry Festival and Operetta in the Community House, 923 Ludlow Street on Friday, May 20th, at 8: 00 P. M. Donation seventy-five cents. Bring your friends and have a happy evening.

The Flowers on the Altar today are given by Mrs. Roland S. Morris in memory of her husband.

THURSDAYS AT ST. STEPHEN'S

"Can you tell me why when for years and years I have always walked down Chestnut Street to do my errands...yes, always walked down town the very same way when suddenly something caused me to turn down Market Street and then walk along Tenth Street to Chestnut? And there in front of me was a sign. But the only thing my eyes saw was the word THURSDAY. Why should Thursday leap out at me? And so I read what it said for Thursday and the sign said HEALING MEETINGS at 12: 30 and 5: 30. So I went in. Can you tell me why and how this all happened?" So spoke the lady of the pink hat!

"Yes," I nodded eagerly...in fact I was so excited I could scarcely wait for her to stop talking. "Yes, I know why...GOD...that's why." She relaxed with obvious relief. She wanted to believe it was God and my saying so rather confirmed her belief in His mysterious ways. Her attitude now was tentative but cordial. Lowering her voice she drew a pace nearer to me, in the quiet of the church. No one was about now, for the noon congregation had hurried off to its collective offices and work-a-day world. We were tarrying by the Book Table. There was no need to feel in the least self-conscious, but when one is about to unveil that tiny inner shrine at which he has been secretly and mysteriously worshipping...one does feel a need for privacy and deference to the subject. I wanted greatly to be the sympathetic audience she needed, with whom to share this wonderful new-found treasure of available Healing services.

"My husband was always a Presbyterian; I, a Lutheran. Of late years however, we feel such a lack in our Presbyterian church where we are members. We both sense a need which cries out; a hunger gnaws within us. We spoke of it together and when the pain in my body kept getting worse and demanding more of my energy and attention, I kept casting about in my mind what to do next. My husband and I search our thoughts together and we both have felt for a long time that it is God's plan to heal. Yet our church taught us nothing. We wondered if others felt as we did? For years we have been preoccupied with building health through natural laws and right living. We lean toward Naturopath studies and chiropractic treatment. We travel in a social set that serves "the usual cocktail or high ball" and one night when we were out something happened to me. It had happened before and I paid little attention but this night it was different. I took the proffered drink and as I raised it this thing came way up in me; up from the center of my Being and into my chest and throat." Her hands followed with a gesture as though to relieve the Guidance that came to her. "It seemed to say something to me...THIS MUST GO..." Shyly she looked at me and her eyes were soft and moist. "I thought it was God speaking to me," she offered. I nodded gratefully. It was after that, that she was led down Tenth Street.

And indeed I believe it was and is God speaking to her. I never saw her before; I do not know her name; but I believe her story. As she spoke such floods of electric power passed through my body that I felt it must be communicating itself to her in Healing Vibrations as we stood together. That is one of God's lovely ways of verifying His Love in action.

"You speak The Truth," I said to her. She could not see the capital letters I had in mind and thinking perhaps I implied a question, she yearned toward me with her voice. "Oh, I am speaking the truth, believe me." "I do believe you. I know whereof you speak."

These are rare moments in His Vineyard when one plucks and sips the wine of a life that is being crushed for worthier purpose. Yet it is not uncommon in Old St. Stephen's on Tenth Street. The lady of the pink hat is literally walking in clouds of pink glory, because a new way of life has been opened to her. Her circulation is improving because her mind has been shaken out of its endless circle of questioning. With questions answered from the Rector's messages her needs are being met and the yearning beliefs of her husband and herself are being rewarded in the renewing of their Faith in the Belief that Jesus meant exactly what He said when He said, "I come to Heal."

"I want to say this to you; I BELIEVE I HAVE BEEN HEALED." It was spoken with daring and conviction. "I have not missed a Thursday since I first saw The Sign. I have never talked with the Rector...I needn't; for I shall never forget what happened to me when I knealt at that altar the first time."

I waited, loathe to break in upon her remembrance. She was gazing forward now to the chaste marble Sanctuary of Healing. Here the weary, sick and disillusioned trudge to the Mercy seat, asking. From here they turn with lighter step, knowing in their hearts they have received, as had this one standing before me. Her heart was overflowing with gratitude. "Such power as I felt that day...such wonderful power flowed down over and through me...when he (The Rector) touched me."

Our eyes met and passed beyond focal point into the infinity of revelation that comes with sacred sharing. The telling of it, confirmed by my acquiesence caught and held for her forever, what might have passed in time as an elusive, nebulous thing. "It's an awfully tiny price to pay for such great glory, isn't it?" I asked. "What price?"..."Giving up social drinking...that little condition He asked of you that night." "Oh, THAT! Oh my, that was nothing...there is nothing worth having now but this experience and what it is doing for me and my husband."

NELL R. COOK.

Mrs. Clarence S. Slatcher has presented St. Stephen's with three beautifully embroidered linen Corporals and Palls for use at the Holy Communion Services. Many thanks!

The Mothers' Meeting will give their annual Minstrel Show in the Community House on Friday, May 13th, at 8:00 P. M. The cost is 50 cents. Mrs. Ernest Nelson, the author and director of this lively and entertaining minstrel show extends a cordial welcome to all of the parishioners and friends of St. Stephen's to be with them on May 13th. The proceeds are for the refrigerator needed in the Community House. The Mothers' Meeting has already contributed One Hundred Dollars toward the cost of a new refrigerator.

The electric lights in the vestibule of the church have all been rewired and the bottom sections removed and replaced with special glass that will enable us to have better lighting. The lights under the balconies are being similarly treated.

MOTHER!

There have been bad mothers as well as good mothers. There have been careless mothers as well as careful mothers. There have been sour mothers as well as sweet mothers. There have been vile mothers as well as virtuous mothers.

The men who have gone out to mold civilization in all eras have been men molded by noble mothers. The mother of the Gracchi, the mother of Augustine, the mother of Wesley, of Booker Washington, of Abraham Lincoln—these and uncounted others have written their names all over history through the deeds of their boys.

But there are new mothers. The mothers of today are not sitting by the window, knitting or sewing. The world is on the march and they are marching with it. They love the children; they know the proper diet; they watch the reading and the play; they guide their children with wise and steady hand; they keep abreast the children in their studies; they grow with them through high school and on through college, alert, eager, sympathetic. They are members of social clubs, civic and financial and religious clubs and give themselves freely to those public organizations which mean the health of the people and the nation. They are alive to the political needs and perils of today. They seek for a finer tone to the community in which they live. They are beginning to be more active in politics. She traveled the journey before you.

"She traveled the journey before you.
She has known all the cost of the way:
She has paid out the price to its fullness,
That motherhood only can pay.
She loved when the world was against you,
She hoped when your hope sank and died.
She clung to your hand when the clinging
Left scars in her heart deep and wide."

Mothers have come to understand that if their community shall be sweet and a place proper for the rearing of their children, they must have a voice in the governing of that community. So, more and more, women are entering into politics and politics are being ennobled by their presence. They are awake and alive to the educational needs of the nation; they are watching the motion pictures, the play, the schools, the churches, seeking everywhere for the proper atmosphere in which their children shall grow to noblest manhood and womanhood.

They are awake to the needs and dangers of motherhood, so they are giving larger attention to the hospitals and maternity centers and health organizations. Indeed, motherhood is becoming the great concern of the women of the whole world.

But this day calls for more than sentiment. Last year 16,000 mothers died in childbirth here in America. It is the highest maternity death rate among 22 nations. Many of these mothers could have been saved by proper care. Sixteen thousand mothers dead each year in America! Sixteen thousand homes disorganized. Sixteen thousand motherless babies every year. Sixteen thousand children who will never know a mother. Sixteen thousand young people craving that which earth can never give them back—a lost mother!

Were I to draw up a children's charter I would put forward such rights as the following:

1. For every child, the latest and best knowledge that a father and mother can gain.
2. For every child, full preparation for birth with all the care modern science can bring.
3. For every child, a home and love and security.
4. For every child, proper spiritual and moral intellectual training.

Every child has a right to these; every mother has a right to these.

The shame of America is that her death rate is the highest maternity death rate among 22 nations of the earth.

May the Lord bless our mothers. May His face shine upon these artists of the human race. May the peace of God be the lullabies which they sing into the souls of their children.

ANNUAL PARISH MEETING

The Annual Meeting of the Parish will take place on Sunday, May 1st at 12:45 P. M. in the Community House. A dinner will be served at that hour at a cost of one dollar and twenty-five cents per person.

A qualified voting member of the Parish is one who is a communicant and who is supporting the church by attendance and pecuniary aid. St. Stephen's Church in the City of Philadelphia is an ecclesiastical corporation incorporated under the laws of Pennsylvania. Its governing body has always been the Proprietors of Pews. The present By-Laws of the Church defines a proprietor as a member of the Church and renter of a pew or sitting who has paid therefore during the preceding year a sum of no less than Five Dollars per sitting, paid through the envelope system of this Church or by contributing not less than the sum in a like manner which identifies in writing the contributor and that the contribution is for pew or sitting rental.

As this is the one time in the year when we can meet as a Parish family to consider the "state of the Parish," we hope there will be a larg attendance. In addition to the election of vestrymen there will be brief reports by the leaders of our organizations. Those who can come will be assured a profitable and pleasant afternoon and they will be serving their Parish in an important way.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country, and others.)

Opening Prayer:

O Lord, our heavenly Father, who orderest all things for our eternal good, mercifully enlighten our minds, and give us a firm and abiding trust in Thy love and care. Silence our murmurings, quiet our fears, and dispel our doubts, that, rising above our afflictions and anxieties, we may rest on Thee, the Rock of everlasting strength; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

(New Church Book of Worship, 1876).

Bible Reading—St. Luke 11:1-4 ("Thy will be done...as it is in heaven").

The Sermon:

Sammy Cascarvilla wheeled his Eighth Avenue bus up to the 42nd Street stop. The air brakes wheezed, the doors flew open, and Sammy turned to his passengers: "Ladies first," he shouted cheerfully. "This is 42nd Street—the Franklin Savings Bank, Times Square, the movie center. Change for Grand Central. The correct time is 11:02." And a noticeably cheerful lot of passengers poured off the bus.

Chase Walker tells the story of Sammy, and how he licked a problem that beats most people. His daily job was a tough, nerve-racking one. He not only had to guide his bus safely through the frantic New York traffic—all day long he was handling the pushing, impatient people who stepped on each other's toes. Most bus drivers learn either to be hard-boiled with their passengers, or to pay little attention to them and let them stew in their own juice. But Sammy went about it differently. In the first place, he was thankful to be in this country, for he had come over from Italy in 1923. In the second place, he had a great love of people and great faith in God. Then his great trouble came. "My wife Josephine had bad cough, so I take her to a doctor. He X-Rayed her lungs. What a terrible thing she has. Very bad spot on both lungs." So Sammy sent Josephine to Saranac, even though the doctor said she could not get well. He had very little money, so he worked double-shifts (sixteen hours a day) to pay for her care. "Then I learned something," says Sammy. "When people have much trouble it is easy to be grouchy and hard to be cheerful. I wish to forget my trouble while driving my bus, so I try to smile and talk a lot. Pretty soon I find it easy to be cheerful. I go to Catholic Church every Sunday and pray for Josephine. I never lose faith any time. On my bus-route I learn all the church—Catholic, Jewish and Protestant. Then I call them off to my passengers. People should know more about churches. Soon I find that most people have lots of troubles. More and more I try to cheer them up, and make them smile. One day a lady got on my bus, sat down behind me and told me all the terrible trouble with her son. She started to cry. But not for long. I started to sing; the people on the bus began to smile and laugh, everybody was having fun...it was a wonderful day. Pretty soon the lady stopped crying, and was smiling, too. "I'm not going to be the only sad one in the bus," she told me. That made me feel fine...My wife was away for two years. The doctor...he rides on the bus, you know...he operated on her and it was a fine success. Now she is home and well."

There is the simple and glorious story of Singing Sam, the happy bus-driver. He had the sense to let God into his tough job (and into his troubles) and make a Christian adventure of it. No matter how tough your job may be, no matter how exasperating the people you are associated with each day—if you let God into the work, He'll make something joyful out of it. For, after all, "heaven" is simply a place where God's will is done. And, if you obey His will where you work, there'll always be a bit of heaven there. Sammy looks back on his life, troubles and all, and says, "God has been very good to me. This is a wonderful world."

Closing Prayers:

O Lord, renew our spirits and draw our hearts unto Thyself, that our work may not be to us a burden, but a delight; and give us such a mighty love to Thee as may sweeten all our obedience; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

On Tuesday, May 3rd, at 12:00 noon, the Woman's Auxiliary of the Chapel for the Hard of Hearing is giving a luncheon in the Community House. All are welcome. Cost 50 cents.

Our Hearty Congratulation and Best Wishes go to Mr. and Mrs. I. Smith Raspin who celebrated their Thirtieth Wedding Anniversary on Saturday, April 23rd.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and the shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others).

Opening Prayer:

O Almighty God, from Whom every good prayer cometh, and Who pourest out on all who desire it the spirit of grace and supplication; deliver us, when we draw nigh unto Thee, from coldness of heart and wanderings of mind, that, with steadfast thoughts and kindled affections, we may worship Thee in spirit and in truth; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen. (William Bright).

The Sermon:

Would you like to think that many years from now, your influence would be helping people to win hard battles in their lives?

Many years ago a boy was growing up on a farm. His father earned his living by farming; but he was also a Baptist minister, who preached for the better part of his lifetime without taking a penny for it. He and his wife brought up their children in simple faith, brought them up in honest Christian ways and taught them to trust God. Also, as Christian parents, they had deep confidence in their children and their futures.

The boy grew up, went into business, married. He was doing well, prospering and building up his business on sound and honest foundations, when his wife died after a brief illness. The shock was so sudden and severe that it nearly overwhelmed him. Though he had never been a drinker, even moderately, an intense desire to drown his grief in liquor took hold of him. He battled it for months; many a night he walked the streets wrestling with grief and temptation. Looking back, he writes, "This was the most critical time of my life, but the memory of my father's faith buoyed me up. His words when I first went to work, 'Jim will make it; I like the way he has started out,' again and again came to my rescue." He won this fight, and, a few years later, found a deepened abiding faith of his own. But, in that critical fight, it was his father's confidence in him that carried him through.

Back of every memorable life are one or two people of faith who saw the God-given possibilities of a youngster, and told that youngster about them. If you would be a person of influence, pray to God to cleanse your eyes so that you may see these golden possibilities. There are so many stupid people in every generation who bleat sadly about the young people not being the way they used to be in the "good old days." That is as wicked as it is untrue. For God makes every young life with true possibilities for usefulness. Be wise and daring and Christian enough to look for those golden veins in the young lives that cross your daily path. Be sure you make your confidence known to them.

There is a story of a beggar whose "pitch" was near tthe window of an artist's studio. From his window the artist painted a picture of the beggar, and then called him in to see it. "Who is it?" the beggar asked, as he looked at this portrait of a very lovable man. "Can it be I?" the beggar asked incredulously. "That is the man as I see him" said the artist. "If that is the man you see," the beggar answered, "that is the man that I will be." Dare to see the promise in the lives about you and you will become one of the builders of God's world to be.

Closing Prayer:

Now unto Him that is able abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that worketh in us, unto Him be the glory in the church and in Christ Jesus unto all generations for ever and ever. Amen.

We extend our heartiest congratulations to Mrs. George P. Green who celebrated her ninetieth birthday on October 22nd.

We have now installed in the church proper a sound reenforcement and distribution system consisting of two microphones at the pulpit and lectern and four reproducers for the side aisles and under the balconies. This will be a great aid to guest speakers whose voices do not carry to the rear of the church.

Six hundred and fifty-one persons worshipped in St. Stephen's last week. This is a fair average of attendance at our services of worship at this time of year. The services were attended as follows: Sunday: 9:00 A. M., 16; 11:00 A. M., 250; 7:30 P. M., 76; Tuesday: 12:30 P. M., 48; Wednesday: 12:30 P. M., 51; Thursday: 12:30 P. M., 80—5:30 P. M., 100; Friday: 12:30 P. M., 30.

The Rector was invited by the Dean of Temple University to speak on the subject of Spiritual Healing to a Graduate Class of Clergymen for two hours on October 17th, and on October 19th the Dean of the Philadelphia Divinity School invited him to address a Class on Pastoral Care on the same subject.

Mrs. Agnes Sanford, author of "The Healing Light" will speak in St. Stephen's Church on Tuesday, November 1st at 8:00 P. M.

THE COMMUNITY CHEST deserves the support of every Christian. Are you doing your part?

One hundred and four individuals contributed to the George Hoover Streaker Memorial Bells which were dedicated Sunday, October 16th.

We have need of a small electric refrigerator in the Parish House for the use of the Tuesday Business Men's Club luncheon committee and for general use. We would appreciate hearing from anyone who is buying a new refrigerator and would want to assist the committee in their good work by giving them their old one.

ALL SAINTS' DAY is November 1st. There will be a celebration of the Holy Communion at 12:10 P. M. followed by an address at 12:30 P. M. The list of those who have passed to the life beyond since last All Saints' Day will be read by the Rector. Those who desire to have names of loved ones included in the roster will please mail them to the church office.

Hear my prayer, O God, incline thine ear. Thyself from my petition do not hide; Take heed to me! Hear how in prayer I mourn to Thee. Without Thee all is dark, I have no guide. The enemy shouteth the godless come fast! Iniquity, hatred, upon me they cast! The wicked oppress me, ah where shall I fly? Perplexed and bewildered, O God, hear my cry. My heart is sorely pained within my breast, My soul with deathly terror is oppressed. Trembling and fearfulness upon me fall, With horror overwhelmed, lo hear me call. O for the wings of a dove! Far away would I rove. In the wilderness build me a nest, And remain there forever at rest.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and the shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others).

Opening Prayer:

Master of life, lead us, through patient study and unwearying prayer, into the deeper knowledge of ourselves and Thee; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

(Henry S. Nash)

Bible Reading: Psalm 51: 5-10

The Sermon:

During the past decade we have heard the word Vitamin on every hand and so common has become our knowledge of these substances that even the children speak of them in a commonplace manner. All through our lives we have been used to eating the foods we like to eat instead of the foods we ought to eat and many foods today are devitalized by processing, so it is that the commonest diseases we face today are so-called deficiency diseases.

Large percentages of people today are half-starved from a vitamin standpoint—i. e., the basic elements of the foods they need are missing from their diets. In seventy years of your life you need approximately one ounce of each of the vitamins, but if these small amounts are missing, then the trouble sets in and you develop certain ills.

Vitamins are vital necessities for every human being.

Today, we are experiencing the results in society of long, long years of a complete lack of a certain spiritual element in the lives of men. Churches are poorly attended, children do not go to Sunday School as they did years ago, and religion of any kind is not practiced by millions of so called Christians. That is what is wrong with the nations today—we are spiritually underfed—undernourished because the spiritual vitamins they need, oh so much, have not been included in their daily mental and spiritual diets.

The tremendous developments in psychology and psychiatry, the huge sanatoriums of today—the constant increase in nervous breakdowns, the evidence of heart trouble, the rapid increase of such diseases as arthritis and neuritis—mostly trace back to undisciplined living—spiritual underfeeding for long periods of time.

Have you ever said to yourself—what is wrong with me? I'm so restless—I'm so depressed and dissatisfied, nothing suits me any more and I am oh, so nervous. People today are half starved—they need this life substance—this vital element—they need to have their lives re-vitalized.

How do you proceed to get this treatment? First of all, realize that your troubles have been caused by yourself—wrong patterns of thinking—wrong patterns of living—with the vibrant-vital-essential factors of spiritual life entirely missing—you need and need badly—the vitamins of Jesus Christ—the vitamins of God.

Completely defeated and demoralized people can be re-vitalized by yielding themselves to a higher power—the power of God Whose Spirit lives within every one of us. They are changed the very moment they decide for themselves they want to be re-vitalized.

Possibly your defeat is due to pride, temper, fears, nervous tension, criticisms, resentment; for whatever you think in your mind so you produce in your body and your mind. A healthy body only comes from a happy mind and the happy mind which was in Christ Jesus can be yours immediately—if and when you will offer yourself body and soul to Him.

You need never be defeated by anything in life when you learn how to appropriate spiritual vitamins. These spiritual vitamins are available every day from the Christ within. All we need to do is to release them. God wants every soul to be happy in his or her life on earth, and if you are not demonstrating happiness then there is something wrong with your application of religion—your mental vitamins are not up to standard and its up to you to find out where you are falling down; start first of all by checking your daily round of thoughts, check your mental diet. Are you holding any thoughts of fear, criticism, hatred, resentment?

These are all negative thoughts which must be thrown out completely and replaced by positive ones—you must learn to know that no past event, no past tendency to illness, can affect your future unless you let it; all your resentments, criticisms of others, must also be wiped right out—at once—for no progress is possible unless these things are taken care of immediately.

Once you learn how to control your daily thinking along these lines you will be surprised how your personality will change for the better. Such a positive attitude changes the whole picture of life for you—you drop your fears, and gain each day more ability in your work. New ideas come to you by inspiration for now you have set your mind in tune with the Great Infinite, and He is always ready and willing to aid you with every problem that comes along.

Closing Prayer:

Now unto Him that is able abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that worketh in us, unto Him be glory in the church and in Christ Jesus unto all generations for ever and ever. Amen.

ORGAN FUND

To date thirty-two persons have pledged $14,895.00 to the Organ Fund. $5,583.00 has been received so far in cash and the balance is pledged over a five-year period. This is a very encouraging beginning considering the small number of persons responding. However, we do need much more to enable us to have an organ in keeping with the traditions of this parish.

We have received one five thousand dollar contribution in cash, three two thousand five hundred dollar pledges, one five hundred, one two hundred fifty, one two hundred, eleven one hundred dollar, four fifty dollar, two twenty five and the rest small gifts.

GEORGE HOOVER STREAKER

This morning we dedicate twenty-five Carillonic Tower Bells to the glory of God and in loving memory of George Hoover Streaker. Captain Streaker, as he was affectionately called, pumped the twelve heavy bronze bells in the church tower for some thirty years. The art of the carillonneur, who rings church bells from a heavy wooden and rope pump, is fast disappearing. Since Captain's Streaker's death in May, we have been unable to find someone who could be relied upon to ring the bells twice daily. This fact, together with the prohibitive cost of repairing the supports of these heavy bells which were in a dangerous condition and the fact that the bells were hopelessly out of tune hastened the decision to replace these hundred year old bells by a set of electronically controlled bells. Our old bells are now a permanent exhibit on the grounds of the Schulmerich Electronic Corporation of Sellersville, which made the new chimes.

The new tower bells produce the perfectly balanced and accurately matched tones of the carillon bells of England. They can be sounded inside as organ bells, outside as tower bells, or played as both simultaneously. Our bells may be played from the organ console or by an automatic playing device.

These bells will be played every week-day at 12:00 noon and 5:00 P. M., and on Sundays at 10:30 A. M. and 7:00 P. M.

DEDICATION OF THE GEORGE HOOVER STREAKER CARILLONIC TOWER BELLS

The Service of Dedication

Minister: Our help is in the Name of the Lord.
People: Who made heaven and earth.
Minister: Praise ye the Lord.
People: Praise God in His sanctuary.
Minister: Praise Him in the firmament of His power.
People: Give unto the Lord the glory due unto His name.
Minister: Worship the Lord in the beauty of holiness.
Together: Glory be to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Ghost, As it was in the beginning, is now, and ever shall be, world without end. Amen.

The Words of Dedication

Blest and dedicate be these Carillonic Tower Bells to the honor and glory of Almighty God. In the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost. Amen.

Hallowed also be these Carillonic Tower Bells as a memorial to George Hoover Streaker, who gave of his time and talents, unstintingly, to the young people of this church and community, and who served as Bell Ringer for over thirty years.

We provide these twenty-four English Carillonic Bells as a reminder of Captain Streaker's modesty in living, and fidelity to his God and country.

The memory of the just is blessed!
We set apart these memorial bells:
To the sending out of hymns of comfort and hope and challenge.
We hereby dedicate these Memorial Carillonic Bells:
To the glorifying of God's name and to the continued sharing of the Gospel's invitation and message through music.
We do now dedicate these memorial bells.

Minister: The Lord be with you.

People: And with thy spirit.

Let us pray!

O God, Who by thy servant Moses didst command that silver trumpets should be made to call the people to holy assemblies: Bless, we beseech Thee, these Carillonic Tower Bells, dedicated to Thine honor and glory, and grant that its voice may sound forth from generation to generation, ever calling Thy children to holy convocation in praise and worship of Thy glorious Name: through Jesus Christ, Thy Son, our Lord. Amen.

Litany of Dedication

Almighty God, Who dost endow Thy children with manifold gifts and graces, blessing their lives with the treasures of beauty and harmony, and dost make skillful their hands to the creation of the useful and beautiful: Accept this our offering which we have dedicated to Thy service, and grant that its use may ever be an hallowed one and that its sound may never cease to call men unto Thee.

People: We beseech Thee to hear us, O Lord.
Minister: We humbly pray its voice may ever be a joyful sound to Thy children, calling them to worship and prayer, that they may enter into Thy gates with thanksgiving and into Thy courts with praise.
People: We beseech Thee to hear us, O Lord.
Minister: We humbly pray that its voice may ever be a calling to remembrance to those who have strayed from Thy Way;
People: That it may call in solemn rebuke to the careless and indifferent;
Minister: That it may ring forth a sure welcome to the sinner and to whosoever will come;
People: We beseech Thee to hear us, O Lord.
Minister: We humbly pray for those in the House of Pain, our neighboring hospital, who, through the physical sufferings of this present life, are prevented from coming to Thy House, that its sound may bring to mind Thy love and compassion for all who suffer; Thy courage and help for those who are sore beset; Thy peace for those who are heavy laden; and Thy comfort for those who mourn;
People: We beseech Thee to hear us, O Lord.
Minister: We humbly pray that when a soul passes forth into the Life that knows no ending, its voice may proclaim to all the glorious victory which our Lord Jesus Christ, Thy Son, hath obtained for us and for all who sleep in Him; that hearing, we may be led to seek Thy grace, and so live that we may enter into the rest prepared for the children of God;
People: We beseech Thee to hear us, O Lord.
Minister: And when it sounds forth, far and wide, in rejoicing and thanksgiving, may we lift up our hearts in adoration and praise to Thee, O God, the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost, Who livest and reignest evermore. Amen.

The Carillonic Bells' Response:

"Hark! Hark, my soul! Angelic songs are swelling
O'er earth's green fields and ocean's wave-beat shore;
How sweet the truth those blessed strains are telling
Of that new life when sin shall be no more!
Angels of Jesus,
Angels of light,
Singing to welcome
The pilgrims of the night."

BENEVOLENT SOCIETY

Last year the women of this very helpful group sent over four thousand articles of sewing to seven of Philadelphia's major hospitals. The materials are furnished by the hospitals and the Benevolent Society pays needy women to sew these articles in their homes. These women were paid $501.64 for this great amount of sewing.

The income from the endowment of this Society is around $140.00 a year. Three hundred and fifty dollars will just about cover expenses for the season 1949-50. Your contribution will help the needy workers who do the sewing and also the hospitals who desperately need the articles. The enclosed envelope is for your convenience.

Here is what one of the hospitals (Jefferson) received last year: 1,250 masks, 350 surgeons' caps, 174 nurses' hoods, 174 nurses' bands, 228 patients' gowns, 54 O. R. gowns, 124 tray covers, 775 O. R. towels, 142 tea towels, 57 bed pan covers, 64 large flannel baby gowns, 20 breast binders, 63 muslin baby gowns, 149 syringe covers, 26 kitchen aprons, 17 small flannel baby gowns, 94 baby binders, 61 C. D. R. towels and 73 O. R. trousers.

To continue this work we need your generous contributions at this time.

The George Hoover Streaker Memorial Bells will be dedicated on Sunday, October 16th.

The women of our church presented two million dollars as their United Thank Offering at the service in San Francisco on September 29th. The women of the Diocese of Pennsylvania gave $112,155.44 of the total and the women of St. Stephen's contributed $1,240.82.

THURSDAYS AT ST. STEPHEN'S

While transacting a sale at the Book Table, I was conscious of a lady standing nearby, glancing rather shyly at the gaily attractive books. Desiring to put her at ease, I asked if she would like to chat awhile about spiritual books.

"I wouldn't know what to say because I have never read anything like this," she told me frankly.

"Are you particularly interested in Healing?", I asked. She brightened noticeably at this and then glanced down at her hands. My eyes followed hers and I saw very slender, graceful hands clad in immaculate white gloves. But she extended them toward me and said, with her eyes shining..."Look! I have been healed."

"Healed of what?", I wondered to myself. Then she told me this strange little story.

"After reading an announcement of Lenten Services to be held in this church I decided to come. One day the Rector announced that at the close of the Lenten Service, the regular Healing Service would take place. I had never heard of a Healing Service and remained to find out what it was all about.

"For some time I had suffered terribly from arthritis. My hands were swollen twice their size. No doctor had been able to help me. I was truly in a dilemma to know what to do next or where to turn for help. As I sat wondering what a Healing Service would be like, I decided for myself that it must have something to do with Christian Science. But when the invitation was given to kneel at the Altar, I went forward. And the strangest thing happened...I was given distinct Guidance to go to a certain Chiropractor and consult him about my painful, swollen hands. In one treatment I was healed. The doctor told me that never in his profession had he witnessed anything like it. He said it was a miracle!"

That was all. A simple story, beautifully told. And it holds a kernel of Truth for all. The Greatest Physician speaks to each one according to the need or the understanding of the moment. How generous God is to share the miracles of Healing with those dedicated to serve mankind, in the various fields of healing therapy. How stabilizing it is to those who lean heavily upon the medical profession, when a realization of divine healing occurs.

"Have you considered dedicating your hands?", I asked the lady. "Dedicating? I don't understand."

"Well, just out of gratitude for this Healing, perhaps you might like to kneel again one day and offer your hands to Him for service to others."

"Oh I see what you mean...oh yes; God has been so very good to me...you see my boy went all through the war and came back to me unharmed...yes, God is good to me." On that note of reflective gratitude she slipped out quietly.

"How beautiful upon the mountain are the feet of him who brings glad tidings." And I am happy to add, "Glad tidings of Healing!"

Nelle R. Cook.

SUNDAY SCHOOL

Here in St. Stephen's Church is afforded an opportunity for the whole family to be united in worship and study at the same hour; the parents instead of sending the children to Sunday School can go with them and return home with them. Parents and teachers can consult each other frequently and with very little effort and time. The School is open to all who will come. It consists of the Nursery, the Kindergarten, Junior and Intermediate Departments, and these classes are housed in the Community House.

We wish to thank Mrs. Benjamin Reath for her generous subscription to the Church Bulletin.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others.)

Opening Prayer:

O God, the protector of all that trust in Thee, without Whom nothing is strong, nothing is holy; Increase and multiply upon us Thy mercy; that, Thou being our ruler and guide we may so pass through things temporal, that we finally lose not the things eternal. Grant this, O heavenly Father, for the sake of Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen. (Book of Common Prayer).

Bible Reading: Philippians 4: 1-13

The Sermon:

One of the sorriest feelings in the world is helplessness. The Apostle Paul once wrote to his Corinthian friends, "My poor human nature could get no relief—there was trouble at every turn; fighting without, and fear within." People get panicky when they feel helpless, as if they were locked in a room without a key. If they let fear take the wheel, they are in for a bad time, indulging in a spell of the "miseries," stewing in the juices of their self-pity.

But St. Paul did not let himself drift into the "miseries"; and there is no need of your doing it, either! In his letter to the Philippians, he joyfully declared, "I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me." He was not saying, of course, that he could achieve any fantastic and breath-taking stunt that anyone might suggest; or even that he could do anything he felt like doing. There are many things God does not care to have us do. St. Paul was claiming that, with Christ's inner help, he could do all the things that God wanted him to do. That statement is equally true of you my friend. It just depends on your willingness to put your mind on what God wants.

Of course, if you insist on struggling to get your own way, you are going to have some very black days; and you are going to learn the painful blind-alley feeling of helplessness. But if you have lived long enough to see the folly of being a spoiled child who has to have his own way, then you can settle down to work it out God's way. This takes an inner tussle, of course; but the results of victory are worth it. You will find, as St. Paul did, that you can do all the things that God wants done through you, with the undergirding power of Christ at work in your heart.

When we were little children, we looked forward as if we could be anything we chose to be, fireman, doctor, or millionaire. Then the day came when we had to narrow life down, to being just one possible person. When we were little children, we thought that grown-ups could do just as they pleased, and the trouble with a lot of us is that we have never discarded this childish fancy. St. Paul got rid of his infantile idea: "When I was a child, I thought as a child...but when I became a man, I put away childish things." There is a tremendous relief in putting away our wilfulness and setting ourselves to achieve the tasks God has entrusted to us. Accept those tasks. Seek His constant help and you will find yourself, with a singing heart, declaring, "I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me."

Closing Prayer:

O God, forasmuch as without Thee we are not able to please Thee; mercifully grant that Thy Holy Spirit may in all things direct and rule our lives; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen. (Book of Common Prayer).

WELCOME

To young people coming to Philadelphia for school or college, to families moving into the city from other places, to residents of hotels who expect to be here only a brief time, the Parish, its Vestry and Ministers extend a cordial welcome. The services on Sundays, at convenient hours and of varied character, the open pews in a church which is always open, are all at your service.

On weekdays there are not only noon-day services with helpful messages, but there are many groups with many purposes meeting in our modern Community House. There is a place for you in one or more of them, whether you are young or old, men or women, boys or girls, professional people or home makers.

In the pews you will find a card which signed and sent or left in the pew will bring to you some one with full information.

The Rector's sermons on Sundays through October are as follows: October 2nd—"What Keeps People Out Of The Church?", October 9th—"What Keeps People From Believing In God?", October 16th—"What Keeps People From Loving Their Neighbors?", October 23rd—"What Keeps People From Praying?", October 30th—(All Saints' Day)—"Life With A Future."

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others.)

Opening Prayer:
O God, Author of the world's joy, Bearer of the world's pain; At the heart of all our trouble and sorrow, let unconquerable gladness dwell; through our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ. Amen. ("A Prayer Book for Soldiers and Sailors")

Bible Reading: Hebrews 11: 32-40.

The Sermon:
One of the most colorful friends of my Brooklyn days was Frank Pedersen, an old Norwegian boatman, who had been a seafaring man all his life, and spoke with the pungent wisdom of the sea. I always remember his saying to me, "Alfred, there are some days when you just can't make any money." He was thinking of those nightmare days when everything seems to go wrong. No matter what we do, it seems to turn outbadly. Those days are the acid test of a person's character, and show how truly religious he is.

It is said there are three kinds of Christians: the rowboat type, the sailboat type, and the steamship type. The rowboat kind of a Christtian depends entirely on himself and his own resources. Like a rowboat, he does not go very far or very fast, and is not very seaworthy on troubled waters. The sailboat type depends on the winds—these are the people who depend on circumstances, who count on "luck" to help them. If the winds are favorable, if people are constantly encouraging them, and they get the "breaks," they get on; but if the winds die down, and the patting on the back stops, and misfortune comes along, they are becalmed and flounder around, awaiting a new breeze. Then there is the steamship type—those who have their power on the inside, and they go forward whether the winds are favorable or unfavorable. Of course they like a favorable wind, as all men do: but they are not dependent on their own puny strength, or on good luck; but on the limitless power of God in their own hearts.

My Norwegian friend was right—there are ornery, nightmare days when misfortunes seem to pile up as fast as they did for Job. But Frank Pedersen, on those fateful days, did not sit down in a corner of the boathouse and mourn. He kept quietly and stubbornly at work, overhauling gear, replacing a worn rope, cleaning spark plugs, calking the seams of a dory. He would not have called this "faith," I think; but, actually, he had found an inner command, an inner power, that bade him to keep going, no matter how sour he felt. He carried his power inside.

It is quiet, stubborn faith in God which makes life into a victorious adventure. It is the belief that if I keep faithfully on, doing my job, caring for my children, earning my living by hard work, tackling tough tasks with courage, God will see me through. It works. In the long run, it always works, as it did with the heroes of old "who, through faith, subdued kingdoms, stopped the mouths of lions," and kept on sweeping house and washing the dishes clean, because God gave them these tasks, and also gave them the strength to go through with them. He still does!

Closing Prayer:
Grant us, O Lord, to pass this day in gladness and peace, without stumbling and without strain; that reaching the eventide, victorious over all temptation, we may praise Thee, the eternal God, Who art blessed, and dost govern all things, world without end. Amen. ("A Prayer Book for Soldiers and Sailors.")

The Burd School was officially opened for the year 1949-50 by the Rector on Wednesday, September 14th, at the Chapel Service. There are seven new girls this year and a total of twenty-nine in residence.

Commencing THIS SUNDAY, September 25th, the services at St. Stephen's Church will be held on STANDARD TIME.

COME TO THE FAIR

SUNDAY SCHOOL

Mr. Edwin S. Heins, Superintendent of St. Stephen's Sunday School, has announced the opening of our School of Christian Education beginning Sunday, September 18th, for all who will come. The School meets in the Community House, 923 Ludlow Street, from eleven to twelve-fifteen o'clock. Parents desiring to attend the morning worship in the church may leave their children in the care of competent teachers. The School is prepared to care for babies and toddlers, as well as every age group from kindergarten to senior.

It is the desire of the School to help you build right spiritual habits and attitudes in your children. We want the children to grow up in our own household of faith, where many hands of fellowship and encouragement will always be stretched out to help them.

A LITTLE CHILD SHALL LEAD THEM

The very first gift to the Organ Fund Campaign to raise $50,000.00 came from Jackie Smyth, a young Girard School boy. Jackie presented the rector with a one dollar bill which he had actually earned and said that he wanted it to go toward the Organ Fund.

Who can hold back his pledge to this much needed organ after this spontaneously generous gift of this little fellow. The hard earned dollar of this little Sunday School boy should mean the success of our ambitious campaign. Christ used the loaves and fishes of a little boy in the long ago to feed five thousand people. With this sacrificial gift of the little boy in the 20th century let us pray that our generosity and loyalty may be equal to his.

Summer months are very lean months for any church. But expenses must be met. You can help us by making up your back envelopes. We need your co-operation and generous help.

We wish to thank Mrs. Grant S. Hanley for her Church Bulletin subscription.

SPIRITUAL HEALING

Frequently the question is asked of those who attend our Thursday healing services, does it really work? Do you actually heal people?

Physical healing is frequently manifested at these services. The rector's file is literally bulging with such manifestations. Successes have been notable and of many types. Here are some letters that have come to the rector during the past few weeks:

Cancer Cure

Dear Dr. Price:

I am the cancer patient you ministered to several times at Jefferson Hospital, two years ago last spring. Since then my friend, Mrs. H. and my cousin have contacted you on my behalf, as I had a recurrence of the malignancy and have been seriously ill since last fall. I had cancer of several vertebral ribs, collar bone and shoulder blade. But you and many others were praying for me, and just as I and my family and physicians decided that my days were numbered, X-Ray examination showed almost miraculous healing and regeneration of bone. It was almost beyond belief to us all, but I am very grateful to God and to all who prayed to Him for me. The pain has greatly decreased and I am much stronger. My doctor ordered a change from the enervating Kentucky summer, so I expect to remain on this cool coast of California several more weeks. (Signed) E. H. O'Bryan.

Gradual Healing

Dear Dr. Price:

I want you to know that I have not worn my glasses since that last day I talked with you in your study. You suggested that I leave them off for a little while each day. Afterwards, I realized that I had been doing that for a year or more, and decided to take the big step and leave them off for good with faith. I went up to the Altar with special faith and received the laying on of hands. The next day it was as though the world had been washed. While there have been blurred times, my eyesight is steadily improving.

The eye which had astigmatism is seeing clearer and farther, and at times sees perfectly clear at a considerable distance. The nerves and muscles are getting stronger daily with natural use, and the twitching and pressing feeling goes for days at a time.

The eye that only saw light and large dark objects such as bureaus, and which has been seeing small objects and even large letters close, is now beginning to distinguish colors. It is a gradual but sure and complete healing.

The parts that have completely healed in me are the paralysis of the right eye; the development of the face and eye to their normal size and a strengthening and healing of the spine and paralyzed nerves in the back. Also chronic colitis, and severe chronic sinus condition are completely gone.

All these conditions were lifelong. I suppose that is why they have been gradual—they have been so imbedded in the subconscious mind. (Signed) D. K.

Alcoholism

"Five years last month I was cured of alcoholism in St. Stephen's Church and I stopped drinking. The miracle happened as you laid your hands upon me at the altar. I have become a new man." (Signed) A. M.

Gangrene Infection

"Before I leave for my home in Watertown, Mass., I want to tell you of the marvelous cure that happened to me at the altar of your church. I came to Philadelphia to inspect the records of the branch office of the concern which employed me. I was staying at the .....hotel and contracted a fungus growth on my right leg. It grew steadily worse and my leg from the ankle to the knee was a mass of running sores. Gangrene set in and the doctor despaired of saving it. It looked like a sure amputation. Alone in the city and panic stricken, I happened to see the sign in front of your church calling attention to the Healing Service. I was on my way at the time to Jefferson Hospital where the doctor had engaged a room for me. It was close to 5: 30 P. M. and I entered St. Stephen's Church. I listened to your address on healing. Your words seemed to reach my inner consciousness and led me to come forward in faith with the others to receive the laying on of hands. I cannot describe the feeling that came over me. I seemed to receive immediate healing. I walked away without the help of my cane. I continued my journey to the hospital and the next morning when the bandages were removed the surgeon noted with amazement the improved condition. In two days I was discharged as completely cured. I have been a lifelong member of the Episcopal Church but I have never known about this work of spiritual healing until by chance I came into your church. Could you direct me to one of our churches in or around Boston that conducts a similar service. My sister desperately needs something like this. (Signed) Violet B.

SERMONS IN SEPTEMBER

Man is by nature a story teller. Most people like to tell stories and nearly everyone likes to hear one. Beginning September 11th, the Rector will take as his subject material some of the great stories of the Bible. The first will be "The Story of Creation," the second "The Story of the Flood," and third "The Story of the Iron Gate."

The great Diocesan Choir will sing at St. Stephen's on September 15th at 8:00 P. M. when the United Thank Offering of the women of the Diocese will be presented. The speaker will be the Rt. Rev. Charles F. Boynton, Bishop of Puerto Rico.

HAMILTON COURT
Chestnut at 39th Street, Philadelphia 4, Penna.

September 8, 1949

My dear Friend's of St. Stephen's Church:

The most important and grandest business in the world is that of furnishing the opportunity of looking upon and imbibing the good, the true, and the beautiful. The founders of St. Stephen's had this vision, as also have had the pastors and lay-members of the organization during the past 126 years. The main strands in the pattern consisting of a spiritual minded, liberal, and intellectual pulpit and the soothing and uplifting embellishment to our Episcopal services of music well rendered and reverent, were closely interwoven so as to develop into a service of potent and widespread influence throughout the community, diocese and nation.

This continuity of pulpit and choir has extended to the present time, but we have received ominous warnings of serious defects in the organ, and it is our bounden duty to see that we continue to have an instrument that will adequately meet the demands of the service always associated with St. Stephen's.

The organ was the gift of the Magee family in 1907 and build under the supervision of our illustrious blind organist, Dr. David D. Wood. It has been conspicuous for its clarity and beauty of tone and effect, and such is largely dependent upon proper mechanical features and the pipes.

It is the opinion of our present illustrious organist and choirmaster, Dr. H. Alexander Matthews, and several organ experts, and the members of the vestry that an entirely new organ should be installed; as such would be more economical and advantage would be taken of many novel improvements in construction.

The present organ, with some renovations at various times, over the past 42 years, is now in the category of the "Old One-Horse-Shay," which with its squeaks and patches continued to run until it collapsed suddenly and completely. We must avoid any such catastrophe; and, Dr. Price and the Vestry, cognizant of the loyalty and generosity of the various congregations and the many friends and beneficiaries of St. Stephen's, feel certain that we can obtain the necessary amount of money over a certain period of time.

By prayer and faith we are assured that mountains can be moved; and, surely with such inspiration and earnest effort we can ornament what has been so firmly established by our predecessors at St. Stephen's.

The goal of $50,000.00 has been set, payable over a period of five years. It is important to have in hand or sure of collection during the first two years at least half this amount, $25,000.00, in order to make the contracts and to meet the current requisites for continuous construction.

A plan for pledges and payments will be formulated and submitted for your consideration, and choice will be given each donor or groups of donors to patronize certain units of construction as (a) pipes, (b) console, (c) keyboards, (d) stops, (e) couplers, (f) pedals.

THE ORGAN

of great antiquity in its primitive forms and of great complexity and power in its modern form, consists of a set of pipes, a reservoir filled with air to operate them and a series of levers (manual and pedal) to permit the air to flow from the reservoir into the pipes, have remained unaltered. Of previous centuries the valves opening the pipes were by tracker-action; this was supplanted by pneumatic action, which gave way to electric action, making the touch of an organ as light as that of a piano.

Outstanding features:

(a) Pipes: are of wood or metal, in length from 64 feet to a few inches; the longer pipes for the low tones; the shorter, the higher. Tone-quality is determined in part by the material of the pipe itself, and in certain instances by the presence of reeds.

(b) Console: the movable desk containing the keyboards, manual and pedal. Within it are also contained the stops and couplers.

(c) Keyboards: theses are grouped in tiers—the lowest is named the Choir Organ; the next, the Great Organ; the next, the Swell Organ. If more than 3 manuals, the 4th tier is generally called the Echo, and the tier above that, the Solo. By couplers any pipe may be sounded from any keyboard, but in general only certain groups of pipes are operated from particular manuals.

(d) Stops: these are draw-knobs or tilting tablets which control the connection between a given set of pipes and a given keyboard. When a given stop is pulled, all pipes of a given quality are automatically connected with a keyboard.

(e) Couplers: these are similar to stops except that they merely transfer the connection to different keyboards.

(f) Pedals: These, operated by the feet, are similar to the conventional keyboard but much larger. The bass part of a composition is assigned almost exclusively to the pedals. In addition to the pedal keyboard should be mentioned the swell pedal, controlling the shutters in a box containing the Swell Organ, the crescendo pedal which, as it is depressed, successfully connects more and more stops and the sforzando pedal which throws on the entire organ.

With every confidence of your loyal and generous support, I am

Sincerely yours,

HERBERT OLD,
Chairman, ORGAN FUND CAMPAIGN

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others.)

Opening Prayer:

Blessed Lord, Who was tempted in all things like as we are, have mercy upon our frailty. Out of weakness give us strength. Support us in time of temptation. Embolden us in time of danger. Help us to do Thy work with good courage, and to continue Thy faithful soldiers and servants unto our life's end; for Thy Name's sake. Amen.

Bible Reading: Matthew 4: 1-11

The Sermon:

When you and I were young, we liked to dream of a mighty deed we were going to do—standing in the spotlight as the crowd applauded our sensational singing; winning a race by a thrilling last-stretch burst of speed; saving a hurt child's life by just the right first-aid measures. We liked to think of ourselves "coming through" in an emergency, doing such a shining deed that people would think us wonderful.

But as we slowly grew into maturity, we began to see that there is a lot more to life than the spotlighted moment! We began to see the countless days of training which can alone prepare for that last-stretch burst; the careful mastery of first-aid knowledge which has to come first; the endless hours of boresome practice before a voice can sing a song. We began to see that Jesus, lifted up before men on the Cross, had been preparing for that great moment all through His life, by disciplined obedience to God in little things. From the Temptation, when He turned His back on quick, sensational ways of winning the hearts of men to God, the Master was schooling Himself to be the responsive instrument of His Father. So, when the moment of crisis came, in the Garden of Gethsemane, He was able to say "Yes" to God, and go God's way, because through long practice, He had formed the habit of saying "Yes" to God.

Someone has said, "It is not life's great troubles that distress us; but the petty annoyances, the irritations and bafflings and disappointments of life's daily round. We need a faith equal to emergencies; but we also need a faith adequate for the little trials of every day." And it is in mastering those little trials that we prepare ourselves to stand against the emergency. Studdert Kennedy wrote:

"Sometimes I wish that I might do just one grand deed and die,
And by that one grand deed reach up to meet God in the sky.
But such is not Thy way, O God, nor such is Thy decree,
But deed by deed, and tear by tear, our souls must climb to Thee,
As climbed the only Son of God from manger unto Cross,
Who learned, through tears and bloody sweat, to count this world but loss,
Who left the Virgin Mother's arms, to seek those arms of shame,
Outstretched upon a lonely hill to which the darkness came.
As deed by deed, and tear by tear, He climbed up to the height,
Each deed a splendid deed, each tear a jewel shining bright;
So grant us, Lord, the patient heart, to climb the upward way
Until we stand upon the heights, and see the perfect day."

Closing Prayer:

Almighty and Everlasting God, with Whom nothing is obscure, nothing dark, send forth Thy light into our hearts that we may perceive Thy law for us, and, walking in Thy way, may fall into no sin; through Thy beloved Son and our beloved example, Jesus Christ. Amen. (St. Gregory).

THE UNITED THANK OFFERING of the women of the Diocese will be presented in St. Stephen's on September 15th at 8: 00 P. M. The service at which the missionary offering is presented is always a thrilling one. The great Diocesan Choir will sing at this service and the speaker will be the Rt. Rev. Charles F. Boynton, Bishop of Puerto Rico.

Mrs. B. M. Tinsley, our Parish U. T. O. Custodian, earnestly hopes that every woman in St. Stephen's Church will have a part in the United Thank Offering.

The Blue Envelope is enclosed with this Bulletin and on Sunday, September 11th, we shall present our Parish Offering at the Altar. The Diocesan Service is early this year because of the General Convention in San Francisco in September.

The Rector will attend the Clergy Conference of the Diocese of Pittsburgh held on Lake Erie, September 8th, 9th, and 10, and will speak on the subject of Spiritual Healing.

SERMONS IN SEPTEMBER

Man is by nature a story teller. Most people like to tell stories and nearly everyone likes to hear one. Beginning September 11th, the Rector will take as his subject material some of the great stories of the Bible. The first will be "The Story of Creation," the second "The Story of the Flood," and third "The Story of the Iron Gate."

PEACE OF MIND

It is indeed hard to gain Peace of Mind today amidst the testing times, trials and worries of this hectic age in which we live. Day after day sees more people unable to stand the strain of life, nervous diseases are by far outstripping all others. In my own work I am amazed at the number of people who come to my study seeking one thing—Mental Peace.

When you were a child you had a mind free from fear and filled with mental peace, you always relaxed so easily when bed-time came, and today, no matter how filled with fears your life may be—you can become a little child in Christ—you can renew your mind in Him, you can get it transformed. This will produce in your mind that peace and quietness of thought that God meant you to have.

St. Paul says, "Be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind"—this is the wonderful prescription that will give everyone Peace of Mind. Many of our diseases today are due to wrong patterns of thinking. We are all thinking beings, but beyond that we are Spiritual Beings. Therefore, if only we will come to a real consciousness of the reality of God, to a conviction that God will through faith, give us an inner peace, it will enable us to stand up to whatever life may produce day by day.

Be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind means that you must get rid of all that is in your mind—your fears, your worries, your irritations—start finding out if you have resentment or hate toward any person—find out your weaknesses and hand them over to God asking His forgiveness. Build up a new mind—undress your soul today before God, and bury the past and all it has ever brought you.

After doing this then practice filling your mind with good thoughts—stop yourself every time you find the old negative, sinful ideas coming in. Fill your heart and mind with a love of Jesus Christ—think of what He did for you—in order that you may always have Peace of Mind.

In the silence of your own room today, tell Jesus Christ that you cannot do a thing with yourself, and ask Him in God's Name to forgive all your past and give you a new life. Pray believing that you are now receiving that new life. Your nerves, your neuroses, your troubles will fade away with the conviction of His Presence with you. You will be transformed by the renewing of your mind, and from that renewing of your Faith, you will carry on happily, successfully—for you will certainly have gained Peace of Mind.

STREAKER MEMORIAL

We have received close to one thousand dollars from 60 persons toward the cost of Carrillonic Bells in memory of George Hoover Streaker. The cost of these bells will be $3,500.00.

Our hearty congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Herman Herzog who celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary June 26th.

Our thanks to the Girls' Friendly Society of St. Stephen's for a generous gift toward the Community House Refrigerator.

Summer months are lean months for the Church Treasury. Are your envelopes up to date? Some of our members are filling their summer envelopes in advance.

This is the last issue of the weekly Bulletin until September.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and the shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others).

Opening Prayer:

Almighty God, grant that our wills be ever meekly subject to Thy will, and our hearts be ever honestly ready to serve Thee; for the sake of Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen. (Roman Breviary, 1099 A. D.)

Bible Reading: St. Mark 12: 13-17

The Sermon:

Sometimes people wonder what on earth they'll talk to the minister about when he comes to call. If you want a most interesting time with him, just ask him, "Where do you find your text for a sermon on Christian patriotism?" Confidentially, that's a tough question for him to answer.

If you look through Harper's "Topical Concordance" (which arranges Bible texts by subjects), you'll find only fifty-one texts which have anything to do with patriotic ideas. Forty of them come from the Old Testament—before Jesus' teaching had lighted the world. Out of the eleven New Testament texts, only four are from the gospels, and there is not a single one in which Jesus bids men to be patriotic. The only recorded teaching of Jesus about patriotism was, "Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and unto God the things that are God's." In other words, make up your own mind what you owe to your nation, and what you owe to God; and do your duty as you see it.

Does this mean that Jesus was against patriotism? I do not think so. There is not a single passage in His recorded teaching in which He raises His voice against patriotism. But He was interested in a far wider horizon than the tiny nation of Israel, or the narrow outlook of any one country. He was interested in the needs of the world.

See what a bitter world men have made under the urgings of sincere, narrow patriotism. Let General Omar Bradley (who knows whereof he speaks) tell the story: "With the monstrous weapons man already has, humanity is in danger of being trapped...Our knowledge of science has clearly outstripped our capacity to control it. We have too many men of science, too few men of God...We have grasped the mystery of the atom, and rejected the Sermon on the Mount...Man is stumbling blindly through a spiritual darkness while toying with the precarious secrets of life and death...The world has achieved brilliance without wisdom, power without conscience. Ours is a world of nuclear giants and ethical infants... We know more about war than we know about peace, more about killing than we know about living."

What the world needs most is God-sustained men, men whose roots are in His wide-reaching love, His pure wisdom. The world needs men and women who obey God. Only such men and women, with a horizon as wide as that of their Master, can save the world, or our own nation. The one patriotic task of the Christian Church is to provide such people, people trained to think and act with the wideness of God's understanding and compassion. You yourself can best serve your country by being the servant of God. On this Armistice Sunday, dedicate yourself to that great task!

Closing Prayer:

O God, Master of life, illumine our minds with the light of Thine own reason, inform our wills with Thine eternal purpose, and so make our daily work a prayer; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen. (Henry Sylvester Nash).

Mr. John Spears, well-known Bible teacher, will teach the Bible Class this Sunday, November 13th, at 4: 00 P. M. as guest teacher.

Over a thousand people worshipped in our church last week. The attendance at the various services was as follows: Sunday, 9: 00 A. M., 12; 11: 00 A. M., 255; 7: 30 P. M., 72; Tuesday, 12: 10 P. M., 116; 8: 00 P. M., 310; Wednesday, 12: 30 P. M., 37; Thursday, 12: 30 P. M., 100; 5: 30 P. M., 75; Friday, 12: 30 P. M., 45.

The Flowers on the Altar today are given by The Military Order of The Purple Heart, Chapter No. 4, and Unit 4 and by Mr. and Mrs. John J. Dougherty, in memory of departed Marines.

We acknowledge with appreciation the Church Bulletin subscriptions of Miss B. Irene Mathews, and Miss Louise F. Leupold.

ORGAN PRELUDE—"Kyrie Eleison".....Max Reger
PROCESSIONAL HYMN 125.....Cobb

All the musical selections in this service are from the "Requiem" by Gabriel Fauré.

GRANT THEM REST ETERNAL

Hymns shall become thee, O God in Zion, and to thee shall new vows be paid in Jerusalem.

Hear thou my prayer, O Lord God; unto thee shall all flesh come.

Lord, have mercy upon us.
Christ, have mercy upon us.
Grant us thy peace.

DELIVER ME

Deliver me, Lord, from death eternal upon that day of terror, upon that day of trial; then shall heaven and earth be moved, be consumed together, for thou shalt come upon the earth in judgment.

Trembling, I stand before Thee and wait in fear till judgment shall come upon the earth and men shall know thine anger.

Day of wrath and doom impending! Death then is struck and all creation wakes. Day of wrath and day of sorrow! Great the waking, exceeding bitter.

Rest eternal grant them, Lord; let light perpetual shine upon them.

Deliver me, O Lord, deliver me.

SERMON—"If a Man Die, Will I See Him Again?".....The Rector
OFFERTORY HYMN 126.....Barnby

HOLY, HOLY, HOLY

Holy, Holy, Holy, Lord God of hosts. Heaven and earth are full of thy glory. Glory be to thee, O Lord, Hosanna in the highest.

COMMUNION HYMN Pie Jesu

BLESSED JESUS

Blessed Jesus, Lord and God,
Grant them Thine eternal rest,
Gentle Shepherd, lead them now
Through this darkness to Thy day,
To Thy life that knows no death,
To Thy time that knows no end,
To that home that ends the way.
Grant unto Thy servants rest.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and the shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others).

Opening Prayer:

Deepen, O Lord, the stillness of our inmost thoughts, and refresh us with the quiet springs of Thine eternity; that we may know Thy peace which passeth understanding, and love Thee with an everlasting love; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen. (John W. Suter).

Bible Reading: I Samuel 2: 1-9

The Sermon:

How did the saints get to be saints? We do well to ask ourselves that question, for November first is All Saints' Day and this Sunday is within the Octave, when we remember them with loving gratitude before God. We get a clue to the answer in today's Bible reading, in Hannah's prayer, where she muses, "He raiseth the poor out of the dust...He will keep the feet of His saints...for by strength shall no man prevail." Hannah was wise enough to know that the saints have to struggle, and that the dust of their striving rises about them, and often over-shadows them. She knew that, of their own strength, no man or woman could ever be lifted up out of that darkness into saintly character. She knew that something besides the strength of man is needed.

Two children were overheard talking about the death of their grandmother. The five-year-old girl was asking her seven-year-old brother how "grandma went to God." "Well," said the boy, "it happened this way: first grandma reached up and up as far as she could; then God began to reach down and down. When their hands touched, He took her." That is a true parable of life. The choice souls whom we remember as saints are those, who, year after year, "reached up and up" towards God, and His will for them. They were the people who remembered to "think on these things"—the Christ-taught things, the things of God. And, as they persisted in reaching up, with all their being, God reached down until His love touched them, and refined them into precious gold, and made them the choice lights of their generation. There are no "self-made" saints—for it takes both the eager up-reach of a person and the down-reaching compassion of God, to work this miracle of heaven on earth.

Perhaps you have been deeply discouraged about your life. There were times when everyone of your saints was plunged deep in the blackness of discouragement. But they knew the way out, and they left it an open secret for you to see. Like Saul on the Road to Damascus, like Peter behind prison walls, they kept reaching toward the final source of power. And they were ever rewarded by those strong, down-reaching hands that drew them up into the light once more.

Closing Prayer:

Almighty and everlasting God, Who dost enkindle the flame of Thy love in the hearts of the saints; Grant to us, Thy humble servants, the same faith and power of love; that as we rejoice in their triumphs, we may profit by their examples; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen. (Book of Common Prayer)

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and the shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others).

Opening Prayer:

O heavenly Father, Who hast filled the world with beauty; open, we beseech Thee, our eyes to behold Thy gracious hand in all Thy works; that, rejoicing in Thy whole creation we may learn to serve Thee with gladness; for the sake of Him by Whom all things were made, Thy Son, Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.
(Book of Common Prayer).

Bible Reading: James 1: 19-27.

The Sermon:

In 1607 an English commercial company founded a settlement at Popham Beach, Maine. It was a purely financial venture, for what man could get out of it for their pocket-books. The bitter cold, the hardships, and the constant menace of the hostile Indians were too much for them. There was no thanksgiving in the hearts of those men that Autumn, no sense of freedom or glorious adventure. They had come for money, and all the money they could get was not worth the price they were paying. So when Spring came, they went home, disheartened, disappointed.

Thirteen years later, another company of people set out. Reaching the new world, they established their colonyy at Plymouth. They faced exactly the same hardships and perils as the men of Popham Beach. But when Autumn came, they celebrated the meagre harvest with a day of thanksgiving, their hearts overflowing with gratitude toward God. For they had not come for money. They had ventured forth on account of a common faith. They had risked everything that they might practice this faith in freedom. As John Robinson Elder Brewarter declared, "We are knit together in a most straight and sacred bond...It is not with us as it is with other men, whom small things discourage." Their hearty thankfulness rose out of their freedom to practice their faith in God according to their consciences. Such cherished freedom binds men together in strength against all enemies of body and soul.

Thanksgiving Day, 1949, lies just ahead of us. In a hunger-ridden world, every American parent should be humbly thankful for enough food to give his children; enough, and to spare! Let us have no sorry bleating about the "hardships" of inflation—most of our children are actually eating three square meals a day! If we be truly thankful to God, our Thanksgiving will be complete only when we make some gift to CARE, or some other agency which feeds the starving, that others may share in our God-given bounty.

We shall be deeply thankful for the high privilege of worshipping and obeying God in freedom. Behind the Iron Curtain, courageous Christian people are being persecuted for their faith, while we easily take for granted our unlimited freedom. On Thanksgiving Day you are free to kneel in a Christian house of worship and give your thanks to the open-handed God. Or, if you are shut-in, or isolated, you are free to turn on your radio and listen to God's Good News, and pray your quiet prayers of thanks. All across our broad land some thirty-five million households are "knit together in a most straight and sacred bond." All the thunder clouds on the international horizon, all the catastrophes that have crashed into our individual lives, cannot dishearten us. For we are free people, knowing with James that "Whoso looketh into the perfect law of liberty, and continueth therein; he being not a forgetful hearer but a doer of the work, this man shall be blessed indeed." We free people have a confidence founded in Almighty God. "It is not with us as with other men, whom small things discourage." Fortunate people, thank God for your great and abundant blessings!

Closing Prayer:

O most merciful Father, Who hast blessed the labors of the husbandman in the returns of the fruits of the earth; we give Thee humble and hearty thanks for this Thy bounty; beseeching Thee to continue Thy loving-kindness to us, that our land may still yield her increase, to Thy glory and to the comfort of mankind; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen. (Book of Common Prayer, adapted).

The Rector will preach and conduct a healing service at St. James Church, Kingsessing, Sunday, November 20th, at 8: 00 P. M.

Remember 27 November? It is Loyalty Sunday—a new date on St. Stephen's calendar. You will receive your 1950 Pledge Card this week and we ask you to return it on or before November 27. If you cannot come to church that day, mail it so we may have a 100% response by November 27.

MATTERS FINANCIAL

At this time of year it becomes necessary for us to think about the financial obligations of church membership. Only a small percentage of communicants in most parishes know of the church's activities week in and week out. Consequently, when the annual pledge card is received they write the same amount as last year. This means that they think the need hasn't grown since last year, and their interest hasn't been sharpened since last year, because their idea of the worth of the church is the same as last year.

Here in St. Stephen's not many are in that religiously static condition because of the increase in Lay-participation and Lay-leadership evidenced all around us. Most of us are "in the know" and on the go.

St. Stephen's Church exists to teach and preach, so to lead people in prayer and worship, that our hearts and minds may be kept "in the knowledge and love of God and of His Son Jesus Christ our Lord." To those who have this concern we do not hesitate to present the cause of this church.

We do not ask your continued support for St. Stephen's because it is weak, but because it is strong; the generosity and imagination of those who have given to it in the past have made it one of the strong churches in our city. But only the continuing support of the living can keep it strong and make it stronger.

Then there is the Diocese; for the genius of our church emphasizes that we are members one of another. Here in Pennsylvania we have a great missionary opportunity. The strong must bear the burdens of the weak, for we are a united family.

Then there is the work of the church throughout the world. If Christ really has touched our lives, then we must be missionary. The message and the whole validity of Christ's religion is that God so loves the world.

This matter of finances concerns how much we care for the Christian Gospel and the Church, which was founded and has lived through sacrifice. The giving of money is one very real and vital way to sacrifice. These are difficult days of excessively rising prices, I know. But if we are willing to sacrifice, then there can be no question of the result, for sacrifice will mean giving in proportion to our means. Will you not by Sunday, November 27th (Loyalty Sunday) when we drop our pledge cards in the "Chest of Joash" prayerfully consider your gift to the Church, that we may do our part to make the Kingdom of this world the Kingdom of God and His Christ.

If anyone in the parish has a sewing machine that is not used, and would like to put it to excellent use, the King's Daughters are in real need of one for their important work.

MEMBERSHIP AND PEW SITTINGS

Membership in St. Stephen's Church can be gained by becoming a regular contributor to the support of the church through the duplex-envelope system. A certain proportion of your pledge will be designated by the Vestry as a sitting rental and will entitle the communicant to membership in the corporate body of St. Stephen's.

THANK YOU!

The work and worship of St. Stephen's is supported by income from endowments, by subscriptions and pledges and by the constant contributions of all those who avail themselves of the many privileges of the church. Members of S. Stephen's congregation make regular yearly subscriptions. Visitors to the Sunday services put their offerings on the collection plate. Friends who come to the noon-day services, or who come to the church at all other times, make their offerings in the boxes in the rear of the church. Hundreds of people come to the church each week. It is encouraging to know the almost universal self-respect of all these people. No one plans to take something for nothing. Whether the contribution be large or small, everyone does his share. One feels like saying thank you, but he doubts that it is quite in order even to say "thank you!"

"SHUT-IN" but not "SHUT-OUT"

from the loving provision of all those who have shared their magazines, books and puzzles with St. Stephen's hospital friends. Through the able supervision of Miss Maude Hess, over 1,000 of these articles have been distributed to hospitals in various parts of the city. Keep sharing by means of our Periodical Club in the church office.

OUR STEWARDSHIP

St. Stephen's Church is now facing the greatest opportunity of its history. Never before were there so many varied religious services rendered to the people of our neighborhood as there are today. Never before has the ministry of this church reached out to so many needy people as at the present time. The program of the church very largely has been designed to meet the needs of people; not one group of people, but different groups of various ages and backgrounds. This great challenge of the church in the midst of a busy city must be met by a program that has reality and significance and it must be financed by the giving of a great many people.

St. Stephen's needs for 1950

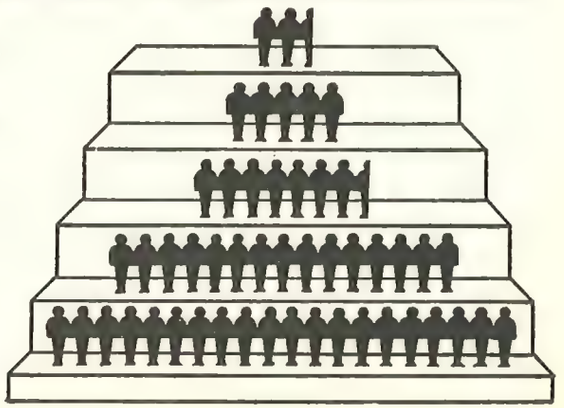
to continue the work we are now doing. Increased costs are affecting our church budget just as they are affecting yours. Thus the 1950 budget is $5,000.00 more than for 1949, a 9% increase. Will you increase your pledge accordingly? If 15 members will increase their pledges $2.00 per week, if 25 members will increase their pledges $1.00 per week, if 40 members increase pledges 50c per week and so on down the chart printed below we will reach our goal and go forward with full power.

There was a total of 428 services in St. Stephen's Church last year, 324 of which were preaching services and 148 were Communion services. Forty-two thousand seven hundred ninety-one was the total attendance at all services. There is no record of the number who came into church during the week-days for prayer and meditation.

You know, here at this old church, we have an amazingly unique chance. Generous gifts to our Endowment Fund in the past have set us almost entirely free to keep our doors open and keep St. Stephen's work and worship alive. It sets us free for all sorts of good works. It makes possible a program of practice rather than theory, a program of personal work rather than conventional work.



In the last few years the income from our trust funds has declined. The average return on high-grade bonds is now about half what it was a decade ago; while the general level of prices has soared to record levels, and with it church expenses have reached all-time highs. In spite of rigid economies we face again a deficit this year in our operating expenses. In the light of these distressing facts we are urging upon our contributors to do their utmost to increase this year's pledge—to take a step up. Your generosity will make it possible for St. Stephen's Church to do its work and to continue as one of the great churches in this city. We feel that we can rely upon your generosity.

We appeal to our new friends; people who have come to St. Stephen's since our last year's canvass. We hope that as you benefit in our services and activities you will wish to share in our responsibilities.

WILL YOU GO UP A STEP?

Each figure in the chart represents 5 members of St. Stephen's Church. The increase necessary in the church budget can easily be met in pledges if as many contributors as are indicated here will increase their pledges by the amounts given below:

15 members increase pledges $2.00 per week—
25 members increase pledges $1.00 per week—
40 members increase pledges 50c per week—
75 members increase pledges 25c per week—
100 members increase pledges 10c per week—

This is the time of our Every Member Canvass. A pledge card has been sent to all our families. Some have mailed them to the office. Others placed them in the Chest of Joash at the service last Sunday. We are anxious to hear from every last individual on our rolls. If you have not done so, will you not sign the card—giving to the true extent of your ability during the coming year? And if you have not been attending church regularly, why not begin next Sunday? It is a means to full health of mind and spirit.

Our "thank you" to the following subscribers to the Church Bulletins Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Leithead, The Misses Elizabeth and Minnie Corrigan, Mrs. John C. Braun, Mrs. John A. Shimp, Mrs. Henry Groh, Miss Lillian H. Carson and one Anonymous subscriber.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country, and others.)

Opening Prayer:

Master of life, lead us, through patient study and unwearying prayer, into the deeper knowledge of ourselves and Thee; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.
(Henry S. Nash).

Bible Reading: St. Luke 1: 1-4

The Sermon:

This Sunday is Bible Sunday throughout the Christian Church. The Collect, Epistle and Gospel for the second Sunday in Advent centers around the Holy Scriptures, that we may read, mark, learn and inwardly digest them.

Suppose a great man comes to your town, and holds a meeting. Four keen, truthful men you know go to that meeting. They will come back with four different stories, four different pictures of that great man. All four of those stories will be true. Because each of those men is a different person, and has his own special purposes, he sees a different part of the truth. He hears and remembers what comes home to him.

This is just what happened in the Four Gospels. Each man had a particular purpose in writing. Mark, who wrote earliest, had known Peter very well, Peter who was there with Jesus and felt the power of His living presence. Mark was a story-teller, not a thinker, so he simply tells the story of the mighty Teacher Who spoke and healed with such authority, and led people into the Kingdom of God. St. Matthew had his heart set on giving Christ to the Christian Jews; and every Jew had been brought up expecting a Great Day when the Messiah would come to redeem His people. So Matthew remembered when Jesus spoke of Himself as the Redeemer, the Anointed One, the Messiah. In Matthew, therefore, Christianity has found the burning hope of a Saviour, the mighty God come into earth's life and making it glorious.

In St. Luke we find a new purpose. Dr. Luke was writing to a Roman, "the most excellent Theophilus," that this pagan gentleman might know more about Jesus Christ. In writing to a proud Roman citizen, Dr. Luke naturally left out the teachings about Jesus as Messiah, for a citizen of the Empire would not be interested in an ancient hope of tiny Palestine. Instead, Dr. Luke wrote down for Theophilus those great teachings that would appeal to any man, anywhere. Therefore, in Luke alone, we have the beautiful and unforgettable stories of the Lost Sheep, the Lost Coin, the Lost Son, the Good Samaritan. We are grateful to Dr. Luke for writing to that Greek gentleman of long ago.

St. John wrote last of all. He faced a different world. By this time strange beliefs were in the air, strange teachings that Jesus had been only a dream-Christ, a sort of ghost without living a truly human life. So John's deep purpose is to defend the reality of Christ, to prove that He was truly born; truly lived; truly felt the pains and joys that we do. John alone records the words from the Cross, "I thirst"—John remembered them, and put them in the record to remind us that Christ really lived and suffered for us.

We are rich in having these four different pictures of our Lord. But, underneath the differences, there stands out the same matchless Christ, Who brought God into human life. Through all Four Gospels runs the same command—man, in order truly to live, must surrender his will to God's direction, to Christ's leading. The Gospels all tell us that man, without God, is weak and hopeless, but that with God, under God, he can live with joy and power and peace.

Closing Prayer:

O Lord Jesus Christ, Who art the truth, incarnate, and the teacher of the faithful; Let Thy Spirit overshadow us in the study of Thy Word, that learning of Thee with honest hearts, we may be rooted and built up in Thee, Who livest and reignest with the Father and the Holy Ghost, one God, world without end. Amen.
(William Bright).

CHRISTMAS DINNERS

Each year St. Stephen's Church donates baskets or the equivalent to those who are unable to give to their families the fulness of Christmas cheer, with which others are blessed. Will you help with your generosity? Every member and friend of the church is asked to use the special Christmas Dinner envelope. We need $300.00. Thirty-six families and individuals were cared for last Christmas.

THE MOTHERS' MEETING CHRISTMAS BAZAAR

Thursday, December 8th, all day in the Community House. Admission 10 cents. Door Prizes. 2-course platter served until 7: 00 P. M. Come and bring your friends. The latchstring's out!

At the annual Thanksgiving service at the Burd School on November 23rd, at 8: 00 A. M. the girls presented the Rector with a huge basket of food for some needy family in the parish. This was made possible by no little self-sacrifice on the part of all the girls. Such giving is twice-blest.

The Rector will conduct a service of Spiritual Healing for the Sunday night congregation December 4th in the church at 7: 30 P. M.

Mrs. Agnes Sanford, author of "The Healing Light" will give another lecture on Spiritual Healing in St. Stephen's on Tuesday, December 6th, at 8: 00 P. M. Everyone is welcome to attend. Mrs. Sanford has written one of the most helpful and important books on this subject. She is the wife of an Episcopal Rector in the western part of Massachusetts.

Say to them that are of a fearful heart, "Behold your God will come with vengeance, He will come and save you." Then shall the eyes of the blind be opened, and the ears of the deaf shall be unstopped. Then shall the lame man leap as a hart and the tongue of the dumb sing; for in the wilderness shall waters break forth and streams in the desert, and a highway shall be there, it shall be called the way of holiness. PARISH FINANCES

It will be a real help to the Accounting Warden if we all endeavor to bring our weekly envelopes up to date in the next few weeks, so that we can once more pay all our obligations. We have had to make a goodly number of repairs to our property this year, so if we each do our part in our weekly envelopes and in the special Christmas offering we shall close the year with all bills paid including our Missionary Expectations.

We wish to express our appreciation to the following persons for their subscriptions to the Church Bulletin: Mrs. Jay Knox, her son and daughter, Mr. Walter Knox and Mrs. Trent; Mr. and Mrs. John M. Harris, and Miss Josephine A. Lindenmayer.

The Rector will conduct a healing service and preach in his home church in Scranton, December 11th, in the evening.

On Sunday morning, December 4th, there passed into the Presence of God and the Kingdom of greater service the soul of one of the older and beloved communicants of our Parish, Mrs. George P. Green. She was in her 91st year and retained her faculties until the last. May God grant her eternal rest and may Light Perpetual shine upon her.

After an illness of several months, it has pleased our Heavenly Father to call to a larger field of usefulness, J. Wiley Christie, one-time Vestryman of St. Stephen's Church. While we are sorry for his passing from us, we are also glad that he has been delivered from the body of his suffering, and for his abundant entrance into the better life with God. His high business honor and integrity won him the respect and affection of all who knew him. Such men make a parish rich.

SINGING TOWERS: ST. STEPHEN'S

The gray towers rise toward the vaulted sky,
And the gray night shadows fall;
The echoing feet go swiftly by
Beneath the towers tall.

Out from the towers the music swells
On the free air, far and near,
From the mellow throats of the sanctified bells,
With the message of hope and cheer:
"Angels of Jesus, angels of light,
Singing to welcome the pilgrims of the night."

Oh, careless ones, wherever ye go,
To your homes, or the market place,
Pause now, for a while, in the street below,
And hark for a moment's space.

Who knows what care by earth-din stilled,
Will sense the Song—instead?
Who knows what hearts with earth-grief filled
Will hear, and be comforted?

Oh, hearken, ye "pilgrim's of the night"—
There's never a night so long,
But yet will dawn the morning light
That brings the Seraphs' song.

So over the city the carillon rings,
With its message of praise and prayer.
The vibrant air with the melody sings,
From the gray towers, rising there:
"Angels of Jesus, angels of light,
Singing to welcome the pilgrims of the night".

—Will Coffee.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country, and others.)

Opening Prayer:
Grant, we beseech Thee, merciful Lord, to Thy faithful people, pardon and peace, that they may be cleansed from all their sins; and serve Thee with a quiet mind; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen. (Book of Common Prayer)
Bible Reading: St. John 14: 15-23

The Sermon:
When spring comes along, people clean house. With the return of the sun to the heights, light begins to flood the house. The dust in dark corners shows up, and the window-panes look dirty. Trash has accumulated down-cellar and up-attic. Experienced housekeepers know that their every-day housework, careful as it may be, doesn't take care of all dirt and rubbish. Perhaps the everyday housework hasn't been quite as careful as it should have been. No one leaps joyously to spring cleaning; but it just has to be done.

This is the Advent Season, the beginning of the Church Year, when Christian people look forward to the coming of Christ into their hearts again. For centuries, Advent has been spiritual house-cleaning time. When any one starts thinking of Christ being born again, and coming to dwell in their hearts, they begin to see dirt and trash which have accumulated there unnoticed. Yes, they have been saying their prayers daily, and trying to keep their hearts decently sweet and clean. But oft-times their prayers have been hasty. They've grown a bit careless as to what they say about other people; and a bit over-careful about taking excellent care of themselves. So, when they think about the Light of the World coming into those hearts, they suddenly see a lot of dirty, smelly stuff that needs moving. No one likes tackling that job; but it simply has to be done.

You'll need to sit down and read about Jesus in your Bible, and let the Master light up your heart. You'll need to close your eyes in quiet meditation, to let Him show you the really important sins to tackle—your unloving attitude toward some one, your refusal to listen to God's will in making that decision in business or in your lodge; your sinful spoiling of your child or your husband, by giving him everything he asks for; your laziness of heart in holding back from a strenuous deed of friendship. You won't enjoy doing this, but, if you ask God's help, and tackle the dirty job, and get that heart of yours cleaned up, you can have the most glorious Christmas of your life; for He will come to you, and, more wonderful still, He will stay on! As Daniel Henderson wrote:

"Lord Christ, the bird his nest has found,
The fox is sheltered in his ground,
But dost Thou still this dark earth tread,
And have no place to lay Thy head?
Shepherd of mortals, here behold
A little flock, a wayside fold
That wait Thy Presence to be blest—
O Man of Nazareth, be our guest!"

Closing Prayer:
O Lord Jesus Christ, Who when Thou wast here upon the earth didst love to talk with common folk just like us, and visit them in their homes, come now to us, we pray Thee. There will be room in our hearts for Thee. Amen.
(Robert E. Speer, adapted.)

QUAINT RULES FOR CHURCH DECORUM

Thou shalt not come to service late,
Nor for the Amen refuse to wait.
Thy noisy tongue thou shalt restrain
When speaks the organ its refrain.
But when the hymns are sounded out
Thou shalt lift up thy voice and shout.
The endmost seat thou shalt leave free
For more must share the pew with thee.
The offering plate thou shalt not fear,
But give thine uttermost with cheer.
Thou shalt to the minister give heed,
Nor blame him when thou'rt disagreed.
Unto thy neighbor thou shalt bend
And, if a stranger, make a friend.
And so by all thy spirit's grace,
Thou shalt show God within this place.

CHRISTMAS, 1950

What a difference! One asked whether the translation of the Christmas message of the angels reads "Peace on earth, good will to men" or "Peace on earth to men of good-will."

The answer is, of course, that it makes a vast amount of difference if one considers the value of the words themselves.

It is undoubtedly true that the coming of the Christ is the best evidence in human experience of God's good-will toward men; yet the older and incorrect translation regards man as a mere passive recipient, while the second and correct translation presents a divine promise that awaits upon a human response.

In very real fact the ineptitude of the church—and, in larger measure, of the world—is due to the failure of former generations and of our generation of professing Christians to understand and live by the principle involved in the message "Peace on earth to men of good-will."

There can be little doubt that the world regards the experience of peace both for humanity as a whole and for the individual, as the supremely desirable objective.

But that peace will never come to the individual or to the world if, on the one hand, man sits in pious inaction and expects Peace to be given as an unconditional gift of God, or if, on the other hand, man seeks to achieve Peace without the emotions, the thoughts, and the actions of "good-will."

And what is true of peace is true of every other spiritual goal. With the development of the brain and the gift of conscience, life passed beyond the zone of automatic evolution. It is now up to man. The door stands open, but man must choose and walk the path if he expects to enter.

Two words loom large in the teaching of Christ and those same two words loom large in the experience of life: "IF," and that introduces a conditional promise; and "DO," which means the translation of belief into purposeful action.

Christ is God's down-reach to man, but that down-reach will not touch him who does not respond with up-reach.

May the Love of God abide in you, His Peace enfold you, His Grace sustain you and His Light guide you this Holy Christmastide.

Sincerely your Rector,

ALFRED W. PRICE

As it began to dawn toward the first day of the week, came Mary Magdalene and the other Mary to see the sepulchre.

And behold, there was a great earthquake; for the angel of the Lord descended from heaven and came and rolled back the stone from the door and sat upon it. His countenance was like lightning, and his raiment white as snow, and for fear of him the keepers did shake and became as dead men.

And the angel answered and said unto the women "Fear not ye, for I know that ye seek Jesus, which was crucified.

He is not here, for he is risen as he said. Come see the place where the Lord lay. And go quickly and tell his disciples that he is risen from the dead.

Christ the Lord is risen to-day,
Sons of men and angels say.
Raise your joys and triumphs high;
Sing ye heavens, and earth reply,
Alleluia!

Love's redeeming work is done,
Fought the fight, the battle won.
Death in vain forbids Him rise,
Christ has opened paradise.
Alleluia!

Soar we now where Christ has led,
Following our exalted Head,
Made like Him, like Him we rise;
Ours the Cross, the goal, the skies.

THE RECTOR'S EASTER GREETING

My Beloved People of St. Stephen's:

According to the Gospel of St. John, which differs only in detail from the other gospels, Mary Magdalene came to the sepulchre "early, when it was dark," and saw that the stone that had closed the entrance had been rolled away and that the tomb was empty. Then, as John continues, she wept and One Whom she had first taken to be a gardener said to her, "Woman, why weepest thou?" When He spoke her name in a way which must have been long familiar to her, she knew Him and called Him "Rabboni, which is to say, Master."

After all the centuries the story is as touching as though it had happened yesterday; the weeping woman, the news coming to Simon Peter and to that other disciple whom Jesus loved, the sick fear that enemies had stolen away the body, the swift surge of incredulous joy when this fear was removed. It was no longer dark in that garden. The sun was rising on the first Easter.

Such is the simple narrative on which rests the Christian faith. In nineteen centuries and more this faith has spread around the world. Millions have lived and died in it. It has influenced the thoughts and actions of other millions who do not themselves recite the creed but whose hearts are moved by the ethics of compassion.

The garden of the world is dark enough today. Forgiveness and hope are overshadowed in many lands. We long for peace and it eludes us. We abominate war and yet must prepare for it. We pray for good-will and are aware of an encompassing hate. We know only too well that if a time of trouble comes again it will not be the soldiers alone or chiefly, who will suffer, but the poor, the women and children and the old—those whom Jesus most loved and pitied. In the hours before dawn it is tragically easy to doubt that the good in man, the god-like attributes, can survive under such a threat. The atom bomb is no substitute for the sermon on the mount. It cannot lead us out of the night.

Within the churches, and outside their doors, in the streets, in cities, on farms, in homes, everywhere where kindly people love and respect one another, the beautiful vision of a bright world at peace still shines before our eyes. It was no darker in the world now than it was in that garden when Mary Magdalene came early to the sepulchre. Dawn came, and spring, and the time of blossoming. They will come again. The stone of darkness and hatred will not forever close the tomb of men's hopes.

Affectionately and faithfully, your Rector,
Alfred W. Price

POSTLUDE—"Christmas and New Year's Thoughts"

A NEW YEAR'S GREETING...SHUT THAT DOOR!

Elijah once told a very distracted and anxious woman to go home and shut the door upon herself. Shrewd reader of human nature! He recognized that there would be something psychological in such an act. States of mind are induced by physical acts quite as often as physical acts are prompted by states of mind. William James always insisted, you know, that we didn't run because we felt afraid we felt afraid because we ran. Even when Pilate went through the ritual of washing his hands with soap and water it gave his conscience a cleaner feeling too.

We will soon go through the annual ritual of shutting a door. At midnight on Saturday night, when the clock strikes twelve and the tooting of whistles and the clanging of bells announce the end of the old year, there will be people all over the land who will feel that they are actually closing some kind of door. And they are—the door of the old year. But the question is, how many of them really shut the doors of their minds on time?

There are some mental doors closed when we close the door of the old year. One of them is the Door of Worry Over Things Undone. What a common experience it is to be plagued by a haunting sense that we have probably left something undone which we ought to have attended to especially when the rush is over and the door is closed. And how many things undone we can recall when the door of the year is shut if we let our minds go out and dwell on them—the letters we didn't write, the little thoughtful services we might have rendered, the duties we left unperformed, the friendships we neglectd, the good inentions we failed to carry out. They range all the way from unsent birthday greetings to seized opportunities. It is too late now. Shut that door. There are still chances and ways for atonement in the New Year.

Another is the Door of Regret over what was wrongly done. It is related of old Doctor Samuel Johnson that in the last years of his life he could be seen once a year standing bareheaded at a certain spot in the market place, sometimes in the pelting rain, as he patiently observed the anniversary of the day and place where in his boyhood, he had slashed his father with a bad-tempered tongue. If one should keep the door of his mind ajar he could peek out on any number of regretted sins and follies—quick-tempered thrusts which drew blood, the bit of meanness which was so uncalled for, the unjust suspicion, and that ill-founded judgment. Any one of us could spend a great many unhappy moments this side of the door of the old year regretting what was wrongly done. And perhaps as a penance we deserve to. Nevertheless, shut that door.

Still another door of our minds which ought to be closed is the Door of Brooding Over Past Injuries, real or fancied. There are some people who sing a perpetual hymn of resentment adding new stanzas to it from time to time. I was acquainted with a woman, whether now in the flesh I know not, who used to say with a flash of her dark eyes, "I am like an Indian; I never forget an injury." And she didn't either. What a thing to boast about! Why be like an Indian instead of like a Christian? Still there are folk who next July will be brooding over the slights and injuries of last July. The door of the year 1949 will still be open. In heaven's name, let us shut that door!

Once more there is the Door of Sorrows, the hardest of all doors to shut. One would not say, "Shut the door of sacred memory upon thee." That would not be right. But the door of a ranking grief is different. St. Paul put it very wisely and very beautifully when he said, "Grieve not as those who have no hope." The glory of tomorrow is its hope. The joy of a new year is the light in its coming days. Gently shut the door on these bitter painful memories that recede with the past year and open the door ahead with thanksgiving that God is God, and Love is Love, and Life is stronger than all its sorrows.

It is behind the closed door that we are most likely, when we turn, to find ourselves facing Christ. "When the doors were shut—Jesus came and stood in the midst." It was behind a closed door that the woman discovered that Power which mysteriously multiplies the oil until it filled all the empty capacities into which she poured it.

A Blessed New Year. But first—be sure to shut that door!

On Sunday, January 8, at 11:00 A. M. the Rector has invited the Episcopal Chaplain of the Philadelphia General Hospital to speak to the congregation on the work he is doing in this great city hospital. Chaplain Ward is doing a fine work among the Episcopal patients. The rector will provide a clothes basket and place it at the door of the Church for this service, and the members of the congregation are asked to bring cigarettes, candy, tobacco, canned goods and any edible commodities to be placed in the basket. The Chaplain will then be able to give the patients a little gift as he makes his daily rounds.

The New Year's Eve Watch Night Service will be held at 11:00 P. M. with hymns, prayers and address by Mr. Meckling followed by the Holy Communion.

WORKERS' COMMUNION

On Sunday, January 1, there will be a special service of Holy Communion at 11:00 o'clock to which we invite our young people, and all the active members of our parish organizations. We ask them to begin the year at the Altar, to present their activities, and to ask God's blessing upon all we do.

WELCOME TO CHAPLAIN LASCELLES-WARD
Episcopal Chaplain of The Philadelphia General Hospital

We extend a hearty welcome to our guest speaker, the Rev. Neville Lascelles-Ward, Chaplain of the Philadelphia General Hospital. Chaplain Ward will speak to us at the 11: 00 o'clock service on January 8th on his work in this great city hospital. The Rector has placed a receptacle in the vestibule of the Church where gifts to this work may be placed. Cigarettes, candy, tobacco, canned goods and any edible commodities will be gratefully received.

Our new Tower Bells have received widespread approval from business executives in our community and the bells are bringing more and more people into our noon-day services. The following is from one of the Chaplains of the City Mission who makes regular visits to Jefferson Hospital:

"Often on my way home from the Jefferson Hospital I hear S. Stephen's bells at 5: 00 P. M. After a busy afternoon in the midst of sickness and pain and sometimes face to face with death, what a spirit of hope, cheer and courage emanates from those chimes located in the very heart of an ever busy city.

"They not only pour forth the glad sounds at Christmas-tide, but all through the year proclaim they the fact of the eternal Christ in an ever-changing world.

"I appreciate very much the special type of work you are so successfully engaged in at St. Stephen's. John J. Evans

CHRISTIAN SOCIAL RELATIONS INSTITUTE

The Institute this year is sponsored by the Diocesan Department of Christian Social Relations and the Woman's Auxiliary of the Diocese and will be held on January 19 at the Church of the Advocate, 18th and Diamond, starting at 5: 30 P. M. There will be a registration fee of twenty-five cents and buffet dinner will cost $1.10. At 5: 30 there will be concurrent sessions, on the Church and Community Welfare Agencies addressed by the Rev. Arnold Purdie and with speakers giving very brief reviews of the agencies and institutions connected with the Diocese in the several fields, i.e., health, settlements, child welfare, etc. The Rev. Robert Morris who has recently returned from a period of study in England will discuss the Church and Family Life. At the dinner session the Rev. Robert McGill of Lynchburg, Virginia, former Chairman of the Department of Christian Social Relations of the National Council will define the Department of Christian Social Relations and review the place of the Church in the field of social welfare particularly in the light of the General Convention. Mac Frenzen of the International Institute will be the principal speaker at the evening session which will be devoted to Church World Service and Displaced Persons.

The Rector is anxious to have several delegates from St. Stephen's represented at this important meeting.

THURSDAYS AT ST. STEPHEN'S

The woman who lingered in the vestibule of the church, glanced around the door several times, to where I was busy with the books. A childlike wistfulness was in her face as she finally gathered courage to come in and ask if she might speak with me a few minutes before the service began.

As we seated ourselves in the Stall, I studied her appearance. She was not the well dressed club lady in town, for a day's shopping, but she was however, scrubbed and cleansed and arrayed for an adventure in prayer. Spotless was the wash dress of flimsy cotton; immaculate the scarf that bound her hair, in lieu of a hat. Soapy smelling was the plain, simple cleanliness of body, face and hands. But her face compelled me to silent attention. It was white, tragic and appealing. It could have been young so far as years go, but was old with suffering.

"Would you mind answering a question that has bothered me," she said as she twitched at the front of her dress. "Must I arrange my clothing or unfasten my garments in any way, to receive the Anointing today?" I realized then why she had so carefully prepared her appearance. The self conscious way in which she used the word, led me to tell her that perhaps she expected the Rector to "anoint with oil," but that all she had to do was kneel at the Altar and he would touch her head, in the Name of Jesus Christ.

"Does it matter that I do not come here to this church? You see I was never here before and had never known of any Healing service; but...oh, forgive me, lady, please forgive me for just staring at you...and talking this way, but I am in such awful pain..."

And indeed it was evident, for great drops of sweat broke over her forehead and face and merged into rivulets at which she mopped wearily. It seemed as though tears had escaped their emotional moorings. But there was no self pity. "I have been everywhere, done everything, tried many doctors, but get no help. When I heard of this service I thought I would try this. But I didn't know what would be expected of me."

I asked if she believed in prayer or in God; or in a spiritual approach to problems of pain. Her eyes misted at this and in a welcome burst of confession she said, "Lady, I don't know what ever happened to make me forget! Years ago, when I was a girl, I was near death. I spent a long time in a wheel chair. But I believed then, that God could do any thing so I prayed and I was healed of paralysis. But since this trouble and the struggle with doctors and never getting help, do you know what I decided to do?...I guess it was because I was so desperate I would try anything. Well, last week I went to a Spiritualist, a Medium. I thought maybe I could get some help. I'm ashamed of it now, lady; forgive me...for I see how silly it all was! The Medium said, 'Your sister Mamie is here and she sez Hold On. She was a good girl and sez, Keep your chin up.' ...Now my sister Mamie died in her teens, many years ago. I didn't need a Medium to tell me how good Mamie was, for I knew it well. Suddenly I saw how silly it was for me to go there, for help...and as for Mamie telling me to HOLD ON...oh God...I try...but this awful pain!" She clutched at the place, for support. "Would it be all right for me to go up, as I am?"

"Yes, go. Just as you are. And be grateful that Mamie has sent you back to the foot of the Cross." She thanked me, and having made her "humble confession", I watched her go to the front Stall and kneel devoutly as she waited the compassionate invitation to "come forward to the Altar." Nelle R. Cook.

Come, O Thou Traveller, unknown, Whom still I hold but cannot see, My company before is gone, And I am left alone with Thee. With Thee all night I mean to stay And wrestle till the break of day.

I need not tell Thee who I am, My misery or sin declare; Thyself hast called me by my name; Look on Thy hands and read it there! But Who I ask Thee, Who art Thou? Tell me Thy name and tell me now.

Yield to me now, for I am weak, But confident in self-despair; Speak to my heart, in blessing speak, Be conquered by my instant prayer! Speak or Thou never hence shall move, And tell me if Thy name is Love.

'Tis Love! Thou diedst for me! I hear Thy whisper in my heart. The morning breaks, the shadows flee; Pure, universal Love Thou art. To me, to all, Thy mercies move, Thy nature and Thy name is Love.

THEOLOGICAL EDUCATION SUNDAY

Today is Theological Education Sunday throughout the Episcopal Church. The purpose of this emphasis is threefold: (1) To acquaint the Church with the work of the Seminaries; (2) To interest men in the ministry, and (3) To encourage offerings to augment funds needed to support the Seminaries. Most parishes will take up special offerings today.

So many fine men are offering themselves for the Episcopal Ministry today that our Seminaries are not able to take them all in. Most of our eleven Seminaries are enlarging their living quarters and their teaching staffs. Everyone is desperately in need of funds. They need your financial support. The enclosed envelope is for your convenience. Our offering will be divided between the Cambridge Theological School where the Rector received his training and the Philadelphia Divinity School.

CONFIRMATION

Bishop Hart will visit our parish on Sunday morning, March 12th, at eleven o'clock to administer the Rite of Confirmation. We shall be happy to present to him any members of our parish who have not as yet been confirmed and would like to be. The Instruction Class meets in the Rector's Study on Sundays at 10:00 A. M.

TO BUILD "ONE WORLD IN CHRIST"—GIVE—MARCH 12th

The world is our home. As Christians we do not want any corner of it in darkness. In many places those who are endeavoring to bring the true light are handicapped by improper provision for the necessities of life...In Cuba missionary workers receive $950.00 annually! You can help to remedy this condition by giving on March 12th!

Sunday Services

Week-Day Services

Tuesday—1,945; Wednesday—1,772; Thursday—4,930; Friday—1,531
Lenten Services—18,811; Special Services—4,617

The total attendance at the worship services during the year 1949 was 48,388, which was 5,597 over the previous year. The figures above show the break-down for the various services. The Thursday Healing Services show the largest percentage of increase. There were 436 services during the year. The Rector conducted 376, and preached 220 sermons.

St. Stephen's Church operates seven days a week. In so doing, it demonstrates the fact that Christianity is concerned with all of a man's life and with all of a man's time. When it becomes simply a Sunday affair it is little more than a mockery. While the chief function of the church is to provide an opportunity for public and private worship, as a part of which the Word of God is preached and the sacraments administered, there are other functions which in their place are important and significant. To work out the implications of the church's worship and to demonstrate its principles of belief in action, all of which is done within the fellowship of the group, is the purpose of the activities which are centered in the Community House. Every person who takes part in the worship of the church should, in the nature of things, take some part in the church's activity. As far as we can see, there is a place in the program for everyone. We would like you to find your place, and when you find it, to take it. There is no place in the church for spectators—participants alone are needed. There are some, of course, who in the course of events have been prevented from active participation in any activity, and they are released from active service, but for those of us who are well and strong, the only way to full and real Christian life is the way of action.

WHY IS CONFIRMATION IMPORTANT?

Because Confirmation (the New Testament name is "the laying on of hands") brings to the recipient the gift of spiritual strength through the outpouring of the Holy Ghost. It is not the equivalent of the ceremony of "joining the church" used in some other Christian bodies; rather it is the ordination service of the priesthood of the laity, their call to active service as trained soldiers of Christ.

There is still time to join the Instruction Class which meets in the Rector's Study Sundays at 10:00 A. M. Bishop Hart will be here March 12th at 11:00 o'clock for the Confirmation Service.

ONE WORLD IN CHRIST

We are beginning today the interpretation of the Episcopal Church's Campaign of education called "One World In Christ." This campaign will culminate in the Presiding Bishop's radio sermon on March 12th.

Brief talks will be presented during these weeks preceding that important date by Minute-Speakers, each dealing with a special aspect of our world-wide program. The Minute-Speakers will be members of the Vestry of St. Stephen's Church.

Mr. Wilson C. Leithead, Vestryman, has been appointed by the Rector as the Bishop's Man or Representative of Bishop Hart in the Parish of St. Stephen. He will direct the educational program among the men of the Parish and will be in charge of the Minute-Speakers.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country, and others.)

Opening Prayer:

Almighty God, the brightness of faithful souls, fill, we beseech Thee, the world with Thy glory, and show Thyself by the radiance of Thy light unto all nations; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

(Gregorian Sacramentary, 590 A. D., adapted).

Bible Reading: St. Matthew 2:1-10

The Sermon:

We are now in the Epiphany season, the time of the shining-out of the great star of God's love. Jesus Christ is indeed the light of the world! That light is imperatively needed today. From bitter and tragic experiences, many a man has watched the lights of his world go out. The betrayal of a friendship, the inexplicable death of a dear one, the loss of one's position, or one's fortune—the hopelessness of political corruption, the chaos on the labor-management front—all of this has conspired to leave many a heart cynical and disillusioned. There is no longer any sense of stability or security for anyone. The lights are going out, they say. Perhaps the lights of our civilization are being extinguished for all time, they think.

Yet, if they will but look—there is still one light in the midst of all the confusion—a light which nothing can extinguish, a light from which all the candles of civilization can be re-kindled to glow more brilliantly. It is "the Light of the World." Jesus Christ, the eternal Light has something eternal, and eternally vital to offer—a knowledge of men, and the temptations which lead men into actions which cause our human lights to sputter and die.

Jesus, for instance, illumines for us our pre-occupation with self. The perpendicular personal pronoun claims a monopoly on so many lives today. The day is filled with the query: "What is going to happen to me?" And the night resounds with the sigh, "What shall I do? What shall I do?"

The pathos and the conclusion is too vividly suggested in a note found beside the cold body of a twelve-year-old girl who had committee suicide: "Dear Mother, I would rather be dead. I have suffered too much. You were always telling me, 'You have been seeing your father again.' I implore you that I have not. You will not have to keep me any more. I am going to die. You will have less work to do. You will have only two dishes to wash. I pray that you will be happy. Your Christine, who is about to die."

What courage that note depicts! But will that mother ever get over the consequences of her eternal pre-occupation with herself and what she mistakenly thought was her happiness.

The candles of civilization need to be re-kindled, indeed. Not the light of things, nor the light of self, but only the light of self-sacrificing love—"the Light of the World" is sufficient to re-illumine them.

Has Christianity lost its radiance? Not so long as there are human lives who reveal the glory in the world. God has never left Himself without a witness. We do not have to go back to the First Century to recapture any "lost radiance" of our religion. Nor should we sit down under a juniper tree and forget the knees that have not done homage to Baal. When St. Paul drew near to Rome he found brethren there already coming to greet him, and when he saw them he thanked God and took courage. When we face the tasks which God places before His Church today, we do well to remember that "the Light still shines in the darkness," and the darkness—thank God—cannot swallow it up. It still shines.

Closing Prayer:

O Blessed Jesus, Who by the shining of a star didst manifest Thyself to them that sought Thee, show Thy heavenly light to us, and give us grace to follow until we find Thee; rejoicing to present to Thee ourselves, our souls and bodies, for Thy service forevermore, for Thine honour and glory. Amen.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country, and others.)

Opening Prayer:

O Lord, from Whom all good things do come, grant to us, Thy humble servants, that by Thy holy inspiration we may think those things that are good, and by Thy merciful guiding may perform the same, through our Lord Jesus Christ. Amen. (Gelasian Sacramentary, 492 A. D.).

Bible Reading: Exodus 32: 19-29

The Sermon:

Today we remember the birthday of Abraham Lincoln, whose greatness was founded on his unwavering faith in God. One of the reasons for his greatness was that Lincoln applied that faith to the tough problems that came his way, day after day. In the early days of the Civil War a minister once said to him, "Let us have faith, Mr. Lincoln, that the Lord is on our side in this great struggle." Lincoln quietly replied, "I am not at all concerned about that, for I know that the Lord is always on the right side. But my constant anxiety and prayer is that I and this nation may be on the Lord's side."

The temptation of most people is to decide what we want, and then pray that God will help us to carry out our heart's desire. We want the Lord to be on our side. But the Master did not so teach us. He taught us to pray, "Thy will be done"—to seek the Lord's way, under all circumstances. Instead of asking God to accommodate Himself to our wishes, He taught us to accommodate ourselves to God's! Whenever any human being—be it Abraham Lincoln or your own humble self—follows this Christ-taught course, his life counts for all that is right and constructive and eternal.

Lincoln applied his Christian faith to his profession. When he was practising law in Springfield, Illinois, he was approached by a man who wished to press a claim for six hundred dollars. It was a lawful claim, but if the client won it, it would ruin a widow and her four children. Lincoln, in refusing to take the case, wrote, "No doubt we could win this case for you, but we will not take it. There are some things that are right legally, but wrong morally. However, I shall give you some advice for which I shall charge nothing. My advice to a sprightly, energetic, successful man like you is to try your hand at making six hundred dollars some other way." Lincoln had to feel that he was on the Lord's side if he was going to throw himself, heart and soul, into a case. To impoverish a struggling widow and her family, even by legal means, clearly was not God's will; so he would not do it.

Apply that simple but searching principle to your own life. Instead of asking God to "go along" with your impatient wishes, take yourself by the scruff of the neck, and make yourself pray to find out His desire, and then do it! This may give you an uncomfortable spell of living, as you learn to accommodate yourself to His will, but I promise you that it will work out gloriously. For the person who strives to be on God's side finds a deep peace-of-heart which nothing can take away.

Closing Prayer:

Uphold, we beseech Thee, O God, what is good in all our works, and shatter what is false; that, learning the laws of Thy kingdom, we may be fellow-workers with Thee; through Christ our Lord. Amen. (J. W. Suter).

BOY SCOUTS' BIRTHDAY

America's Boy Scouts and leaders, now numbering 2,300,000 strong, are observing the 40th anniversary of their organization. Since 1910, more than 16,500,000 American boys and men have had the benefits of the training, fellowship, handicraft skills and high adventure of Scouting. America is all the richer for it. Many men in high places in American affairs today proudly credit Scouting's influence in their lives. St. Stephen's Troop No. 2 is one of the oldest in the city. Mr. James O. Lyman, Vestryman, is our Scout Master.

CONFIRMATION

There are many people today not attached to any church, but are Christian men and women; they occasionally attend services but are drifters. Some of them were regular and devoted members of churches in the places from which they came. We would have such people identify themselves with St. Stephen's Church and take a stand for Christ and His Church.

Other people are regular attendants at the services of St. Stephen's but have never made any public profession of religion. They march along with the army but are not in uniform. When asked if they attend church they hesitatingly reply that they "go to St. Stephen's"! They inwardly feel that they are not sons of the house! For their own sakes as for the good of the Church it would be wise for such people to take a definite step.

Children grow up and reach the age of decision. They then take upon themselves responsibilities which were put upon them by parents and teachers. That age, roughly speaking, is about fourteen.

The visit of Bishop Hart to the Parish on March 12th is the occasion for all the people to take their places among the organized followers of Christ. Some do it by Confirmation and others by Letters of Transfer or in other ways; but the important thing is for all to join the fellowship of the disciples under the leadership of the Master.

Confirmation classes are being held every Sunday at 10: 00 A. M. in the Rector's Study. All are welcome whether or not they have been confirmed, whether or not they have any intention of being confirmed. Such subjects as these are being considered: Faith, Morals, Sacraments, Church History, the Prayer Book, etc.

TO BUILD "ONE WORLD IN CHRIST"—GIVE—MARCH 12th!

College work is one of our most difficult home mission fields. A sound program for the Campus Community involves the continuing ministry to boys and girls of the Church who are away from home. No field is more important—no field more neglected—by our Church. The Church needs an additional $25,000 per year for this work. An informed Church is a strong Church. Know—Give—March 12th!

The Minute-Speaker this Sunday will be Mr. David L. German, Clerk of the Vestry. Every Sunday until March 12th a member of the Vestry will present some phase of the One World In Christ program.

Our hearty congratulations to Thomas Keller, our flag-bearer, who was graduated last week from Girard College. Thomas was co-editor of the Year Book and stood fifth in a class of sixty.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country, and others.)

Opening Prayer:

Shine upon our minds, O Lord, as the sun shines upon the trees; and, as they spread out their branches to the light, so may we open out our hearts to Thy love, and grow in strength and goodness, through Christ our Saviour. Amen.

(Abbotsholme School Book.)

Bible Reading: St. John 9: 1-41

The Sermon:

Strangely enough, many of us think of Judgment Day as a dread date somewhere in the future. But Jesus brought Judgment Day very close, for He showed that it comes, daily, hourly, as we judge ourselves by our response to each situation. "For judgment I am come into the world."

See the very human situation which prompted Him to speak of judqgment. Here was a blind man by the steps of the synagogue. Every person saw the same man. and responded differently, according to his character. Each saw something special, as a result of his main interests in life.

"The neighbors" asked if this man was not the familiar beggar who tugged at their coat-sleeve for alms as they came to church. To them, selfish and occupied with their own thoughts, he was a pest who disturbed their peace of mind. The disciples, excited over new thoughts of God which Jesus had taught them, asked, "Master, who did sin, this man or his parents, that he was born blind?" They saw an interesting conundrum, something to speculate and argue about, a theological question that aroused their curiosity. The Pharisees, earnest men who cared a great deal about their religion, and spent much time in teaching its ancient rules, saw Jesus as a disturber of the good old ways, a young radical who brushed aside a respected sabbath-rule in order to assist a common, ordinary beggar. But, "Jesus as He passed by, saw a man." Jesus was not vexed that a man had delayed Him as He went to church. Jesus saw that this was no time for theological talk, but a time for prompt and merciful action. Jesus taught that man's holiest rules are made for the true, deep benefit of man; and where one of these rules stands in the way of his true benefit, it shall be pushed aside. Jesus alone, in that crowd that gathered around the blind beggar, saw a man in need, and cared for nothing save releasing him into the light.

Each one of us judges ourself by our response to each situation, as did the people around the blind beggar. The Master of men walks unseen near us, seeking to draw us into compassion and active kindness. And we are judged by our response—whether it be selfish irritation, idle talk, or stodgy blindness of heart; or simple, honest attention to human need. We are judged by the way we regard the teaching of our Master Who quietly counsels loving-kindness. The story is told of a tourist who stood before a world-famed picture in the Louvre, and turned away impatiently, exclaiming, "I don't think much of that." At which a veteran guard, standing nearby, quietly remarked, "The pictures are no longer on trial, ma'am; the people are!"

Closing Prayer:

O Perfect Love, Who art the light of the world; Light Thou this day for us, and confirm the habit of loving-kindness in our hearts, and of prayer in our minds, that we may set Thee as the sun in the center of our lives, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen. (A. S. T. Fisher, adapted)

The Minute-Speaker this Sunday will be the Rector's Warden, Dr. Herbert Old. Every Sunday until March 12th a member of the Vestry will present some phase of the ONE WORLD IN CHRIST program.

CONFIRMATION

Bishop Hart will visit our parish on Sunday morning, March 12th, at 11: 00 o'clock to administer the rite of Confirmation. We shall be happy to present to him any members of our parish who have not as yet been confirmed and would like to be. The Instruction Class meets every Sunday at 10: 00 A. M. in the Rector's Study.

A YEAR OF OUTSTANDING ACHIEVEMENT

We have a great deal to be thankful for in St. Stephen's Parish. This past year has broken all records in attendance and in good works provided by the generous contributions of our people. Mrs. Hauger's financial report amounted to $30,574.07, the largest amount to come through the envelope system and special envelopes. Our total including income from Endowments amounted to over seventy-five thousand dollars.

We met our Missionary Quota of $5,000.00. We raised $1,769.38 for the Presiding Bishop's Fund. We gave $500.00 for the Radio Program of the National Church, $613.11 to the Episcopal Hospital, $1,247.41 to the support of the Episcopacy, $124.67 to Theological Education. Over twenty-four hundred dollars was contributed for our various parish benevolences, such as Christmas Dinners, Benevolent Society and charities. We added ten thousand dollars to our Endowment funds from a bequest of Mrs. Mary Lamb Walton. $7,200.00 was received for the Organ Fund.

St. Stephen's Church is a great missionary enterprise. It not only serves the spiritual needs of our community seven days a week, but plays an important part in spreading the Good News through the total impact of the Episcopal Church on the Diocesan, National and World-Wide levels. We have great and important responsibilities here on Tenth Street, but we must never lose sight of our important responsibilities to the Diocese and National Church.

We express our grateful appreciation to the members of St. Stephen's for a year of outstanding achievement and consecrated loyalty. May your shadow never grow less.

There will be a card party in the Community House on Friday, February third at 8: 00 P. M. for the benefit of the Senior Unit of St. Stephen's Scout Troop No. 2.

TO BUILD "ONE WORLD IN CHRIST"—GIVE—MARCH 12TH! The world will not become "One in Christ" until we are "One in Christ" at home. Our missionararies in this country cannot do their most effective work unless we supply them with material resources. Our Prayer Book urges us to pray, work and give for the spread of Christ's kingdom. Will you—GIVE—March 12th?

We acknowledge with much appreciation the 1950 Church Bulletin subscriptions of the following persons: Mrs. Benjamin Reath, Miss Jane R. Harper, Miss Margaret L. Gill, Mrs. Henry Thoma, Mrs. Mary McEwen, Mrs. C. S. Slatcher, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Pace, Jr., the "Purcells," Mr. and Mrs. August Albers, Miss Mary Wallace, Mr. William L. Scherzer, Mr. Winfield S. The Minute-Speaker this Sunday will be Edwin S. Heins, Esq., Vestryman and Superintendent of the Sunday School, who will present some phase of the One World In Christ Campaign.

The Rector will be the noon-day speaker in Trinity Cathedral, Pittsburgh, February 27—March 3.

One of the very popular speakers of our Lenten season is Dean Gifford of The Philadelphia Divinity School, who will preach Monday through Friday of this week.

We extend a warm welcome to the Rev. Herbert W. Jones, who will give the Lenten address on Saturday, March 4. Mr. Jones served St. Stephen's during the Rectorship of Dr. Franks and was Minister-in-Charge until the calling of the present Rector.

TO BUILD "ONE WORLD IN CHRIST"—GIVE MARCH 12th

Our new program of Christian Education calls for a curriculum for the whole Church, not a part of it. Only the response of the whole Church can make this program effective. You can help bridge some gaps in our present programs of education by...giving on March 12th!

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country, and others.)

Opening Prayer:

O Lord, Who for our sake didst fast forty days and forty nights; Give us grace to use such abstinence, that, our flesh being subdued to the spirit, we may ever obey Thy godly motions in righteousness, and true holiness, to Thy honor and glory, Who livest and reignest with the Father and the Holy Ghost, one God, world without end. Amen. (Book of Common Prayer)

Bible Reading: I Corinthians 6: 15-20

The Sermon:

What does Lent mean to you? "Oh," a childish memory whispers in your ear, "Lent is the time when people give up things." That is right. Read again the great prayer at the top of this article. In it we pray, "Give us grace to use such abstinence..." But why the abstinence. Why "give up things"? What for?

One of the saddest, silliest performances in respectable religion is the child who goes about proudly announcing, "I have given up candy for Lent!" If you ask him why, he does not really know. The true satisfaction he gets is bragging about it; and he is in a fair way to become a most objectionable little prig.

Why discipline our bodies and spirits in the six and a half weeks of Lent? Read further in that collect, "Give us grace to use such abstinence that our flesh being subdued to the spirit, we may obey Thy godly motions in righteousness." There is your reason for abstinence. We are going to "break" our bodies as a horseman breaks an unruly horse. The horseman does it so that the horse will obey the touch of the rider's will, through the reins. The Christian "breaks" his body and its appetites, so that it will obey the touch of God's will on his life.

By all means make your Lent a season of disciplined living. But make it positive. If you have a sweet-tooth that adds pounds of fat to your body, and makes you sluggish, by all means follow an intelligent diet, and make yourself a healthier, more responsive servant of God. But keep your thoughts on your positive goal, a leaner body which will serve God better. If you love reading in bed, and your light burns too late into the night, so that you rise weary and foggy-headed, by all means put a sharp curb on that harmful habit. But don't think much about your "sacrifice" and thus make a self-pitying hero of yourself—keep your thoughts on the refreshed, clear-headed life you are aiming for, so that God can use you more fruitfully. Make your Lent a positive, building season.

St. Paul put it simply—"Know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost?" That body was given you, not primarily for your own enjoyment, but primarily for God's use. Your religion has to come out of that body. Don't be like John Atkins, the windy weaver—"The trouble with John is that he stands around talking about his religion when he ought to be attending to his loom. He is a good enough fellow, and has the making of a fine weaver in him, but he has not yet learned that while he is in the weaving-shed his religion ought to come out of his fingers and not out of his mouth."

Closing Prayer:

Lord, I am not yet willing for Thee to have Thy way with me; but I am willing to be made willing. Amen. (F. B. Meyer).

A LETTER FROM YOUR BISHOP

TO ALL THE FAITHFUL IN THE DIOCESE OF PENNSYLVANIA:

Responding to the great need of the world today, the General Convention adopted a budget of $5,634,617.00 for our work at home and abroad. In addition to increases in missionaries salaries, sending new volunteers to various fields and opening new work in Okinawa and other places, the enlarged budget makes a more adequate provision for our work in Christian Education, enabling the National Division of Christian Education to set forth new materials and develop better methods both for our Church Schools and for our adults. The new budget also includes the special offering which has been taken during the past three years for the Presiding Bishop's Fund for World Relief.

Due to your generosity, the Diocese has been able to meet its missionary apportionment in full for the past several years. We will need $110,000.00 for the special offering on March 12th to enable us to meet our full share of the enlarged budget for the work of the General Church. The Presiding Bishop will speak over the radio to all of our churches throughout America between 11:30 and 11:45 A. M. on March 12th. The local station is WIP.

Should the offering on that day amount to more than $110,000.00, the remainder will be used for Diocesan work. I am confident that the people in this Diocese will again respond generously as they have done in the past.

Sincerely yours,
OLIVER J. HART, Bishop of Pennsylvania

Who, being in the form of God thought it not robbery to be equal with God,
But made Himself of no reputation, and took upon Him the form of a servant,
And was made in the likeness of men. And being found in fashion as a man,
He humbled Himself and became obedient unto death, even the death of the Cross.
Wherefore, God also hath highly exalted Him and given Him a Name which is

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others)

Opening Prayer:

Almighty and everlasting God, Who, of Thy tender love towards mankind, hast sent Thy Son, our Saviour Jesus Christ, to take upon Him our flesh, and to suffer death upon the Cross, that all mankind should follow the example of His great humility; mercifully grant that we may both follow the example of His patience, and also be made partakers of His resurrection; through the same Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen. (Collect for Palm Sunday)

Bible Reading: St. Luke 19: 29-44

The Sermon:

Jesus' ride into Jerusalem on Palm Sunday is often called "The Triumphal Entry." What a strange name for that entrance! True, the crowds were cheering, and the city of Jerusalem was stirred. But He Who rode into the city was sick at heart, and wept over the Jerusalem that had rejected Him and His eternal Kingdom. By all man's standards of success, He had failed. His great mission to win the hearts of men to live and obey their Father had been defeated; for men were more interested in a kingdom of armies that would overthrow Rome. God and His Kingdom could wait. To make their rejection of Jesus clear beyond all doubt, on Friday they chose freedom for a tough rebel, and death for Jesus Christ. There could be no doubt about that defeat, in those days of long ago.

Every single one of us is acquainted with defeat. No man born of woman escapes that bitter experience. But there are some who understand that no defeat is final. The real question is, "What can I do with it?" And the answer is plain and glorious—"Let the spirit of Christ into it. Let God into that defeat, and miracles can follow." One day in World War II, a shattering blast of TNT blew off the hands of Harold Russell. At first he was overcome with black despair and self-pity over the defeat of all his hopes and plans. And then he remembered that there is something called "faith in God and myself, faith that I can always rise from every set-back. A man is licked without this." He decided not to be content with clumsy artificial hands, but to master the much more difficult, but much more effective "hooks." At first it was torture, but he doggedly kept trying, kept on depending on God for the nerve to win out. He caught the knack of those "hooks," and grew so skillful with them that he was asked to teach other disabled veterans how to use them. His success was so notable that Hollywood picked him for the role of Homer Parrish in the unforgettable film, "The Best Years of Our Lives." He has taught thousands of people that, with God's help, disaster can lead to victory; that, if we let God into our defeats, He can work miracles out of them.

That is what Jesus did with the disaster of Palm Sunday. He let God into that rejection of His Kingdom, and into the grim defeat of the Cross and God made Easter out of it! In those dark days of Holy Week, Jesus could not see beyond the shadow of the Cross, but He let God into the darkness, and trusted the outcome to Him. Most of you have your black disaster—the Master shows the way through its blackness. It may not be an easy way. It may be hard, and heavy and lonely. But let God into it! Let Him have His way with your defeat. I promise you, He will make something glorious out of it; something that will bless others, and so bring to them and you the peace of God.

Closing Prayer:

O God, Who hast given unto us Thy Son to be an example and help to our weakness in following the path that leadeth unto life, grant us so to be His disciples that we may tread in His victorious footsteps; for His Name's sake. Amen. (Roman Breviary)

MEN, WHAT DO YOU KNOW?

What do you, the men of St. Stephen's, know about your own church? The Episcopal Church has a long and inspiring history, but are you familiar with it? Do you understand, for example, the part played by Henry VIII of England in establishing our historic Church?

To illustrate further: What do you know about the organization and government of the Episcopal Church? Is it a social club run by a few wealthy members or do you and I have a voice in the conduct of this organization's affairs?

The answer to these questions and other pertinent problems will be discussed on the evening of April 18th when St. Stephen's Church inaugurates her new educational program: "For Men Only—The New Evangelism."

EMORY RICHARD JOHNSON

An honored member of our Vestry since 1917 and Treasurer of the Burd School for many years, a loyal and devoted member of the Parish, Dean Emory R. Johnson, in his 85th year, finished his course, beloved by his associates and generations of students of the University of Pennsylvania as well as his associates in St. Stephen's. He was a thorough scholar, a pioneer in the field of business education and an authority on the subject of transportation. He wrote the first text-books in his field and continued writing them up to his passing. Being an orderly man, his affairs, professional and personal, were in order. His honesty, his industry, his power of accomplishment, his faith, are now an enduring part of us. May his noble spirit remain among us with power, and may he go onward in a closer communion with those figures of the past with whom, while here, he lived in such vivid sympathy. His geniality and good humor, his fidelity and interestedness, his high honor and integrity won him the respect and affection of all who knew him. Such men make a parish rich.

ARE YOU A FORGOTTEN MAN!

The Christian church has forgotten her men! This accusation has been levelled at all churches, but the Episcopal Church is included by one of her prominent laymen, active in National Council work. We have failed, continues this authority, to provide a challenge to the male members of our church.

To meet this challenge the Presiding Bishop's Committee on Laymen has formulated a new and energetic evangelism to embrace all men, whether members or strangers in our midst.

St. Stephen's Church in conformity with her missionary tradition welcomes this opportunity for greater service and accordingly has completed plans for monthly meetings for men. Starting Tuesday evening, April 18th, men of the Parish will be invited to attend a supper served at six o'clock and an evening of talks and discussions vital to all who are interested in the furtherance of the Church of Jesus Christ.

WILSON C. LEITHEAD,
Bishop's Man to St. Stephen's Church.

WHY HAVE A MISSION?

One of the means advocated for use in the great evangelistic advance sponsored by the Federal Council of Churches and set in motion by our own Church at San Francisco is what is known as a mission. A mission is a series of informal meetings, day after day, for five, eight, or more days, at which the teaching is done by an especially trained man, called a missioner. The singing and worship are informal. The teaching meetings are usually held in the evening.

A mission is held for the deepening of the spiritual life of church members, for the information of inquirers, for the commitment of all to the greatest cause on earth.

The present situation calls for a revival of genuine Christianity on a national and world scale. The churches need to be saved from their complacency and impotence, and empowered and inspired to do their appointed tasks.

The whole land needs a cleansing of its unrighteousness and a re-emergence of the spirit of repentence, faith and responsibility. The time is urgent. The call to advance rests upon the seriousness of the days in which we live, upon the authority of Jesus Christ, and upon the necessity of new life for all men through faith and obedience to Him. "If any man is in Christ he is a new creature."

With all this in mind, we have arranged with George Benedict, the missionary to the Jews under the authority of the Diocese of Pennsylvania, to conduct a Passion Week Mission in St. Stephen's Church beginning Sunday evening, March 26, at 8:00 P. M. and continuing each night until the following Sunday night, April 2, with the exception of Saturday night.

The Pennsylvania Bible Society is co-operating with the mission and will distribute scriptures each night. Prominent laymen will participate in the services by reading the scripture lessons. Our Vestry will have charge of the ushering. We look forward to seeing all our members present and helpfully engaged in this stirring program of rallying the ancient people around their Messiah. The opportunity today is unique for winning Jews to Christ.

We extend a hearty welcome to Dean Chester B. Emerson of Cleveland, who will be our guest preacher this week at the Lenten Noon-Day Services. We welcome heartily also the Chaplain of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew of the Pennsylvania Assembly who will preach on Saturday, April 1.

We acknowledge with much appreciation the following Church Bulletin subscriptions: Mr. Walter Knox, Mr. and Mrs. Albert R. Steele, Mr. Thomas B. Lovelock, Jr, Mrs. Beatrice Merrow, Miss M. Brosamle, Mrs. Frank Wolf, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Shimp, Miss Mary E. Garner.

THE CALL TO THE MISSION

The rector wants a revival in the parish of St. Stephen's. There are others who want it too. That is why we are having a preaching mission during Passion Week, March 26-April 2.

The fact that the rector and others want a revival in the parish of St. Stephen's is not very important. What is more important is that God wants it. God wants to give us much more than we have been ready to seek or to receive. He wants to make us more simple and clean and trusting and unselfish. He wants to set us free from selfish fears and pride and the burden of unconfessed guilts. He wants to reconcile us with those whom we have hurt or those who have hurt us. He wants to draw us together in a brotherly fellowship, so warm and real that others will want to be a part of it. He wants to give us the strengthening, uniting energy of His Holy Spirit. God wants the people in our congregation, whether rich or poor, to be an attractive, welcoming and a happy center of believing prayer and brotherly service.

If we want a revival in the parish of St. Stephen's because deep in our hearts we know that God wants it, what can we do? We can ask God for it. He has said that to them that ask it shall be given, to them that really ask and keep asking. We can make ready for it by using the special prayer printed on this page. We can agree together that we shall put this first and take time out from lots of other things to let it happen.

We have asked Rabbi George Benedict who is now an Evangelist to the Jews and who is preparing to enter the ministry of the Episcopal Church in the Diocese of Pennsylvania to conduct this Passion Week Mission. He has called the Mission "Total Christianity." He wants both Jews and Gentiles, believers and non-believers to attend. It is for all sorts and conditions of men. The printed program of the Mission is now available for distribution. You can see that it gets to your friends and neighbors. When you were baptized you were made a missionary of Christ's religion. No advertisement that can be made will bring the outsider to the church with as much certainty as a personal invitation from you. You can volunteer your services as an usher or as a choir singer. Come every night. Come to church next Sunday at the 11:00 o'clock service and hear the challenge from our Missioner, George Benedict, who will tell us in detail what you can do to make this Mission of "Total Christianity" succeed.

DAILY PRAYERS FOR THE MISSION

O Almighty God, our heavenly Father, Who didst send Thy Son and Saviour Jesus Christ, into the world to seek and save that which was lost, bless the Mission to be held in this Parish, that the faithful may be strengthened, and those who know Thee not may be drawn unto Thee, through the same Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

O Holy Jesus, most merciful Redeemer, Friend and Brother; may I know Thee more clearly, love Thee more dearly, and follow Thee more nearly.

God bless the Mission, speak to us through the Missioner, and help us to hear and obey Thy voice. Amen.

The rector will conduct a clinic for the healing of souls in the First Presbyterian Church and the Church of The Epiphany in Crestview, Florida, Sunday, March 19, through Friday, March 24. The Rev. Mr. Meckling will celebrate the Holy Communion at the 9:00 o'clock service, March 19, and will conduct the Thursday Healing Services at 1:00 P. M. and 5:30 P. M. March 23 and the Communion Service following the Friday noon-day service. Rabbi George Benedict will preach at the 11:00 o'clock service, Sunday, March 19.

The Annual Reports of the Parish Organizations are now ready for the printer. We print the names, addresses and telephone numbers of all who are on our mailing list. Do we have YOUR corrected address and telephone number? Send this information without delay to Miss Evelyn Blackburn, Parish Secretary.

Our guest preacher for the week of March 20 is The Very Rev. N. R. High Moor, D.D., Dean of Trinity Cathedral, Pittsburgh. Don't fail to hear his series of sermons!

The Saturday speaker at the noon-day service is The Rev. Jesse F. Anderson, Rector of St. Thomas Church, Philadelphia, the largest colored congregation of our Church in that city.

ONE WORLD IN CHRIST—OUR SHARE

Offering envelopes and pledge cards were mailed to all on our mailing list a week ago. The share of our parish in this effort to increase the work of the whole Episcopal Church is 40% of the 1950 quota already assigned and accepted by the Vestry. Since our quota is $5,300.00, the amount to be raised in this special effort is $2,120.00. If you wish to extend your giving over a matter of weeks or months during the year, please use the pledge card, and make payments at your convenience. We have received so far $981.36.

The rector preached in Trinity Church, Ambler, on March 15th.

The name of Miss Catharine S. Zimmerman should be added to our Confirmation List of last Sunday. Miss Zimmerman is the newly appointed Executive Secretary of the Youth Consultation Service of the Episcopal Church in the Diocese of New Jersey. Twenty-one candidates were confirmed by Bishop Hart last Sunday.

Our "Thank You" to the following persons for their much appreciated 1950 Church Bulletin subscriptions: Mrs. M. Brantley Ellis, Mrs. Mabel E. Richards, Mr. Wayne Henry, Mr. Harry S. HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country, and others.)

Opening Prayer:

Bless us, O God, with the vision of Thy being and beauty; that in the light of it we may learn to think Thine own thoughts after Thee, and in the strength of it may do our work without haste and without rest, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen. ("Prayers Old and New")

Bible Reading: St. Matthew 11:25-30

The Sermon:

A wise man has written, "The word 'Christian' means something...When a man calls himself a 'Christian,' he means that he admits Christ into every area of his life." Our Lent will be positive, if we set ourselves to welcome Him into all parts of our lives. Into our recreation, for instance.

Jack Miner did that, at Kingsville, Ontario. He had founded a bird sanctuary there in 1904, where he fed, protected, and cared for bird life, especially the wild ducks and geese. Then in 1909 he began "banding" them—placing a very light, numbered metal band around the leg of each bird. Later on, when one of them was shot down, or hurt, many miles away, the person who discovered the band would send it back to Jack Miner. Hundreds of these bands came back through the mail, and a vast fund of knowledge was obtained about the migration routes and habits of wild fowl. This was Jack Miner's recreation—he banded birds because he enjoyed it. Then in 1914 he had a brand new idea: "Early one morning, like a star shooting across the heavens, God's radio—or God's guidance, if you want to call it that—said to me, 'Stamp verses of Scripture on the blank side of your bird-bands.' From the very first time I stamped such a verse on a band, I felt the help of God, and knew I now had my tagging system complete."

So, the following Spring, he began. A hunter, who had shot down a duck in the South, found the bird-band, with Jack Miner's name and address and, on the inside, "Mark 11:28"; and, looking it up in his New Testament, read, "Have faith in God." A man, serving time in prison in Arkansas, noticed the incident in a newspaper story, and thus started reading his Testament. Sportsmen, as the years went on, wrote Jack Miner that their lives had been changed by the Bible passages his bird-bands had directed them to. And a missionary deep in the Hudson Bay country came out, for the first time in twenty-six years, to tell Mr. Miner that these bird-bands had stirred up a new awakening of faith in the Indians and Eskimos who came in to have the missionary interpret the messages. Jack Miner commented, "My bird sanctuary would never have been what it is, nor have gained world recognition, had I not taken God into partnership, and given Him first place." He had let God into his recreation.

Whatever your recreation, let it become rich and glorious by letting the spirit of Christ into it. If you enjoy a game of cards, invite some lonely person to join you and two other friends—and your game will re-create all four of you. If fancy cooking is your hobby, share it with some young bride, or your own daughter (or son!), and you will have a part in the recreation of many a body-and-soul in the years ahead. If you have a knack for letter-writing, let God use that gift to bring new laughter and faith to distant people. You can take any gift—deftness with knitting-needles, skill at carpentry, a flair for interior decorating—just let God into it, and it will become a breath-taking adventure.

Whatever your hobby is, make it into true "re-creation" by opening it to God. Let Him use it constantly. For the only true re-creation is found in Him Who said, "Come unto Me...and I will refresh you."

Closing Prayer:

O God, grant to Thy children to bear one another's burdens in perfect good will, that Thy peace which passeth all understanding may keep our hearts and minds in Christ Jesus our Lord. Amen.

Don't Forget—The Annual Booklet Our Parish in Action containing the reports of our parish organizations and a directory of all our people is going to press on March 15th. We have received eight of the thirty-seven parish reports. Hurry, hurry, hurry! We want this publication ready for distribution at our Annual Parish Meeting in April. Do we have your telephone number?

We extend our heartfelt sympathy to Edward S. Morris, Esq., and his sister, Mrs. William F. Machold in the sudden death of their mother, Mrs. Roland S. Morris. Mrs. Morris was confirmed and married in St. Stephen's and taught in our Sunday School for many years. She had a keen appreciation of the devotional use of the prayer book and hymnal and made constant use of them. The service was held in St. Stephen's on February 25th and was conducted by the Rector and Bishop Remington. May she rest in peace and may light perpetual shine upon her.

TO BUILD "ONE WORLD IN CHRIST"—GIVE MARCH 12th!

A strong Church calls for well-informed devoted Churchmen. This is your opportunity—an urgent need must be met! Give—for a larger and better Domestic and Foreign Missionary work—for an extended educational program!

The Minute-Speaker this Sunday will be Mr. Charles K. Hay, Vestryman and Chairman of the Community House Committee. Mr. Hay will speak on some aspect of the Church's program "ONE WORLD IN CHRIST."

Mrs. Agnes Sanford, author of "The Healing Light" will give a lecture in St. Stephen's Church on Tuesday, March 14th, at 8:00 P. M.

NATION-WIDE ADDRESS

On Sunday, March 12th, at 11:30 A. M. the Presiding Bishop, the Rt. Rev. Henry K. Sherrill will broadcast an address over the Mutual network to every Episcopal Church on the subject of "One World in Christ." We will have a radio in St. Stephen's and tune in at the proper time. We are to have the added inspiration of Bishop Hart who comes to us for the Rite of Confirmation.

St. Stephen's Church will share in this opportunity of undergirding the work of the national church. One great area of need to be met is in the production of new religious education material. St. Stephen's share will be $2,000.00. It is hoped that the literature sent to all our families on this subject will be carefully read.

CONFIRMATION

Bishop Hart will visit our parish on Sunday morning, March 12th, at 11:00 A. M. to administer the Apostolic Rite of Confirmation. We shall be happy to present to him any members of our parish who have not as yet been confirmed and would like to be. A number have been preparing to take this step and have been in attendance at the Rector's Class of Instruction on Sunday morning at 10:00 o'clock. At this eleventh hour it is not too late to make your decision to be confirmed. Speak to the Rector!

CHRISTIAN HEALING MISSION

We extend a hearty welcome to the Rev. John Gayner Banks, D.Litt., who is to conduct another Healing Mission in St. Stephen's Church, Sunday, March 5, through Thursday, March 9. He will preach at 11:00 A. M. and 8:00 P. M. on Sunday, March 9, and at 12:30, 3:00 and 8:00 P. M. each week-day.

JAMES CARRIGAN

Proverbs 22:29. "Seest thou a man diligent in his business?
He shall stand before kings."

James Carrigan, Verger of St. Stephen's Church for forty-four years, died at the Jefferson Hospital on the 21st of September in his seventy-sixth year. On Tuesday we carried his tired body from the Church he loved so well, but we know that he has now found a happy place in the heavenly mansions. He has been a precious part of our heritage. The fourth Verger in the history of St. Stephen's, he has served the longest. Mr. Kragg, the first Verger, served thirty-four years, Mr. Leeds eighteen years and Mr. Clayton thirty-one years.

In the eary Church the keeper of the Church's gate was in minor orders, and Mr. Carrigan placed his vergership in the same class. He not only took care of the buildings in a remarkable way, but also was a true under-shepherd and deeply interested in the welfare of the congregation. He was not popular with grafters and people who want to milk a rich church, or with contractors anxious to skimp their jobs—but he was much loved by the poor, and the rector found him as true as steel, and as loyal as a Highlander to his chief. He was no hireling but a true friend, and a most sincere Christian—incorruptible and thoroughly trustworthy. He has been the rector's best assistant and was an efficient and honored member of the church.

James Carrigan has gone on because the Master has a purpose for him in the Kingdom beyond the West. We cannot doubt that, nor can we cease to thank God for His ministry to us through him.

The funeral service was held in St. Stephen's Church, on September 26th. The Rt. Rev. William P. Remington, D.D., officiated assisted by the rector. Vestrymen were the honorary pall-bearers. Dr. Matthews and the Choir furnished lovely music. Interment was in the church burial lot in Laurel Hill with his beloved wife. His resting place is next to that of the Rev. Frederick Keable, a beloved associate of St. Stephen's.

We thank God for his fine Christian character, for his good fight, his finished course, and his kept faith; and we rejoice in the confidence that he has already heard the gracious words, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant; thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things; enter thou into the joy of thy Lord."

A memorial fund has been started. Those of the members and friends of the church who desire to give to the James Carrigan Memorial Fund may do so through the rector's office.

RECTOR'S PRAYER AT FUNERAL OF MR. JAMES CARRIGAN

O God of Peace, Who hast taught us that in returning and rest we shall be saved, in quietness and in confidence shall be our strength, by the might of Thy spirit lift us, we pray Thee, to Thy presence, where we may be still and know that Thou art God.

Remember, we pray Thee, Thy servant, James Carrigan, O Lord, whose spirit lives on in St. Stephen's Church, one of the living stones in our spiritual structure, one of the faithful whose lives hallow our parish life, and grant that increasing in knowledge and love of Thee, he may go from strength to strength in the life of perfect service in Thy Heavenly Kingdom.

We thank Thee, O God, for his Christian life so devotedly consecrated to the task of keeper of the church's gate, a true under-shepherd to the congregation of this church, for his fidelity to all his duties, and for his unfailing service to the poor and needy. We thank Thee for his good fight, his finished course, and his kept faith; and we rejoice in the confidence that he has already heard Thy gracious words, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant, thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things; enter thou into the joy of thy Lord."

May Thy grace so enrich our lives that we, too, may be wise in thought, loving in disposition, gracious in conduct, and victorious both in living and in dying.

With deep and sincere desire yet with humble submission, we offer this our prayer; in the Name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost. Amen.

WELCOME

To young people coming to Philadelphia for school or college, to families moving into the city from other places, to residents of hotels who expect to be here only a brief time, the Parish, its Vestry and Ministers extend a cordial welcome. The services on Sundays at convenient hours and of varied character, the open pews in a church which is always open, are all at your service.

On week-days there are not only noon-day services with helpful messages but there are many groups with many purposes meeting in our modern Community House. There is a place for you in one or more of them, whether you are young or old, men or women, boys or girls, professional people or home-makers.

In the pews you will find a card which signed and sent or left in the pew will bring to you some one with full information.

PRAYERS FOR THE DEAD

The Rector has been asked now and again about the vexed question of prayers for the dead. It is true that much superstition and abuse has clustered about the question of prayers for the dead with the result that many Protestants shy away from it as something not quite orthodox. While we cannot have any knowledge of the conditions in which souls live beyond the grave, the revelation of Christianity implies very distinctly a relationship of the soul which is everlasting. We have grounds sufficient for the belief that the intuitive conclusion of the writer of the Hebrews "that they without us might not be made perfect" holds a deep truth. In an apprehension such as this of the continuance and progress of personality in the spirit world, it is the intuition of the mother mourning her child, of the lover mourning his beloved, which would seem to come nearer to the truth than the cold logic of the rationalist. When Romeo bursts out with that sublime lament, "O my love, my life—thou art not conquered!" he is expressing Shakespear's own conviction. The blessed dead may experience joy and sorrow over their dear ones still on earth, and conversely, we need to commit to God all our hopes and desires for them.

"...but thou
If thou shouldst never see my face again
Pray for my soul. More things are wrought by prayer
Than this world dreams of. Wherefore; let thy voice
Rise like a fountain for me night and day."

Our "Thank You" to Miss Christine Mosler for her Church Bulletin subscription.

Flowers were presented by Mrs. Katherine Shiflett on September 10th in memory of her grand-daughter, Katherine A. Nuskey.

THE BURD SCHOOL was officially opened for the year 1950-51 by the Rector on Wednesday, September 20th, at the Chapel Service. There are four new girls this year and a total of thirty-four in residence. Extensive renovations and improvements to the physical fabric were made this summer. The second floor dormitory was completely modernized. Visitors are always welcome.

NEW RECTORY

The Vestry has sold the rectory in Germantown and bought a new home for the rector and his family at 121 Lodge's Lane, Cynwyd, Penna. The new rectory is the same distance from the church and solves a number of pressing problems for the rectory family. It is a fine property in every way, easier to manage, near excellent schools with many advantages. The 'phone number is Cynwyd 0888. Come up and see us!

The Treasurer wishes to take this opportunity to thank you for making "summer financing" easier. The response to bring pledges up to date is gratifying.

MEMBERSHIP

We are always happy to welcome persons into full and active communicant membership in our Church Family. This may be done in one of two ways: (1) By Letter of Transfer from the previous Parish where you were listed as an active Communicant; (2) By Confirmation. (The Rector's Class will begin in January).

Because of the traditional and ancient following of the Apostolic Succession, the Episcopal Church does not permit transfer by letter of persons who have had valid membership in churches which have broken away from this tradition. Instead persons desiring to attain full communicant status are given the benefit of instruction and the privilege of being received by the ancient Rite of Confirmation.

Here a brief note on admission to the Communion is in order. We follow the practice of "open" Communion in our Parish, that is to say we feel that the Lord's Supper is for all of the Lord's people regardless of their denominational tags. We also feel that the rules strongly suggest that Confirmation is the required admission standard for Episcopalians. This rule should not serve as a barrier to other Christian people who desire to share the fellowship of the Communion with us.

"STRANGERS WITHIN OUR GATES"

We intend the church here to be a friendly church and not permit strangers to remain so for long. Whether you have been here a thousand years or are here for the first time, please make yourselves known to your church neighbors after church service. It would help the rector be efficient if new folk would hand him their name and address written on the card found in the pews so you may receive parish information and be properly welcomed.

HOW TO CONQUER EVIL

The western world will learn some day that we must win people away from communism instead of trying to drive them away with threats of imprisonment, guns, planes or bombs. Communism is based on hatred—class hatred. When we hound men, drive them into jails, or shoot them, bomb their cities, kill their families, the hatred that communism feeds on increases rather than decreases. But the world is strangely blind to this truth that Jesus taught. He won people away from evil by feeding them, healing them, loving them. He finally took the greatest step of all—winning them away from sin by dying for them. Ever since that day, evil has never been able to stand before His presence. He taught how to conquer evil by winning men to that which is good. When will nations and officials who call themselves "Christian" learn this great but simple truth?

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others).

Opening Prayer:

Help us, O God of our life, to bear our pain as Thy beloved Son bore His trials and passion, so that we may gather strength out of weakness and suffering, and consecrate our sorrows even as he did; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.
(Prayer Book for Soldiers and Sailors).

Bible Reading: St. Matthew 10: 16-28; St. John 15: 16-27.

The Sermon:

Last week we said, "God reigns throughout all creation..." That is one of the great and deep convictions of the Christian religion. But hosts of sincere people gag when they try to swallow it. They ask why God allows the world's awful suffering, and remember some beloved friend who underwent many years of gruelling pain.

In the Old Testament days men believed that God would provide physical safety—"A thousand shall fall at thy side...but it shall not come nigh thee." As a keen saint has pointed out, Old Testament men were taught that they could make a kind of bargain with God, that He would take extra-good care of the man who trusted Him; and keep him physically safe and well. But Jesus, our own Master, did not talk like that. He never promised safety to His men, saying "If you come along with Me, you'll be nicely protected." He said the opposite, "If you follow Me, you will get into trouble." They were not to expect any magical protection. They were to expect, not only the ordinary perils of life, but special hostility and persecution, just because they were Christ's men. Any real adventure—whether it is climbing a towering mountain, or following a towering person like Jesus—is a difficult, perilous undertaking.

We are children in a vast universe; and we are not going to understand the why of much of its suffering. The Master frankly warns us that, as His followers, we are bound to do some suffering, as He did. But he does promise that nothing can happen to us that cannot be turned to gain, that cannot be transformed into a splendid adventure. He promises that after the struggle of climbing the lofty mountain, there will be a superb view at the top. He allows pain of muscle and mind as part of the discipline of learning.

The keen saint put it this way: "Parents put their little child into the nursery. They do not cover the floor with eiderdowns or pad the walls. Therefore, when the little chap is learning to walk, he often falls, and sometimes hurts himself. They allow him to fall. They do not intend him to fall, or they would push him over." In the same way, God allows the many accidents of our stumbling, awkward lives, as a necessary part of learning to find our feet in His world. But He does not allow anything to happen to us that cannot be turned into something glorious.

The test is this. When pain next comes your way, you can do one of two things. You can lie on the floor and cry and kick—you can bewail your lot, and blame God for letting this happen to you. Or you can sit there quietly, figuring how to learn to keep your feet next time; asking yourself, "What does God mean me to make out of this?" If you take that brave and Christian view, you will please God greatly, and you will become a tower of strength to those around you.

Closing Prayer:

O God, Who knowest all things, and from Whom nothing is hid; Thou hast seen fit to limit our knowledge and to set before us the slow learning of Thy works and ways. Grant us grace to accept the mystery of life with a humble heart; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen. (The Book of Worship, revised).

Will the user of duplex envelope number 234 kindly give her name to Mrs. Harry Hauger so that our records may be correct?

Our apoligies to Mrs. Madeline Keller and Mrs. Bertha Scargle whose 1950 Church Bulletin subscriptions have not been acknowledged to date. Many thanks!

The Rector will preach at the Haddon Heights Dell Services on Sunday evening, July 23rd, at 6:00 P. M. Six churches of Haddon Heights co-operate in these Summer Services.

The Rector will preach in the Cape May Convention Hall on Sunday evening, September 3rd.

SUMMER SCHEDULE

During July and August there will be three services in St. Stephen's Church every Sunday at 9:00 A. M., 11:00 A. M., and 7:30 P. M. The Rector will preach Sunday mornings during July. The Rev. T. A. M. Barnett, Professor in the Philadelphia Divinity School will preach Sunday mornings in August.

The Noon-Day Services during July and August will be on Wednesdays at 12:30 P. M. with Sermon and a celebration of the Holy Communion on Fridays at 12:30 P. M. The Tuesday and Thursday Noon-Day Services will be omitted during July and August. The Rev. Robert H. Stetler, Rector of St. Alban's Church, Roxborough, will take the Week-Day Services during July and the Rev. T. A. M. Barnett will supply the Week-Day Services in August.

CONGRATULATIONS!

David L. German, Jr., our erstwhile Crucifer, is now a Senior in Johns Hopkins University. He is President of the Alpha Psi Omega Fraternity, President of the Barn Stormers Dramatic Club and Treasurer of the Canterbury Club, a national organization for Episcopal students.

James Keller, a Crucifer of a few years back, has completed his Sophomore year at Lehigh University. He is the Chairman of the Pre-Theological Council of Lehigh and the House President of Leonard Hall.

Edward Cooke, Jr., has been graduated from the University of Pennsylvania Law School.

Albert Foster was graduated from Jefferson Medical College on June 9th.

SUMMER IS JUST AROUND THE CORNER

And we are about at the half-way point in the year. It seems a good time to refer to the matter of pledges, especially since the Treasurer reports that there are many who are in arrears—some so much so that he is beginning to feel a trifle uncomfortable about them. The children of Isreal who were forced by the Egyptians to make bricks without straw, had nothing on our Parish Treasurer. He has to do more than that every summer; he has to run the parish and try to pay the bills with very little money. Mr. Raspin has no hankering to be a magician and he would be very grateful if you come to church with your offering or, if you expect to be away, would pay up your pledges in advance.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others).

Opening Prayer:

O Thou Who art the light of the minds that know Thee, the life of the souls that love Thee and the strength of the hearts that serve Thee; help us so to know Thee that we may truly love Thee; so to love Thee that we may fully serve Thee Whom to serve is perfect freedom; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.
(Gelasian Sacramentary)

Bible Reading: St. John 14:1-6

The Sermon:

Some earnest and well-meaning people try to divide our world in two. They say that a minister is engaged in a "sacred" task, while a shoemaker is doing "secular" work. Leslie Weatherhead, in his superb book, "When the Lamp Flickers," shows that this is a false division. Even the Church has erred in claiming that the joys of the senses are "worldly," secular, instead of God-given, sacred privileges, and the saints of old used to talk of "withdrawing from the world," as if there is a "not-God's" world to withdraw from!

There is only one world, the world that God made for our habitation. We live in a uni-verse. "From the smallest atom to the farthest star, one will and one spirit holds everything together...sodium burns with a yellow flame in the laboratory, and with a yellow flame in the sun...God reigns throughout all creation, and His sovereign will directs it."

The shoemaker's job is intended to be a sacred one—to serve the needs of people who have to walk, freely and briskly, to accomplish anything in the world. "The religious shoemaker is as much a servant of God as an ordained minister. He is, in fact, in God's world, doing God's work, for God's people, for God's sake. Because he is a religious shoemaker, he cannot put cardboard instead of leather into shoes. Making a good pair of shoes, thoroughly, is a divine service because it is a contribution to the welfare of men, and service to men is the only way of serving God...It was when Jesus had been a carpenter for twenty years, and had never preached a single sermon, that the Voice said, 'This is my beloved Son, in Whom I am well pleased.'"

Jesus did not talk about withdrawing from the world—for there is nowhere else to go. It is all God's world. The saints who started the theatre (and you will remember that the first plays were started in churches and only the ordained were allowed to play them) were far more in harmony with Christ's mind than the Victorians who thought it wicked to go to the theatre. Jesus loved to go to wedding-parties, and people enjoyed His company so much that they gladly invited Him—and the kill-joy Pharisees called Him a "gluttonous man and a winebibber." Poor, wooden-souled men, they thought that some areas of life are sacred, and others secular. These religious leaders did not know that it is all God's world. Jesus blasted them for that.

D. R. Davies once said, "Outside of God there is only death." To find real life, go with God wherever you go in His world. You should be doing God's work, whatever your job—on a farm, in a pulpit, in your kitchen, at a railroad crossing. It is those who remember that they are always in God's world, put here to do His will, who are the truly wise and useful people of every generation.

Closing Prayer:

We yield Thee hearty thanks, O Lord our God, for Thy great goodness to us. Mercifully assist us in every duty each one of us has to do, and vouchsafe to be our Companion every day, from morning to night, and from night to morning; that we may love Thy presence and walk in it vigilantly. Amen. (James Skinner)

We have a very fine group whose members give certain periods of each day for private prayers for our Church and its many high hopes and good works, to deepen the spiritual life, to make intercession for the sick and those in special need. An individual of this group would promise to give a certain period in each day for these intercessions. The Group as a whole meets once a month. Speak to the Rector, if you are interested.

ANTHEM—"In Humble Faith and Holy Love" ..... Garrett

In humble faith and holy love, the song of saints and martyrs sing
That incense which to God above, blest angels and archangels bring;
Three mystic rays in glory shine, from the tremendous Godhead's Throne;
These in one source doth faith combine, in Three we praise one God alone.
For this sad vale of tears below, our anchor this of faith and love,
Till God His vision shall bestow in Christ's triumphant Church above.
To God our Father raise the voice, Invisible, Immortal King!
In our Redeemer's strength rejoice and to the sacred Spirit sing. Amen.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others).

Opening Prayer:

Help us, O God, to keep open the windows of our souls to Thee in prayer, and renew us ever by Thy grace, that through all the restlessness of life, we may always possess something of the peace of those whose minds are stayed on Thee; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen. (The Grey Book)

Bible Reading: Romans 8:31-39.

The Sermon:

St. Paul, as he writes to his friends at Rome, touches on a few of the unwelcome hardships of life which upset people—heartbreak and physical suffering and peril. Like a trumpet he cries, "What shall we then say to these things? If God be for us, who can be against us? Nay, in all these things we are more than conquerors through Him that loved us." Or, in another passage, "None of these perils unsettles me." Seventeen centuries later on, George Washington demonstrated the same inner strength to meet the worst that life can throw at men, without being upset, and emerged from Valley Forge to an increasing victory.

But how is this victory gained? Rufus Jones declares that such steadiness is achieved through a genuinely religious life, for real faith sets men firmly on their feet, turns sunsets to sunrises, makes the impossible become possible. "The master secret of life is the attainment of the power of serenity in the midst of stress and action and adventure." And he shows how the Friends have worked out this way of victory; first, silent communion with God "to find the springs and sources of power, and then to go forth to the tasks of the world in the armor of Light." Open-hearted praying thus opens the human soul to receive that strength which can stand against the worst tempests of life.

We Americans are a bustling people—men and women of action, determined to be forever up and doing. Often we run away from our real problems as we rush off into activity; like the worried housewife who, instead of praying her worry through to victory, turns her house upside down and does a strenuous day of house-cleaning. By so running away, she leaves the problem unsolved, to plague her later on.

Those who want to be "more than conquerors" learn the habit of quiet communion with God each day as regularly as they have breakfast. They stop their busyness, their fretting and straining, to open the gates of their souls to the tides of the Almighty love and might, and to remember that, if God is with them, there is nothing that need be feared. They rise from their time of quietness renewed, refreshed, and able to meet whatever awaits them, lifted up by the Eternal. As Rufus Jones puts it, "It is like a ship in a lock. Here the ship is, shut in by great gates before and behind. Its driving engines have been slowed down. Its speed has been diminished to naught. It is no longer going anywhere. And yet all the time the water is rising beneath the ship, and when the gate in front swings open, and the ship emerges from its period of full stop, it will go out for its journey on a higher level and carry its burden of freight henceforth on a new plane."

Closing Prayer:

May the love of God unite us; the joy of God inspire us; the peace of God enfold us; the courage of God sustain us; and the blessing of God the Father, Son and Holy Ghost, rest upon us forevermore. Amen. (Selected)

The Rector presented for Confirmation in the Bishop's Chapel on May 22nd, Evelyn Shirley Hanville and William Harry Cinq-Mars. Hearty congratuiations!

ELECTRONS and DEITY

The Anglican Communion observes today Trinity Sunday. It is a great feast which ought to find an important place in the life of every Christian. It stimulates us to consider the tremendousness of God, to sum up as well as we can with our limited intelligence the Infinite Being Whom we worship as the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit.

It is impossible any longer for a scientist to ridicule the mysteries of religion, or refuse to believe in Christianity because there are Chrstian doctrines which he cannot understand. What if the Bible had declared that Elijah had talked into a little box and his words had been heard in a similar little box down in Egypt?

Chesterton says that "the Trinity is easier to understand than the electron." The scientists would now have us believe that all matter consists of infinitely small universes of electric force, planetary systems of these whirling forces within other planetary systems, so that if you hold up your finger before your eyes you must see with the vision of scientific faith a cosmos as endless and majestic as "the starry firmament on high." Compared with that, the revealed three-fold personality in unity of the Godhead is simplicity itself.

We cannot by searching find Thee out, O Thou Almighty, unto perfection; but we can discover Thee by receiving Thee, as we discover Thy universe by receiving it. Lo, Thou dost stand at the door, and knock. Amen.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others).

Opening Prayer:

O God, Who art peace everlasting, Whose chosen reward is the gift of peace, and Who hast taught us that the peacemakers are Thy children, pour Thy peace into our souls that everything discordant may utterly vanish, and that all that makes for peace be loved and sought by us always through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

(Mozarabic Sacramentary)

Bible Reading: Isaiah 55

The Sermon:

Some years ago, Herman F. Reissig, hearing that a general had advocated military preparedness, saying, "I don't like war, but I want to protect my country," sat down and wrote the following reply. As we look forward to Memorial Day, we may well ponder his big-minded, broad-souled words:

"Protect 'my country'! But where is 'my country'? Who has decreed that 'my country' shall include only the geographical area bounded by the Atlantic and the Pacific oceans, Canada and Mexico? Who has decreed that 'my country' shall embrace only those men, institutions, and events which lie between the year 1492 and the present? Who may thus limit and define 'my country'?

"Where Isaiah lifted up his voice for human justice, there is my country. Where Plato announced the reality of the spiritual, there is my country. Where Jesus offered His life for men, there is my country. Where St. Francis lived the compassionate life, there is my country. Where Shakespeare swept the human scene into his dramas, there is my country. Where Darwin discovered the method of the soul, there is my country. Where Darwin discovered the method of the Creator, there is my country. Where the Magna Charta was signed, there is my country. Where Milton sang, where Rembrandt painted, where Geothe wrote—there is my country.

"Who draws these little lines, limiting my allegiance by accidents of time or space?

"Where Ghandi fought a swordless fight for freedom, there is my country. Where Schweitzer heals the bodies of black men, there is my country. Where Kagawa champions the underprivileged, there is my country. Where brave men stood firm against Hitler's barbarism, there is my country. I would protect my country. For my country I would fight against all enemies. Where is my country and who are its enemies?

"Wherever men and women lift the flag of justice, or of beauty, or of freedom, or of truth, or of peace, or of fellowship, there is my country. Who enslaves men in body for the sake of gain, or in mind for the sake of power, who tramples on others' rights, who closes the doors of opportunity, who serves the dark gods of superstition and prejudice, who turns his eyes toward the past, who denies to others the privileges he desire for himself—he is my enemy. God help me to protect my country against all enemies."

Closing Prayer:

O God, Who makest the frail children of men to be Thy glad soldiers in the conquest of sin and misery, breathe Thy Spirit, we pray Thee, into the people of this land and all countries, that they may come together in faith and fellowship, and stand up as an exceeding great army for the deliverance of the oppressed and for the triumph of Thy Kingdom; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

(Robert E. Speer)

The Rector presented Jane C. Rodgers and Amanda E. Smith for Confirmation in the Bishop's Chapel on May 15th. Hearty congratulations!

Those who heard Ralston Young, better known as "Red Cap No. 42" of Grand Central Station in the Church on May 18th received a tremendous spiritual uplift.

ORGAN FUND

Forty-nine individuals and organizations have pledged $17,781.00 to the Organ Fund. $9,102.75 of the above amount has already been received.

Recent gifts have come from the Girls' Friendly Society of St. Stephen's. Twenty-five dollars has been added to the original gift of fifty dollars. A member of the parish has added two hundred dollars to her original gift of one hundred dollars.

One thousand dollars has been received from a former member of St. Stephen's in another city who desires to be anonymous. Here is part of her heartening letter:

"MY DEAR DR. PRICE:

The enclosed cheque represents something I have had in mind for several years and now at last accomplished.

St. Stephen's has meant so much in my own life, and I so thoroughly like what it stands for as a parish that I have wanted to give something that would help carry on the work in the years to come.

My thought has been to have the amount added to the Endowment Fund. However, I am sending it to you for you personally to decide the best use for the money. Perhaps you will wish to use it for the Organ Fund.

Please, however, do not use my name in connection with it but let it be an anonymous gift.

We have been greatly interested in the exceptionally fine Parish Report, and only wonder how you accomplish so much..."

The Rector was interviewed on the "In Person" radio program over WCAU, Friday, May 19th at 10:30 P. M.

A good time was really had by all who attended the annual parish meeting. Our grateful appreciation is extended to the Committee from the Hard-of-Hearing Congregation for the splendid refreshments.

The Flowers on the Altar today are given by Chapter 4 and Unit 4 of the Military Order of the Purple Heart in memory of departed members; by Mrs. Reba Fryer in memory of her son, William J. Fryer; by Miss Gladys Given in memory of her brother, Raymond Given; by Mrs. Augusta Balsley in memory of her mother; by Mrs. J. C. Funck in memory of her husband and parents; and by Mrs. Walter H. Lloyd in memory of her mother, Julia Fort Hughes, and her mother-in-law, Ida May Lloyd.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services; the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of our country and others).

Opening Prayer:

Take from us, O God, all tediousness of spirit, all impatience and unquietness. Let us possess ourselves in patience, and commend our souls and bodies into Thy hands, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen. (Jeremy Taylor, adapted).

Bible Reading: St. Luke 22: 39-46

The Sermon:

Sometimes you hear people discussing the problem of "unanswered prayer"; but there is no unanswered prayer. All prayers, I believe, are answered—every one! What we mean by "unanswered" prayer, usually, is a prayer like Jesus' first request in Gethsemane, "If it be Thy will, let this cup pass..." God's answer to that request was "No"; and, since Jesus' chief purpose was to know God's will for Him, God did answer His prayer by pointing to the hard, stern way of the Cross. By accepting God's command, He went forward to the triumph of the Cross, and the deathless victory of Easter.

The real puzzle, therefore, is not "unanswered" prayer; but why it is that God so often answers "No." Often, of course, He says "No" because we have asked for second-rate favors that would do us, or someone else harm. God, being loving, cannot say "Yes" to harmful prayers, any more than your father could give you the rifle or the pressure-cooker you asked for at the age of ten! You, yourself, have not always said "Yes" to your children. Because you loved them, you could not grant foolish or hurtful requests. We cannot, surely, expect God to be less wise and loving than we are!

But there are many times when we cannot possibly understand why God's answer is "No." When a young father, with a beautiful wife and several fine children, is critically ill, and we pray for his recovery, and that young man dies—we cannot understand. If we could understand, we would be more than human. I haven't the faintest idea why God does not grant such a request; but I have come to trust God enough to leave the answer with Him. After all, there is no reason why my childish prayer should change the will of the All-Wise. In a case like that, I can only lift my prayer to Him, asking Him to pour His healing strength through the channel of my life, to help that sick young man; and then leave the outcome with Him. Then, if that young man dies, I can pray to God for strength to accept the outcome, to master my grief, and start on from there.

The true secret of victorious praying is to ask God to show us what He wants, rather than putting our whole heart into what we want. That is the secret of the great Gethsemane prayer—Jesus sought, and found out, what God wanted of Him; and obeyed God's will; and His willingness has blessed mankind ever since. Take yourself by the scruff of the neck, therefore, and make yourself drop the "Give me" prayer; and change it into a "Show me" prayer. Dare to ask God to strengthen you to be able to "take it," if necessary; to struggle and endure, and master the heavy heart, the disappointed hopes. If you pray faithfully for Him to show you the way, He will always answer that prayer.

Closing Prayer:

Lord, grant us to see the right path and steadfastly to follow whither it leads; for the sake of Him Who is the Way, the Truth and the Life; Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

THE ORGAN FUND

Jefferson and Madison maintained, as opposed to John Marshall Hamilton and President John Adams that the Constitution was not the supreme law of our land, but that the earth belonged to the living, and that self preservation and changes to meet the demands of growth and the betterment of the people were far superior.

In somewhat of a similar manner, we, the members of St. Stephen's, are in a position to have to decide whether or not the well known need of a new or renovated organ in order to continue to function adequately and to maintain the high standards of our church regarding service music and beauty of memorials should not be our immediate consideration.

"Music wakes the soul...and fits it to bespeak the Deity." There is no reward for a lost opportunity—it is gone forever!

Have you pledged to the Organ Fund? Dr. Herbert Old.

The Rector presented Marie E. Goodwin and Florabel Cunningham for Confirmation in the Bishop's Chapel on May 8th.

Summer is just around the corner and we are about at the half-way point in the year. It seems a good time to refer to the matter of pledges, especially since the Treasurer reports that there are many in arrears—forty-six using the duplex envelopes have not as yet turned in an envelope! Summer is a lean time for our Treasurer. Now is the time to "catch-up."

Our grateful appreciation to the following persons for their Church Bulletin subscriptions: Mrs. R. C. Reese, Mr. and Mrs. James Brady, Miss Alice B. Ewing.

THE ANNUAL PARISH MEETING

THURSDAYS AT ST. STEPHEN'S

Healing is in reality, the cleansing of these body-temples. It is a subtle process and begins with self-love. The door swings in and the slender key that fits the lock is given in Jesus' admonition, "Leave your gifts before the altar and go; be reconciled to your brother and then come." I believe the moment we have laid our gifts and turn to go, we must begin at the turning to forgive ourselves. One place at which we need forgiveness is at the place of indulgence.

Someone, in search of help, was overheard to say, "If the Rector is not to preside at the Healing Service I will not go." What sleek disguises the little fox of prejudice wears. She nibbles away at the foundation of the body-temple under the guise of loyalty. We are tempted into indulging ourselves by the use of familiar assertions, such as; "true to my church; loyal to the Rector; faithful to tradition;" and yet in the same breath, "loyalty to one" can readily imply "prejudice...or aught against... a brother." It is these comfortable indulgences then, that we bring to the altar and leave there as gifts, for God to evaluate. The spring cleaning season is a good time to begin.

In the absence of the Rector, the honor was given one day to the Rev. Gustav Meckling to conduct the Healing Services. Later on a group met together and there was about the conversation an inner quiet, a deeper consciousness of the Holy Spirit. We were thinking aloud on our feeling about the five-thirty Healing Service. "Wasn't he humble?" "How earnest and sincere!" "I felt such a personal interest when he prayed." "I feel different somehow...I wouldn't have missed that experience for anything." "He gave me a sense of time-less-ness...as though we could abide awhile for the Healing to come." Thus ran the comments of the group.

Suppose that each one who spoke had refused to attend the service because someone different was to preside. Think what we would have missed. Yet through hugging our prejudices to ourselves for any reason, we shut out God's creative activity in our lives. It is so human to want to dictate terms. When we assert, "I won't go if the Rector isn't there," we preclude God. But suppose God was limited to one person through which to channel all of His benefits. Suppose (tongue-in-cheek) He said, "Today I will allocate my Healing power, or so much Grace for forgiveness, or so much of the Holy Spirit to so and so..." Yet we do that to God and pride ourselves on loyalty. How differently the Four Gospels would read today if Jesus had said, "You, Peter, may heal; but the others...well they have no aptitude for that sort of thing." What He did say sweeps aside all prejudice, "Truly, truly, he who believes in Me will do the works that I do and greater works than these will he do."

Let us step aside from our selves when we leave the gifts of prejudice and indulgence at the altar and begin the Healing by forgiving our little-selves. This is where real sacrifice begins. Healing bubbles up like a spring of living water from within at the same time that it flows down from on High, through any available form of life. Every thing about God is fluid, never static. He asks not for portions of our selves but rather, He asks for the AREA of our lives that He may pour down His healing love to wash away our self imposed limitations.

Don't let us ever limit the Healing power of God by thinking that we can dictate terms to Him. God is the Author and Finisher. Healing must come His way for He has always known our need. He can afford to wait for us to return for God has all of Time. In His infinite variety lies your adventure. Don't miss it by self-indulgence.

Nelle R. Cook.

TO THE RECTOR AND MEMBERS OF ST. STEPHEN'S CHURCH:

At the request of Dr. Price I have attended the stated quarterly meetings of the Female Protestant Episcopal Prayer Book Society at its Church House.

The Society is making a concentrated effort to re-build its membership in the churches of this Diocese and to promote greater interest in the Prayer Book as a missionary project. Very satisfactory progress has been made in both undertakings.

In their last report the Society had distributed over eleven thousand Prayer Books and Hymnals to different Dioceses and missionary Districts in the United States, Philippine Islands, Canal Zone, Hawaii, Central America and West Africa.

St. Stephen's Church has contributed through its members the total of $15.60 which sum was turned over to the Society's Treasurer, Miss Mary Lea Perot.

We are planning and hoping that next year our contributions will be at least double these figures.

Respectfully submitted,
RUTH GORDON LEITHEAD.

AN ORGAN

is more than a material unit of construction consisting of pipes, console, keyboards, stops, couplers, pedals. It is the instrument for such spiritual qualities as joy, reverence, gratitude, heavenly inspiration, built without hands—eternal. Its quality can be no finer than the thoughts of those who contribute to its building. $7,700.00 has been received on the pledges of $16,560.00 for our new organ. Have you made your pledge? In this season of renewal, let each one find the answer in his own heart—"Just how green is my valley?"

We are very grateful to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wolf for a large electric refrigerator for the kitchen in the Parish House where the Tuesday luncheons are served.

Eighteen thousand attended the Lenten Noon-Day Services this year, and more people attended our Easter Services than ever before.

DR. H. ALEXANDER MATTHEWS

Dr. Matthews is celebrating this year his fiftieth anniversary as an organist in this country. He came to this country in 1900 after receiving his early training from his father, John Alexander Matthews, a prominent organist and conductor in England.

Dr. Matthews organized the Choral Art Society of Philadelphia, which he conducted for twelve years, and for ten years was the director of the musical clubs at the University of Pennsylvania. For a period of fifteen years he also conducted the Orpheus Club of Wilmington, Delaware. At the present time he is conducting the Women's Chorus of the Philadelphia Music Club.

As a composer, Dr. Matthews has been prolific and his published compositions number over 300. Among these many are very popular among choirmasters, including the Cantatas "The City of God," "The Story of Christmas" and "Triumph of the Cross." Dr. Matthews' contribution to organ and anthem literature has been most generous.

Dr. Matthews is a composer member of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers and a member of the Philadelphia Musical Fund Society and of the St. Wilfred's Club in New York. He is head of the theory and organ departments of the Clarke Conservatory of Music in Philadelphia. Dr. Matthews has received honorary degrees from Muhlenberg College and the University of Pennsylvania.

On April 1st, Mr. James Carrigan began his fourty-fourth year as Verger of St. Stephen's Church. His loyalty and devotion to St. Stephen's is proverbial. Shortly after the present Rector came to St. Stephen's he was introduced by one policeman to another as "The Rector of Carrigan's Church." During the long history of St. Stephen's Church we have had but four Vergers, whereas we have had eight Rectors.

MISTER, THIS MEANS YOU!

What do you men of St. Stephen's want in a Church Service? Do you consider the average Church's program vague and ineffective? Perhaps you regard religion as an admirable ethic, but something a person should take like Homeopathic medicine—in small doses.

Mister, the problem of the Church—its success or its failure—is yours! The clergy can do just so much, and let this be remembered: Your minister and his work reflect the type of laymen behind him and supporting him.

Your Church needs men! What are you doing about supporting the new evangelistic and educational program which will be inaugurated with a dinner and talks on the history and organization of the Episcopal Church. The date is Tuesday evening, April 18th, 6:00 o'clock sharp.

Do something about it now! Notify the undersigned immediately that you are coming.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services, the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of their country and others)

Opening Prayer:

I thank Thee, O Lord, that Thou hast so set eternity within my heart that no earthly thing can ever satisfy me wholly. I thank Thee that every present joy is so mixed with sadness and unrest as to lead my mind upward to the contemplation of a more perfect blessedness. Amen. (John Baillie)

Bible Reading: St. Matthew 25:31-46

The Sermon:

Someone once asked a holy man what judgment day is like; and he said, it is like the side of a great mountain, upon which you see many people, some climbing, some descending. Some are on the lower slopes, not far from the bottom. Many are midway. A few are close to the peak that rises against the blue sky. Judgmest day is that mountain-side. God is not concerned with the position of each human soul, whether near the bottom or the top. God is concerned with the direction in which each soul is moving, whether he is resolutely headed up the steeps, or softly headed downward. What God asks of each of us is, "Whither bound?"

Our friend Leslie Weatherhead applies that truth to the Pharisees as they sought to mislead the Galileans by calling Christ evil. He says, "Let us imagine that a company of us could go to a starving country with truck-loads of nourishing food. Now imagine the little children with their pinched white faces, and men and women with their gaunt frames rushing up to the trucks with arms outstretched. But then suppose a group of important people in high positions should come between the people and the trucks, and shout to the people, 'Don't touch it! It is poison! This is a trick to deceive you. Have nothing to do with this so-called food. These are evil people on an evil errand!'" That is just what the Pharisees were doing—Jesus and His disciples came bringing the bread of life, the inner nourishment necessary for men's starved hearts and souls, and the Pharisees shouted, "Don't touch it! It's poison! Have nothing to do with it. This man is of the devil." Those Pharisees were headed downward, hell-bound; and, even worse, were seeking to lead others hell-ward with them.

For, after all, what are heaven, and hell, except the aim of our lives, the purpose of each day's living? You know the neighbor who leans over the garden wall on Sunday morning when you are just starting off for church, and says, "Well, I am not a religious man. You must go your way, and I must go mine, but we are all going the same way, really, and we will all come to the same place." I do not want to be unneighborly, but I do not think that we are on the same road, and I do not think we shall get to the same place. If your sensitiveness to God is increasing, you are going to heaven. If it is decreasing, you are on the road that leads to hell.

Those loved ones whom we remember gratefully before God were people who set their feet on the climbing path of growing response to God's will for them. Many of them were simple folk who lived in quiet places, far from the limelight of public attention. But their lives were headed heavenward, growing each year in quickening sensitiveness to God's will for their lives. It is our glorious privilege to follow in their steps. Whither bound?

Closing Prayer:

O Eternal God, Who holdest all souls in life, we beseech Thee to shed forth upon Thy whole church, in paradise and on earth, the bright beams of Thy light and heavenly comfort; and grant that, following the good example of those who have served Thee here, and are now at rest, we may at last enter with them into the fullness of Thine unending joy; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

("New Every Morning")

The first of a series of meetings for the men of St. Stephen's got off to a good start December 12th. Thirty-five men were served a very fine supper by the wives of the Vestry. Mr. Wilson Leithead, Chairman of Adult Education of St. Stephen's, gave a challenging presentation of the purpose of the meeting and very thoughtful and helpful addresses were made by Dr. Herbert Old and Mr. I. Smith Raspin.

Those who were fortunate enough to attend the opera, "Hansel and Gretel," in the Community House December 15th, were thrilled beyond measure by the marvelous performance. We are grateful to the Women's Committee (Mrs. Raspin, Mrs. Hauger, Mrs. Leithead, Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Hay) for their good work in selling the tickets and providing and serving the refreshments. Two hundred and twenty-two dollars was realized.

THANKS

It was a glorious Christmas at St. Stephen's Church and I thank all of you for the part you had in making it such. The music was never better. The Christmas Basket Committee did a fine piece of work in distributing Christmas cheer, and donations were received which took care of the whole expense.

We at the Rectory were again deluged with greeting cards and gifts for which we thank you with deep affection. You will probably get tired of my boasting about you, but I cannot refrain once more saying what a fine parish this is, and that I thank God that He has permitted me to be one of you. ALFRED W. PRICE.

Agnes Sanford, author of the Healing Light, will give another of her inimitable messages on Thursday, January 11th, at 8:00 P. M. in St. Stephen's Church. Plan to attend!

THE BURD SCHOOL

It is with great pleasure that we can announce the receipt by Burd School of a grant-in-aid of $2,500.00 from Junto, Inc., for a special research project in connection with the educational and certain other problems of an institution such as ours. Junto, Inc., is a non-profit foundation which, amongst other things, directs the operations of our neighbor, The Junto Adult School, whose work we have the pleasure of assisting by the use of the Community House on certain evenings each week. The School and we, ourselves, are most grateful for this evidence of interest and goodwill. EDWARD SHIPPEN MORRIS, Treasurer.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services, the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of their country and others)

Opening Prayer:

O Lord, raise up, we pray Thee, Thy power, and come among us, and with great might succor us; that, whereas through our sins and wickedness we are sore hindered in running the race that is set before us, Thy bountiful grace and mercy may speedily help and deliver us; through Jesus Christ our Lord, to whom, with Thee and the Holy Ghost, be honor and glory, world without end. Amen.
(Book of Common Prayer)

Bible Reading: Isaiah 40: 1-2, 9-11, 28-31.

The Sermon:

Many a humble soul is troubled by the approach to Christmas. It may be the clear, sweet glory of chimes from a church steeple, filling the crisp night with Christmas joy. Or it may be the hearty voices of commuters in a crowded railway station, singing out the old carols. "Christ is coming!" the music proclaims; and an honest soul shudders, suddenly seeing in his heart old sins and fears which do not belong where Christ is to dwell.

But you need not shudder over Christmas, friend! For Christ came for honest folk like you. And, furthermore, He did not come to condemn, but to save—to save you from all stumbling and despair. He is not called "Saviour" for nothing. He is called by that great name because true men and women, down the ages, have found through Him, a wondrous life of new freedom from old sins. He is called "Saviour" because He asks so little of us, and does so much for us, filling our lives with joy that nothing can take from us.

As you prepare for Christmas, He asks one simple thing of you. He asks your willingness to open your heart to Him. He asks your consent that He may come into fthe stable of your life, and become Master there. Do you want Him? Will you let Him in? Will you invite Him inside, to "direct, sanctify, and govern" your heart and body? If you do, then He does the rest—the mighty work of cleansing you, and making you new and joyful. Once you let Him in, lust loses its power in you; hate is melted by loving-kindness; fear is overcome by His mighty Presence. Think of it—all God's Son asks of you is an open door, and a greatful welcome, that He may work His wonders in you!

James Burns tells us about Burne-Jones' painting, "The Star of Bethlehem." Mary is seen in the foreground of the picture, with the Child upon her knee, while the Wise Men approach with their gifts. Beyond the circle where the Christ-Child sits is bleak wintertide; the trees are bare; the ground is white with snow; and all is chill and desolate. But, around the place where Jesus is, spring has broken out; the snow has gone; the frozen ground has softened; and flowers burst into bloom. There is a song in the air, and new life springs up everywhere, close to Christ.

Christmas can be like that for you—whether you be eighteen or eighty. If today, deep down within you, you open the door of your heart to be ready for Christ to come in and take over, then He will push away all the old, cold hardness and despair out of your life. For, wherever He is, there is always a song of spring!

Closing Prayer:

I call upon Thee, my God, my mercy, Who madest me, and Who didst not forget me, though forgetful of Thee. I call Thee into my soul, which, by the desire which Thou didst inspire in it, Thou preparest for Thy reception; through Christ our Lord. Amen. (St. Augustine)

The Rectory Telephone has been changed to a dial service. The number is now WElsh Valley 4-5137.

There will be an "Open House" for Carol Singing at the Burd School, 4226 Baltimore Avenue on Monday evening, December 18th, beginning at 8:00 o'clock. You are expected!

Bible Reading—Psalm 139

The Sermon:

For many centuries of the Christian faith, Advent has been a season of penitence. Before being ready for the Christmas rejoicing, we take an honest look at ourselves, and ask forgiveness and cleansing from our sins; we pray that we may "cast away the works of darkness."

The deepest sin of most men is their attempt to escape God. As Paul Tillich puts it, "The modern way to flee from God is to rush ahead and ahead...to be always active, to be always planning, to be always preparing. But God's Hand falls upon us; and it has fallen heavily and destructively upon our fleeing civilization; our flight proved to be vain." As the Psalmist said, "Whither shall I flee from Thy presence?"

The dreadful truth is that we resent a God "unto Whom all hearts are open." Zarathustra said to the Ugliest Man, "You could not bear Him to see you, always to see you through and through." So in that story, the Ugliest Man murdered God, saying, "He had to die." So, on Calvary, men crucified—and thought they had murdered—Him, Who could read the innermost thoughts of their hearts. They could not bear those penetrating eyes. So we, with our childish ideas of God as the Pursuing Ogre, flee Him as in a nightmare, running, running, until our feet stick fast, and we know that He is going to catch up with us at last.

But Tillich points out, "Ultimately, we know that it is not He Whom we reject and forget, but rather some distorted picture of Him." We need to see the true picture of God; as small boys have needed to learn that the policeman is not the enemy they feared, but the friend who sees them across the street to school, who even recovers their lost dog. As soon as an intelligent boy has the true picture of a policeman, he makes friends with him.

Even a great saint like Martin Luther, in his younger years, shuddered when he thought of God, the all-seeing witness. "I did not love God. I hated the just God... and was indignant towards Him in silent blasphemy." Many of us have felt just that way about God; some do, today. What can we do about this sin of hating God our Father? Luther conquered his hate of God by at last recognizing the true picture of God in the crucified Christ. Looking at the Cross, Luther at last saw what God is like; the God with infinite power to crush or compel us, but Who, instead, offers Himself to us in patient, undying love. There, on the Cross, Luther saw the God Who says, "Come unto Me, all ye that travail and are heavy laden...Fear not, I bring you good tidings of great joy...Come unto Me."

Prepare for Christmas by setting up in your mind the God of the Cross, the God of the Bethlehem Manger. As you look with wonder upon Him, you will be sad over your past sin of hating Him. You will ask His merciful forgiveness; and will move on to meet Him at Bethlehem.

Closing Prayer:

O God, Maker and Master of all men; Give us or take away whatever else Thou wilt, but give us a will like Thine, knowing neither weariness nor waste; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen. (Henry Sylvester Nash)

PARISH FINANCES

It will be a real help to the Accounting Warden if we all endeavor to bring our weekly envelopes up to date in the next few weeks, so that we can once more pay all our obligations. We have had to make a goodly number of repairs to our property this year, so if we each do our part in our weekly envelopes and in the special Christmas offering we shall close the year with all bills paid including our Missionary Expectations.

The Rector will preach Sunday evening, December 10th, in the First Methodist Church, National Park, New Jersey.

The Rector will address the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Prospect Methodist Church, Prospect Park, on Tuesday afternoon, December 12.

On Sunday, December 10th, at the 7:30 P. M. Service, the Treble Clef Chorus of Haddon Heights, New Jersey, under the direction of Mrs. Helen Wyeth Peirce will present their Annual Christmas Music Service together with the Evening Prayer Service. Mr. Leeds will be at the organ and the Rev. Mr. Meckling will conduct the Service.

OUR STEWARDSHIP

St. Stephen's Church is now facing the greatest opportunity of its history. Never before were there so many varied religious services rendered to the people of our neighborhood as there are today. Never before has the ministry of this church reached out to so many people as at the present time. The program of the church very largely has been designed to meet the needs of people; not one group of people, but different groups of various ages and backgrounds. The great challenge of the church in the midst of a busy city must be met by a program that has reality and significance and it must be financed by the giving of a great many people.

Once a year in St. Stephen's Church we ask our members and friends to present themselves at the 11:00 o'clock service on Loyalty Sunday (this year November 19th) and to place their pledge cards in the Chest of Joash in lieu of an Every Member Canvass.

Here in this old church, we have an amazingly unique chance. Generous gifts to our Endowment Fund in the past have set us almost entirely free to keep our doors open seven days a week and keep St. Stephen's work and worship alive. It sets us free for all sorts of good works. It makes possible a program of practice rather than theory, a program of personal work rather than conventional work.

We have the present satisfaction of being entirely in the black, with no indebtedness. Whatever you contribute, goes directly into the varied program and work of the parish, or of the Diocese and general church. This is a healthy situation and we wish to keep it so.

It is our belief that a democratic church is one in which every member contributes in accordance with what he has to give. If your income increases, will you not give some share of that increase to your church? This will be to pull your weight in the boat. It will help to balance those inevitable losses in the parish that come from death, old age, loss of income or transfer.

Newcomers to the parish, especially, are urged to make use of envelopes. If you do not attend every Sunday, it is entirely possible to pay annually or quarterly, or as you will. But a pledge to the envelope system lets the Vestry know where it stands and makes possible some planned operation of the parish. These pledges are not legal obligations, and may be increased or decreased by getting in touch with your rector or treasurer, should your circumstances alter during the coming year.

St. Stephen's Church needs $65,000.00 to continue the work we are now doing, and to meet the 30% increase in our missionary budget.

When we respond to the Church's yearly appeal to support its budget through the weekly envelope system, we should be saying, "I am voting with all the powers of my total personality to keep alive and to strengthen the sources of supply for a Christian world with its distinctive quality of ideas and of life and of spirit. I am voting to keep the fires of Christianity burning high at the heart of a world at the crossroads."

A united parish, moving forward generously, together, cannot be stopped.

Place your pledge card in the Chest of Joash this morning and vote your vital witness to the things that endure.

MEMBERSHIP AND PEW SITTINGS

Voting membership in St. Stephen's Church can be gained by becoming a regular contributor to the support of the church through the duplex envelope system. A certain proportion of your pledge will be designated by the Vestry as a sitting rental and will entitle the communicant to membership in the corporate body of St. Stephen's Church.

The Rector dedicated a beautiful silk American Flag for use in the chancel on Sunday, November 12, a gift to the church from the Military Order of the Purple Heart, Chapter No. 4.

The Philadelphia Conservatory of Music will present the opera "Hansel and Gretel" in the Community House, 923 Ludlow Street, on Friday, December 15, at 7:00 P. M. The cost is $1.00. This production is for the benefit of St. Stephen's and every one is urged to come and enjoy a fine evening of entertainment.

ST. STEPHEN'S AND FELLOWSHIP

In a famous address at Pittsburgh, Francis J. Chesterman, forcibly emphasized that in our present day economy we have everything our hearts desire except one essential ingredient, viz; "fellowship."

This prominent Episcopal Layman is right, as we all know, but do we really understand what fellowship means in practical terms?

Here at St. Stephen's under the able leadership of our Rector, Dr. Alfred W. Price, we have discovered that fellowship is both human and divine. We also have come to see in our Christian Religion something new and vital that can be translated into our own lives and into the lives of all we know and meet every day.

This Fall our Men's Dinner and Educational Meeting will give us all an opportunity to learn more about this important subject "St. Stephen's brand of Fellowship."

Time: Dinner, 6:30 Tuesday evening, December 12, 1950.
Place: St. Stephen's Community House (rear of church).
There will be no charge.
Kindly advise the undersigned promptly.

The Fall Ingathering of the United Thank Offering of St. Stephen's Women amounted to $298.01. Of this amount $23.00 came from the women of the Hard of Hearing Congregation. This is a very generous response to this semi-annual appeal.

WHAT SHALL I GIVE FOR WHAT GOD HAS GIVEN ME?

This is the time of the year when it is necessary for us to come to you to renew your pledge for the support of the church. We often say that the great American sin is the worship of money. But in one sense we do not have sufficient reverence for money and all that it means. Your property is an extension of your personality. Much of what we call culture and civilization depends largely in the things we own. If I own three cents I can tomorrow extend my personality and be in two places at once by mailing a letter. If I own several dollars I can for one day have an extra pair of hands doing my work for me or with me. And if I own many dollars I can become a veritable octopus, with hundreds of hands and brains at my bidding. That is why it is so difficult, as Jesus warned us, for a rich man to get to heaven. It is so easy for his well-th to become ill-th.

Your budget has a great deal to do with your soul. In fact, it is not a bad picture of your soul. In a notorious divorce case the monthly budget of the woman applying for alimony was published in the newspapers. It ran something like this: Rent—$200; Clothing—$150; Amusements—$75; Books—$1.75; Charity—$5.00. Could you wish a better photograph of her soul? What of the man who pretends to be a Christian and yet when he attends service gives less to GOD than he gives to go to the movie. Where your heart is, there will your money be also.

The Jews were commanded to make sacrifices—to make holy— their possessions by offering the first fruits to God. All that we have is a loan from God, and we are trustees of His estate. So the man who says that his time, his money and his talents are his own, to do with as he pleases, is an embezzling trustee, and Jesus tells us what such a man deserves. (Matt. 24:45-51). Our chief task in life is to try our best to "pay our board," to pay back to God and to God's children some little part of all that it has cost them to give us the privileges we enjoy.

The church's program for the year 1951, has been intelligently and inspiringly presented these past seven weeks by members of our Vestry. We realize that we must increase our giving this next year by 30% if the church is to fulfill her commitments at home and abroad. Our own parish budget has been presented in a previous issue of the bulletin. Let us forthwith stop talking budgets; instead, let us give in relation to income. Let us prayerfully consider a basic religious idea—to resurrect and put into effect in our parish the Biblical idea of tithing. Every Episcopalian, by adopting this historically sound basis, can determine how much he should give to God in return for what God has given him.

Actually to "tithe" is to give one-tenth of one's income to one's church. However, today with the present income taxes and the need to support "outside" charities once coming under the province of the church let us every one of us determine to adopt in gratitude to God the idea of devoting one-tenth of his net income (after income taxes) to selfless purposes—five per cent for his church and five per cent for general charities, such as Community Chest, Red Cross, etc.

To those who have not prayerfully considered the proposition, this figure might seem unduly large. But is it?

In the first place, the Government says, in effect, "Knowing that this nation cannot continue to grow in spirit without its people supporting the work of their churches, their hospitals, their homes for the aged and infirm, etc., you may give for these purposes 15 Per Cent of your Gross income and deduct it before taxes." Thus the dispassionate, money-minded men who raise the funds to finance our federal government's activities recognize the importance of such giving in far larger amounts than the figure we suggested.

In the second place, it is a matter of record that a large proportion of those of us who have adopted tithing actually and sincerely feel that the Lord has rewarded us not only in greater inner grace but in greater worldly prosperity!

This idea of thus being financially rewarded for tithing may seem incomprehensible to you. The truth in that statement (of being rewarded by greater prosperity) is that if all the people in the congregation carefully took five per cent of their income and gave it to the church that would mean responsible, careful budgeting, and therefore, being responsible with five per cent they would also be careful and responsible with 95%. The Christian virtue of responsibility and stewardship by doing away with carelessness does in a sense lead to prosperity. There is nothing strange about this. It follows a law of character which we all know. Although I can testify personally to the material rewards accruing from the consistent practice of tithing, I would not put this question of tithing on such a self-centered basis, as a kind of insurance. That motive is surely false to the basic teachings of the New Testament. Spiritually, when we give it is true we grow in grace and know that we are doing our share.

So let us accept for the moment the five per cent figure. But why, some unthinking person might say, why should I give five per cent to my church? What has it done for me to warrant that much from me?

A few simple, obvious Christian thoughts should suffice to answer that question. When you pledge five per cent of your net income, you are not giving it to St. Stephen's Church in Philadelphia. You are giving it to God. And your giving to God should be in return for what He has given you.

And just what has God given you?

Let us set aside, for the moment, the great spiritual concept of the God Who gave us His Son for our hope of eternal salvation. Let us set aside, for the moment, the concept of God to Whom we can turn in prayer for strength in our weaknesses, help in our troubles, and peace in our sorrows.

Let us think, instead, of the God Who gave us the capacities for love and friendship, for kindness and understanding. Let us think of the God Who gave us the mind, the abilities, the will-power and the strength which we have used to achieve whatever material success we enjoy in this world of today.

Let us never forget there is no such thing as a "self-made man"!

The customary pledge card is enclosed herewith. Please designate how much of your pledge you desire for the program of St. Stephen's and how much for the Diocesan and World-Wide Program of the Episcopal Church. Bring this card to church Sunday, November 19th, for the Chest of Joash Dedication Service, or mail it to the Rector today. Say yes to your faith.

The Rector and Dr. Matthews and Choir will broadcast a service over WCAU on Sunday, November 19th, at 10:00 A. M.

The Rector will conduct a Healing Service in St. James' Church, Kingsessing, on Sunday evening, November 19th.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services, the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of their country, and others.)

Opening Prayer:

Be present, O Lord, to all our prayers, and protect us by day as well as by night, that in all successive changes of time we may ever be strengthened by Thine unchangeableness; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

(Leonine Sacramentary, 440 A. D.)

Bible Reading: Revelation 21: 1-7

The Sermon:

No housewife worth her salt goes through life with the same slender recipes or the same limited skill in cooking with which she began as a bride. No fisherman worthy of the name sticks to his high school book of flies, or his early awkward casting. No small athlete is content to go on missing goals in basketball games. No, the youngster sets up a basket at home, and practices; the fisherman expands his skill and his supply of flies; the housewife collects new recipes, and learns new ways of delighting her hungry family. The people who are alive are growing people. They pay attention to the quiet voice which promises, "Behold, I make all things new."

Of course, human beings have a way of getting into ruts at times. We drift into the doldrums, and life gets flat and stale. All the freshness goes out of it. Our hearing gets so dull that we catch no good news in the air as we trudge around, drearily doing our duty, but not expecting anything much to happen.

There are a lot of dull-hearted people. It may be partly because so much of the world's work—at machines and assembly-lines—is so monotonous. In Jesus' day, it was the iron rule of Rome, its heavy taxes and its humiliating laws, the grinding of poverty and suffering, that made people dull-hearted. People just didn't expect that anything much was going to happen in their lives again. And then a young Man with a straight back, and kindly eyes, and a quiet voice of authority, came, saying, "Come unto Me, all ye that labor and are heavy-laden, and I will refresh you...Follow Me, and I will make you fishers of men...Behold, I make all things new." And crowds flocked to hear Him. For He put a glory back into their lives.

Take time in these weeks and months ahead to read the great promises Jesus made to you; and dare to take them seriously. Take His word that He is able to refresh you, to make a new person of you, to put a song in your heart. Learn to live each day, confidently expecting part of His promises to come true in you that day. Keep at it faithfully, and the future for you will be radiant. As Berton Braley once wrote in The Saturday Evening Post:

"Oh, you gotta get a glory in the work you do;
A hallelujah chorus in the heart of you.
Paint, or tell a story; sing, or shovel coal;
But you gotta get a glory, or the job lacks soul.
O Lord, give me a glory. Is it much to give?
For you gotta get a glory, or you just don't live!

"The great, whose shining labors make our pulses throb,
All are men who got a glory in their daily job.
The battle might be gory, and the odds unfair;
But the men who got a glory never know despair.
O Lord, give me a glory; When all else is gone,
If you've only got a glory, you can still go on!"

Closing Prayer:

Grant us, O Lord, to pass this day in gladness and in peace, without stumbling and without strain; that reaching the eventide victorious over all temptation, we may praise Thee, the eternal God, Who art blessed, and dost govern all things, world without end. Amen. (Mozarabic, before 700 A. D.)

JAMES CARRIGAN, VERGER

At a Meeting of the Vestry of St. Stephen's Church held on Tuesday, October 10, 1950, the following Minute was unanimously adopted:

"It is with deep regret that record is made by the Rector and Vestrymen of St. Stephen's Church of the passing-on of James Carrigan, our beloved Verger, on September 21, 1950. The service of Mr. Carrigan as Verger extended for a period of 44 years and was one of continued loyalty and outstanding devotion to the Church. His eternal vigil and affection for anything that had to do with the affairs of Our Church, its Clergy or its Communicants was outstanding and the subject of admiration and acclaim on the part of all who knew of it. He was a devoted aide to the three Rectors under whom he served, Drs. Grammer, Franks and Price, and the assistant Clergy who were on our staff during that period of 44 years. He was greatly loved by visiting Bishops and Clergy and was a loyal friend to the groups who have constituted not only the Sunday but the weekday congregations of St. Stephen's. His loss is greatly felt. It will be impossible to replace James Carrigan. Our hearts are deeply grateful for his life of sacrifice and service and we extend to those who were near and dear to him, our sympathy in the common loss which we share in his passing-on."

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to church services, the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of their country, and others.)

Opening Prayer:

O Lord, vouchsafe to look mercifully upon us, and grant us that we may choose the way of peace; so that, rescued from the captivity of the sins which have oppressed us, we may attain the dwellings of the heavenly Jerusalem; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen. (Sarum Breviary, 1085 A. D.)

Bible Reading: St. Luke 18:9-14

The Sermon:

What kind of memories do you cherish? It is well to have a care about this, for cherished memories shape your whole character.

Some people delight in remembering the mistakes which other people make, like the Pharisee Jesus pictured in the parable. He recalled the chiselers, the unfair, the unfaithful in marriage, and the hard-boiled tax collectors, and prayed, contentedly, "Thank God, I am not like them!" In our national life sometimes we do the same kind of looking back, as we shout, "Remember the Maine!" or "Remember Pearl Harbor!" taking satisfaction in remembering the dreadful things other nations have done to us. Those who cherish memories of other people's sins become smug and proud. After a while, the world knocks them down, "for every one who exalts himself shall be humbled."

There are wiser people who make a point of remembering their own mistakes, and asking God to forgive them. The tax gatherer in the parable was that kind of a man. He was sick of the crooked game; and he asked God's compassion, God's help in changing to honest dealing. Such people are humble, and understanding, and easy to live with. Jesus said that they really please God, being eager to learn from Him and discover His will. In the long run, the world backs up people like that, for "he who humbles himself shall be exalted."

In the gallery of your mind, therefore, there are some pictures that could wisely be taken down—the memories of the hurtful, nasty things that others have done to you. In their place, it might be well to hang a few pictures of your own sorry deeds, just for safety's sake. You must, of course, also have happy memories hung along the galleries of your mind; and just enough of the dark memories to keep you humble before God and men.

In the city of Venice there is a very peculiar custom. Whenever a prisoner is going to be condemned to death, a tall figure, dressed in a long black cloak, walks majestically into the center of the court room. He bows solemnly to the judge, and cries out in a deep and cavernous voice, "Remember the baker!" Then he bows and stalks out of the room. Three hundred years ago in that city a baker was executed for a crime he did not commit. There had been some doubt about his guilt, and there was a lengthy debate before the decision was handed down. After he was dead, his innocence was established, and the judges who had condemned him gave a sum of money, the interest to be used for two things. One was to set up a lamp in the Doge's Palace, to burn forever, called "The Lamp of Expiation," reminding the world of their sorrow for their grievous mistake. And, second, to pay the man in the long black cloak, so that this ghastly figure would always enter the court room to warn men that human justice is liable to err, and punishment should be tempered by mercy and moderation. Store away in your gallery, my friends, the dark-cloaked figure, bidding you to "Remember the baker!"

Closing Prayer:

Almighty God, drive from our hearts we beseech Thee, the darkness of sin, and make us to come to the true Light, which is Christ; through the same Jesus Christ Thy Son. Amen. (Gelasian Sacramentary, 494 A. D., adapted)

The Rector substituted for Dean Ladd Thomas in a two-hour course in pastoral care for graduate students at Temple Theological School last Monday. The rector will speak to a class of undergraduates at the Philadelphia Divinity School October 17 on the subject of Spiritual Therapy.

We acknowledge with grateful appreciation the Church Bulletin subscriptions of the following persons: Mr. Paul Downward, Mr. Leon Merrow, Mrs. Florence Schuh, Miss Mary Millham, E. Weddell, Mrs. Jean Becker, Mrs. Charles E. Campbell, Mr. George S. Agnew, Mrs. Maude Hinds, Mrs. Louise W. Braun.

WELCOME TO YOUNG PEOPLE

Today, October 15, is YOUTH SUNDAY and is the occasion on which young people join all their fellows throughout the Anglican Communion in demonstrating their part in the life of the parish family. At this time the Church is reminded of the young people who will be its future leaders and who are today making an important contribution in its work. On YOUTH SUNDAY the whole parish has an opportunity to recognize and support its young people.

At this season of the year, the Colleges, Schools of Nursing, and other special schools begin a new term. Many young people come to downtown Philadelphia to make their home here for the school year.

We cordially welcome these young people to all the services of St. Stephen's Church. We invite you to make St. Stephen's your "church home."

ENLARGED BUDGET

Owing to the enlarged budget of the National Council, the Diocese of Pennsylvania has been asked to increase its missionary givings by $110,000. To meet this increase 30% has been added to the accepted Proportionate Share of each church. St. Stephen's share for 1951 will be $6,890.00. This sounds like a large increase but when we add the amount of $1,359.35 which we gave last year to the Presiding Bishop's Fund for World Relief to the accepted share of $5,300.00 which we will give in 1950 we find that the total is no greater than the new figure for 1951. In 1951, it is important to realize that there will not be a special appeal for World Relief as the Presiding Bishop's Fund for World Relief will be included in the amount we give as our Proportionate Share.

In other words, if every person using the duplex envelopes will add 30% more to the red-side we shall have our goal here in St. Stephen's.

Bill Smith, the bookkeeper of the Church and the Burd School Accounts, has been called back into active duty in the Army. Bill had served with great distinction in World War II and since then has finished his College course, and his first year in the University of Pennsylvania Law School. He will be greatly missed by his many friends. We extend our heartfelt good wishes.

THE BURD SCHOOL ALUMNAE

The Burd School Alumnae extends a cordial invitation to the members and friends of St. Stephen's Church to attend a card party and social to be given at the School, 4226 Baltimore Avenue, on Saturday, October 14 at 8:00 P. M. Tickets obtainable from the Chairman, Mrs. Vincent Novak, 1127 S. 55th Street, SA 7-6802, or Miss Emma Smith, 4931 Walnut Street, GR 2-3804. The cost is $1.00. Prizes awarded and refreshments served by the Alumnae.

BENEVOLENT SOCIETY

With this issue of the Bulletin comes the annual appeal for funds for the work of the Benevolent Society of St. Stephen's Church. Last year, the Benevolent Society sent three thousand four hundred and twenty-eight pieces of sewing to five of Philadelphia's major hospitals. The material for these garments are supplied by the hospitals, and the Benevolent pays women to sew these articles in their homes. These needy women were paid $311.81 for this vast amount of sewing this past year.

Five hundred dollars will just about cover expenses for the season 1951. Your contribution will help the needy women who do the sewing and also the hospitals who desperately need the articles. The enclosed envelope is for your convenience.

LAYMEN TO EDUCATE THE CHURCH

To make sure that every man, woman and child in St. Stephen's Church is thoroughly informed about the Church's Program of work in our parish, our diocese, the nation and throughout the world, vestrymen under the leadership of Mr. Wilson Leithead, will give a ten-minute address each Sunday at the eleven o'clock service, beginning October 1 and continuing until November 19th.

Back of our educational campaign lies the conviction that in a world of turmoil, menaced by a militant atheistic communism, the only safety lies in a world converted to the principles of the Christian religion, and a first step in bringing this about is to make our own nation genuinely Christian.

The Episcopal Church is planning to expand its missionary work at home and overseas. It has plans for a new,expanded program of religious education, and for advance in the fields of Social Relations, College Work and work with Youth.

In the presentation by the vestrymen modern techniques will be employed. Bishops at home and over-seas, by means of recordings, will tell in their own voices, of the needs of today and the unprecedented opportunities offered at this time for Christian advance.

This educational program will reach a climax on Loyalty Sunday, November 19th, when every member of our parish will be asked to pledge their support of the new, enlarged Program for 1951.

Don't miss hearing the thrilling presentation by seven of our outstanding laymen.

CONVERSIONS FROM ROMAN CATHOLICISM

Most of our lay people have been worried by the loud trumpetings of Roman Catholic joy in the daily press whenever a prominent, or near prominent Episcopalian has gone to Rome. Many ask if we ever get any people from Rome. We now have facts and figures. In the last ten years at least 25,301 Roman Catholics have come to us in the United States and its possessions. This is a surprising figure but even this is quite conservative because it includes only those adult Roman Catholics received by our bishops. It does not include baptized Roman Catholics who have been regularly confirmed. No estimate has been made of people we lose to Rome but an informal survey made around New York City indicates that conversions are about ten to one in our favor.

MY MORNING ACT OF FAITH

I Believe In Jesus Christ, The Son of God
Therefore

I AM IN HIM, having redemption through His blood and Life by His Spirit.
HE IS IN ME and all wholeness is in Him. To Him I belong by Creation, and self-surrender. To me He belongs for all my hourly needs. There is no difficulty, inward or outward which He is not ready to meet today.
I HAVE RECEIVED not the Spirit of Fear, but of Power and of Love and of a sound Mind. I can do all things through Jesus Christ Who gives me strength of arm, strength of heart, strength of brain, strength of will and strength of faith.
Amen.

Please cut this out—insert in your Bible or Prayer Book and read it every morning.

The Rector preached and assisted Burton N. Jones, Worshipful Master, at a religious service at the Masonic Home, 3333 No. Broad Street, Sunday afternoon, September 24th.

We acknowledge with much appreciation the Church Bulletin subscriptions of Mrs. Christine Leight, Mr. Francis H. Spratt, and Mrs. P. Donald Mackes.

From Diocesan Headquarters we have the following report of receipts from our Parish, as of September 20:

Accepted quota ($800.00 over 1949)	$5,350.00
Received on account	3,223.13
Due before December 31	2,076.87

We have paid $553.29 more than a year ago!

Our Diocesan Assessment of $1,250.00 for the support of the Episcopate, the Diocesan Convention and the rectors of sustained parishes is paid in full.

In order that we may be able to pay the balance of $2,076.87 on our missionary obligation, we need to have the generous co-operation of every member of St. Stephen's Church.

EASTER OFFERING

If we are truly grateful for the Blessed Resurrection, we will want to present an offering of Thanksgiving and Gratitude to God and His Church on Easter Day, even as we are able and the Spirit directs us. For this purpose there is an Easter Offering Envelope enclosed.

THE EASTER CROSS

"I have been crucified with Christ; it is no longer I who live, but Christ Who lives in me; and the life I now live in the flesh I live by faith in the Son of God, Who loved me, and gave Himself for me." Galatians 2 : 20.

On Easter Day the pulpits of the Church will ring with the triumphant proclamation that our souls are immortal because Christ is risen, and that Easter Day has obliterated the black tragedy of Good Friday. The Easter victory, many will say, has cancelled the crucifixion. Spiritually, though not in actual fact, on Easter morning we bury the altar cross under Easter lilies.

There is a sense of course in which Easter does cancel Good Friday, or rather in which the Resurrection of Jesus in Judea cancelled what His enemies—and some of His friends—believed had happened to Him. They supposed that He had failed in His task, that His purpose of redemption had been thwarted. But we are entirely wrong if we celebrate Easter as if it annuls Good Friday for us. In our joy that "the three sad days are quickly sped," we must not infer that we can now forget all the sorrow and disappointment, all the burden of sorrow which Jesus endured on that dark day.

Easter does not annul Good Friday. It rather confirms it. It gives to the Cross of Christ an eternal validity, and to turn away from the Cross on Easter Day, to wish it might be removed from the altar, or concealed behind flowers, as some have done, is to forget all that Christ has meant, and hopes to mean to us. Sacrifice, the vicarious bearing of human sin, in other words, the Cross of Calvary, is an experience not limited to one day, in Jesus' life or in ours.

There has always been some plausibility in the doctrine of conditional immortality—the theory that we must earn everlasting life, and that some poor folk have nothing immortal that can survive their physical death, nothing worth saving. But whether or not all of us can live forever, everlasting life would be a living death for those who have not learned to lose themselves in sacrificial living. The one condition of our living with Christ, and His living in us is that we be crucified with Him. Easter means that we are to live in partnership with Him if we are to live at all. And He promises us rest only as we share His yoke.

This aspect of Easter throws no gloom upon it. It remains the most joyous day of the year. The Cross is uplifted, but the light of Easter irradiates and glorifies it. Because of Easter the Cross can never again be mere suffering and sorrow. Easter gives an eternal validity to the life of sacrifice, and proclaims that he who finds such a life is in the central stream of the universe, sharing that self-giving Love which is the very life of God.

CHRISTMAS, 1951

There is no doubt that one of the things the Christmas story makes us think about is home. As we look at ourselves and try to analyze our needs and necessities, we find that our deepest need is the need of home and our greateast human affliction is homesickness. That is, that terrible sense of having been cast out from the home in which we were so thoroughly protected into the wilds and hazards of a careless universe, with its terrible spaces and its relentless and indifferent laws that seem to have no bearing on the little lives which count for little as they drift along a few years and then pass away into oblivion. That is the sense of homesickness that more adults have than you can ever imagine. It is the desire and the need to know that they live in a universe which is a home because it is the Universe God has made for His family. And it is the fear that they do not!

And so Christmas comes along and suddenly at least on one day of the year, this broad, vast, frightening universe becomes a home once more in which people care about each other, remember each other, are generous toward each other and enter into some of those relationships which make a house a home. And that happens not only in the churches but all through the secular world. Sometimes we church people complain of what we call the secularization of Christmas. I appreciate that because it seems deplorable to me to see how completely some people divorce Christmas and the celebration of it from the one thing that makes Christmas possible, namely the birth of our Lord. And yet, I am not so sure about this continual complaint about the secularization of Christmas. It seems to me on mature thought that Christmas might be described in one way as the day on which God Himself became secular, for secular is the word for "world" and Christmas is the day on which God came into the world forsaking the cold, bleak majesty of the heavens to take upon Himself the shabby vesture of humanity and undergo all the trials and tribulations of an ordinary human life. That is secularity, and therefore I am not too much disturbed because some people have intimations that the universe is a home and that those intimations come from the tops of office buildings where lights shine for Christmas, or that some intimations come from parties and dances that may not have any particular religious significance, and their messages are not always from the Bible but are from the hearts of people who may be still in those upper levels of frivolity, but nevertheless have the same need for home and that same human affliction, homesickness, and who reach out at Christmas to catch every intimation and every glimpse and every reassurance that they live in their Father's world and that the people who live with them care about them and love them and honor them.

To an open house in the evening
Home shall men come,
To an older place than Eden
And a taller town than Rome.
To the end of the way of the wandering star,
To the things that cannot be and that are,
To the place where God was homeless
And all men are at home.

May the Love of God abide in you, His peace enfold you, His Grace sustain you and His Light guide you this Holy CHRISTMAS-TIDE.

Sincerely, your Rector,
ALFRED W. PRICE

The Church Staff—the Rector, Mr. Meckling, the Parish Visitor, the Secretary, the Book Lady, the Clerk and the Sexton—unite in their desire to convey to you, one and all, their Very Best Christmas Wishes.

Ye blessed the Syrian swains,

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to the church services, the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of their country and others)

Opening Prayer:

O GOD, by Whom the meek are guided in judgment, and light ariseth up in darkness for the godly; grant us in all our doubts and uncertainties, the grace to ask what Thou wouldst have us do; that the Spirit of wisdom may save us from all false choices, and that in Thy sight we may see light, and in Thy straight path may not stumble; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen. (William Bright)

Bible Reading—St. Matthew 6: 16-23

There was once a tailor who went to Niagara Falls, and joined the guided party at the cave under the falls, where sightseers get closest to the mighty cataract. Some of them shudder with fear. Others were wide-eyed with wonder at the majesty of the scene. But, as the tailor stood there, with the mist drifting in, all he had to say was, "What a place to sponge a coat!" The tailor was blind to all the breath-taking beauty and grandeur, because his vision was narrowed to his small heart and mind.

1952 begins the day after tomorrow. A lot of people will live that year like the tailor at Niagara Falls, missing the splendor, because there is no splendor within them. But other people, who have found a glory in the New Testament, and have learned to trust GOD, will find shining opportunity on every side. GOD will give them important tasks, to build His Kingdom where they live. He will guide them to the right house, at the right time, to say the right word. These men and women know how the Holy Spirit made common people into world-changers in days of old; and still operates as powerfully as ever today.

I wish you a New Year in which you will travel trustingly with GOD. Traveling thus through 1952, there will be more happiness than you dare to expect. There will also be rich suffering, because GOD will lead you to take the pain of others on your heart. And your life will be big and roomy, filled with the wideness of GOD'S mercy; with the deep intent of fitting your life with His great plan. We shall not stop to think too much about our age, or the passing days, for, as a Scot wrote:

"What matters it to us who are immortal
Which side of the grave we stand on, when we know
That what the world calls death is but the portal
Leading to life again? 'Tis but to go
Across a gurgling river in the dark
Hanging on God; and but a moment so
Till we are over, and we disembark
And enter life afresh. 'Tis basely wrong
We should so meanly understrike the mark
As measures life by years; and all along
Busy ourselves arranging little schemes
That death will dash to pieces, when we might
Be building, far above those earthly dreams,
Houses that stand forever in GOD'S sight."

Closing Prayer:

O most merciful Father, open our eyes, that with fullness of sight we may behold Thy glory in the face of Christ, and the face of Christ in every man. Amen.
(Robert E. Speer).

WATCHNIGHT SERVICE

New Year's Eve this year falls on Monday night. Mr. Meckling will conduct the usual Watchnight Service at 11: 00 P. M. with hymns, prayers and address followed by the Holy Communion. The coming year is certain to be a year of tension and great pressure. We shall do well to approach it in the spirit of solemn dedication to GOD, turning to Him for strength and insight. He alone will see us through successfully.

A WAVE attached to the Philadelphia Navy Yard, having been transferred to Detroit, wrote to the Rector as follows: "St. Stephen's meant a great deal to me; there is a feeling in the services and such depth and beauty that is rarely found. Thank you for all you have done for me." E. S. H.

Here is a letter from a recent patient from Jefferson Hospital: "For the past 12 days I have been a patient at Jefferson and before I return home tomorrow I want to tell you what deep comfort I have found in the ringing of your Church Chimes. Only an hour after my arrival here, they rang at noon, and I learned to listen for them every day. The Vesper Hymns at 5: 00 o'clock were especially lovely, for that is a lonely time of day in a hospital. I feel sure there are many people here who feel as I do about this; in fact, this whole area is sweetened and beautified by the bell music." H. R. S.

THE LIFE BEYOND

. . . . "I had a wonderful experience this summer, while caring for a sweet patient in the last stages of glandular cancer. Only 43 years old, with three small children, a devoted husband, a lovely new home — and yet nothing seemed to help her. We were all disturbed about the 'seeming unfairness' which takes life away when so needed. One night as we talked together quietly, she said, 'You know, Mrs. Card, when I became so ill, GOD came and took my hand and took me to a beautiful place where everyone is so happy, and there is no pain. But my sister wouldn't let me stay and begged the Doctor to bring me back to life.'

"She continued with a smile: 'I am so glad I had that glimpse of the life beyond, for I shall never fear death again — it was so beautiful I cannot describe it! And some day, GOD will come again and take my hand and will take me the whole way and I shall be glad to go with Him.'"

GOD did come for her a few weeks later. "But," says this nurse, "my heart was glad for her and I hope her story will be able to give courage to others facing death, and hope to those who remain after they are gone."

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to the church services, the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of their country and others)

Opening Prayer:

Set free, O Lord, the souls of Thy servants from all restlessness and anxiety; give us that peace and power which flow from Thee; keep us in all perplexity and distress, that, upheld by Thy strength and stayed on the rock of Thy faithfulness, we may abide in Thee now and evermore; through Jesus Christ. Amen.

(A. S. T. Fisher)

Bible Reading—St. Luke 1:46-56

The Sermon:

We anxious twentieth-century people like to talk "big". We delight in using circus-poster words, talking about colossal achievements and billions of dollars spent; we take pleasure in relating our successes. But the person who approaches Christmas "talking big" is pretty sure to miss the point. For the God Who created the vastness of the universe has a way of simplicity, a habit of using modest things, and dwelling in humble places.

"It is God's way to begin small", writes J. H. Denison. "He once started to save the world. We might have supposed that in revealing the terror of His majesty and the beauty of His love, He would rend the heavens, and so astonish the world that they would only be beginning to forget it now after nineteen hundred years. But he did not. He began with a Baby in a cow-stable. He could scarcely have made a smaller beginning. Look back. Look into that dark cave. A flickering torch casts huge shadows of long-horned oxen on the rough-hewn walls. There is no sound but the low crunching of the cattle as they munch their hay. There, in the midst of them, is the young mother, forgetting for the moment her discouragement and discomfort and illness. For there, in her arms, lies the Baby, her baby boy, and about His face still plays the light of heaven from which He came...O little Babe of the stable, who would ever dream that Thou art a King? Who would ever imagine that Thy power would reach down along the ages, overturning kingdoms, establishing empires, changing the world...that Thou, O gracious Babe, shouldst be enthroned in so many faithful hearts, who would gladly lay down their lives, and all that they hold most dear, for Thy Name's Sake?"

If you are going to have the radiant spirit of Christmas in your heart, you need to remember where you can find God in these days of preparation. As a pastor I call on people up and down the streets of our city, and I find God constantly in everyday places. I find Him in the radiance of a young mother's face, as she lifts her new baby out of the crib, so that I can really see him. I find Him in the tenderness of an older girl, caring for her little sister; in the awkward love of a man in over-alls, playing with his small son. I find Him in the unfailing devotion of a wife, caring for her dying husband; and in the faithful prayers of two parents, whose son has gotten himself into bad trouble. I find Him in the breath-taking open-handedness of everyday people of small means, as they share what they have with those in need.

God began with a Babe in a cow-stable. Then God can begin again in you, with a small beginning of honest love, a spark of new courage. He can come into the darkness of your heart, and fill it with the glorious light of His Presence. If you will humbly open your heart to Him, He will be born again, at the very center of your life, this Christmas-tide!

Closing Prayers:

O God, our heavenly Father, help us rightly to remember the birth of Jesus, that we may share in the song of the angels, the gladness of the shepherds, and the worship of the wise men; to Thy honor and glory, forevermore. Amen.

WHY PLEDGE MONEY IS DIFFERENT

Why is money pledged different from money received by the church but not pledged? Why do we need to indicate on a pledge card what we plan to give our church in 1952? Here are two reasons:

1. We cannot budget problematical funds. A program for the coming year cannot be planned if the Vestry must try to guess what a person will give.
2. Very few of us come to church every Sunday in the year, yet the church's expenses continue weekly whether we are in town or not. If a person pledges, for instance, $5.00 a week, the Vestry knows, barring unforeseen calamities, that they will receive $260.00 from that person during the coming year even though he might not be in town to be in church every Sunday.

Therefore, please make a pledge, if you have not already done so, and mail or place it on the alms basin next Sunday. Christ works through you.

CHRISTMAS SERVICES

Our Christmas Services will be five in number: Sunday, December 23rd at and Christmas Day at 9:00 A. M. and 11:00 A. M. E.a 11:00 A. M., Christmas Eve at 7:30 P. M. and the Midnight Service at 10:45 P. M,. and Christmas Day at 9:00 A. M. and 11:00 A. M. The special Christmas leaflet will be mailed in a few days.

REQUIRED READING

The Episcopal Church is spending millions of dollars on a new study course and curriculum for our Church Schools. Much work has been done and much more is yet to be done. The first publications on the adult level of the new curriculum were available last year. The first book called "The Holy Scriptures" and the second "Chapters in Church History" were bought and read by some forty members of our parish. Every one who read these books were highly enthusiastic about them. Now, the third in the series has been published, entitled "The Faith of the Church". The Rector ordered ten of these books a few weeks ago and all have been sold to members of the congregation. Another shipment is on the way. This volume achieves the impossible—it provides a text-book of Christian doctrine which has been accepted by all schools of thought and theology in the Church. It is an exposition of Christian doctrine written so every one who reads can understand. This book will interest every one in St. Stephen's. The cost is $1.50. It is a must for those who want to know the fundamental teaching of Christianity.

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to the church services, the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of their country and others)

Opening Prayer:

Grant to us, Lord, we beseech Thee, the spirit to think and do always such things as are rightful; that we, who cannot do anything that is good without Thee, may by Thee be enabled to live according to Thy will; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.
(Domine Sacramentary, 440 A. D.)

Bible Reading: St. Luke 1:26-33

The Sermon:

Christmas cannot be celebrated in a single day. No, we must begin long before December 25th, so that when it comes suddenly upon us, we shall not be found wondering, "Why don't I have the spirit of Christmas in my heart?"

So often the deep and shining meaning of Christmas gets smothered under a multitude of things-to-be-done; of frantic and irritated haste, like a long line of automobiles, headed homeward on a hot, summery Sunday afternoon, with radiators and tempers boiling over. But those who begin their celebration of Christmas far ahead come to it with peace and quiet joy in their hearts. Their feet may have moved swiftly in the days of preparation, but it was the swiftness of those who know what they are doing, and where they are going; who speed forward with a clear and simple purpose.

Take time to see, in your heart of hearts, what Christmas means. Stop and be quiet that you may grasp why a whole wide world is aware of ONE PERSON'S birthday. Dr. Horner tells the story of a father and son during World War II. They were walking down a village street, looking at the stars in the windows of the homes from which men had gone to serve this country from Iceland to Australia. There was a star in the window of almost every home. The boy was impressed as his father told him of the meaning of the stars, each one representing a son given from the home. As they walked along in the deepening twilight, Venus, the evening star, shone in the West and glowed all alone in the evening sky. It was so bright that when the boy looked up, it held his attention. Suddenly, he turned to his father and said, "There's a star in God's window, too, isn't there, Daddy? Did God give His Son?" Yes, God gave His Son, because He loved the world—that the world might see, in Jesus Christ, the Face of ALMIGHTY GOD!

And that, my friend, is the meaning of Christmas! That is the Holy Fact that lies back of all the Christmas festivities, all the happy gatherings—in all families, all the hosts of people kneeling at prayer and sacrament. God gave His Son to us, that we might see Him face to face. Let that Holy Fact sink deep into your heart, that it may glow there, and light all your Christmas preparing. Go about your Christmas tasks, joyous just because God gave His Son Who wonderfully lives on in our hearts. Have the grace to be thankful that God still hangs a star in the window of the night!

Closing Prayer:

O God, Who by Thine Almighty Spirit dost enlighten every man that cometh into the world, enlighten, we beseech Thee, the hearts of us Thy servants by the splendor of Thy grace, that we may ever think thoughts worthy and well-pleasing to Thy majesty, and love Thee with a perfect heart; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen. (Gallican Liturgy of Alcuin, 790 A. D.)

The Rector's wife contributes, for Advent, this Sonnet inspired by those interred beneath the vestibule of St. Stephen's Parish house.

Dedication

O Ye, whose bones lie far beneath my feet
In buried vaults below the floor's bright tile,
I read your names and ages, carved so neat
Upon your stones above you. Gone the while
You lived and served, and loved the Master, too.
Of all whose tramping steps upon you tread,
'Tis only I who turn my thoughts to you
And feel a kinship with you, 'tho long dead.
O Rector, daughter, wife, and doctor son,
"Beloved and honored", "cherished and revered",
"Lamented" and then "mourned"—your work is done.
What wonderful memorial is reared!
May we who breathe be mindful of our days
So that we may be worthy of such praise!

GIVE RELIGIOUS BOOKS THIS CHRISTMAS

The following books are recommended as excellent gifts for Episcopalians:

"The Holy Scriptures", Dentan; "Chapters in Church History", Dawley; "The Faith of the Church", Pike and Pettinger.

These three books are part of the church's teaching series, and are priced at $1.50 each. They may be secured from Mrs. Nelle Cook at our Book Table.

ARE WE A FRIENDLY CHURCH?

Twice recently one woman was embarrassed by cold receptions given friends who visited Episcopal Churches. Are we as friendly and courteous to visitors in our Church home as we are in our secular homes? Let's try this for a change:

1. Don't sit alone. Take a seat next to some one else. If you don't know him him or her, make it a point to get acquainted after the service.
2. As you leave the Church speak or smile to everyone whose eyes happen to meet yours.
3. When you meet a new member of the parish tell him about your favorite organization, and ask him to go to the next meeting with you.
4. If you must be the first person to take an empty pew, sit near the center so someone else will be encouraged to sit with you.

PLEDGES

The total is creeping up slowly. We are most grateful to all who have helped by pledging on Loyalty Sunday and hope that everyone in the Parish will try to send in a pledge soon.

How To Give

Cheerfully: "The Lord loveth a cheerful giver."
Proportionately: "As God hath prospered."
Systematically: "On the first day of the week."
Regularly: "Lay by in store."
Scripturally: "Bring ye all the tithe."
Sacrificially: "Shall I bring that which cost me nothing?"
Lovingly: "Not grudgingly."
Blessedly: "It is more blessed to give than to receive."

HOME PRAYERS

(Issued weekly for those who cannot get to the church services, the sick and shut-in, the isolated, Sunday workers, young people in the service of their country and others)

Opening Prayer:

Make us, we beseech Thee, O Lord our God, watchful and heedful in awaiting the coming of Thy Son, Christ our Lord; then when He shall come and knock, He may find us not sleeping in sin, but awake, and rejoicing in His praises; through the same Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

(An Advent prayer from the Gelasian Sacramentary, 494 A. D.)

Bible Reading: Isaiah 40: 1-5

The Sermon:

Christmas is only three weeks away now—that great day when God slipped into our world in the form of the human Jesus. Ever since that first Christmas Day, wherever God slips in, the darkness retreats, and there is love and peace. Right now so many people are figuring whether they have enough money saved up for Christmas. Lists are being made, lovingly and with a touch of anxiety—will I have enough to get the presents that will express my love? Am I rich enough for Christmas?

Our peril in America is that we shall forget what true riches are. We are so apt to think in terms of "boughten" gifts, of so many dollars put down on the counter. We forget that love cannot be bought and delivered. You can quicken your preparation for Christmas by re-reading O. Henry's unforgetable story, "The Gifts of the Magi"—of the young man and the young woman who were very much in love. She had beautiful hair, and he knew that she longed for a certain costly hair-comb exhibited in a certain store-window, which would look stunning in that lovely hair! She knew how he prized his heavy gold watch-chain, and had dreamed of attaching to it a certain handsome pendant he had seen and admired. So secretly, each scrimped and saved, out of their slender funds. And Christmas sped closer and closer—and neither had enough to buy the cherished gifts. So, on Christmas Eve, he pawned his watch-chain, and bought the wondrous hair-comb. And, that same evening, she had her hair cut off, and sold it, to buy the gleaming pendant. And then they faced each other—she with her shorn head, and he with his chainless watch! At first they were horrified; but then, little by little, it began to dawn on them that each had received the costliest gift that can be given, the gift of a love that sacrifices gladly, without stint, for the beloved one! Those nigh-penniless ones were rich enough for Christmas!

If you are willing to stop, and be thoughtful, and say your prayers, you can find some costly gifts that some one deeply needs of you—a forgiving letter to some one who hurt you sorely long ago, and against whom you hardened your heart; a warm invitation to a lonely little old lady (who may be rather a bother) to share the cheers of your Christmas dinner; the gift of some prized book or picture of your own that some one admired once and you said to yourself, "I can't part with that."; a knitted scarf for some one who will have few presents, or making those shelves for your wife which you have been postponing so long. You make your own list—and, in the Name of Christ, dare to get a bit reckless in your love!

Are you rich enough for Christmas? Tonight pray deeply to the Father of the Bethlehem Babe—and ask Him to cleanse your heart of clogging selfishness, and to fill it with the abundance of His love! Let Him into your Christmas preparations now—and then, my friends, you will be rich enough for Christmas!

Closing Prayer:

May the Spirit, O Lord, Who proceedeth from Thee, illuminate our minds, and as Thy Son hath promised, lead us into all truth and loving-kindness; through the same Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

THE MOTHERS' MEETING is holding their Annual Bazaar on December 6, 1951. Luncheon will be served from 11: 00 A. M. to 6: 30 P. M.

HEAR—ENGLAND'S GREATEST PREACHER

Canon Bryan Green will speak on "The Faith That Can Change The World" at Convention Hall every night, December 2 to 11—7: 30 P. M.

Noon-Day Services 12:30 to 12:55 P. M.
St. Stphen's Church

The Rev. Harold E. Frankham, Vicar of Addiscombe, Surrey, England, will speak each day at St. Stephen's from Monday, December 3 to Friday, December 7 (12: 30-12: 55 P. M.). Dr. Frankham is a forceful speaker and is the assistant to Bryan Green. A luncheon will be served each day in the Community House, 923 Ludlow Street, (rear of church) before and after the service. Everyone is welcome to the luncheon. Members of the Woman's Auxiliary, the Mothers' Meeting and the Auxiliary of the Hard of Hearing will sponsor the daily luncheons. Plan to take time out of your business or Christmas shopping days to attend these inspiring noon-day services and the good fellowship of the luncheons.

CHRISTMAS DINNERS

Each year St. Stephen's Church donates baskets or the equivalent to those who are unable to give to their families the fullness of Christmas Cheer with which others are blessed. Will you help with your generosity? Every member and friend of the Church is asked to use the special CHRISTMAS DINNER envelope. We need $300.00. Sixty-two baskets and gifts were made to families and individuals last Christmas.

Have you signed your pledge card for 1952? Here is a picture of American families today: 9 out of 10 own radios, 6 out of 10 own automobiles, 5 out of 10 have telephones. Only 4 out of 10 are Christian. Only through Christian leadership can America help build a Christian world. Please send in your pledge as soon as you can. We have made a good beginning, but we have a long way to go to reach our goal.

Mr. David L. German, Secretary of the Vestry, attended the Training School conducted by the Promotion Department of the National Council of the Episcopal Church in September, and during the past month gave an effective, half-hour address on succeeding Sundays to the congregations of The Good Shepherd Church, Kensington; St. Timothy's Church, Roxborough; and All Saints' Church, of Rhawnhurst. At St. Stephen's Church we were inspired by ten-minute addresses given by Mr. Wilson Leithead, Dr. Herbert Old, Mr. I. Smith Raspin, Mr. Edwin S. Heins and Mr. Charles K. Hay during October and November.

THE REV. GUSTAV C. MECKLING
MR. J. STOKES LEEDS AT THE ORGAN

The Flowers on the Altar today are given by Mrs. George Kappel in memory of her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. William P. Shields.

ST. STEPHEN'S IS MY PARISH

Its value to me and the world is determined by myself. "Thy Kingdom Come". I pray for it; I must pay for it and push it.

Pledge Sunday, Loyalty Sunday, Canvass Sunday! What does it all mean? Actually they are secular names for the Sunday Next before Advent—Stir-Up Sunday—(see Collect for November 25th). If the Prayer Book's historic name gripped our imaginations, such terms as Pledge Sunday, Loyalty Sunday, Canvass Sunday would not be necessary. Practically, they mean that for Sunday, November 25th, opportunity will be given to everyone who will so co-operate, to pledge toward the Church's 1952 budget, in church. For the past five weeks members of the Vestry have presented to the Sunday morning congregations in ten-minute addresses the hopes and plans for the parish of St. Stephen's in 1952. The Rector will conclude these addresses with a sermon November 25th on the subject "What Goes On Behind Those Grey Towers?" wherein he hopes to make clear the significance of our church's program. The Chest of Joash will be placed in the usual place in the chancel and everyone present will be invited to sign a card indicating what he is prepared to give in 1952 for the support of that program and place the card in the Chest of Joash.

Not Pressure, But Understanding

The Rector has a few convictions about people's giving to the Church, one of which is that pressure makes many defiant. It increases their resistance, not their generosity. He is like that himself—probably you are. Our goal this past month was to present the church's opportunity. I am convinced that every member of the church, who knows her program will contribute to her treasury. Therefore, our main task in this world of materialistic communism and general social rottenness is education—and knowledge of how the Church can meet our needs and the needs of the world. Given that, we get the money. The Church must be strong. Only a world militantly Christian can overcome the fanatical evangelism of Atheistic Communism. This is no time to cut programs. This is a time for all of us to take a thoughtful look at our giving. For many "giving" is done more casually than they realize. Our goal is to make giving not from pressure but from understanding.

Here is our proposed budget for the year 1952:

Diocese and Missionary Quota	$8,191.72
Special Purposes	10,800.00
Music and Choir	6,000.00
Upkeep and Supplies	26,606.28
Salaries, Clergy, Office and Staff	13,402.00
	$65,000.00

Estimated Receipts for 1952

Investment Income	$30,000.00
Plate Collections	10,000.00
Pledges	24,900.00
	$65,000.00

The President of Editor and Publisher recently compared two consecutive thirteen year periods in American history: 1920-1932 and 1933-1945, from the point of view of philanthropic contributions to the Church and all other benevolent agencies. Between these two thirteen-year periods we increased our spending for luxuries by 58 billion dollars; beyond that we increased our tax outlay by 51 billion dollars; beyond that we increased our savings 118 billion dollars, all in a time when we increased our national income by 318 billion dollars. While this increase was building up, we decreased our gifts to the Churches and to Christian benevolences. In the 1940's, gifts to Church benevolences were 73 per cent below the 1932 depression level and in the years that have followed, we have recaptured but little of this lost territory. Surely this is a dismal record!

In this generation we do not have the choice as to whether or not we shall give both life and money. Governments ask and take billions of dollars and our lives and the lives of our children that we may insure the protection of our country. Governments ask and take billions of dollars for crime prevention and for the care of delinquents and criminals. Our choice is between making expenditures of money and of life under fear and compulsion in these areas, or of making comparable expenditures for character-building Christian benevolence and the work of the Church. Support freely given for making the wisdom of God known among the nations would provide us with at least the chance to make unnecessary the giving of limitless sums for the possible destruction of war, and as the power of Christ's Word reached out in society because we empowered it by our money, it would alter the character of many a man's life, even as it has made new people of some of us. We have a choice. We can give in one way or another, for one cause or the other, but give we will have to. The question which we Christians must ask ourselves is this: Is our giving an expression of a life that itself has been given in partnership to God's cause and purpose?

Inevitably the question is asked: "What is my share?" So often we say to ourselves, "I do not have enough to give to this or to give to that." Canon Peter Green once said that "enough is always a little more than you now have." Thus none of us ever have enough. A large or small gift has nothing to do with the size of the contribution that is given to support the work of our church.

A large gift that alone represents a partnership is always and only that gift into which some sacrificial strain enters. It may be ten cents a week, it may be $100.00 a week. Only the man and God knows what the partnership cost for him must be. A patron gives as little or as much as he pleases, while in a partnership the need and the demands of the cause determine what the partner does. We worship God Who gave His life for us that we might live. If we believe that without God's way, life ends in futility, if we believe that beyond all else God's way is our salvation, then when the opportunity comes for us to fulfill our partnership in this church by our gifts, let us say and mean "I will not offer unto the Lord my God of that which costeth me nothing."

THE BRYAN GREEN MISSION

December 2-December 11 Convention Hall—7:30 P. M.

Bryan Green's Mission Assistant, the Rev. Harold Frankham of England, will preach at the Noon-Day Services in St. Stephen's Monday through Friday, December 3rd to 7th inclusive, 12:30 to 12:55 P. M. Luncheon will be served by various groups of our parish in the Community House each day before and after the service.

The women of St. Stephen's presented the very generous amount of $315.73 at the Fall Ingathering Service of the United Thank Offering. Of this amount, the women of the Chapel for the Hard of Hearing gave $25.00. There were 93 contributors. This is a very encouraging offering—one of the largest presented by our women.

The Rector gave an address on Prayer to the personnel of the Germantown Y.M.C.A. on Wednesday last at 9:30 A. M.

THANKSGIVING DAY

The Harvest Festival Service with address by the Rector will be held as usual on Thanksgiving Day, November 22nd, at 11:00 A. M., when our offering will be given, as for many years past, to the Episcopal Hospital. Our own Board of Managers is again operating the Hospital in collaboration with Temple University.

The Rector will speak to the men of Holy Trinity Presbyterian Church Sunday evening, November 18th at 6:00 P. M.
